OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
TERRITORY OF OKLAHOMA.

I, ROBERT MARTIN, Secretary of the Territory of Oklahoma, hereby certify that the following embrace all the laws of said Territory as the same were passed by the first session of the Legislative Assembly, commencing on the 27th day of August, A. D., 1890, ánd ending on the 24th day of December, A. D., 1890, as the same appears from the enrolled bills now on file in my office.

ROBERT MARTIN,
Secretary of the Territory.

PREFACE.

The Secretary of the Territory, on behalf of the general government, appointed Will T. Little to codify and compile the laws enacted by the first session of the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma.

The Legislative Assembly of Oklahoma Territory, by an Act Approved December 24th, 1890, authorized the Secretary of the Territory to appoint one member from the Council and one from the House to, under his supervision, codify and compile the laws passed at the first session of that body. In compliance with this Act the Secretary appointed L. G. Pitman from the Council and R. J. Barker from the House.

These three appointees were thus authorized to act as the compiling committee.

Oklahoma's first Legislature convened on the 27th day of August, 1890, bringing into immediate association the local prejudice and legislative preferences of nearly every state and territory within this Government. Most intimate with life of parent state, each member championed some of its statutory provisions. These circumstances, augmented by contention born of urban ambition and varying natural conditions, retarded legislation, alienating men otherwise of one mind.

Resulting from necessary and natural delay, the session's closing days witnessed an avalanche of legislation, precluding consideration in detail. Overworked clerks were relieved by some inexperienced assistants whose labors culminated in grave and irreparable injury to enrolled bills. Unreasonable speed was demanded. Technical accuracy vanished. Legal sense was often lost. Construction was thrown in medley. Punctuation ran riot.

Rather than faulting any one for these misfortunes, they should be accepted as naturally resulting from a most extraordinary situation. Working until the compilation was well nigh complete, under the general government's order to have the statutes in book form prior to January 25th, 1891, the committee found it necessary not only to labor night and day, but to furnish copy to the publisher in some cases before "code," "chapter" and "article," as appearing in matter adopted from other statutes, had been so changed as to accurately correspond with this compilation.

Ten months work was limited to thirty days, and the committee has no apologies to offer, being conscious of having done the best in its power, and feeling the public should appreciate any compilation amounting to more than mere session laws. Before indexing began, an extension of time was granted, but it came too late, the volume then being nearly all in print.

The hasty index system adopted, though not in any degree satisfactory to the compilers, became an absolute necessity owing to an absence of proper provisions for remuneration, and a lack of time that all intelligent persons will readily understand.

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

[Unanimously Passed by the Congress of the Thirteen United States of America, July 4, 1776.]

(1) WHEN, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal; they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; and that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly, all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies, and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having, in direct object, the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature,—a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused, for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large, for their exercise; the state remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion without and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these states; for that purpose obstructing the laws for the naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of land.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers, to harrass our people and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislature.

He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation.

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us;

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these states;

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world;

For imposing taxes on us without our consent;

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury;

For transporting us beyond seas, to be tried for pretended offenses;

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies;

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments,

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries, to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun, with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends or brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions

In every stage of these oppressions, we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms. Our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them, by the ties of our common kindred, to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace, friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world, for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare that these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as free and independent states, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and do all other acts and things which independent states may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

ARTICLES OF CONFEDERATION.

To all to whom these presents shall come, we the undersigned Delegates of the States affixed to our names, send greeting:—

In Congress July 9, 1778

(2) WHEREAS the Delegates of the United States of America in Congress assembled did on the 15th day of November in the year of our Lord 1777 and in the Second Year of the Independence of America agree to certain articles of Confederation and perpetual Union between the States of New Hampshire, Massachusetts-bay, Rhode-Island and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New-York, New-Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North-Carolina, South-Carolina, and Georgia, in the words following, viz.

Article of Confederation

Articles of Confederation and perpetual Union between the States of New Hampshire, Massachusetts-bay, Rhode-Island and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New-York, New-Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North-Carolona, South-Carolina, and Georgia.*

ARTICLE I.

Style of the Confederacy

The Stile of this confederacy shall be "The United States of America"

ARTICLE II.

Rights retained by the States

Each state retains its sovereignty, freedom and independence, and every Power, Jurisdiction and right, which is not by this confederation expressly delegated to the united states, in congress assembled.

ARTICLE III.

Objects of the Confederacy

The said states hereby severally enter into a firm league of friendship with each other, for their common defence, the security of their Liberties, and their mutual and general welfare, binding themselves to assist each other, against all force offered to, or attacks made upon them, or any of them, on account of religion, sovereignty, trade, or any other pretence whatever.

ARTICLE IV.

Mutual privileges of the free inhabitants of the several States

The better to secure and perpetuate mutual friendship and intercourse among the people of the different states of this union the free inhabitants of each of these states, paupers, vagabonds, and fugitives from Justice excepted, shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of free citizens in the several states, and the people of each state shall have free ingress and regress to and any other state, and shall enjoy therein all the privileges of trade and commerce, subject to the same duties, impositions and restrictions as the inhabitants thereof respectively, provided that such restriction shall not extend so far as to prevent the removal of property imported into any state, to any other state, of which the Owner is an inhabitant; provided also that no imposition, duties or restriction shall be laid by any state, on the property of the united states, or either of them.

Persons guilty of crimes to be given up.

If any person guilty of, or charged with treason, felony or other high misdemeanor in any state, shall flee from Justice, and be found in any of the united states, he shall upon demand of the Governor or executive power, of the state from which he fled, be delivered up and removed to the state having jurisdiction of his offence.

Faith to be given to the acts of each State.

Full faith and credit shall be given in each of these states to the records, acts and judicial proceedings of the courts and magistrates of every other state.

ARTICLE V.

Delegates to be annually appointed, etc.

For the more convenient management of the general interests of the united states, delegates shall be annually appointed in such manner as the legislature of each state shall direct, to meet in congress on the first Monday in November, in every year, with a power reserved to each state, to recall its delegates, or any of them, at any time within the year, and to send others in their stead, for the remainder of the Year.

Each State may recall its delegates, etc.

Numbor and capacity of delegates.

No state shall be represented in congress by less than two, nor by more than seven members; and no person shall be capable of being a delegate for more than three years in a term of six years; nor shall any person, being a delegate, be capable of holding any office under the united states, for which he, or another for his benefit receives any salary, fees or emolument of any kind.

Each state to maintain its own delegates

Each state shall maintain its own delegates in any meeting of the states, and while they act as members of the committee of the states.

Each State to have one vote.

In determining questions in the united states, in congress assembled, each state shall have one vote.

Privileges of Members of Congress

Freedom of speech and debate in congress shall not be impeached or questioned in any Court, or place out of congress, and the members of congress shall be protected in their persons from arrests and imprisonments, during the time of their going to and from, and attendance on congress, except for treason, felony, or breach of the peace.

ARTICLE VI.

No State to negotiate with foreign powers

No state without the Consent of the united states in congress assembled, shall send any embassy to, or receive any embassy from, or enter into any conference, agreement, alliance or treaty with any King, prince or state; nor shall any person holding any office of profit or trust under the united states, or any of them, accept of any present, emolument, office or title of any kind whatever from any king, prince or foreign state; nor shall the united states in congress assembled, or any of them, grant any title of nobility.

Persons holding offices not to accept presents.

Congress not to grant letters of nobility.

Treaties between two or more states prohibited.

No two or more states shall enter into any treaty, confederation or alliance whatever between them, without the consent of the united states in congress assembled, specifying accurately the purposes for which the same is to be entered into, and how long it shall continue.

No states to lay interfering imposts or duties.

No state shall lay any imposts or duties, which may interfere with any stipulations in treaties, entered into by the united states in congress assembled, with any king, prince or state, in pursuance of any treaties already proposed by congress, to the courts of France and Spain.

Regulations respecting naval and military establishments—the militia, etc

No vessels of war shall be kept up in time of peace by any state, except such number only, as shall be deemed necessary by the united states in congress assembled, for the defence of such state, or its trade; nor shall any body of forces be kept up by any state, in time of peace, except such number only, as in the judgment of the united states, in congress assembled, shall be deemed requisite to garrison the forts necessary for the defence of such state; but every state shall always keep up well regulated and disciplined militia, sufficiently armed and accoutred, and shall provide and have constantly ready for use, in public stores, a due number of field pieces and tents, and a proper quantity of arms, ammunition and camp equipage.

No state except in certain cases, to engage in war, nor to grant commissions to armed vessels, etc

No state shall engage in any war without the consent of the united states in congress assembled, unless such state be actually invaded by enemies, or shall have received certain advice of a resolution being formed by some nation of Indians to invade such state, and the danger is so imminent as not to admit of a delay, till the united states in congress assembled can be consulted: nor shall any state grant commissions to any ships or vessels of war, nor letters of mark of reprisal, except it be after a declaration of war by the united states in congress assembled, and then only against the kingdom or state and the subjects thereof, against which war has been so declared, and under such regulations as shall be established by the united states in congress assembled, unless such state shall be infested by pirates, in which case vessels of war may be fitted out for that occasion, and kept so long as the danger shall continue, or until the united states in congress assembled shall determine otherwise.

ARTICLE VII.

Officers of the land force under the rank of colonel, to be appointed by the States respectively

When land-forces are raised by any state for the common defense, all officers of or under the rank of colonel, shall be appointed by the legislature of each state respectively by whom such forces shall be raised, or in such manner as such state shall direct, and all vacancies shall be filled up by the state which first made the appointment.

ARTICLE VIII.

All charges of war, etc., to be defrayed out of a common treasury.

All charges of war, and all other expenses that shall be incurred for the common defence or general welfare, and allowed by the united states in congress assembled, shall be defrayed out of a common treasury, which shall be supplied by the several states, in proportion to the value of all land within each state, granted to or surveyed for any Person, as such land and the buildings and improvements thereon shall be estimated according to such mode as the united states in congress assembled, shall from time to time, direct and appoint. The taxes for paying that proportion shall be laid and levied by the authority and direction of the legislatures of the several states within the time agreed upon by the united states in congress assembled.

The treasury to be supplied by the contribution of the States.

Taxes to be laid and levied by the States respectively.

ARTICLE IX.

The united states in congress assembled, shall have the sole and exclusive right and power of determining on peace and war, except in the cases mentioned in the 6th article—of sending and receiving ambassadors—entering into treaties and alliances, provided that no treaty of commerce shall be made whereby the legislative power of the respective states shall be restrained from imposing such imposts and duties on foreigners, as their own people are subject to, or from prohibiting the exportation or importation of any species of goods or commodities whatsoever—of establishing rules for deciding in all cases, what captures on land or water shall be legal, and in what manner prizes taken by land or naval forces in the service of the united states shall be divided or appropriated—of granting letters of marque and reprisal in time of peace—appointing courts for the trial of piracies and felonies committed on the high seas and establishing courts for receiving and determining finally appeals in all cases of captures, provided that no member of congress shall be appointed a judge of any of the said courts.

Powers of the Congress.

Members of Congress not to be judges of admiralty courts

The united states in congress assembled shall also be the last resort on appeal in all disputes and differences now subsisting or that hereafter may arise between two or more states concerning boundary, jurisdiction or any other cause whatever; which authority shall always be exercised in the manner following: Whenever the legislative or executive authority or lawful agent of any state in controversy with another shall present a petition to congress, stating the matter in question and praying for a hearing, notice thereof shall be given by order of congress to the legislative or executive authority of the other state in controversy, and a day assigned for the appearance of the parties their lawful agents, who shall then be directed to oppoint by joint consent, commissioners or judges to constitute a court for hearing and determining the matter in question: but if they cannot agree, congress shall name three persons out of each of the united states, and from the list of such persons each party shall alternately strike out one, the petitioners beginning, until the number shall be reduced to thirteen: and from that number not less than seven, nor more than nine names as congress shall direct, shall in the presence of congress be drawn out by lot, and the persons whose names shall be so drawn or any five of them, shall be commissioners or judges, to hear and finally determine the controversy, so always as a major part of the judges who shall hear the cause shall agree in the determination: and if either party shall neglect to attend at the day appointed, without Congress the last resort for deciding disputes between States.

Mode in which Congress shall exercise its authority for deciding disputes between States

Judges to be appointed by lot.

Opinion of a majority of judges to prevail; etc.

showing reasons, which congress shall judge sufficient, or being present shall refuse to strike, the congress shall proceed to nominate three persons out of each state, and the secretary of congress shall strike in behalf of such party absent or refusing; and the judgment and sentence of the court to be appointed, in the manner prescribed, shall be final and conclusive; and if any of the parties shall refuse to submit to the authority of such court, or to appear or defend their claim or cause, the court shall nevertheless proceed to pronounce the sentence or judgment, which shall in like manner be final and decisive, the judgment or sentence and other proceedings being in either case transmitted to congress, and lodged among the acts of congress for the security of the parties concerned: provided that every commissioner, before he sits in judgment, shall take an oath to be administered by one of the judges of the supreme or superior court of the state, where the cause shall be tried, "well and truly to hear and determine the matter in question, according to his best judgment, without favor, affection or hope of reward," provided also that no state shall be deprived of territory for the benefit of the United States.

Judgment to be final and conclusive.

Sentence and proceedings to be lodged among the acts of Congress.

Oath to be taken by the judges

Proviso.

All controversies concerning the private right of soil claimed under different grants of two or more states, whose jurisdiction as they may respect such lands, and the states which passed such grants are adjusted, the said grants or either of them being at the same time claimed to have originated antecedent to such settlement of jurisdiction, shall on the petition of either party to the congress of the united states, be finally determined as near as may be in the same manner as is before prescribed for deciding disputes respecting territorial jurisdiction between different states.

Congress also to determine controversies concerning private rights of soil.

The united states in congress asembled shall also have the sole and exclusive right and power of regulating the alloy and value of coin struck by their own authority, or by that of the respective states —fixing the standard of weights and measures throughout the United States— regulating the trade and managing all affairs with the Indians, not members of any of the states, provided that the legislative right of any state within its own limits be not infringed or violated— establishing or regulating post-offices from one state to another, throughout all the united states, and exacting such postage on the papers passing thro' the same as may be requisite to defray the expenses of said office — appointing all officers of the land forces in the service of the united states, excepting regimental officers — appointing all the officers of the naval forces and commissioning all officers whatever in the service of the united states — making rules for the government and regulation of the said land and naval forces, and directing their operations.

Further powers of Congress

The united states in congress assembled shall have authority to appoint a committee, to sit in recess of congress, to be denominated "A Committee of the States," and to consist of one delegate from each state: and to appoint such other committees and civil officers as may be necessary for managing the general affairs of the united states under their direction — to appoint one of their number to preside, provided that no person be allowed to serve in the office of president more than one year in any term of three years: to ascertain the necessary sums of Money to be raised for the service of the united states, and to appropriate and apply the same for defraying the public expenses — to borrow money, or emit bills on the credit of the united states, transmitting every half year to the respective states an account of the sums of money so borrowed or emitted, — to build and equip a navy — to agree upon the number of land forces, and to make requisitions from each state for its quota, in proportion to the number of white inhabitants in such state: which requisition shall be binding, and thereupon the legislature of each state shall appoint the regimental officers, raise the men and clothe, arm and equip them in a soldier like manner, at the expense of the united states: and the officers and men, so clothed, armed and equipped shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on by the united states in congress assembled. But if the united states in congress assembled shall, on consideration of circumstances judge proper that any state should not raise men, or should raise a smaller number than its quota, and that any other state should raise a greater number than its quota thereof, such extra number shall be raised, offered, clothed, armed and equipped in the same manner as the quota of such state, unless the legislature of such state shall judge that such extra number cannot be safely spared out of the same, in which case they shall raise, officer, clothe, arm and equip as many of such extra number as they judge can be safely spared. And the officers and men so clothed, armed and equipped, shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on by the united states in congress assembled.

Congress to appoint a committee of the States.

Additional powers of Congress enumerated

Congress not to exercise the powers enumerated unless by the votes of nine States, nor to determine any question, except for adjournment from day to day, without the sanction of a majority of the States

The united states in congress assembled shall never engage in a war, nor grant letters of marque and reprisal in time of peace, nor enter treaties or alliances, nor coin money, nor regulate the value thereof, nor ascertain the sums and expenses necessary for the defence and welfare of the united states, or any of them, nor emit bills nor borrow money on the credit of the united states, nor appropriate money, nor agree upon the number of vessels of war, to be built or purchased, or the number of land or sea forces to be raised, nor appoint a commander in chief of any army or navy, unless nine states assent to the same: nor shall a question on any other point, except for adjourning from day to day be determined, unless by the votes of a majority of the united states in congress assembled.

Regulations concerning adjournment, and other proceedings of Congress.

The Congress of the united states shall have power to adjourn to any time within the year, and to any place within the united states, so that no period of adjournment be for a longer duration than the space of six months, and shall publish the Journal of their proceedings monthly, except such parts thereof relating to treaties, alliance or military opperations, as in their judgement require secrecy: and the yeas and nays of the delegates of each state on any question shall be entered upon the Journal, when it is desired by any delegate; and the delegates of a state, or any of them, at his or their request shall be furnished with a transcript of the said Journal, except such parts as are above excepted, to lay before the legislatures of the several states.

ARTICLE X

Committee of the States may be vested with certain powers

The committee of the states, or any nine of them, shall be authorized to execute, in the recess of congress, such of the powers of congress as the united states in congress assembled, by the consent of nine states, shall from time to time think expedient to vest them with; provided that no power be delegated to the said committee, for the exercise of which, by the articles of confederation, the voice of nine states in the congress of the united states assembled is requisite.

ARTICLE XI.

Canada may be admitted into the confederacy

Canada acceding to this confederation, and joining in the measures of the united states, shall be admitted into, and entitled to all the advantages of this union: but no other colony shall be admitted into the same, unless such admission be agreed to by nine states.

ARTICLE XII.

Payment of debts assumed

All bills of credit emitted, monies borrowed and debts contracted by or under the authority of congress, before the assembling of the united states, in pursuance of the present confederation, shall be deemed and considered as a charge against the united states, for payment and satisfaction whereof the said united states, and the public faith are hereby solemnly pledged.

ARTICLE XIII.

Obligations imposed by the confederacy.

Every state shall abide by the determinations of the united states in congress assembled, on all questions which by this confederation is submitted to them. And the Articles of this con-

Union perpetual, etc federation shall be inviolably observed by every state, and the union shall be perpetual; nor shall any alteration at any time hereafter be made in any of them; unless such alteration be agreed to in a congress of the united states, and be afterwards confirmed by the legislatures of every state.

And Whereas it hath pleased the Great Governor of the World to incline the hearts of the legislatures we respectively represent in congress, to approve of, and to authorize us to ratify the said articles of confederation and perpetual union. Know Ye that we the undersigned delegates, by virtue of the power and authority to us given for that purpose, do by these presents, in the name and in behalf of our respective constituents, fully and entirely ratify and confirm each and every of the said articles of confederation and perpetual union, and all and singular the matters and things therein contained: And we do further solemnly plight and engage the faith of our respective constituents, that they shall abide by the determinations of the united states in congress assembled, on all questions, which by the said confederation are submitted to them. And that the articles thereof shall be inviolably observed by the states we respectively represent, and that the union shall be perpetual. In witness whereof we have hereunto set our hands in Congress. Done at Philadelphia in the state of Pennsylvania the 9th Day of July in the Year our Lord, 1778, and in the third year of the Independence of America.

10. Limitations on the powers of the states.

Legislative power.

(3) SECTION 1. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Members of House, how chosen

(4) SECTION 2. The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several States, and the electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature

No person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen. Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons.

Apportionment.

The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each State shall have at least one Representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three. (5) SECTION 3. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof for six years, and each Senator shall have one vote. Members of Senate.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the Senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen by resignation or otherwise during the recess of the Legislature of any State, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies. Apportionment and vacancies.

No person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen. Qualifications.

The Vice-President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided. President of Senate.

The Senate shall choose their other officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the absence of the Vice-President, or when he shall exercise the office of President of the United States. Officers.

The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose they, shall be on oath or affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present. Impeachments.

Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not exceed further than to removal from office and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to law. Judgment.

(6) SECTION 4. The times, places, and manner of holding elections for Senators and Representatives shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the Elections for members.

places of choosing Senators. The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

Quorum adjournment.

(7) SECTION 5. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Rules.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Journal yeas and nays.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of Congress shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

Compensation.

(8) SECTION 6. The Senators and Representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States.

Exemptions.

They shall in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Shall not hold certain offices.

No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be oppointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

Revenue bills

(9) SECTION 7. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

Approval and signing of bills

Every bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the President of the United States. If he approve he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered; and if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution, or vote, to which the concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States, and before the the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill. Certain resolutions, etc.

(10) SECTION 8. The Congress shall have power— Powers of Congress.

To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises; to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts, and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

To borrow money on the credit of the United States;

To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes;

To establish an uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies, throughout the United States;

To coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures;

To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States;

To establish post offices and post roads.

To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries;

To constitute tribunals inferior to the Supreme Court;

To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses against the law of nations;

To declare war; grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water;

To raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years;

To provide and maintain a navy;

To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces;

To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions;

To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States, reserving to the States respectively the appointment of officers and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by congress;

To exercise exclusive legislation, in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular States, and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of the government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the Legislature of the State in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock-yards, or other needful buildings; and

To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this Constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

Limitations on the powers of Congress.

(11) SECTION 9. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the States now existing shall think proper to admit shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight; but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

No bill of attainder or ex post facto law shall be passed.

No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.

No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any State. No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one State over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one State be obliged to enter, clear, or pay duties in another.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law, and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States, and no person holding any office of profit or trust under them shall, without the consent of the Congress, accept any present, emolument, office, or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince, or foreign state.

Limitations on the powers of the States.

(12) Section 10. No State shall enter into any treaty, alliance, or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money, emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility.

No State shall, without the consent of the Congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts laid by any State on imports or exports shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the Congress.

No State shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or contract with another State, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded or such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

OF THE EXECUTIVE.

SEC. 1. Executive power vested in president; term of office; manner of election, qualification; oath.
2. His powers and duties.
SEC. 3. The same; may convene house, etc.
4. Removal from office, of president and other officers.

(13) SECTION 1. The executive power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the Vice-President, chosen for the same term, be elected, as follows:

Executive power vested in president, term of office, manner of election, qualifications, oath.

Each State shall appoint, in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress; but no Senator or Representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

[The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and the number of votes for each, which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose by ballot one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said house shall in like manner choose the president. But in choosing the president the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the vice-president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them by ballot the vice-president.] 1

The Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes, which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No person except a natural-born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the office of President; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the President from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice-President, and the Congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the President and Vice-President, declaring what officer shall then act as President; and such officer shall act accordingly until the disability be removed or a President shall be elected. The President shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

1 This clause is modified by the 12th amendment.

Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation: "I do solemnly swear, (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States."

His powers and duties.

(14) SECTION 2. The President shall be Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, and of the malitia of the several States, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the Executive Departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment. He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the Senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate shall appoint, ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the Supreme Court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law; but the Congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper in the President alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

The President shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions, which shall expire at the end of their next session.

The same, may convene houses, etc.

(14 a) SECTION 3. He shall from time to time give to the Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both Houses, or either of them, and, in case of disagreement between them with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he may think proper, he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

Removal from office, of president and other officers.

(15) SECTION 4. The President, Vice-President, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for and conviction of treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

OF THE JUDICIARY.

SEC. 1. Vested in supreme and inferior courts; term of office, of judges, compensation.
SEC. 2. Judicial power, extent of. Trial by jury.
3. Treason, punishment, etc.

Vested in supreme and inferior courts, term of office, of judges, compensation.

(16) SECTION 1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the Supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

Judicial power, extent of. trial by jury.

(17) SECTION 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made under their authority; to all cases affecting embassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more States; between a State and citizens of another State; between citizens of different States; between citizens of the same State claiming lands under grants of different States; and between a State or the citizens thereof, and foreign States, citizens, or subjects.

In all cases affecting embassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a State shall be party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the State where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any State, the trial shall be at such place or places as Congress may by law have directed.

Treason, punishment, etc.

(18) SECTION 3. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attainted.

ARTICLE IV.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

SEC. 1. Faith and credit to public acts
2. Privileges of the citizens of the several states; extradition.
SEC. 3. New states; Power of congress over property, etc.
4 Shall guaranty republican form of government.

Faith and credit to public acts, etc.

(19) SECTION 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each State to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other State. And the Congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records, and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

Privileges of citizens of each State.

(20) SECTION 2. The citizens of each State shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States.

A person charged in any State with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice and be found in another State, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the State from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the State having jurisdiction of the crime.

No person held to service or labor in one State, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

New States, proviso, property of U. S.

(21) SECTION 3. New States may be admitted by the Congress into this Union, but no new State shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other State, nor any State be formed by the junction of two or more States, or parts of States, without the consent of the Legislatures of the States concerned, as well as of the Congress.

The Congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States or of any particular State.

Form of government

(22) SECTION 4. The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion; and on application of the Legislature, or of the Executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened), against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

Amendments, ratification of.

(23) The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, on the application of the Legislatures of two-thirds of the several States, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by Congress; provided that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no State, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate.

ARTICLE VI.

Debts, etc., supreme law

(24) All debts contracted and engagements entered into before the adoption of this Constitution shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution as under the confederation.

This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every State shall be bound thereby, anything in the constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding.

The Senators and Representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several State Legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and the several States, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this Constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United states.

ARTICLE VII.

(25) The ratification of the conventions of nine States shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the States so ratifying the same. Ratification

Done in convention, by the unanimous consent of the States present, the seventeenth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, and of the independence of the United States of America the twelfth. In witness whereof we have hereunto subscribed our names.

Go. WASHINGTON, Presid't,
And Deputy from Virginia.

Attest: WILLIAM JACKSON, Secretary.

Bail

(33) ARTICLE VIII. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

Other rights.

(34) ARTICLE IX. The enumeration in the Constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

Powers reserved to the States.

(35) ARTICLE X. The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

Extent of judicial power.

(36) ARTICLE XI. The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another State, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign State.

Election of President

(37) ARTICLE XII. The electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for President and Vice-President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice-President, and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice-President, and of the number of votes for each, which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate; the President of the Senate shall, in presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted; the person having the greatest number of votes for President shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest number not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice-President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President. The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice-President shall be the Vice-President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list the Senate shall choose the Vice-President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President shall be eligible to that of Vice-President of the United States.

tion incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations, and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

(43) SECTION 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

Suffrage.

ARTICLE XV. SECTION 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any State, on account of race, color or previous condition of servitude.

(43*a*) SECTION 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Declared adopted by the Secretary of State, March 30, 1870.

TREATY

Ceding Louisiana to the United States, Which Included Oklahoma and the Indian Territory.

TREATY BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA AND THE FRENCH REPUBLIC.

SEC. 1. Retrocession of Louisiana by Spain to France.
1. Cession from France to the United States
2. Objects included in the cession.
3. Inhabitants to be incorporated into the Union—upon what principles.
4. Ceded Territory, how received from Spain and transmitted to the United States.
5. Military Posts—when surrendered
6. Indian Treaties to be executed by the United States.
7 Vessels of France and Spain, admitted into the ports of the ceded territory for twelve years, on what terms.
SEC. 7. No other nation entitled to the same privilege for twelve years.
7. Objects of indulgence to French and Spanish vessels.
8. After twelve years, ships of France, how treated
9. A convention for payment of debts to citizens of the United States to be ratified herewith.
9. Another convention relative to a definitive rule between the parties to be ratified at the same time.
10. Ratifications to be exchanged in six months.

The President of the United States of America, and the first consul of the French Republic, in the name of the French people, desiring to remove all source of misunderstanding relative to objects of discussion mentioned in the second and fifth articles of the convention of the 8th Vendemiaire, an 9 (30th September, 1800) relative to the rights claimed by the United States, in virtue of the treaty concluded at Madrid the 27th of October, 1795, between his catholic majesty and the said United States, and willing to strengthen the union and friendship which at the time of said convention, was happily re-established between the two nations, have respectively named their plenipotentiaries, to wit, the President of the United States of America, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate of the said states, Robert R. Livingston, minister plenipotentiary of the United States, and James Monroe, minister plenipotentiary and envoy extraordinary of the said states, near the government of the French republic, and the first consul, in the name of the French people, the French citizen Barbe Marboas, minister of the public treasury, who, after having respectively exchanged their full powers, have agreed to the following articles :

Retrocession of Louisiana by Spain to France.

(44) ARTICLE 1. Whereas, by the article the third of the treaty concluded at St. Ildefonso, the 9th Vendemiaire, an 9 (1st October, 1800) between the first consul of the French republic and his catholic majesty it was agreed as follows: "His catholic majesty promises and engages on his part, to retrocede to the French republic, six months after the full and entire execution of the conditions and stipulations herein relative to his royal highness the duke of Parma, the colony or province of Louisiana, with the same extent that it now has in the hands of Spain, and that it had when France possessed it; and such as it should be after the treaties subsequently entered into between Spain and other states." And whereas, in pursuance of the treaty, and particularly of the third article, the French republic has an incontestable title to the domain and to the possession of the said territory. The first consul of the French republic desiring to give to the United States a strong proof of his friendship, doth hereby cede to the said United States, in the name of the French republic, forever and in full sovereignty the said territory, with all its rights and appurtenances, as fully and in the same manner as they have been acquired by the French republic in virtue of the above mentioned treaty, concluded with his catholic majesty.

Cession from France to the United States.

Objects included in the cession.

(45) ARTICLE 2. In the cession made by the preceding article are included the adjacent islands belonging to Louisiana, all public lots and squares, vacant lands, and all public buildings, fortifications, barracks and other edifices, which are not private property. The archives, papers, and documents, relative to the domain and sovereignty of Louisiana, and its dependencies, will be left in the possession of the commissioners of the United States, and copies will be afterwards given in due form to the magistrates and municipal officers, of such of the said papers and documents as may be necessary to them.

Inhabitants to be incorporated into the Union—upon what principles

(46). ARTICLE 3. The inhabitants of the ceded territory shall be incorporated in the union of the United States, and admitted as soon as possible, according to the principles of the federal constitution, to the enjoyment of all the rights, advantages, and immunities of citizens of the United States; and in the mean time they shall be maintained and protected in the free enjoyment of their liberty, property, and the religion which they profess.

Ceded territory, how received from Spain and transmitted to the United States

(47) ARTICLE 4. There shall be sent by the government of France a commissary to Louisiana, to the end that he do every act necessary, as well to receive from the officers of his catholic majesty the said country and its dependencies, in the name of the French republic, if it has not been already done, as to transmit it in the name of the French republic to the commissary or agent of the United States.

Military posts, when surrendered

(48) ARTICLE 5. Immediately after the ratification of the present treaty by the President of United States, and in case that of the first consul shall have been previously obtained, the commissary of the French republic shall remit all the military posts of New Orleans, and other parts of the ceded territory, to the commissary or commissaries named by the President to take possession; the troops of France or Spain, who may be there, shall cease to occupy any military post from the time of taking possession, and shall be embarked as soon as possible, in the course of three months after the ratification of this treaty.

Indian treaties to be executed by the United States.

(49) ARTICLE 6. The United States promise to execute such treaties and articles as may have been agreed between Spain and the tribes and nations of Indians, until by mutual consent of the United States and the said tribes or nations, other suitable articles shall have been agreed upon.

Vessels of France and Spain admitted into the ports of the ceded territory for twelve years, on what terms.

(50) ARTICLE 7. As it is reciprocally advantageous to the commerce of France and the United States to encourage the communication of both nations for a limited time in the country ceded by the present treaty, until general arrangements relative to the commerce of both nations may be agreed on; it has been agreed between the contracting parties, that the French ships coming directly from France or any of her colonies, loaded only with the produce or manufactures of France or her said colonies; and the ships of Spain coming directly from Spain or any of her colonies, loaded only with the produce or manufactures of Spain or her colonies, shall be admitted during the space of twelve years in the ports of New Orleans, and all other legal ports of entry within the ceded territory, in the same manner as the ships of the United States, coming directly from France or Spain, or any of their colonies, without being subject to any other or greater duty on merchandise, or other or greater tonnage than those paid by the citizens of the United States.

No other nation entitled to the same privileges for twelve years

Objects of indulgence to French and Spanish vessels

During the space of time above mentioned, no other nation shall have a right to the same privileges in the ports of the ceded territory: the twelve years shall commence three months after the exchange or ratifications, if it shall take place in France, or three months after it shall have been notified at Paris to the French government, if it shall take place in the United States; it is, however, well understood, that the object of the above article is to favor the manufactures, commerce, freight and navigation of France and Spain, so far as relates to the importations that the French and Spanish shall make into the said ports of the United States, without in any sort affecting the regulations that the United States may make concerning the exportation of the produce and merchandise of the United States, or any right they may have to make such regulations.

After twelve years, ships of France, how treated.

(51) ARTICLE 8. In future and forever after the expiration of the twelve years, the ships of France shall be treated upon the footing of the most favored nations in the ports above mentioned.

A convention for payment of debts to citizens of the United States to be ratified herewith.

(52) ARTICLE 9. The particular convention signed this day by the respective ministers, having for its object to provide for the payment of debts due to the citizens of the United States by the French republic, prior to the 30th of September, 1800 (8th Vendemiaire, 9), is approved, and to have its execution in the same manner as if it had been inserted in the present treaty, and it shall be ratified in the same form and in the same time, so that the one shall not be ratified distinct from the other.

Another particular convention, signed at the same date as the present treaty, relative to a definite rule between the contracting parties, is in the like manner approved, and will be ratified in the same form, and in the same time, and jointly.

Ratifications to be exchanged in six months

(53) ARTICLE 10. The present treaty shall be ratified in good and due form, and the ratifications shall be exchanged in the space of six months after the date of the signature by the ministers plenipotentiary, or sooner if possible.

In faith whereof, the respective plenipotentaries have signed these articles in the French and English languages, declaring, nevertheless, that the present treaty was originally agreed to in the French language; and have thereunto put their seals.

Done at Paris, the tenth day of Floreal, in the eleventh year of the French republic, and the 30th April, 1803.

Appropriation to purchase title, disposal of fund.

(57) SECTION 12. That the sum of one million nine hundred and twelve thousand nine hundred and forty-two dollars and two cents be, and the same hereby is, appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to pay in full the Seminole Nation of Indians for all the right, title, interest, and claim which said nation of Indians may have in and to certain lands ceded by article three of the treaty between the United States and the said nation of Indians, which was concluded June fourteenth, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, and proclaimed August sixteenth, eighteen hundred and sixty-six, and which land was then estimated to contain two million one hundred and sixty-nine thousand and eighty acres, but which is now, after survey, ascertained to contain two millions thirty-seven thousand four hundred and fourteen and sixty-two hundredths acres, said sum of money to be paid as follows: One million five hundred thousand dollars to remain in the Treasury of the United States to the credit of said nation of Indians and to bear interest at the rate of five per centum per annum from July first, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, said interest to be paid semi-annually to the treasurer of said nation, and the sum of four hundred and twelve thousand nine hundred and forty-two dollars and twenty cents, to be paid to such person or persons as shall be duly authorized by the laws of said nation to receive the same, at such times and in such sums as shall be directed and required by the legislative authority of said nation, to be immediately available; this appropriation to become operative upon the execution by the duly appointed delegates of said nation, specially empowered to do so, of a release and conveyance to the United States of all the right, title, interest, and claim of said nation of Indians in and to said lands, in manner and form satisfactory to the President of the United States, and said release and conveyance when fully executed and delivered, shall operate to extinguish all claims of every kind and character of said Seminole Nation of Indians in and to the tract of country to which said release and conveyance shall apply, but such release and conveyance, and extinguishment shall not inure to the benefit of or cause to vest in any railroad company any right, title, or interest whatever in or to any of said lands, and all laws and parts of laws so far as they conflict with the foregoing, are hereby repealed, and all grants or pretended grants of said lands and interest or right therein now existing in or on behalf of any railroad company, except rights of way and depot grounds, are hereby declared to be forever forfeited for breach of condition.

Conveyance not to inure to benefit of railroads, forfeiture.

(58) SECTION 13. That the land acquired by the United States under said agreement shall be a part of the public domain, to be disposed of only as herein provided, and sections sixteen and thirty-six of each township, whether surveyed or unsurveyed, are hereby reserved for the use and benefit of the public schools, to be established within the limits of said lands under such conditions and regulations as may hereafter be enacted by Congress.

Reserving certain sections for school purposes

That the lands acquired by conveyance from the Seminole Indians hereunder, except the sixteenth and thirty-sixth sections shall be disposed of to actual settlers under the homestead laws only, except as herein otherwise provided (except that section two thousand three hundred and one of the Revised Statutes shall not apply): And provided further, That any person who having attempted to, but for any cause, failed to secure a title in fee to a homestead under existing law, or who made entry under what is known as the commuted provision of the homestead law, shall be qualified to make a homestead entry upon said lands: And provided further, That the rights of honorably discharged Union soldiers and sailors in the late civil war as defined and described in sections twenty-three hundred and four and twenty-three hundred and five of the Revised Statutes shall not be abridged: And provided further, That each entry shall be in a square form as nearly as practicable and no person be permitted to enter more than one-quarter section thereof, but until said lands are opened for settlement by proclamation of the President, no person shall be permitted to enter upon and occupy the same, and no person violating this provision shall ever be permitted to enter any of said lands or acquire any right thereto.

Who may acquire title and in what manner

Soldiers' rights not abridged

That all the foregoing provisions with reference to lands to be acquired from the Seminole Indians including the provisions pertaining to forfeiture shall apply to and regulate the disposal of the lands acquired from the Muscogee and Creek Indians by articles of cession and agreement made and concluded at the city of Washington on the nineteenth day of January in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and eighty-nine.

The Secretary of the Interior may, after said proclamation and not before, permit entry of said lands for town-sites, under sections twenty-three hundred and eighty seven and twenty-three hundred and eighty-eight of the Revised Statutes, but no such entry shall embrace more than one-half section of land.

Commissioners to negotiate with Cherokee Indians, duties of.

(59) SECTION 14. The President is hereby authorized to appoint three commissioners, not more than two of whom shall be members of the same political party, to negotiate with the Cherokee Indians and with all other Indians owning or claiming lands lying west of the ninety-sixth degree of longitude in the Indian Territory for the cession to the United States of all their title, claim, or interest of every kind or character in and to said lands, and any and all agreements resulting from such negotiation shall be reported to the President and by him to Congress at its next session and to the council or councils of the nation or nations, tribe or tribes, agreeing to the same for ratification, and for this purpose the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated, to be immediately available: Provided, That said Commission is further authorized to submit to the Cherokee Nation the proposition that said nation shall cede to the United States in the manner and with the effect aforesaid, all the rights of said nation in said lands upon the same terms as to payment as is provided in the agreement made with the Creek Indians of date January nineteenth, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine and ratified by the present Congress; and if said Cherokee Nation shall accept, and by act of its legislative authority duly passed, ratify the same, the said lands shall thereupon become a part of the public domain for the purpose of such disposition as is herein provided, and the President is authorized as soon thereafter as he may deem advisable, by proclamation to open said lands to settlement in the same manner and to the same effect, as in this act provided concerning the lands acquired from said Creek Indians, but until said lands are opened for settlement by proclamation of the President, no person shall be permitted to enter upon and occupy the same, and no person violating this provision shall be permitted to enter any of said lands or acquire any right thereto.

Establishing land offices.

(60) SECTION 15. That the President may whenever he deems it necessary create not to exceed two land districts embracing the lands which he may open to settlement by proclamation as hereinbefore provided, and he is empowered to locate land offices for the same appointing thereto in conformity to existing law registers and receivers and for the purpose of carrying out this provision, five thousand dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated.

Approved, March 2, 1889.

OPENING OF OKLAHOMA TO SETTLEMENT.

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

A PROCLALATION.

WHEREAS, Pursuant to section eight, of the Act of Congress approved March 3d, 1885, entitled "An Act making appropriations for the current and contingent expenses of the Indian Department, and for fulfilling treaty stipulations with various Indian tribes, for the year ending June 30th, 1886, and for other purposes," certain articles of cession and agreement were made and concluded at the city of Washington on the 19th day of January, in the year of our Lord, 1889, by and between the United States of America and the Muscogee (or Creek) Nation of Indians, whereby the said Muscogee (or Creek) Nation of Indians, for the consideration therein mentioned, ceded and granted to the United States without reservation or condition, full and complete title to the entire western half of the domain of the said Muscogee (or Creek) Nation, in the Indian Territory, lying west of the division line surveyed and established under the treaty with said Nation, dated the 14th day of June, 1866, and also granted and released to the United States all and every claim, estate, right or interest of any and every description in and to any and all land and territory whatever, except so much of the former domain of said Muscogee (or Creek) Nation as lies east of said line of division surveyed and established as aforesaid and then used and occupied as the home of said Nation, and which articles of cession and agreement were duly accepted, ratified and confirmed by said Muscogee (or Creek) Nation of Indians by act of its council, approved on the 31st day of January, 1889, and by the United States by act of Congress approved March 1st, 1889, and

. WHEREAS, By section twelve of the Act, entitled "An Act making appropriations for the current and contingent expenses of the Indian Department, and for fulfilling treaty stipulations with various Indian tribes, for the year ending June 30th, 1890, and for other purposes," approved March 2d, 1889, a sum of money was appropriated to pay in full the Seminole Nation of Indians for all the right, title, interest and claim which said Nation of Indians might have in and to certain lands ceded by article three of the treaty between the United States and said Nation of Indians concluded, June 14th, 1866, and proclaimed August 16th, 1866, said appropriation to become operative upon the execution by the duly appointed delegates of said Nation, specially empowered to do so, of a release and conveyance to the United States of all right, title, interest and claim of said Nation of Indians, in and to said land, in manner, and form, satisfactory to the President of the United States, and

WHEREAS, Said release and conveyance, bearing date the 16th day of March, 1889, has been duly and fully executed, approved and delivered; and

WHEREAS, Section thirteen of the Act last aforesaid, relating to said lands, provides as follows:

[See the section, under head "Creek Treaty."]

Description of lands opened to settlement.

AN ACT

To organize the Territory of Oklahoma—to establish courts in the Indian Territory, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled.

Boundaries of Oklahoma territory

(61) SECTION 1. That all that portion of the United States now known as the Indian Territory (except so much of the same as is actually occupied by the five civilized tribes, and the Indian tribes within the Quapaw Indian Agency, and except the unoccupied part of the Cherokee outlet,) together with that portion of the United States known as the Public Land Strip, is hereby erected into a temporary government by the name of the Territory of Oklahoma. The portion of the Indian Territory included in said Territory of Oklahoma is bounded by a line drawn as follows: Commencing at a point where the ninety-eighth meridian crosses the Red river, thence by said meridian to the point where it crosses the Canadian river, thence along said river to the west line of the Seminole country, thence along said line to the north fork of the Canadian river, thence down said river to the west line of the Creek country, thence along said line to the northwest corner of the Creek country, thence along the north line of the Creek country to the ninety-sixth meridian, thence northward by said meridian to the southern boundary line of Kansas, thence west along said line to the Arkansas river, thence down said river to the north line of the land occupied by the Ponca tribe of Indians, from which point the line runs so as to include all the lands occupied by the Ponca, Tonkawa, Otoe and Missouria, and Pawnee tribes of Indians until it strikes the south line of the Cherokee outlet which it follows westward to the (east) line of the State of Texas, thence by the boundary line of the State of Texas to the point of beginning; the Public Land Strip which is included in said Territory of Oklahoma is bounded east by the one-hundredth meridian, south by Texas, west by New Mexico, north by Colorado and Kansas. Whenever the interest of the Cherokee Indians in the land known as the Cherokee outlet shall have been extinguished and the President shall make proclamation thereof, said outlet shall thereupon and without further legislation become a part of the Territory of Oklahoma. Any other lands within the Indian Territory not embraced within these boundaries shall hereafter become a part of the Territory of Oklahoma whenever the Indian Nation or tribe owning such lands shall signify to the President of the United States in legal manner its assent that such lands shall so become a part of said Territory of Oklahoma, and the President shall thereupon make proclamation to that effect.

Congress may change boundaries

Congress may at any time hereafter change the boundaries of said Territory, or attach any portion of the same to any other State or Territory of the United States, without the consent of the inhabitants of the Territory hereby created: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed to impair any right now pertaining to any Indians or Indian tribe in said Territory under the laws, agreements, and treaties of the United States, or to impair the rights of person or property pertaining to said Indians, or to affect the authority of the government of the United States to make any regulation or to make any law respecting said Indians, their lands, property or other rights which it would have been competent to make or enact if this act had not been passed.

(62) SECTION 2. That the executive power of the Territory of Executive power, in whom vested. Duties of governor.

Oklahoma shall be vested in a Governor, who shall hold his office for four years, and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the President of the United States. The Governor shall reside within said Territory; shall be Commander-in-Chief of the militia thereof; he may grant pardons for offenses against the laws of said Territory, and reprieves for offenses against the laws of the United States, until the decision of the President can be made known thereon; he shall commission all officers who shall be appointed to office under the laws of said Territory, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

Duties of secretary

(63) SECTION 3. That there shall be a Secretary of said Territory, who shall reside therein and hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the President of the United States; he shall record and preserve all the laws and the proceedings of the legislative assembly hereinafter constituted, and all acts and proceedings of the Governor in his executive department; he shall transmit one copy of the laws and journals of the legislative assembly, within thirty days after the end of each session thereof, to the President of the United States and to the Secretary of the Interior, and, at the same time, two copies of the laws and journals of the legislative assembly to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate for the use of Congress; and in case of the death, removal, resignation, or other necessary absence of the Governor from the Territory, the Secretary shall execute all the powers and perform all the duties of the Governor during such vacancy or absence, or until the Governor is appointed and qualified.

Legislative power, qualification of legislators, term of office, duration of session.

(64) SECTION 4. That the legislative power and authority of said Territory shall be vested in the Governor and legislative assembly. The legislative assembly shall consist of a Council and a House of Representatives. The Council shall consist of thirteen members, having the qualifications of voters as hereinafter prescribed, whose term of service shall continue two years. The House of Representatives shall consist of twenty-six members, possessing the same qualifications as prescribed for members of the Council, and whose term of service shall continue two years; and the sessions of the legislative assembly shall be biennial and shall be limited to sixty days' duration: Provided, however, That the duration of the first session of said legislative assembly may continue one hundred and twenty days.

Establishing counties and county seats. Legislature may change same

That for the purpose of facilitating the organization of a temporary government in the Territory of Oklahoma, six counties are hereby established therein, to be known, until after the first election in the Territory, as the First County, the Second County, the Third County, the Fourth County, the Fifth County, and the Sixth County, the boundaries of which shall be fixed by the Governor of the Territory until otherwise provided by the legislative assembly thereof. The county seat of the First County shall be at Guthrie. The county seat of the Second County shall be at Oklahoma City. The county seat of the Third County shall be at Norman. The county seat of the Fourth County shall be at El Reno. The county seat of the Fifth County shall be at Kingfisher City. The Sixth County shall embrace all that portion of the Territory lying west of the one hundredth meridian, known as the Public Land Strip, the county seat of which shall be at Beaver: Provided, That the county seats located by this act may be changed in such manner as the Territorial legislature may provide.

Provisions for first election.

At the first election for members of the legislative assembly the people of each county may vote for a name for such county, and the name which receives the greatest number of votes shall be the name of such county. If two or more counties should select the same name, the county which casts the greatest number of votes for such name shall be entitled to the same, and the names receiving the next highest number of votes in the other counties shall be the names of such counties. An apportionment shall be made by the Governor, as nearly equal as practicable, among the several counties or districts for the election of the Council and House of Representatives, giving to each section of the Territory, representation in the ratio of its population (excepting Indians not taxed) as nearly as may be; and the members of the Council and House of Representatives shall reside in and be inhabitants of the districts for which they may be elected, respectively. Previous to the first election the Governor shall cause a census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the several counties or districts of the Territory to be taken, unless the same shall have been taken and published by the United States, in which case such census and enumeration shall be adopted, and the first election shall be held at such times and places, and be conducted in such manner, both as to the persons who superintend such election and the returns thereof, as the Governor shall appoint and direct, and he shall at the same time declare the number of the members of the Council and the House of Representatives to which each of the counties or districts shall be entitled, as shown by the census herein provided for. The number of persons authorized to be elected, having the greatest number of votes for the House of Representatives, equal to the number to which each county or district shall be entitled, shall be declared by the Governor to be elected members of the House of Representatives; Provided, That in case two or more persons voted for have an equal number of votes, and in case a vacancy otherwise occurs in either branch of the legislative assembly, the Governor shall order a new election; and the persons thus elected to the legislative assembly shall meet, at such place and on such day as the Governor shall appoint, but after such first election, however, the time, place and manner of holding elections by the people, and the appointment of representation, and the day of the commencement of the regular sessions of the legislative assembly, shall be prescribed by law; Provided, however, That the Governor shall have power to call the legislative assembly together by proclamation, on an extraordinary occasion, at any time.

Qualifications of electors at first election.

(65) SECTION 5. That all male citizens of the United States above the age of twenty-one years, and all male persons of foreign birth over said age, who shall have, twelve months prior thereto, declared their intention to become citizens of the United States, as now required by law, who are actual residents at the time of the passage of this act of that portion of said Territory which was declared by the proclamation of the President to be open for settlement on the twenty-second day of April, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, and of that portion of said Territory heretofore known as the Public Land Strip, shall be entitled to vote at the first election in the Territory. At every subsequent election the qualifications of voters, and of holding office, shall be such as may be prescribed by the legislative assembly, subject, however, to the following restrictions on the power of the legislative assembly, namely: First. The right of suffrage and of holding office shall be exercised only by citizens of the United States above the age of twenty-one years and by persons of foreign birth above that age who have declared, on oath, before a competent court of record, as required by the naturalization laws of the United States, their intention to become citizens, and have taken an oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and who shall have been residents of the United States for the term of twelve months before the election at which they offer to vote. Second. There shall be no denial of the elective franchise or of holding office, to a citizen, on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude. Third. No officer, soldier, seaman, marine, or othe person in the army or navy, or attached to troops in the service of the United States, shall be allowed to vote in said Territory by reason of being on service therein. Fourth. No person belonging to the army or navy shall be elected to, or hold, any civil office or appointment in said Territory.

Limitation of legislative power.

(66) SECTION 6. That the legislative power of the Territory shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation, not inconsistent with the Constitution and Laws of the United States, but no law shall be passed interfering with the primary disposal of soil; no tax shall be imposed upon the property of the United States, nor shall the lands or other property of non-residents be taxed higher than the lands or other property of residents, nor shall any law be passed impairing the right to private property, nor shall any unequal discrimination be made in taxing different kinds of property, but all property subject to ~~the~~ taxation shall be taxed in proportion to its value: Provided, That nothing herein shall be held to prohibit the levying and collecting license or special taxes in the Territory, from persons engaged in any business therein, if the legislative power shall consider such taxes necessary. Every bill which shall have passed the Council and the House of Representatives of said Territory shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the Governor of the Territory. If he approves he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it with his objections to the House in which it originated, who shall enter the objections at large upon their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that House shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that House it shall become a law. But in all such cases the vote of both Houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, to be entered on the journal of each House respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the Governor within five days (Sunday excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the assembly, by adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

(67) SECTION 7. That all township, district, and county officers, not herein otherwise provided for, shall be appointed or elected, as the case may be, in such manner as shall be provided by the Governor and legislative assembly of the Territory. The Governor shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of the Council, appoint all officers not herein otherwise provided for, and in the first instance the Governor alone may appoint all such officers, who shall hold their offices until the end of the first session of the legislative assembly; and he shall lay off the necessary districts for members of the Council and House of Representatives, and all other officers; and whenever a vacancy happens from resignation or death, during the recess of the legislative Council, in any office which is filled by appointment of the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Council, the Governor shall fill such vacancy by granting a commission, which shall expire at the end of the next session of the legislative Council. It is further provided that the legislative assembly shall not authorize the issuing of any bond, scrip, or evidence of debt by the Territory, or any county, city, town, or township therein, for the construction of any railroad.

Legislature cannot authorize issuance of scrip for construction of railroads.

(68) SECTION 8. That no member of the legislative assembly shall hold or be appointed to any office, which has been created or the salary or emoluments of which have been increased while he was a member, during the term for which he was elected and for one year after the expiration of such term, but this restriction shall not be applicable to members of the first legislative assembly provided for by this act; and no person holding a commission or appointment under the United States, except postmasters, shall be a member of the legislative assembly, or shall hold any office under the government of said Territory.

Legislators cannot hold offices created by them

(69) SECTION 9. That the judicial power of said Territory shall be vested in a Supreme Court, District Courts, Probate Courts, and Justices of the Peace. The Supreme Court shall consist of a chief-justice and two associate justices, any two of whom shall constitute a quorum. They shall hold their offices for four years, and until their successors are appointed and qualified, and they shall hold a term annually at the seat of government of said Territory. The jurisdiction of the several courts herein provided for, both appellate and original, and that the Probate Courts and of the Justices of the Peace, shall be as limited by law: Provided, That Justices of the Peace, who shall be elected in such manner as the legislative assembly may provide by law, shall not have jurisdiction of any matter in controversy when the title or boundaries of land may be in dispute, or where the debt or sum claimed shall exceed one hundred dollars, and said Supreme and District Courts, respectively, shall possess chancery as well as common law jurisdiction, and authority for redress of all wrongs committed against the constitution or laws of the United States or of the Territory affecting persons or property. Said Territory shall be divided into three

The Governor to establish voting precincts

The governor of said Territory is authorized to divide each county into election precincts and into such political sub-divisions other than school districts as may be required by the laws of the State of Nebraska; and is hereby authorized to appoint all officers of such counties and sub-divisions thereof as he shall deem necessary, and all election officers until their election or appointment shall be provided for by the legislative assembly, but not more than two of the judges or inspectors of election in any election precinct shall be members of the same political party, and the candidates of each political party who may be voted for at such election may designate one person who shall be present at the counting and canvassing of the votes cast in each precinct.

Supreme and District Courts may enforce Nebraska laws applying by this Act Jurisdiction of County Courts and Justices.

The Supreme and District Courts of said Territory shall have the same power to enforce the laws of the State of Nebraska hereby extended to and put in force in said Territory as courts of like jurisdiction have in said State, but county courts and Justices of the Peace shall have and exercise the jurisdiction which is authorized by said laws of Nebraska: Provided, That the jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace in said Territory shall not exceed the sum of one hundred dollars, and County Courts shall have jurisdiction in all cases where the sum or matter in demand exceeds the sum of one hundred dollars.

Extending jurisdiction of District Courts over Indians in Oklahoma

(72) SECTION 12 That jurisdiction is hereby conferred upon the district courts of the Territory of Oklahoma over all controversies arising between members or citizens of other tribes or nations in the Territory of Oklahoma, and any citizen or member of one tribe or nation who may commit any offense or crime in said Territory against the person or property of a citizen or member of another tribe or nation shall be subject to the same punishment in the Territory of Oklahoma as he would be if both parties were citizens of the United States; and any person residing in the Territory of Oklahoma, in whom there is Indian blood, shall have the right to invoke the aid of courts therein for the protection of his person or property, as though he were a citizen of the United States: Provided, That nothing in this act contained shall be construed as to give jurisdiction to the courts established in said Territory in controversies arising between Indians of the same tribe, while sustaining their tribal relation.

Duties and qualifications of United States attorney.

(73) Section 13. That there shall be appointed for said Territory a person learned in the law, who shall act as attorney for the United States, and shall continue in office for four years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the President Said attorney shall receive a salary at the rate of two hundred and fifty dollars annually. There shall be appointed a Marshal for said Territory, who shall hold his office for four years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the President, and who shall execute all process issueing from the said courts when exercising their jurisdiction as Circuit and District Courts of the United States, he shall have and preform the duties and be subject to the same regulations and penalties imposed by law on the Marshal of the United States, and be entitled to a salary at the rate of two hundred dollars a year. There shall be allowed to the Attorney, Marshal, Clerks of the Supreme and District Courts the same fees as are prescribed for similar services by such persons in chapter sixteen, title Judiciary, of the Revised Statutes of the United States.

Territorial officers, oath of office etc.

(74) Section 14 That the Governor, Secretary, Chief Justice, and Associate Justces, Attorney, and Marshal shall be nominated and, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, appointed by the President of the United States. The Governor and Secretary to be appointed as aforesaid shall, before they act as such, respectively take an oath of affirmation before the District Judge, or some Justice of Peace, or other officer in the limits of said Territory duly authorized to administer oaths and affirmations by the laws now in force therein, or before the Chief Justice or some Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the Uuited States, to support the Constitution of the United States and faithfully to discharge the duties of their respective offices, which said oaths, when so taken, shall be certified by the person by whom the same shall have been taken; and such certificates shall be received and recorded by the Secretary, among the executive proceedings, and the Chief Justice and Associate Justices, and all other civil officers in said Territory, before they act as such, shall take a like oath or affirmation before the said Governor or Secretary, or some Judge or Justice of the Peace of the Territory, who may be duly commissioned and qualified, which said oath or affirmation shall be certified and transmitted by the person taking the same, to the Secretary, to be recorded by him as aforesaid, and afterwards the like oath or affirmation shall be taken, certified and recorded in such manner and form as may be prescribed by law. day during their attendance at the sessions, and four dollars for each and every twenty miles traveled in going to and returning from said sessions, estimating the distance by the nearest traveled route. There shall be appropriated annually the sum of one thousand dollars, to be expended by the Governor to defray the contingent expenses of the Territory. There shall also be appropriated annually a sufficient sum, to be expended by the Secretary, and upon an estimate to be made by the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, to defray the expenses of the legislative assembly, of the courts, the printing of the laws, and other incidental expenses; and the Secretary of the Territory shall annually account to the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States for the manner in which the aforesaid sum shall have been expended.

Temporary seat of government.

(75) SECTION 15. That the legislative assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma shall hold its first session at Guthrie, in said Territory, at such time as the Governor thereof shall appoint and direct; and at said first session, or as soon thereafter as they shall deem expedient, the Governor and legislative assembly shall proceed to locate and establish the seat of government for said Territory, at such place as they may deem eligible, which place, however, shall thereafter be subject to be changed by the said Governor and legislative assembly.

Delgate to Congress, how and when elected.

(76) SECTION 16. That a delegate to the House of Representatives of the United States, to serve during each Congress of the United States, may be elected by the voters qualified to elect members of the legislative assembly, who shall be entitled to the same rights and privileges as are exercised and enjoyed by the delegates from the several other Territories of the United States in the said House of Representatives. The first election shall be held at such time and place, and be conducted in such manner as the Governor shall appoint and direct, after at least sixty days' notice, to be given by proclamation, and at all subsequent elections the time, place, and manner of holding elections, shall be prescribed by law. The person having the greatest number of votes of the qualified electors, as hereinbefore provided, shall be declared by the Governor elected, and a certificate thereof shall be accordingly given.

National Banks.

(77) SECTION 17. That the provisions of title sixty-two of the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to national banks, and all amendments thereto, shall have the same force and effect in the territory of Oklahoma as elsewhere in the United States: Provided, That persons otherwise qualified to act as directors shall not be required to have resided in said Territory for more than three months immediately preceding their election as such.

Lands in lieu of school land grants. Other land provisons

(78) SECTION 18. That sections numbered sixteen and thirty-six in each township in said Territory shall be, and the same are hereby reserved for the purpose of being applied to public schools in the State or States hereafter to be erected out of the same. In all cases where sections sixteen and thirty-six, or either of them, are occupied by actual settlers prior to survey thereof the County Commissioners of the counties in which such sections are so occupied are authorized to locate other lands, to an equal amount, in sections or fractional sections, as the case may be, within their respective counties, in lieu of the sections so occupied.

All the lands embraced in that portion of the Territory of Oklahoma heretofore known as the Public Land Strip, shall be open to settlement under the provisions of the homestead laws of the United States, except section twenty-three hundred and one of the Revised Statutes, which shall not apply; but all actual and bona fide settlers upon and occupants of the lands in said Public Land Strip at the time of the passage of this act, shall be entitled to have preference to and hold the lands upon which they have settled under the homestead laws of the United States, by virtue of their settlement and occupancy of said lands, and they shall be credited with the time they have actually occupied their homesteads, respectively, not exceeding two years, on the time required under said laws, to perfect title as homestead settlers.

The lands within said Territory of Oklahoma, acquired by cession of the Muscogee (or Creek) Nation of Indians, confirmed by Act of Congress approved March first, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, and also the lands acquired in pursuance of an agreement with the Seminole Nation of Indians by re-lease and conveyance, dated March sixteenth, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, which may hereafter be opened to settlement, shall be disposed of under the provisions of sections twelve, thirteen and fourteen of the "Act making appropriations for the current and contingent expenses of the Indian Department, and for fulfilling treaty stipulations with various Indian tribes, for the year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and ninety, and for other purposes," approved March second, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, and under section two of an "Act to ratify and confirm an agreement with the Muscogee (or Creek)Nation of Indians in the Indian Territory, and for other purposes," approved March first, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine: Provided, however, That each settler under and in accordance with the provisions of said acts shall, before receiving a patent for his homestead, pay to the United States for the land so taken by him, in addition to the fees provided by law, the sum of one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre.

Whenever any of the other lands within the Territory of Oklahoma, now occupied by any Indian tribe, shall by operation of law or proclamation of the President of the United States, be open to settlement, they shall be disposed of to actual settlers only, under the provisions of the homestead law, except section twenty-three hundred and one of the Revised Statutes of the United States, which shall not apply: Provided, however, That each settler, under and in accordance with the provisions of said homestead laws, shall before receiving a patent for his homestead pay to the United States for the land so taken by him, in addition to the fees provided by law, a sum per acre equal to the amount which has been or may be paid by the United States to obtain a relinquishment of the Indian title or interest therein, but in no case shall such payment be less than one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre The rights of honorably discharged soldiers and sailors in the late civil war, as defined and described in sections twenty-three hundred and four and twenty-three hundred and five of the Revised Statutes of the United States, shall not be abridged except as to such payment. All tracts of land in Oklahoma Territory which have been set apart for school purposes, to educational societies, or missionary boards at work among the Indians, shall not be opened up for settlement, but are hereby granted to the respective educational societies or missionary boards for whose use the same No part of the land embraced within the Territory hereby created shall inure to the use or benefit of any railroad corporation, except the rights of way and land for stations heretofore granted to certain railroad corporations Nor shall any provision of this act or any act of any officer of the United States, done or performed under the provisions of this act or otherwise, invest any corporation owning or operating any railroad in the Indian Territory, or Territory created by this act, with any land or right to any land in either of said Territories, and this act shall not apply to or effect any land which, upon any condition on becoming a part of the public domain, would inure to the benefit of, or become the property of, any railroad corporation

Public land strip.

(79) SECTION 19. That portion of the Territory of Oklahoma heretofore known as the Public Land Strip is hereby declared a public land district, and the President of the United States is hereby empowered to locate a land office in said district, at such place as he shall select, and to appoint in conformity with existing law a Register and Receiver of said land office. He may also, whenever he shall deem it necessary, establish another additional land district within said Territory, locate a land office therein, and in like manner appoint a Register and Receiver thereof. And the Commissioner of the general land office shall, when directed by the President, cause the lands within the Territory to be properly surveyed and subdivided where the same has not already been done.

Procedure in securing lands

(80) SECTION 20 That the procedure in applications, entries, contests, and adjudications in the Territory of Oklahoma shall be in form and manner prescribed under the homestead laws of the United States, and the general principles and provisions of the homestead laws, except as modified by the provisions of this act, and the acts of Congress approved March first and second, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, heretofore mentioned, shall be applicable to all entries made in said Territory, but no patent shall be issued to any person who is not a citizen of the United States at the time of making final proof.

All persons who shall settle on land in said Territory, under the provisions of the homestead laws of the United States, and of this act, shall be required to select the same in square form as nearly as may be, and no person who shall at the time be seized in fee simple of a hundred and sixty acres of land in any State or Territory, shall hereafter be entitled to enter land in said Territory of Oklahoma. The provisions of sections twenty-three hundred and four and twenty-three hundred and five of the Revised Statutes of the United States shall, except as far as modified by this act, apply to all homestead settlements in said Territory.

May secure patent in twelve months.

(81) SECTION 21. That any person, entitled by law to take a homestead in said Territory of Oklahoma, who has already located and filed upon, or shall hereafter locate and file upon, a homestead within the limits described in the President's proclamation of April first, [March 23] eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, and under and in pursuance of the laws applicable to the settlement of the lands for settlement by such proclamation, and who has complied with all the laws relating to such homestead settlement, may receive a patent therefor at the expiration of twelve months from date of locating upon said homestead, upon payment to the United States of one dollar and twenty-five cents per acre for land embraced in such homestead.

Townsites may be secured, when and how

(82) SECTION 22. That the provisions of title thirty-two, chapter eight, of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to "reservation and sale of town sites on the public lands," shall apply to the lands open, or to be opened to settlement in the Territory of Oklahoma, except those opened to settlement by the proclamation of the President on the 22nd day of April, [March 23] eighteen hundred and eighty-nine: Provided, That hereafter all surveys for town sites in said Territory shall contain reservations for parks (of substantially equal area, if more than one park), and for schools and other public purposes, embracing in the aggregate not less than ten nor more than twenty acres; and patents for such reservations, to be maintained for such purposes, shall be issued to the towns respectively when organized as municipalities: Provided, further, That in case any lands in said Territory of Oklahoma, which may be occupied and filed upon as a homestead, under the provisions of law applicable to said Territory, by a person who is entitled to perfect his title thereto under such laws, are required for town site purposes, it shall be lawful for such person to apply to the Secretary of the Interior to purchase the lands embraced in said homestead, or any part thereof, for town site purposes. He shall file with the application a plat of such proposed town site, and if such plat shall be approved by the Secretary of the Interior, he shall issue a patent to such person for land embraced in said town site, upon the payment of the sum of ten dollars per acre for all the lands embraced in such town site, except the lands to be donated and maintained for public purposes, as provided in this section. And the sums so received by the Secretary of the Interior shall be paid over to the proper authorities of the municipalities when organized, to be used by them for school purposes only.

Relating to public highways.

(83) SECTION 23. That there shall be reserved public highways four rods wide between each section of land in said territory, the section lines being the center of said highways; but no deduction shall be made, where cash payments are provided for, in the amount to be paid for each quarter section of land by reason of such reservation. But if the said highway shall be vacated by any competent authority, the title to the respective strips shall inure to the then owner of the tract of which it formed a part by the original survey.

Fraudulent settlement of public lands, how punished.

(84) SECTION 24. That it shall be unlawful for any person, for himself or any company, association, or corporation, to directly or indirectly procure any person to settle upon any lands open to settlement in the Territory of Oklahoma, with intent thereafter of acquiring title thereto; and any title thus acquired shall be void; and the parties to such fraudulent settlement shall severally be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished upon indictment, by imprisonment not exceeding twelve months, or by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

This Act does not apply to Greer county only on certain conditions.

(85) SECTION 25. That inasmuch as there is a controversy between the United States and the state of Texas, as to the ownership of what is known as Greer county, it is hereby expressly provided that this act shall not be construed to apply to said Greer county until the title to the same has been adjudicated and determined to be in the United States; and, in order to provide for a speedy and final judicial determination of the controversy aforesaid, the Attorney-General of the United States is hereby authorized and directed to commence in the name and on behalf of the United States, and prosecute to a final determination, a proper suit in equity in the Supreme Court of the United States against the State of Texas, setting forth the title and claim of the United States to the tract of land lying between the North and South Forks of the Red river where the Indian Territory and the State of Texas adjoin, east of the one hundredth degree of longitude, and claimed by the State of Texas as within its boundary and a part of its land, and designated on its map as Greer county, in order that the rightful title to said land may be finally determined , and the court on the trial of the case may, in its discretion, so far as the ends of justice will warrant, consider any evidence heretofore taken and received by the Joint Boundary Commission under the act of Congress approved January thirty-first, eighteen hundred and eighty-five; and said case shall be advanced on the docket of said court, and proceeded with to its conclusion as rapidly as the nature and circumstances of the case permit.

Appropriations.

(86) SECTION 26. That the following sums, or so much thereof as may be necessary, are hereby appropriated, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be disbursed under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior, in the same manner that similar appropriations are disbursed in the other Territories of the United States, namely:

To pay the expenses of the first legislative assembly of said Territory, including the printing of the session laws thereof, the sum of forty thousand dollars.

To pay the salaries of the Governor, the judges of the Supreme Court, the secretary of the Territory, the marshal, the attorney, and other officers whose appointment is provided for in this act, for the remainder of the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and ninety, the sum of twenty thousand dollars.

To pay for the rent of buildings for the legislative and executive offices, and for the Supreme and District Courts; to provide jails, and support prisoners; to pay mileage and per diem of jurors and witnesses; to provide books, records, and stationery for executive and judicial offices for the remainder of the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and ninety, the sum of fifteen thousand dollars.

To enable the Governor to take a census of the inhabitants of said Territory, as required by law, the sum of five thousand dollars.

To be expended by the Governor in temporary support and aid of common school education in said Territory, as soon as a system of public schools shall have been established by the legislative assembly, the sum of fifty thousand dollars.

Legal rights acquired not invalidated.

(87) SECTION 27. That the provisions of this act shall not be so construed as to invalidate or impair any legal claims or rights of persons occupying any portion of said Territory, under the laws of the United States, but such claims shall be adjudicated by the Land Department, or the courts, in accordance with their respective jurisdictions.

Laws applicable, repealing provisions.

(88) SECTION 28. That the constitution and all the laws of the United States not locally inapplicable shall, except so far as modified by this act, have the same force and effect as elsewhere within the United States; and all acts and parts of acts in conflict with the provisions of this act are as to their effect in said Territory of Oklahoma hereby repealed: Provided, That section eighteen hundred and fifty of the Revised Statutes of the United States shall not apply to the Territory of Oklahoma.

Boundaries of Indian Territory proper Establishing a Court.

(89) SECTION 29. That all that part of the United States which is bounded on the north by the State of Kansas, on the east by the State of Arkansas and Missouri, on the south by the State of Texas, and on the west and north by the Territory of Oklahoma as defined in the first section of this act, shall for the purposes of this act, be known as the Indian Territory; and the jurisdiction of the United States court established under and by virtue of an act entitled "An act to establish a United States court in the Indian Territory, and for other purposes," approved March first, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, is hereby limited to and shall extend only over the Indian Territory as defined in this section; that the court established by said act shall, in addition to the jurisdiction conferred thereon by said act, have and exercise within the limits of the Indian Territory jurisdiction in all civil cases in the Indian Territory, except cases over which the tribal courts have exclusive jurisdiction; and in all cases on contracts entered into by citizens of any tribe or nation with citizens of the United States in good faith and for valuable consideration, and in accordance with the laws of such tribe or nation, and such contracts shall be deemed valid and enforced by such courts; and in all cases over which jurisdiction is conferred by this act or may hereafter be conferred by act of Congress; and the provisions of this act hereinafter set forth shall apply to said Indian Territory only.

Organization of Courts, how, when and where.

(90) SECTION 30. That for the purpose of holding terms of said court, said Indian Territory is hereby divided into three divisions, to be known as the first, second and third divisions. The first division shall consist of the country occupied by the Indian tribes in the Quapaw Indian Agency and all that part of the Cherokee country east of the ninety-sixth meridian and all of the Creek country; and the place for holding said court therein shall be at Muskogee. The second division shall consist of the Choctaw country, and the place for holding said court therein shall be at South McAlister. The third division shall consist of the Chickasaw and Seminole countries, and the place for holding said court therein shall be at Ardmore. That the Attorney General of the United States may if in his judgment it shall be necessary, appoint an assistant attorney for said court. And the clerk of said court shall appoint a deputy clerk in each of said divisions in which said clerk does not himself reside at the place in such division where the terms of said court are to be held. Such deputy clerk shall keep his office and reside at the place appointed for holding of said courts in the division of such residence, and shall keep the records of said courts for such division, and in the absence of the clerk may exercise all the official powers of the clerk within the division for which he is appointed: Provided, That the appointment of such deputies shall be approved by the United States court in the Indian Territory, and may be annulled by said court at its pleasure, and the clerk shall be responsible for the official acts and negligence of his respective deputies. The Judge of said court shall hold at least two terms of said court each year in each of the divisions aforesaid, at such regular times as said judge shall fix and determine, and shall be paid his actual traveling expenses and subsistence while attending and holding court at places other than Muskogee. All jurors for each term of said court, in each division, shall be selected and summoned in the manner provided in said act, three jury commissioners to be selected by said court for each division, who shall possess all the qualifications and perform in said division all the duties required by the jury commissioners provided for in said act. All prosecutions for crimes of offenses hereafter committed in said Indian Territory shall be cognizable within the division in which such crime or offense shall have been committed. And all civil suits shall be brought in the division in which the defendant or defendants reside; but if there be two or more defendants residing in different divisions, the action may be brought in any division in which either of the defendants resides. And all cases shall be tried in the division in which the process is returnable as herein provided, unless said judge shall direct such case to be removed to one of the other divisions: Provided, however, That the judicial tribunals of the Indian nations shall retain exclusive jurisdiction in all civil and criminal cases arising in the country in which members of the nation by nativity or by adoption shall be the only parties; and as to all such cases the laws of the State of Arkansas extended over and put in force in said Indian Territory by this act shall not apply.

Extending certain general laws of Arkansas over Indian Territory

(91) SECTION 31. That certain general laws of the State of Arkansas in force at the close of the session of the general assembly of that State of eighteen hundred and eighty-three, as published in eighteen hundred and eighty-four, in the volume known as Mansfield's Digest of the Statutes of Arkansas, which are not locally inapplicable or in conflict with this act or with any law of Congress, relating to the subjects specially mentioned in this section, are hereby extended over and put in force in the Indian Territory until Congress shall otherwise provide, that is to say, the provisions of the said general statutes of Arkansas relating to administration, chapter one, and the United States court in the Indian Territory herein referred to shall have and exercise the powers of courts of probate under said laws; to public administrators, chapter two, and the United States Marshal of the Indian Territory shall perform the duties imposed by said chapter on the Sheriffs of said State; to arrest and bail, civil, chapter seven; to assignment for benefit of creditors, chapter eight; to attachments, chapter nine; to attorneys at law, chapter eleven; to bills of exchange and promissory notes, chapter fourteen; to civil rights, chapter eighteen; to common and statute law of England, chapter twenty; to contempts, chapter twenty-six; to municipal corporations, chapter twenty-nine, division one; to costs, chapter thirty; to decents and distributions, chapter forty-nine; to divorce, chapter fifty two, and said court in the Indian Territory shall exercise the powers of the circuit courts of Arkansas under this chapter; to dower, chapter fifty-two; to evidence, chapter fifty-nine; to execution, chapter sixty; to fees, chapter sixty-three; to forcible entry and detainer, chapter sixty-seven; to frauds, statute of, chapter sixty-eight; to fugitives from justice, chapter sixty-nine; to gaming contracts, chapter seventy; to guardians, curators, and wards, chapter seventy-three, and said court in the Indian Territory shall appoint guardians and curators; to habeas corpus, chapter seventy-four; to injunction, chapter eighty-one; to insane persons and drunkards, chapter eighty-two, and said court in the Indian Territory shall exercise the powers of the probate courts of Arkansas under this charter; to joint and several obligations and contracts, chapter eighty-seven; to judgments and decrees, chapter eighty-eight; to judgments summary, chapter eighty-nine; to jury, chapter ninety; to landlord and tenant, chapter ninety-two; to legal notices and advertisements, chapter ninety-four; to liens, chapter ninety-six; to limitations, chapter ninety-seven; to mandamus and prohibition, chapter one hundred; to marriage contracts, chapter one hundred and two; to marriages, chapter one hundred and three; to married women, chapter one hundred and four; to money and interest, chapter one hundred and nine; to mortgages, chapter one hundred and ten; to notaries public, chapter one hundred and eleven, and said court in the Indian Territory shall appoint notaries public under this chapter; to partition the sale of lands, chapter one hundred and fifteen; to pleadings and practice, chapter one hundred nineteen; to recorders, chapter one hundred and twenty-six; to replevin, chapter one hundred and twenty-eight; to venue, change of, chapter one hundred and fifty-three; and to wills and testaments, chapter one hundred and fifty-five; and whenever in said laws of Arkansas the courts of record of said State are mentioned the said court in the Indian Territory shall be substituted therefor; and whenever the clerks of said courts are mentioned in said laws the clerk of said court in the Indian Territory and his deputies, respectively, shall be substituted therefor; and wherever the sheriff of the county is mentioned in said laws the United States Marshal of the Indian Territory shall be substituted therefor, for the purpose, in each of the cases mentioned, of making said laws of Arkansas applicable to the Indian Territory.

No attachments to issue against improvements on Indian lands, except when.

That no attachment shall issue against improvements on real estate while the title to the land is vested in any Indian Nation, except where such improvements have been made by persons, companies or corporations operating coal or other mines, railroads, or other industries under lease or permission of law of an Indian national council, or charter, or law of the United States.

Executions valid when

That executions upon judgments obtained in any other than Indian courts shall not be valid for the sale or conveyance of title to improvements made upon lands owned by an Indian Nation, except in the cases wherein attachments are provided for. Upon a return of nulla bona, upon an execution upon any judgment against an adopted citizen of any Indian tribe, or against any person residing in the Indian country and not a citizen thereof, if the judgement debtor shall be the owner of any improvements upon real estate within the Indian Territory in excess of one hundred and sixty acres occupied as a homestead, such improvements may be subjected to the payment of such judgment by a decree of the court in which such judgment was rendered. Proceedings to subject such property to the payment of judgments may be by petition, of which the judgment debtor shall have notice as in the original suit. If on the hearing the court shall be satisfied from the evidence that the judgment debtor is the owner of improvements on real estate subject to the payment of said judgment the court may order the same sold, and the proceeds, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said judgments and costs, applied to the payment of said judgment; or if the improvement is of sufficient rental value to discharge the judgment within a reasonable time the court may appoint a receiver, who shall take charge of such property and apply the rental receipts thereof to the payment of such judgment, under such regulations as the court may prescribe. If under such proceeding any improvement is sold only citizens of the tribe in which said property is situate may become the purchaser thereof.

Court may order improvements sold when Receiver can be appointed under certain conditions.

The Constitution of the United States and all general laws of the United States which prohibit crimes and misdemeanors in any place within the sole and exclusive jurisdiction of the United States, except in the District of Columbia, and all laws relating to national banking associations, shall have the same force and effect in the Indian Territory as elsewhere in the United States; but nothing in this act shall be so construed as to deprive any of the courts of the civilized nations of exclusive jurisdiction over all cases arising wherein members of said nations, whether by treaty, blood, or adoption, are the sole parties, nor so as to interfere with the right and power of said civilized nations to punish said members for violation of the statutes and laws enacted by their national councils where such laws are not contrary to the treaties and laws of the Uuited States.

Defining the application of certain words.

(92) SECTION 32. That the word "county," as used in any of the laws of Arkansas which are put in force in the Indian Territory by the provisions of this act, shall be construed to embrace the territory within the limits of a judicial division in said Indian Territory; and whenever in said laws of Arkansas the word "county" is used, the words "judicial division" may be substituted therefor, in said Indian Territory, for the purposes of this act. And whenever in said laws of Arkansas the word "State" or the words "State of Arkansas" are used, the word "Territory" or the words "Indian Territory" may be substituted therefor, for the purposes of this act, and for the purpose of making said laws of Arkansas applicable to the said Indian Territory; but all prosecutions therein shall run in the name of the "United States."

Defining jurisdiction of certain Courts of Indian Territory, Texas and Arkansas.

(93) SECTION 33. That the provisions of chapter forty-five of the said general laws of Arkansas, entitled "Criminal Law," except as to the crimes and misdemeanor mentioned in the proviso to this section, and the provisions of chapter forty-six of said general laws of Arkansas, entitled "Criminal Procedure," as far as they are applicable, are hereby extended over and put in force in the Indian Territory, and jurisdiction to enforce said provisions is hereby conferred npon the United States Court therein: Provided, That in all cases where the laws of the United States and the said criminal laws of Arkansas have provided for the punishment of the same offenses the laws of the United States shall govern as to such offenses. And provided further, That the United States Circuit and District Courts, respectively, for the western district of Arkansas and the eastern district of Texas, respectively, shall continue to exercise exclusive jurisdiction as now provided by law in the Indian Territory as defined in this act, in their respective districts as heretofore established, over all crimes and misdemeanors against the laws of the United States applicable to the said Territory, which are punishable by said laws of the United States by death or by imprisonment at hard labor, except as otherwise provided in the other sections of this act.

(94) SECTION 34. That original jurisdiction is hereby conferred upon the United States Court in the Indian Territory to enforce the provisions of title twenty-eight, chapters three and four, of the Revised Statutes of the United States, in said Territory, except the offenses defined and embraced in sections twenty-one hundred and forty-two and twenty-one hundred and forty-three: Provided, That as to the violations of the provisions of section twenty-one hundred and thirty-nine of said Revised Statutes, the jurisdiction of said court in the Indian Territory shall be concurrent with the jurisdiction exercised in the enforcement of such provisions by the United States Courts for the western district of Arkansas and the eastern district of Texas: Provided, That all violation of said chapters three and four, prior to the passage of this act, shall be prosecuted in the United States Courts, respectively, the same as if this act had not been passed.

(95) SECTION 35. That exclusive original jurisdiction is hereby conferred upon the United States Court in the Indian Territory to enforce the provisions of chapter four, title seventy, of the Revised Statutes of the United States, entitled "Crimes against Justice," in all cases where the crimes mentioned therein were committed in any judicial proceeding in the Indian Territory and where such crimes affected and impeded the enforcement of the laws in the courts established in said Territory: Provided, That all violations of the provisions of said chapter prior to the passage of this act shall be prosecuted in the United States Courts for the western district of Arkansas and the eastern district of Texas, respectively, the same as if this act had not been passed.

(96) SECTION 36. That jurisdiction is hereby conferred upon the United States Court in the Indian Territory over all controversies arising between members or citizens of one tribe or nation of Indians and the members or citizens of other tribes or nation in the Indian Territory, and any citizen or member of one tribe or nation who may commit any offense or crime against the person or property of a citizen or member of another tribe or nation shall be subject to the same punishment in the Indian Territory as he would be if both parties were citizens of the United States. And any member or citizen of any Indian tribe or nation in the Indian Territory shall have the right to invoke the aid of said court therein for the protection of his person or property as against any person not a member of the same tribe or nation, as though he were a citizen of the United States.

Prohibiting lotteries and games of chance.

(97) SECTION 37. That if any person shall, in the Indian Territory, open, carry on, promote, make or draw, publicly or privately, any lottery or scheme of chance of any kind or description, by whatever name, style or title the same may be denominated or known, or shall, in said Territory, vend, sell, barter or dispose of any lottery ticket or tickets, order or orders, device or devices, of any kind, for or representing any number of shares or any interest in any lottery or scheme of chance or shall open or establish as owner or otherwise any lottery or scheme of chance in said Territory, or shall be in any wise concerned in any lottery or scheme of chance, by acting as owner or agent in said Territory, for or on behalf of any lottery or scheme of chance, to be drawn, paid or carried on, either out or within said Territory, every such person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and. on conviction thereof, shall be fined for the first offense, not exceeding five hundred dollars, and for the second offense shall, on conviction, be fined not less than five hundred dollars and not exceeding five thousand, and he may be imprisoned, in the discretion of the court, not exceeding one year. And jurisdiction to enforce the provisions of this section is hereby conferred upon the United States Court in said Indian Territory, and all persons therein, including Indians and members and citizens of Indian tribes and nations, shall be subject to its provisions and penalties.

Relating to marriages.

(98) SECTION 38. The clerk and deputy clerks of said United States Court shall have the power within their respective districts to issue marriage licenses or certificates and to solemnize marriages. They shall keep copies of all marriage licenses or certificates issued by them, and a record book in which shall be recorded all licenses or certificates after the marriage has been solemnized, and all persons authorized by law to solemnize marriages shall return the license or certificate, after executing the same, to the clerk or deputy clerk who issued it, together with his return thereon. They shall also be ex-officio Recorders within their respective districts, and as such they shall perform such duties as are required of Recorders of Deeds under the said laws of Arkansas, and receive the fees and compensation therefor which are provided in said laws of Arkansas for like service: Provided, That all marriages heretofore contracted under the laws or tribal customs of any Indian nation now located in the Indian Territory are hereby declared valid, and the issue of such marriages shall be deemed legitimate and entitled to all inheritances of property or other rights, the same as in the case of the issue of other forms of lawful marriage: Provided, further, That said chapter one hundred and three of said laws of Arkansas shall not be construed so as to interfere with the operation of the laws governing marriage enacted by any of the civilized tribes, nor to confer any authority upon any officer of said court to unite a citizen of the United States in marriage with a member of any of the civilized nations until the preliminaries to such marriage shall have first been arranged according to the laws of the nation of which said Indian person is a member: And provided further, That where such marriage is required by law of an Indian nation to be of record, the certificate of such marriage shall be sent for record to the proper officer, as provided in such law enacted by the Indian nation.

United States Commissioners, by whom appointed and jurisdiction.

(99) SECTION 39. That the United States Court in the Indian Territory shall have all the powers of the United States Circuit Court or Circuit Court Judges to appoint commissioners within said Indian Territory, who shall be learned in the law, and shall be known as United States Commissioners; but not exceeding three commissioners shall be appointed for any one division, and such commissioners when appointed shall have, within the division designated in the order appointing them, all the powers of commissioners of circuit courts of the United States. They shall be ex-officio notaries public, and shall have power to solemnize marriages. The provisions of chapter ninety-one of the said laws of Arkansas, regulating the jurisdiction and procedure before Justices of the Peace, are hereby extended over the Indian Territory; and said commissioners shall exercise all the powers conferred by the laws of Arkansas upon Justices of the Peace within their districts; but they shall have no jurisdiction to try any cause where the value of the thing or the amount in controversy exceeds one hundred dollars.

Appeals.

Appeal may be taken from the final judgment of said commissioners to the United States Court in said Indian Territory in all cases and in the same manner that appeals may be taken from the final judgments of Justices of the Peace under the provisions of said chapter ninety-one. The said court may appoint a constable for each of the commissioner's districts designated by the court, and the constable so appointed shall perform all the duties required of constables under the provisions of chapter twenty-four and other laws of the State of Arkansas. Each commissioner and constable shall execute to the United States, for the security of the public, a good and sufficient bond, in the sum of five thousand dollars, to be approved by the judge appointing him, conditioned that he will faithfully discharge the duties of his office and account for all moneys coming to his hands, and he shall take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and to faithfully perform the duties required of him.

The appointment of United States commissioners by said court held at Muscogee, in the Indian Territory, heretofore made, and all acts in pursuance of law and in good faith performed by them, are hereby ratified and validated.

Providing for arrests for crime.

(100) SECTION 40. That persons charged with any offense or crime in the Indian Territory, and for whose arrest a warrant has been issued, may be arrested by the United States Marshal, or any of his deputies, wherever found in said Territory, but in all cases the accused shall be taken, for preliminary examination, before the commissioner in the judicial district whose office or place of business is nearest by the route usually traveled to the place where the offense or crime was committed; but this section shall apply only to crimes or offenses over which the courts located in the Indian Territory have jurisdiction: Provided, That in all cases where persons have been brought before a United States commissioner in the Indian Territory for preliminary examination, charged with the commission of any crime therein, and where it appears from the evidence that a crime has been committed, and that there is probable cause to believe the accused guilty thereof, but that the crime is one over which the courts in the Indian Territory have no jurisdiction, the accused shall not, on that account, be discharged, but the case shall be proceeded with as provided in section ten hundred and fourteen of the Revised Statutes of the United States.

Extradition authority, in whom vested.

(101) SECTION 41. That the Judge of the United States Court in the Indian Territory shall have the same power to extradite persons who have taken refuge in the Indian Territory, charged with crimes in the States or other territories of the United States, that may now be exercised by the governor of Arkansas in that State, and he may issue requisitions upon governors of States or other territories for persons who have committed offenses in the Indian Territory, and who have taken refuge in such States or territories.

Appeals to U. S. Supreme Court.

(102) SECTION 42. That appeals and writs of error may be taken and prosecuted from the decisions of the United States Court in the Indian Territory to the Supreme Court of the United States in the same manner and under the same regulations as from the circuit courts of the United States, except as otherwise provided in this act.

Indians may become citizens.

(103) SECTION 43. That any member of any Indian tribe or nation residing in the Indian Territory may apply to the United States Court therein to become a citizen of the United States, and such court shall have jurisdiction thereof and shall hear and determine such application as provided in the Statutes of the United States; and the Confederated Peoria Indians, residing in the Quapaw Agency, who have heretofore or who may hereafter accept their land in severalty under any of the allotment laws of the United States, shall be deemed to be, and are hereby, declared to be citizens of the United States from and after the selection of their allotments, and entitled to all the rights, privileges, and benefits as such, and parents are hereby declared from that time to have been and to be the legal guardians of their minor children without process of court: Provided, That the Indians who become citizens of the United States under the provisions of this act do not forfeit or lose any rights or privileges they enjoy or are entitled to as members of the tribe or nation of which they belong.

Appropriations

(104) SECTION 44. That the following sum, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be disbursed under the direction of the Attorney General of the United States; in the same manner that similar appropriations are disbursed in the other territories of the United States, namely:

To pay the actual traveling and other expenses of the Judge of the United States Court holding court in said Indian Territory other than at Muskogee; to pay for the rent of buildings for the Supreme and District Courts; to provide jails and support prisoners; to pay mileage and per diem of jurors and witnesses; to provide books, records, and stationery for the judicial offices for the remainder of the fiscal year ending June thirtieth, eighteen hundred and ninety, the sum of ten thousand dollars.

Relating to the location of townsites.

(123) SECTION 2382. In any case in which parties have already founded, or may hereafter desire to found, a city or town on the public lands, it may be lawful for them to cause to be filed with the Recorder for the county in which the same is situated, a plat thereof for not exceeding six hundred and forty acres, describing its exterior boundaries, according to the lines of the public surveys, where such surveys have been executed; also giving the name of such city or town, and exhibiting the streets, squares, blocks, lots and alleys, the size of the same, with measurements and area of each municipal sub-division, the lots in which shall not exceed 4,200 square feet, with a statement of the extent and general character of the improvements; such map and statement to be verified under oath by the party acting for and in behalf of the persons proposing to establish such city or town; and within one month after such filing there shall be transmitted to the general land office a verified transcript of such map, and statement accompanied by the testimony of two witnesses that such city or town has been established in good faith, and when the premises are within the limits of any organized land district, a similar map and statement shall be filed with the Register and Receiver, and at any time after the filing of such map, statement and testimony, in the general land office, it may be lawful for the President to cause the lots embraced within the limits of such city or town to be offered at public sale to the highest bidder, subject to a minimum of ten dollars for each lot; and such lots as may not be disposed of at public sale shall thereafter be liable to private entry at such minimum, or at such reasonable increase or diminution thereafter, as the Secretary of the Interior may order from time to time after at least three months' notice in view of the increase or decrease in the value of the municipal property. But an actual settler upon any one lot, as above provided, and upon any additional lot, in which he may have substantial improvements, shall be entitled to prove up and purchase the same, as a premption, at such minimum, at any time before the day fixed for the public sale.

Townsites on unsurveyed lands.

(124) SECTION 2383. When such cities or towns are established upon unsurveyed lands, it may be lawful, after the extension thereto of the public surveys, to adjust the extension limits of the premises according to those lines, where it can be done without interference with rights which may be vested by sale; and patents for all lots, so disposed of at public or private sale, shall issue as in ordinary cases.

Townsites entered by whom.

(125) SECTION 2387. Whenever any portion of the public lands have been or may be settled upon and occupied as a town site, not subject to entry under the agricultural pre-emption laws, it is lawful, in case such town be incorporated, for the corporate authorities thereof, and, if not incorporated, for the Judge of the County Court, for the county in which such town is situated, to enter at the proper land office, and at the minimum price, the land so settled and occupied, in trust for the several use and benefits of the occupants thereof, according to their respective interests; the execution oi which trust, as to the disposal of the lots in such town, and the proceeds of the sales thereof, to be conducted under such regulations as may be prescribed by the legislative authority of the State or Territory in which the same may be situated.

Entry to be made before sale.

(126) SECTION 2388. The entry of the land provided for in the preceding section, shall be made, or a declaratory statement of the purpose of the inhabitants to enter it as a townsite shall be filed with the Register of the proper land office, prior to the commencement of the public sale of the body of land in which it is included, and the entry or declaratory statement shall include only such land as is actually occupied by the town. * * *

To provide for town site entries of lands in what is known as "Oklahoma," and for other purposes.

Townsites in Indian Territory and No-Man's-Land

(127) Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That so much of the public lands situated in the Indian territory and also in the tract of country known as No Man's Land adjoining the Indian territory on the west, as may be necessary to embrace all the legal subdivisions covered by actual occupancy for purposes of trade and business not exceeding one thousand two hundred and eighty acres in each case may be entered as town sites for the several uses and benefits of the occupants thereof by three trustees for each county not more than two of whom shall be of the same political party, to be appointed by the Secretary of the Interior for that purpose and such entry to be made under the provisions of section two thousand three hundred and eighty-seven revised statutes, as near as may be, and when such entry shall have been made the Secretary of the Interior shall provide regulations for the proper execution of the trust, including such survey of the land into streets, alleys, squares, blocks and lots as may be necessary,

How and by whom entered.

or the approval of such surveys as may already have been made by the inhabitants thereof; the assessment on the lots of such sum as may be necessary to pay for the land embraced in such town site, costs of survey, conveyance of lots and other necessary expenses.

Authority for conveyance

(128) SEC. 2. That in the execution of such trust, and for the purpose of the conveyance of the title by said trustee, any certificate or other paper, evidence of claim duly issued by the authority recognized for such purpose by the people residing upon any townsite, the subject of entry hereunder, shall be taken as evidence of occupancy by the holder thereof of the lots therein described, except that where there is an adverse claim to said property such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the claim of occupancy of the holder; provided that nothing in this act contained shall be so construed as to make valid any claim now invalid of those who entered upon and occupied said lands in violation of the laws of the United States or the proclamation of the President; provided further, that the certificates hereinbefore mentioned shall not be taken as evidence in favor of any person claiming lots who entered upon said lots in violation of the law or the proclamation of the President thereunder.

Evidence of occupancy not good in certain cases.

Lands belonging to religious organizations.

(129) SEC. 3. The lots or land occupied by any religious organization, incorporated or otherwise, conforming to approved survey within limits of such townsite shall be conveyed to or in trust for the same.

Reservation of lands for certain purposes

(130) SEC. 4. That all lots not disposed of as hereinbefore provided for shall be sold for the benefit of the municipal government of any such town, or the same or part thereof may be reserved for public use as sites for public buildings, or for the purpose of parks, if in the judgment of the Secretary of the Interior such reservation would be for the public interest.

Kansas laws applying.

(131) SEC. 5. That the provisions of sections four, five, six, seven, eight, nine and ten, of an Act of the Legislature of the State of Kansas, entitled "An Act relating to town sites," approved March 2, 1868, shall, as far as applicable, govern the Trustees in the performance of their duties. [See complete copy of these sections below.]

Powers and compensation of trustees.

(132) SEC. 6. That the Trustees appointed under this act shall have the power to administer oaths, shall keep a record of their proceedings, which they shall, with all papers filed with them, and all evidence of their official acts except conveyances, be filed in the General Land Office and become part of the records of the same. They shall be allowed such compensation as the Secretary of the Interior may prescribe, not exceeding ten dollars per day while actually employed, and the Secretary of the Interior shall also provide them with necessary clerical force by detail or otherwise.

Appropriations

(133) SECTION 7. That the sum of ten thousand dollars or as much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated to carry into effect the provisions of this act.

Conflicts between townsite and homestead claimants.

(134) SECTION 8. That whenever there is a conflict between a homestead claimant and the occupants of a town site for any portion of the tract sought to be entered under the provisions of this act the same shall take precedence of the ordinary business of the office, and [be] heard and determined as soon as practicable by the Register and Receiver of the District in which the land is situated; and if an appeal shall be taken from the decision of the local office in any case disposed of hereinunder, or from the decision and determination of the said Commissioners, to the Commissioner of the General Land Office, the same shall be made special and disposed of by him as expeditiously as the duties of his office will permit, and so if an appeal should be taken to the Secretary of the Interior.

(135) SECTION 9. That all town site applications heretofore filed in the proper land office shall have the same force and effect as if made under the provisions of this act, and upon the application of the Commissioners provided for herein such town site entry shall be allowed in the name of said Commissioners as Trustees, upon the applications theretofore filed, but nothing herein contained shall be construed as extending to the rights of the town site or any claimant thereto or therein, or of impairing rights heretofore secured under existing law.

Approved May—1890.

THE KANSAS STATUTE.

SEC. 4—Appointing commissioners.
5—Duties of
6—Distribution of lots.
7—Levying tax.
8—Shall make return in ten days.
9—Collection of taxes and auctioning lots.
10—Re-imbuisement for expenses.

[The sections of the Kansas Statute referred to in section four and made a part of the above are as follows:]

(136) SECTION 4. At any time after the entry of any town site, the Probate Judge of the county in which such town may be situated may appoint three Commissioners, who shall not be residents of such town, or the owners of any interest therein; and it shall be the duty of such Commissioners to cause an actual survey of such town site to be made, conforming as near as may be to the original survey of such town, designating, on such plat, the lots or squares on which improvements are standing, with the name of owner or owners thereof, together with the value of the same. Appointing Commissioners.

(137) SEC. 5. Said Commissioners shall, as soon as the survey and plat shall be completed, cause to be published in some newspaper published in the county in which the town is situated, a notice that such survey has been completed, and giving notice to all persons concerned or interested in such town site that on a designated day, the said Commissioners will proceed to set off to the persons entitled to the same, according to their respective interests, the lots, squares or grounds to which each of the occupants thereto is entitled. Such publication shall be made at least thirty days prior to the day set apart by such Commissioners to make such decision. Duties of.

(138) SEC. 6. After such publication shall have been duly made, the Commissioners shall proceed, on the day designated in such publication, to set apart to the persons entitled to receive Distribution of lots the same, the lots, squares or grounds to which each shall be entitled, according to their respective interests, including in the portion or portions set apart to each person or company of persons, the improvements belonging to such persons or company.

Levying tax.

(139) SECTION 7. After the setting apart of such lots of ground and the valuation of the same, as hereinbefore provided for, the said Commissioner shall proceed to levy a tax on the lots and improvements thereon, according to their value, sufficient to raise a fund to reimburse the parties who may have entered such site, the sum or sums paid by them in securing the title to such site, together with all the expenses accruing in perfecting the same, the fees due the Commissioners and the Surveyor, for their respective services, and other necessary expenses connected with the proceedings.

Shall make return in ten days

(140) SECTION 8. Such Commissioners shall make due return of their proceedings to the Probate Judge, within ten days after the completion of their duties under this act, and shall, with such return, file all the papers, plats, valuations and assessments connected with such proceedings.

Collection of taxes and auctioning lots

(141) SECTION 9. The Probate Judge shall then proceed to collect the taxes, levied as aforesaid, and he shall make deeds to the lots so set apart to the various parties entitled to the same; but no deed shall be made to any such person until such person shall have first fully paid all the tax or assessment so levied against him; and in case any person shall refuse or neglect to pay such tax or assessment so made against him, the Probate Judge may proceed to offer such lots and improvements for sale, to the highest bidder, first giving such public notice as may be required in case of execution against the lands and tenements of a debtor in a District Court.

Reimbursement for expenses.

(142) SECTION 10. The Probate Judge shall reimburse the party or parties who may have entered and secured the title to such site, together with all necessary expenses incurred, out of the fund thus provided, taking their receipts therefor; which receipts shall be filed with the papers returned by the commissioners, and kept by him among the records of the court.

TITLE XXX.[1]

NATURALIZATION.

SECTION.
2165. Aliens, how naturalized.
2166. Aliens honorably discharged from military service.
2167. Minor residents.
2168. Widow and children of declarants.
2169. Aliens of African nativity and descent.
2170. Residence of five years in United States.
2171. Alien enemies not admitted.
2172. Children of persons naturalized under certain laws.
2173. Police court of District of Columbia has no power to naturalize foreigners.
2174. Naturalization of seamen.

(143) SECTION 2165. An alien may be admitted to become a citizen of the United States in the following manner, and not otherwise: Aliens, how naturalized.

First. He shall declare on oath, before a circuit or district court of the United States, or a district or supreme court of the territories, or a court of record of any of the states having common law jurisdiction, and a seal and clerk, two years, at least, prior to his admission, that it is bona fide his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and to renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state or sovereignty, and, particularly, by name, to the prince, potentate, state or sovereignty of which the alien may be at the time a citizen or subject. Declaration of intentions.

Second. He shall, at the time of his application to be admitted, declare, on oath, before some one of the courts above specified, that he will support the constitution of the United States, and that he absolutely and entirely renounces and abjures all allegiance and fidelity to every foreign prince, potentate, state, or soverignty; and, particularly, by name, to the prince, potentate, state or sovereignty of which he was before a citizen or subject; which proceeding shall be recorded by the clerk of the court. Oath to support constitution.

Third. It shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court admitting such alien that he has resided within the United States five years at least, and within the state or territory where such court is at the time held, one year at least; and that during that time he has behaved as a man of good moral character, attached to the principles of the constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same; but the oath of the applicant shall in no case be allowed to prove his residence.

Fourth. In case the alien applying to be admitted to citizenship has borne any hereditary title, or been of any of the orders Titles of nobility to be renounced of nobility in the kingdom or state from which he came, he shall, in addition to the above requisites, make an express renunciation of his title or order of nobility in the court to which his application is made, and his renunciation shall be recorded in the court.

Persons residing in the United States before January 29, 1795.

Fifth. Any alien who was residing within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States before the twenty-ninth day of January, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-five, may be admitted to become a citizen, on due proof made to some one of the courts above specified, that he has resided two years, at least, within the jurisdiction of the United States, and one year, at least, immediately preceding his application, within the state or territory where such court is at the time held; and on his declaring on oath that he will support the constitution of the United States, and that he absolutely and entirely renounces and abjures all allegiance and fidelity to any foreige prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty, and, particularly, by name, to the prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty whereof he was before a citizen or subject; and also, on its appearing to the satisfaction of the court, that during such term of two years he has behaved as a man of good moral character, attached to the constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same; and where the alien, applying for admission to citizenship, has borne any hereditary title, or been of any of the orders of nobility in the kingdom or state from which he came, on his, moreover, making in the court an express renunciation of his title or order of nobility. All of the proceedings required in this condition to be performed in the court, shall be recorded by the clerk thereof.

Persons residing between 18 June, 1798, and 18 June, 1812.

Sixth. Any alien who was residing within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States, between the eighteenth day of June, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-eight, and the eighteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and twelve, and who has continued to reside within the same, may be admitted to become a citizen of the United States without having made any previous declaration of his intention to become such; but whenever any person, without a certificate of such declaration of intention, makes application to be admitted a citizen, it must be proved to the satisfaction of the court, that the applicant was residing within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States before the eighteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and twelve, and has continued to reside within the same; and the residence of the applicant within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States, for at least five years immediately preceding the time of such application, must be proved by the oath of citizens of the United States, which citizens shall be named in the record as witnesses; and such continued residence within the limits and under the jurisdiction of the United States, when satisfactorily proved, and the place where the applicant has resided for at least five years, shall be stated and set forth, together with the names of such citizens, in the record of the court admitting the applicant; otherwise the same shall not entitle him to be considered and deemed a citizen of the United States.

(Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States, required by section two thousand one hundred and sixty-five of the Revised Statutes of the United States, may be made by an alien before the clerk of any of the courts named in said section two thousand one hundred and sixty-five ; and all such declarations heretofore made before any such clerk, are hereby declared as legal and valid as if made before one of the courts named in said section)

Aliens honorably discharged from military service.

(144) SECTION 2166. Any alien, of the age of twenty-one years and upward, who has enlisted, or may enlist, in the armies of the United States, either the regular or volunteer forces, and has been, or may be hereafter, honorably discharged, shall be admitted to become a citizen of the United States, upon his petition, without any previous declaration of his intention to become such; and he shall not be required to prove more than one year's residence within the United States previous to his application to become such citizen; and the court admitting such alien shall, in addition to such proof of residence and good moral character, as now provided by law, be satisfied by competent proof of such person's having been honorably discharged from the service of the United States.

Minor residents.

(145) SECTION 2167. Any alien, being under the age of twenty-one years, who has resided in the United States three years next preceding his arriving at that age, and who has continued to reside therein to the time he may make application to be admitted as a citizen thereof, may, after he arrives at the age of twenty-one years, and after he has resided five years within the United States, including the three years of his minority, be admitted as a citizen of the United States, without having made the declaration required in the first condition of section twenty-one hundred and sixty-five; but such alien shall make the declaration required therein at the time of his admission; and shall further declare, on oath, and prove to the satisfaction of the court, that, for two years next preceding, it has been his bona fide intention to become a citizen of the United States; and he shall in all other respects comply with the laws in regard to naturalization.

Widow and children of the declarants.

(146) SECTION 2168. When any alien, who has complied with the first condition specified in section twenty-one hundred and sixty-five, dies before he is actually naturalized, the widow and children of such alien shall be considered as citizens of the United States, and shall be entitled to all rights and privileges as such, upon taking the oaths prescribed by law.

Aliens of African nativity.

(147) SECTION 2169. The provisions of this title shall apply to aliens (being free white persons, and to aliens) of African nativity and to persons of African descent.

Residence of five years in United States.

(148) SECTION 2170. No alien shall be admitted to become a citizen who has not for the continued term of five years next preceding his admission resided in the United States.

Alien enemies not admitted.

(149) SECTION 2171. No alien who is a native citizen or subject, or a denizen of any country, state, or sovereignty with which the United States are at war, at the time of his application, shall be then admitted to become a citizen of the United States; but persons resident within the United States, or the territories thereof, on the eighteenth day of June, in the year one thousand eight hundred and twelve, who had before that day made a declaration according to law, of their intention to become citizens of the United States, or who were on that day entitled to become citizens without making such declaration, may be admitted to become citizens thereof, notwithstanding they were alien enemies at the time and in the manner prescribed by the laws heretofore passed on that subject; nor shall anything herein contained be taken or construed to interfere with or prevent the apprehension and removal, agreeably to law, of any alien enemy at any time previous to the actual naturalization of such enemy.

Children of persons naturalized under certain laws to be citizens.

(150) SECTION 2172. The children of persons who have been duly naturalized under any law of the United States, or who, previous to the passing of any law on that subject, by the government of the United States, may have become citizens of any one of the states, under the laws thereof, being under the age of twenty-one years at the time of the naturalization of their parents, shall, if dwelling in the United States, be considered as citizens thereof; and the children of persons who now are, or have been, citizens of the United States, shall, though born out of the limits and jurisdiction of the United States, be considered as citizens thereof; but no person heretofore proscribed by any state, or who has been legally convicted of having joined the army of Great Britain during the revolutionary war, shall be admitted to become a citizen without the consent of the legislature of the state in which such person was proscribed.

Police court, District of Columbia,

(151) SECTION 2173. The police court of the District of Columbia shall have no power to naturalize foreigners.

Naturalizatio n of seamen

(152) SECTION 2174. Every seaman, being a foreigner, who declares his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States in any competent court, and shall have served three years on board of a merchant-vessel of the United States subsequent to the date of such declaration, may, on his application to any competent court, and the production of his certificate of discharge and good conduct during that time, together with the certificate of his declaration of intention to become a citizen, be admitted a citizen of the United States; and every seaman, being a foreigner, shall, after his declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States, and after he shall have served such three years, be deemed a citizen of the United States for the purpose of manning and serving on board any merchant-vessel of the United States, anything to the contrary in any act of congress notwithstanding; but such seaman shall, for all purposes of protection as an American citizen, be deemed such, after the filing of his declaration of intention to become such citizen.

General Statutes of the Territory of Oklahoma.

CHAPTER I.—AGENTS AND AGENCIES.

[Took effect December 25, 1890]

ARTICLE.
1. Agents.
2. Factors.
3. Agency.
4. Authority of agents.
5. Mutual obligations of principals and third persons.
6. Obligations of agents of third persons.
7. Delegation of agency.
8. Termination of agency.
9. Auctioneers.
10. Factors.
11. Shipmasters and pilots.
12. Ship's manager.

ARTICLE 1.—AGENTS.

SECTION.
1. Exceeding authority.
2. Inform principal to acts.
3. Collecting agents.
4. Sub-agents.

(153) § 1. An agent must not exceed the limits of his actual authority, as defined by the article on agency. Agent must not exceed his authority

(154) § 2. An agent must use ordinary diligence to keep his principal informed of his acts in the course of the agency. He must inform his principal.

(155) § 3. An agent employed to collect a negotiable instrument must collect it promptly, and take all measures necessary to charge the parties thereto, in case of its dishonor, and, if it is a bill of exchange, must present it for acceptance with reasonable diligence. Collecting agent.

(156) § 4. A mere agent of an agent is not responsible as such to the principal of the latter. Responsibility of sub-agent.

ARTICLE 2.—FACTORS.

SECTION.
1. Factor defined.
2. Must obey principal.
3. Usual credit given.
4. Guarantee commission.
5. Relieved by consent of principal.

(157) § 1. The factor is an agent who, in the pursuit of an independent calling, is employed by another to sell property for him and is vested by the latter with the possession or control of the property, or authorized to receive payment therefor from the purchaser. Factor defined.

(158) § 2. A factor must obey the instructions of his principal, to the same extent as any other employe, notwithstanding any advances he may have made to his principal upon the property consigned to him, except that if the principal forbids him to sell He must obey principal..

at the market price, he may nevertheless sell for his reimbursement, after giving to his principal reasonable notice of his intention to do so, and of the time and place of sale, and proceeding in all respects as a pledgee[bailee].

He may give usual credit.

(159) § 3. A factor may sell property consigned to him on such credit as is usual, but, having once agreed with the purchaser upon the terms of credit, may not extend it.

Liability under guaranty commission.

(160) § 4. A factor who charges his principal with a guaranty commission upon a sale, thereby assumes absolutely to pay the price when it falls due, as if it were a debt of his own, and not as a mere guarantor for the purchaser; but he does not thereby assume any additional responsibility for the safety of his remittance of the proceeds.

Relieved only by consent of principal.

(161) § 5. A factor who receives property for sale under a general agreement or usage to guaranty the sales, or the remittance of the proceeds, cannot relieve himself from responsibility therefor without the consent of his principal.

ARTICLE 3.—AGENCY.

SECTION.
1. Agency defined.
2. Qualification of agents.
3. Special and general agents.
4. Agency classified.
5. Actual agency.
6. Ostensible agency.

Agency defined.

(162.) § 1. An agent is one who represents another, called the principal, in dealings with third persons. Such representation is called agency.

Qualifications of agents.

(163.) § 2. Any person having capacity to contract, may appoint an agent; and any person may be an agent.

Special and general agents.

(164.) § 3. An agent for a particular act or transaction is called a special agent. All others are general agents.

Classified.

(165.) § 4. An agency is either actual or ostensible.

Actual agency.

(166.) § 5. An agency is actual when the agent is really employed by the principal.

Ostensible agency.

(167.) § 6. An agency is ostensible when the principal intentionally, or by want of ordinary care, causes a third person to believe another to be his agent, who is not really employed by him.

ARTICLE 4.—AUTHORITY OF AGENTS.

SECTION.
1. Powers of agents.
2. Lawful acts.
3. Defraud principal.
4. How created.
5. No consideration necessary.
6. Form of authority.
7. Form of ratification.
8. Part includes whole.
9. Ratification void, when.
10. Retroactive ratification.
11. Rescission of ratification.
12. Authority extends, how far.
13. Actual authority.
14. Ostensible authority,
15. Legal construction.
16. Necessary authority.
17. Agents may disobey instructions, when.
18. General and specific powers.
19. Exceptions to general powers.
20. Implied authority as to personal property.
21. Same as to realty.
22. May receive price.
23. Same—Limited power.

Powers of agents.

(168.) § 1. An agent may be authorized to do any acts which his principal might do, except those to which the latter is bound to give his personal attention.

(169.) § 2. Every act which, according to this code, may be done by or to any person, may be done by or to the agent of such person for that purpose, unless a contrary intention clearly appears. Any lawful act.

(170) § 3. An agent can never have authority, either actual or ostensible, to do an act which is, and is known or suspected by the person with whom he deals, to be a fraud upon the principal. No authority to defraud principal

(171) § 4. An agency may be created, and an authority may be conferred, by a precedent authorization, or a subsequent ratification. How agency may be created.

(172) § 5. A consideration is not necessary to make an authority, whether precedent or subsequent, binding upon the principal. No consideration necessary.

(173) § 6. An oral authorization is sufficient for any purpose, except that an authority to enter into a contract required by law to be in writing can only be given by an instrument in writing. Form of authority

(174) § 7. A ratification can be made only in the manner that would have been necessary to confer an original authority for the act ratified, or, where an oral authorization would suffice, by accepting or retaining the benefit of the act, with notice thereof. Form of ratification.

(175) § 8. Ratification of part of an invisible transaction is a ratification of the whole. Part includes whole.

(176) § 9. A ratification is not valid unless, at the time of ratifying the act done, the principal has power to confer authority for such an act. Ratification void when.

(177) § 10. No unauthorized act can be made valid, retroactively, to the prejudice of third persons, without their consent. Retroactive ratification, when not valid.

(178) § 11. A ratification may be rescinded when made without such consent as is required in a contract, or with an imperfect knowledge of the material facts of the transaction ratified, but not otherwise. Rescissions of ratification.

(179) § 12. An agent has such authority as the principal, actually or ostensibly, confers upon him. Authority, how extensive.

(180) § 13. Actual authority is such as a principal intentionally confers upon the agent, or intentionally or by want of ordinary care, allows the agent to believe himself to possess. Actual authority.

(181) § 14. Ostensible authority is such as a principal intentionally, or by want of ordinary care, causes or allows a third person to believe the agent to possess. Ostensible authority.

(182) § 15. Every agent has actually such authority as is defined by this title, unless specially deprived thereof by his principal, and has even then such authority ostensibly, except as to persons who have actual or constructive notice of the restriction upon his authority. Legal construction.

(183) § 16. An agent has authority. Necessary authority

First. To do everything necessary, or proper and usual in the ordinary course of business, for effecting the purpose of his agency; and,

Second. To make a representation respecting any matter of fact, not including the terms of his authority, but upon which his right to use his authority depends, and the truth of which can not be determined by the use of reasonable diligence on the part of the person to whom the representation is made.

Agent may disobey instructions, when.

(184) § 17. An agent has power to disobey instructions in dealing with the subject of the agency, in cases where it is clearly for the interest of his principal that he should do so, and there is not time to communicate with the principal.

General and specific powers

(185) § 18. When an authority is given partly in general and partly in specific terms the general authority gives no higher powers than those specifically mentioned.

Exemptions to general powers.

(186) § 19. An authority expressed in general terms, however broad, does not authorize an agent:

First. To act in his own name, unless it is the usual course of business to do so.

Second. To define the scope of his agency; or,

Third. To do any act which a trustee is forbidden to do by article 2, of chapter 1, of title 8, as follows:

[SECTION 3921. In all matters connected with his trust a trustee is bound to act in the highest good faith toward his beneficiary, and may not obtain any advantage therein over the latter, by the slightest misrepresentation, concealment, threat or adverse pressure of any kind.

SECTION 3922. A trustee may not use or deal with the trust property for his own benefit, or for any other purpose unconnected with the trust, in any manner.

SECTION 3923. Neither a trustee, nor any of his agents, may take part in any transaction concerning the trust, in which he, or any one for whom he acts as agent, has an interest, present or contingent, adverse to that of his beneficiary, except as follows:

First. When the beneficiary, having capacity to contract, with a full knowledge of the motives of the trustee, and of all other facts concerning the transaction which might affect his own decision, and without the use of any influence on the part of the trustee, permits him to do so.

Second. When the beneficiary not having power to contract, the district court, upon the like information of the facts, grants the like permission; or,

Third When some of the beneficiaries having capacity to contract, and some not having it, the former grant permission for themselves, and the district court for the latter, in the manner above prescribed.

SECTION 3924. A trustee may not use the influence which his position gives him to obtain any advantage from his beneficiary.

SECTION 3925. No trustee, so long as he remains in the trust, may undertake another trust adverse in its nature to the interest to his beneficiary in the subject of the trust, without the consent of the latter.

SECTION 3926. If a trustee acquires any interest, or becomes charged with any duty adverse to the interest of his beneficiary in the subject of the trust, he must immediately inform the latter thereof, and may be at once removed.

SECTION 3927. Every violation of the provisions of the preceding sections of this article is a fraud against the beneficiary of the trust.

SECTION 3928. All transactions between a trustee and his beneficiary, during the existence of the trust, or while the influence acquired by the trustee remains, by which he obtains any advantage from his beneficiary, are presumed to be entered into by the latter without sufficient consideration and under undue influence.

SECTION 3929. A trustee who willfully and unnecessarily mingles the trust property with his own, so as to constitute himself in appearance its absolute owner, is liable for its safety in all events.

SECTION 3930. A trustee who uses or disposes of the trust property, contrary to section 3922 may, at the option of the beneficiary, be required to account for all profits so made, or to pay the value of its use, and, if he has disposed thereof, to replace it, with its fruits, or to account for its proceeds with interest.

SECTION 3931. A trustee who uses or disposes of the trust property in any manner not authorized by the trust, but in good faith, and with intent to serve the interest of the beneficiary, is liable only to make good whatever is lost to the beneficiary by his error.

SECTION 3932. A trustee is responsible for the wrongful acts of a co-trustee, to which he consented, or which by his negligence he enabled the latter to commit, but for no others.—Dakota Code.]

Implied authority.

(187) § 20. An authority to sell personal property includes authority to warrant the title of the principal, and the quality and quantity of the property.

Same as to realty.

(188) § 21. An authority to sell and convey real property includes authority to give the usual covenants of warranty.

May receive price.

(189) § 22. A general agent to sell, who is intrusted by the principal with the possession of the thing sold, has authority to receive the price.

Limitation of the power to receive price.

(190) § 23. A special agent to sell has authority to receive the price on delivery of the thing sold, but not afterwards.

ARTICLE 5.—MUTUAL OBLIGATIONS OF PRINCIPALS AND THIRD PERSONS

Section.
1. Principal affected by agent
2 Incomplete execution.
3. Notice to one is notice to both.
4. Authority of agent exceeded.
5. Principal bound by certain acts.
6. Principal exonerated, when
7. Set-offs against agent.
8. Construction of contract.
9. Negligence of agent.
10. Principal how far responsible.

Principal affected by agent.

(191) § 1. An agent represents his principal for all purposes within the scope of his actual or ostensible authority, and all the rights and liabilities which would accrue to the agent from transactions within such limit, if they had been entered into on his own account, accrue to the principal.

Incomplete execution.

(192) § 2. A principal is bound by an incomplete execution of an authority, when it is consistent with the whole purpose and scope thereof, but not otherwise.

Chap. 1.

Notice to one is notice to both

(193) § 3. As against a principal, both principal and agent are deemed to have notice of whatever either has notice of, and ought, in good faith and the exercise of ordinary care and diligence, to communicate to the other.

Authority of agent exceeded

(194) § 4. When an agent exceeds his authority, his principal is bound by his authorized acts so far only as they can be plainly separated from those which are unauthorized.

Principal bound by certain acts.

(195) § 5. A principal is bound by acts of his agent, under a merely ostensible authority, to those persons only who have in good faith, and without ordinary negligence, incurred a liability, or parted with value, upon the faith thereof.

Principal exhonorated, when.

(196) § 6. If exclusive credit is given to an agent by the person dealing with him, his principal is exonerated by payment or other satisfaction made to him by his agent, in good faith, before receiving notice of the creditor's election to hold him responsible.

Set-offs against agents

(197. § 7. One who deals with an agent, without knowing or having reason to believe that the agent acts as such in the transaction, may set-off, against any claim of the principal arising out of the same, all claims which he might have set-off against the agent before notice of the agency.

Construction of contract.

(198) § 8. Any instrument within the scope of his authority, by which an agent intends to bind his principal, does bind him, if such intent is plainly inferable from the instrument itself.

Negligence of agents

(199) § 9. Unless required by or under the authority of law to employ that particular agent, a principal is responsible to third persons for the negligence of his agent in the transaction of the business of the agency, including wrongful acts committed by such agent in and as a part of the transaction of such business; and for his wilful omission to fulfill the obligations of the principal.

Principal responsible for no other wrongs.

(200) § 10. A principal is responsible for no other wrongs committed by his agent than those mentioned in the last section, unless he has authorized or ratified them, even though they are committed while the agent is engaged in his service.

ARTICLE 6—OBLIGATIONS OF AGENTS TO THIRD PERSONS.

SECTION.		SECTION.
1.	Warranty of authority.	3.	Surrender of property to third persons.
2.	Agent responsible to third persons.	4.	Incapacity to contract.

Warranty of authority.

(201) § 1. One who assumes to act as an agent thereby warrants, to all who deal with him in that capacity, that he has the authority which he assumes.

Agent responsible to third parties

(202) § 2. One who assumes to act as an agent is responsible to third persons as a principal for his acts in the course of his agency, in any of the following cases, and in no others:

First. When, with his consent, credit is given to him personally in a transaction;

Second. When he enters into a written contract in the name of his principal, without believing, in good faith, that he has authority to do so, or,

Third When his acts are wrongful in their nature.

Surrender of property to third person.

(203) § 3. If an agent receives anything for the benefit of his principal, to the possession of which another person is entitled, he must, on demand, surrender it to such person, or so much of it as he has under his control at the time of demand, on being indemnified for any advance which he has made to his principal in good faith, on account of the same, and is responsible therefor, if after notice from the owner, he delivers it to his principal.

Incapacity to contract.

(204) § 4. The provisions of this article are subject to the provisions of part 1 of the first division of the Dakota code as follows:

SECTION 2509. Minors are:

First. Males under twenty-one years of age.

Second. Females under eighteen years of age.

The periods thus specified must be calculated from the first minute of the day on which persons are born, to the same minute of the corresponding day completing the period of minority.

SECTION 2510. All other persons are adults.

SECTION 2511. A child conceived, but not born, is to be deemed an existing person so far as may be necessary for its interests in the event of its subsequent birth.

SECTION 2512. Persons of unsound mind within the meaning of this code, are idots, lunatics, and imbeciles.

SECTION 2513. The custody of minors is regulated by the chapter on guardian and wards.]

SECTION 2514. A minor cannot give a delegation of power, nor, under the age of eighteen, make a contract relating to real property, or any interest therein, or relating to any personal property not in his immediate possession or control.

SECTION 2515. A minor may make any other contract than as above specified in the same manner as an adult, subject only to his power of disaffirmance under the provisions of this title, and subject to the provisions of the titles on marriage, and on master and servant.

SECTION 2516. In all cases other than those specified in sections 2517 and 2518, the contract of a minor, if made whilst he is under the age of eighteen, may be disaffirmed by the minor himself, either before his majority or within one year's time afterwards; or in case of his death within that period; by his heirs or personal representatives; and if the contract be made by the minor whilst he is over the age of eighteen, it may be disaffirmed in like manner upon restoring the consideration to the party from whom it was received or paying its equivalent with interest.

SECTION 2517. A minor cannot disaffirm a contract, otherwise valid, to pay the reasonable value of things necessary for his support, or that of his family, entered into by him when not under the care of a parent or guardian able to provide for him or them.

SECTION 2518. A minor cannot disaffirm an obligation, otherwise valid, entered into by him under the express authority or direction of a statute.

SECTION 2519. A person entirely without understanding has no power to make a contract of any kind, but he is liable for the reasonable value of things furnished to him necessary for his support or the support of his family.

SECTION 2520. A conveyance or other contract of a person of unsound mind, but not entirely without understanding, made before his incapacity has been judicially determined, is subject to rescission as provided in the chapter of rescission of this code.

SECTION 2521. After his incapacity has been judicially determined, a person of unsound mind can make no conveyance or other contract, nor designate any power, nor waive any right, until his restoration to capacity is judicially determined. But if actually restored to capacity, he may make a will, though his restoration is not thus determined.

SECTION 2522. A minor, or a person of unsound mind, of whatever degree, is civilly liable for a wrong done by him, in like manner as any other person.

SECTION 2523. A minor or person of unsound mind, cannot be subjected to exemplary damages, unless at the time of the act he was capable of knowing that it was wrongful.

SECTION 2524. A minor may enforce his rights by civil action, or other legal proceedings, in the manner as a person of full age, except that a guardian must be appointed to conduct the same.

SECTION 2525. Indians resident within this Territory have the same rights and duties as other persons, except that:

First. They cannot vote or hold office, and that;

Second. They cannot grant, lease or incumber Indian lands, except in cases provided by special laws.—Dakota Code.]

ARTICLE 7.—DELEGATION OF AGENCY.

SECTION.		SECTION.
1.	Delegate powers, when.	3	Rightful sub-agent.
2.	Agent becomes principal.

When agent can delegate his powers.

(205) § 1. An agent, unless specially forbidden by his principal to do so, can delegate his powers to another person in any of the following cases, and in no others:

First. When the act to be done is purely mechanical.

Second. When it is such as the agent cannot himself, and the sub-agent can, lawfully perform.

Third. When it is the usage of the place to delegate such powers; or,

Fourth. When such delegation is especially authorized by the principal

Agent is principal when powers are delegated.

(206) § 2. If an agent employs a sub-agent without authority, the former is a principal and the latter his agent, and the principal of the former has no connection with the latter.

Rightful sub-agent.

(207) § 3. A sub-agent, lawfully appointed, represents the principal in like manner with the original agent; and the original agent is not responsible to third persons for the acts of the sub-agent.

ARTICLE 8.—TERMINATION OF AGENCY.

SECTION.
1. Causes of termination.
2. Other causes.

Classified causes of termination.

(208) § 1. An agency is terminated, as to every person having notice thereof, by:

First. The expiration of its term.

Second. The extinction of its subject.

Third. The death of the agent.

Fourth. His renunciation of the agency; or,

Fifth. The incapacity of the agent to act as such.

Other causes of termination

(209) § 2. Unless the power of an agent is coupled with an interest in the subject of the agency, it is terminated as to every person having notice thereof, by:

First. Its revocation by the principal.

Second. His death; or,

Third. His incapacity to contract.

ARTICLE 9.—AUCTIONEERS.

SECTION.
1. Auctioneer's authority from seller.
2. Authority to bind both parties.

Auctioneer's authority from seller.

(210) § 1. An auctioneer, in the absence of special authorization or usage to the contrary, has authority from the seller, only as follows:

First. To sell by public auction to the highest bidder.

Second. To sell for cash only, except such articles as are usually sold on credit at auction.

Third. To warrant in like manner with other agents to sell, according to section 3985.

[SECTION 3985. An authority to sell personal property includes authority to warrant the title of the principal, and the quality and quantity of the property.—Dakota Code.]

Fourth. To prescribe reasonable rules and terms of sale.

Fifth. To deliver the thing sold, upon the payment of the price.

Sixth. To collect the price; and,

Seventh. To do whatever else is necessary, or proper and usual, in the ordinary course of business, for effecting these purposes.

Authority to bind both parties.

(211) § 2. An auctioneer has authority from a bidder at the auction, as well as from the seller, to bind both by a memorandum of the contract as prescribed in the title on sale.

ARTICLE 10.—FACTORS.

SECTION.
1. Factor defined.
2. Has power beyond agent.
3. Ostensible authority.

Factor defined.

(212) § 1. A factor is an agent, who is employed to buy or sell property in his own name, and who is intrusted by his principal with the possession thereof, as defined in section 3791.

Chap. 1.

[SECTION 3791. The factor is an agent who, in the pursuit of an independent calling, is employed by another to sell property for him and is vested by the latter with the possession or control of the property, or authorized to receive payment therefor from the purchaser.—Dakota Code.]

Has power beyond agent

(213) § 2. In addition to the authority of agents in general, a factor has actual authority from his principal, unless specially restricted:

First. To insure property consigned to him uninsured.

Second. To sell, on credit, anything intrusted to him for sale, except such things as it is contrary to usage to sell on credit; but not to pledge, mortgage, or barter the same; and,

Third. To delegate his authority to his partner or servant, but to any person in an independant employment.

Ostensible authority of factor.

(214) § 3. A factor has ostensible authority to deal with the property of his principal as his own, in transactions with persons not having notice of the actual ownership.

ARTICLE XI.—SHIPMASTERS AND PILOTS.

SECTION.
1. Master is general agent.
2. May borrow money.
3 Agent for owner of cargo.
4. May make certain contracts.
5. May hypothecate ship and cargo.
6. May sell ship.
7 May sell cargo.
8. May pay ransom.
9. Power ceases, when.
10 Personal liability.
11. Liability to third persons.
12. Responsible for pilot.

Master of ship is general agent.

(215) § 1. The master of a ship is a general agent for its owner in all matters concerning the same.

May borrow money.

(216) § 2. The master of a ship has authority to borrow money on the credit of its owner, if it is necessary to enable him to complete the voyage, and if neither the owner nor his proper agent for such matters can be consulted without injurious delay.

Is agent for owner of the cargo

(217) § 3. The master of a ship, during a voyage, is a general agent for each of the owners of the cargo, and has authority to do whatever they might do for the preservation of their respective interests, except to sell or hypothecate the same.

Master may make certain contracts.

(218) § 4. The master of a ship may procure all its necessary repairs and supplies, may engage cargo and passengers for carriage, and in foreign port may enter into a charter-party; and his contracts for these purposes bind the owner to the full amount of the value of the ship and freightage.

Master may hypothecate ship and cargo

(219) § 5. The master of a ship may hypothecate the ship, freightage and cargo, in the cases prescribed by the chapters on bottomry and respondentia, and in no others.

Master may sell ship.

(220) § 6. When a ship, whether foreign or domestic, is seriously injured, or the voyage is otherwise broken up, beyond the possibility of pursuing it, the master, in case of necessity, may sell the ship without instructions from the owners, unless by the earliest use of ordinary means of communication he can inform the owners, and await their instructions.

Master may sell cargo

(221) § 7. The master of a ship may sell the cargo, if the voyage is broken up beyond the possibility of pursuing it, and no other ship can be obtained to carry it to its destination, and the sale is otherwise absolutely necessary.

May pay ransom

(222 § 8. The master of a ship, in case of its capture, may engage to pay a ransom for it, in money or in part of the cargo, and his engagement will bind the ship, freightage and cargo.

When master's power ceases.

(223) § 9. The power of the master of a ship to bind its owner, or the owners of a cargo, ceases upon the abandonment of the ship and freightage to insurers.

Master's personal liability.

(224) § 10 Unless otherwise expressly agreed, or unless the contracting parties give exclusive credit to the owner, the master of a ship is personally liable upon his contracts relative thereto, even when the owner is also liable.

Liability to third persons

(225) § 11. The master of a ship is liable to third persons for the acts of negligence of persons employed in its navigation, whether appointed by him or not, to the same extent as the owner of the ship.

Responsible for pilot.

(226) § 12. The owner or master of a ship is not responsible for the negligence of a pilot whom he is bound by law to employ; but if he is allowed an option between pilots, some of whom are competent, or is required only to pay compensation to a pilot whether he employs him or not, he is responsible to third persons.

ARTICLE XII.—SHIP'S MANAGERS.

SECTION.
1. Manager has power to contract.
2. Limitation of authority.

Ship's manager has power to contract.

(227) § 1. A ship's manager has power to make contracts requsite for the performance of his duties as such; to enter into charter-parties, or make contracts for carriage, and to settle for freightage and adjust averages.

Limitation of authority.

(228) § 2. Without special authority, a ship's manager cannot borrow money, or give up the lien for freightage, or purchase a cargo, or bind the owners of the ship to an insurance.

RESOLUTION accepting the provisions of an act of congress entitled "An act to establish agricultural experimental stations in connection with the colleges established in the several states under the provisions of an act approved July second, eighteen hundred and sixty-two," and of the acts supplimentary thereto.

Chap. 2.

Be it resolved by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

Acceptance.

(229) § 1. That the provisions of an act of Congress, entitled "An act to establish agricultural experimental stations in connection with the colleges established in the several states under the provisions of an act approved July second, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, and the acts supplementary thereto," approved March second, eighteen hundred and eighty-seven, are hereby accepted by the Territory of Oklahoma; and the Territory hereby agrees and obligates itself to comply with all the provisions of said act.

Governor to transmit copies.

(230) § 2. Resolved, That upon the approval of this act by the Governor, he is hereby instructed to transmit a certified copy of the same to the Secretary of State and the Secretary of the Interior of the United States.

Approved Oct. 27, 1890.

AN ACT to locate and establish an Agricultural and Mechanical College in Payne county, Oklahoma Territory.

[Took effect December 25, 1890.]

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

Location, manner.

(231) § 3. An Agricultural and Mechanical College is hereby located in Payne County. It shall be the duty of the Governor to appoint three competent citizens of said Territory as a board, whose duty it shall be to locate such institution at some point in Payne county and report their actions and doings to the Governor relative thereto, within ninety days after their appointment.

Amount of ground, commissioners compensation

(232) § 4. Such institution shall not be located by said commissioners upon less than eighty acres of land, suitable and fit for use as an agricultural and experimental station, which land shall be conveyed to such institution for the use and benefit thereof by good and sufficient title thereto. The said board of commissioners to locate said site shall receive as compensation for their services four dollars per day each, for the time actually and necessarily employed, together with all necessary and actual expenses incurred in the discharge of their duties, to be audited and paid out of any fund in the Territorial treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Bonds to issue, how used

(233) § 5. The said county of Payne or the municipality in or near which the said agricultural college shall be located under this act, shall issue its bonds in the sum of ten thousand dollars and deliver the same to the Secretary of the Territory of Oklahoma to be by him sold for said Territory at not less than their par value, the proceeds thereof to be by the Secretary turned over to the Treasurer thereof, to be placed to the credit of such institution, such bonds to run twenty years after the date of their issuance and draw five per cent interest, payable semi-annually, and to be issued in the denominations of one thousand dollars each, with interest coupons thereto attached: Provided, If such county or municipality shall fail or refuse to issue such bonds or convey said lands after demands made therefor by such board, such institution may be re-located elsewhere: Provided further, That a majority of the qualified voters of said county or municipality shall at an election called for that purpose, vote "for" the proposition to issue such bonds. The proceeds arising from sale of such bonds shall be used only in the erection of the building for such institution, such bonds shall be payable to bearer.

Name of college.

(234) § 6. Such institution shall be designated "The Agricultural and Mechanical College of the Territory of Oklahoma," and shall be an institution corporate under the laws of the Territory of Oklahoma, and the government and management thereof is hereby vested in a board of regents to be known as the "Agricultural and Mechanical College Board of Regents."

May own real estate.

(235) § 7. Such college by its regents, may take title to real estate, enter into contracts for the location of buildings and do all things necessary to make it effective as an educational institution.

Board of regents.

(236) § 8. Such board of regents shall consist of five members, and the Governor of the Territory who shall be ex-officio member of such board. The Governor shall nominate and appoint such regents, who shall hold their offices two of them for two years and three of them for four years, and until their successors shall be appointed and confirmed biennially by the Legislative Council: Provided, however, That if there be organized a Territorial Board of Agriculture, such board may at its meeting designate two persons to be appointed members of the board of regents, and when so designated they shall be appointed by the Governor as aforesaid. The Governor shall have power to fill all vacancies in said board, which occur when the Legislature is not in session and they shall hold their offices until their successors are appointed and qualified under this act. The Governor shall cause to be issued to each of said regents a commission under the seal of the Territory.

Same, organization.

(237) § 9. At the first meeting of said board, it shall organize by the members thereof taking and subscribing an oath of office as required of all civil officers of the Territory, and shall then proceed to elect a president and treasurer, and the president shall be president of the college and shall be secretary of the board. A majority of the board shall be a quorum for the transaction of business. The board shall require a bond of its treasurer and fix the amount thereof.

Same, meetings, expenses.

(238) § 10. The board of regents shall hold its meetings at the Agricultural College and fix the time of holding the same, providing there shall not be to exceed six regular meetings in each year. The members of the board shall receive as compensation for their services three dollars per day for each day employed, not to exceed twenty-four days in any one year and five cents per mile actually andnecessarily travelled in attending meetings of said board, which sum shall be paid out of the Territorial treasury upon the vouchers of said board.

Same, disposition of funds, buildin .

(239) § 11. The said board of regents shall direct the disposition of all moneys appropriated by the Territorial Legislature or by Congress, or funds arising from the sale of bonds provided for in this act for the Agricultural college or experimental station for

Chap. 2.

Oklahoma Territory, and shall have supervision or charge of the construction of all buildings provided for said college and farm. The board of regents shall have power to employ a president and necessary teachers, instructors and assistants to conduct said school and carry on the experimental farm connected therewith, and to appoint one of its members superintendent of construction of all buildings, who shall receive three dollars per day for each day actually and necessarily engaged in the discharge of his duties, not to exceed fifty days in any one year, which sum shall be paid out of the Territorial treasury upon the vouchers of said board.

Same, to audit accounts.

(240) § 12. The said board shall audit all accounts against the funds appropriated for the use of the Agricultural College and Experimental Station, and the Territorial auditor shall issue his warrant upon the Territorial Treasurer for the amount of all accounts which shall have been audited and allowed by the board of regents and attested by the president and secretary of the same.

Course of instruction.

(241) § 13. The design of the institution is to afford practical instruction in agriculture and the natural sciences connected therewith, and also the sciences which bear directly upon all industrial arts and pursuits. The course of instruction shall embrace the English language and literature, mathematics, civil engineering, agricultural chemistry, animal and vegetable anatomy and physiology, the veterinary art, entomology, geology and such other natural sciences as may be prescribed; political, rural, and household economy, horticulture, moral philosophy, history, bookkeeping and especially the application of science and the mechanic arts to practical agriculture in the field.

Four years course

(242) § 14. A full course of study in the institution shall embrace not less than four years, and the college year shall consist of not less than nine calendar months, which may be divided into terms by the board of regents as in their judgment will best secure the objects for which the college was founded.

Salaries.

(243) § 15. The board of regents shall fix the salaries of the president, teachers, instructors and other employees and prescribe their respective duties. The board may remove the president or subordinate officers and supply all vacancies.

Faculty.

(244) § 16. The faculty shall consist of the President, teachers and instructors, and shall pass all needful rules and regulations for the government and discipline of the college, regulating the routine of labor, study, meals and the duties and exercises and all such rules and regulations as are necessary to the preservation of morals, decorum and health.

President.

(245) § 17. The president shall be chief executive officer of the Agricultural College, and it shall be his duty to see that all rules and regulations are executed, and the subordinate officers and employees, not members of the faculty, shall be under his direction and supervision.

Pay for students labor.

(246) § 18. The president of the college and board of regents shall constitute a committee to fix the rate of wages to be allowed to students for labor on the farm or in the shops or kitchen of the Agricultural College.

Faculty's annual report.

(247) § 19. The faculty shall make an annual report to the board of regents on or before the first Monday in December of each year, showing the condition of the school and farm and the results of farm experiments, and containing such recommendations as the welfare of the institution, in their opinion, demands.

Regent's report to governor.

(248) § 20. The board of regents shall make a report to the Governor on or before the last Monday in December next preceding each biennial session of the Territorial Legislature, containing a financial statement, showing the condition of all funds appropriated for the use of the Agricultural College and experimental station, also the moneys expended and the purposes for which the same were expended in detail, also the condition of the institution and the results of all experiments carried on there.

Degrees conferred.

(249) § 21. The board of regents and the faculty shall have power to confer degrees upon all persons who shall have completed the course of study prescribed for such school by the board and faculty, and who shall have passed a satisfactory examination upon the studies contained in said course, and who shall be known to possess a good moral character.

Experimental station.

(250) § 22. There is hereby established an Agricultural Experimental Station in connection with the Agricultural College, by this act established, and under the direction of the board of regents, for the purpose of conducting experiments in agriculture according to the terms of the acts of Congress establishing agricultural colleges and experimental stations.

Legislature's acceptance of appropriations.

(251) § 23. The assent of the Legislature of the Territory of Oklahoma is hereby given in pursuance of the requirements of section nine of said act of Congress, approved March 3, 1887, to the grant of money therein made, and to the establishing of an experimental station, in accordance with section one of said last mentioned act, and assent is hereby given to carry out all and singular the provisions of all the acts of Congress.

Who to receive congressional appropriations.

(252) § 24. The board of regents hereby established, in connection with the Governor and Secretary of the Territory, shall be fully authorized to receive from the United States, any and all appropriations made for the support or maintenance of agricultural colleges within the Territory, and shall be authorized to receipt for the same and shall be chargeable therewith when received from the United States.

Who admitted as students.

(253) § 25. Males and females shall be admitted to all the privileges of the institution hereby established, and all citizens of the Territory of Oklahoma between the ages of twelve and thirty years shall be admitted to instruction therein, if they apply as students therefor.

This act shall be in force and effect after its passage and approval.

8. Inspector's report to court; citation issued; inspector's sale.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

Inspector of hides and animals.

(254) § 1. In sparsely settled counties, and in counties where grazing is the principal business, and Beaver county is hereby designated as one of such counties, there shall be appointed by the Governor an Inspector of hides and animals, who shall hold his office for the term of three years, whose duty it shall be to inspect in person, or by deputy, all hides or animals known or reported to him as leaving or going out of the county, for sale or shipment, and all animals driven or sold in his county for slaughter or grazing. The inspector shall keep a record in a well bound book, in which he shall record a correct statement of the number, ages, marks and brands of all animals inspected by him, and the number, mark and brand of all hides inspected by him, and whether the same are green or dry, and the name or names of the vendor or vendors and the purchaser or purchasers thereof.

Same, oath, bond.

(255) § 2. Every person appointed to the office of inspector of hides and animals before entering upon the duties of his office shall enter into a bond, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the county commissioners, which bond shall be in a sum fixed by said commissioners, not less than one thousand dollars nor more than ten thousand dollars, payable to the county probate judge, conditioned that he shall well and truly perform the duties of his office, in accordance with the provisions of this act, and he shall also take and subscribe to the oath of office, prescribed by law, which shall be endorsed on or attached to said bond, together with the certificate of the officer administering the same, which bond and oath shall be deposited and recorded in the office of the county clerk. The bond herein provided shall not be void for want of form or on the first recovery, but may be sued on from time to time in the name of any person injured by breach thereof, until the whole penalty shall have been recovered.

Special inspection of herd.

(256) § 3. Whenever any person shall be about to drive or ship any stock out of this Territory, if the inspector shall believe or is informed by any creditable person that said person has other stock in his herd than those covered by his original certificate of inspection, or by subsequent purchases, duly attested by a proper bill of sale, the inspector at said point of shipment, or border county where said person leaves the Territory, shall be authorized to inspect said stock in the same manner as in the original inspection, and if any stock is found in said herd, other than those covered by his original certificate of inspection or by subsequent purchase duly and properly authenticated by a bill of sale, the fees of said inspection shall be paid as provided in section eleven of this act; Provided, That the said inspector shall in no case be authorized to receive or demand more than three cents per head for each head of cattle inspected that may be leaving the Territory; but if not, then said fees shall be paid by the person at whose instance said inspection is made; and if said inspection is made by the inspector at his own instance and no stock is found in said herd except those properly accounted for under the provisions of this act, then said inspector shall receive no fees for said inspection.

Inspector to seize cattle.

(257) § 4. But if the inspector shall find that the point of destination upon inspection that the owner of the herd or person in charge has in his herd other cattle besides those inspected originally in the county from which said herd was driven, he shall seize said cattle and take them into possession.

Calves and yearlings, when seized

(258) § 5. Every inspector shall have power to and may seize and sequestrate all unmarked or unbranded calves or yearlings and all calves or yearlings freshly marked or branded, and on which the fresh marks or brands are unhealed which are about to be slaughtered or driven or shipped out of the county unless such animals are accompanied by the mothers thereof or are identified by the presentation of a bill of sale from the person proved to be the owner thereof, signed by him or his legally authorized agent and acknowledged before some officer authorized to authenticate instruments for record in this Territory.

Unbranded animals and hides seized.

(259) § 6. Every inspector shall have power to and may seize and sequestrate all unbranded animals or hides, and animals or hides upon which the mark or brand cannot be ascertained, which are about to be taken or shipped out of the county, or which animals are about to be slaughtered, unless such animals or hides are identified as provided in the preceding article.

Writ of sequestration.

(260) § 7. If the person in charge of any such cattle shall refuse to deliver the same into the possession of the inspector, such inspector may apply for and obtain a writ of sequestration from any justice of the peace, probate judge or district Judge, according as the value of such cattle may come within the jurisdiction of either. Such writ may be obtained upon the affidavit of the inspector stating that he believed such cattle have been unlawfully acquired; and shall issue without bond and be forthwith executed by the sheriff or any constable of the county.

Inspector's report to court, citation issued; inspector's sale

(261.) § 8. When the inspector has seized any hides or animals as provided for in the preceding sections, he shall report the fact to some judge of the district or probate court, or justice of the peace, according as the value of the property seized may come within the jurisdiction of either of said courts, and it shall be the duty of said judge or justice to issue or cause to be issued a citation addressed to all whom it may concern, setting forth the seizure of said property, with a description of the same, commanding them to appear at a day named in said citation, to show cause why the said property should not be forfeited to the county wherein the same was seized, and sold for the benefit of said county. Said citation shall be directed to the sheriff or any constable of said county who shall cause certified copies of the same to be posted in three public places in said county for a period of ten days before the day mentioned in said citation. Upon the proof of the posting of said citation, as herein required, it shall be the duty of the judge or justice issuing said citation to proceed to condemn the property mentioned in said citation unless satisfactory proof should be made of the ownership of said property or other sufficient cause to be shown why the same should not be condemed; and in case of condemnation, he shall order the same to be sold by the inspector at public auction to the highest bidder. The inspector shall be entitled to retain one fourth of the net proceeds of such sale after deducting therefrom all expenses connected therewith, and he shall immediately pay the remaining three-fourths thereof into the county treasury. And all sums so paid in shall be placed to the credit of the general fund of such county.

Uncertified stock not removable

(262) § 9. No inspector shall grant any certificate of inspection of any unbranded hides or animals or of hides or animals upon which the marks or brand cannot be ascertained, and he shall prevent the same being taken or shipped out of the county unless they are identified by proof or by bill of sale signed by the owner of such hides or animals, and acknowledged before some officer authorized to authenticate instruments for record in this Territory.

Construction of section one

(263) § 10. Section one shall be so construed as to mean cattle, horses, mules and sheep, and to apply to all of the same which may be driven into or passing through the county, either for grazing or for any purpose whatsoever.

Fees collected by inspector.

(264) § 11. The inspector shall collect as fees from the owner, vendor or person in charge, not more than three cents for each and every head of horses, mules, or cattle leaving the county, and not less than two cents for each head of sheep. And for each and every head of horses, mules, sheep or cattle, which may enter the county, he shall collect as fees not more than five cents per head, and for each and every hide inspected he shall collect as fees not more than five cents.

Inspector, when notified by owner

(265) § 12. All owners or persons in charge of any cattle, horses, mules or sheep which are about to enter or about to leave the county, shall notify the inspector of said county of their intention.

Same, fine for failure to notify.

(266) § 13. And in case said owners or persons in charge shall fail to notify the inspector of hides and animals of any county, according to the provisions of the foregoing section, they shall be punished by a fine not less than five hundred nor more than one thousand dollars.

Incoming stock holders to notify inspector.

(267) § 14. All owners or persons in charge of any cattle, horses, mules or sheep shall immediately upon their entrance into the county, notify the inspector of hides and animals of said county of that fact ; and until such cattle, horses, mules or sheep have been inspected by the county inspector of hides and animals, they shall not move more than one mile per day.

Same, fine for failure to notify.

(268) § 15. And in case any owner, or owners, or person in charge of any horses, cattle, sheep or mules shall fail to notify the inspector of hides and animals of any county of their entrance into said county, or shall after entrance into said county move more than one mile per day, they shall be fined not less than two hundred nor more than five hundred dollars.

This act shall be in force from and after its passage and approval.

ARTICLE 2.—IMPORTATION OF DISEASED CATTLE.

Chap. 3. Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

Animals listed.

(279.) § 1. Every owner of swine, sheep, goats, stallions and jacks, shall restrain them from running at large at all seasons of the year. All other stock shall be so restrained unless permitted to run at large as hereafter provided in this act.

Free range petitioned for.

(280) § 2. The county commissioners shall, on a petition presented, signed by twenty-five free-holders, residents of the township, or district, divide their counties into districts for the purpose of determining the question as to whether or not stock other than swine, sheep, goats, stallions and jacks, shall be permitted to run at large, and in making such division, shall consider the condition of the land, its streams, whether watered or timbered or prairie, and as to whether or not it is best adapted to agriculture or stock raising: Provided, however, That no district shall contain an area aggregating less than seventy-two square miles, but may contain as many as four such townships.

Free range election, forms.

(281) § 3. After the districts are so formed, it shall be lawful for residents of any district to petition the board of county commissioners of their respective counties, asking that there shall be submitted to the legal voters within that district the question as to whether or not stock shall be restrained from running at large; if the petition be signed by one-fourth of the legal voters in any district, it shall be the duty of the county commissioners to submit to the electors of such district at the next general election, or if the board deem it advisable, at a special election called for that purpose, the following questions of police regulations, or any one or all of them, to-wit: Shall stock be restrained from running at large? Shall stock be restrained from running at large from between sun-set and sunrise? Shall stock be restrained from running at large from the first day of.....until the first day of.....? Shall stock be restrained from running at large between sunset and sunrise from the first day of.....until the first day of.....?

When law first operative.

(282) § 4. If at such election a majority of the electors residents of the district so formed, shall vote in favor of either one of such regulations, then the same shall take effect and be in force within the district at the end of thirty days after the election so held, and shall continue in force until an election is called for a resubmission of the same question, and if a majority of the electors of the same district voting thereon, shall vote against such regulation at the resubmission, then the regulation shall cease to be effective at the end of ninety days thereafter.

Stock distrained, owner liable

(283) 5. The owner of any stock or domestic animal prohibited by law from running at large, or prohibited by police regulation of any such district from running at large within the district at any of the times adopted by said vote, shall be liable for all damages done thereby while wrongfully remaining at large upon the public highway or upon the lands of another; which may be recovered by action of law, or the party injured may, at his option, distrain the trespassing animals and retain the same in some safe place at the expense of the owner until damages are paid, as provided in this act. Said damages to be assessed "pro rata" per head, and each owner, if more than one owner, shall be liable for the "pro rata" amount, and each owner shall have the right to discharge his stock from distrain by paying the said "pro rata" amount to the person damaged, together with his "pro rata" share of the costs of such distraint; Provided, however, That no stock or domestic animal prohibited from running at large by virtue of such police regulation shall be considered as running at large so long as the same is upon unimproved and uncultivated lands of the owner of said stock, and under the immediate care and control of the owner, or upon the public highway; but if permitted while under such care and control to stray upon the lands of another, they shall be held to be at large.

Illegal removal from distraint.

(284) § 6. If any person, by force or otherwise, without leave of the person having the stock under distraint, remove the stock from such distraint, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall pay a fine of not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than ten nor more than thirty days, and shall in addition thereto, be liable in a civil action for the recovery of the stock so relieved from restraint, or damages and costs, as the party distraining may elect.

The word "owner."

(285) § 7. The word "owner" as used in this act, shall include the person entitled to the immediate possession of the animal, and also the person having care or charge of the same, and also the person having the legal title thereto.

Distraint, notice, cost, sale, damages.

(286) § 8. Within twenty-four hours after the stock has been restrained, Sunday not being included, the party so injured, or his agent, shall notify the owner of said stock, when known, and if unknown, the party having them in charge, and if said owner shall fail to satisfy the person whose lands are trespassed upon, he shall within twenty-four hours thereafter, notify some disinterested justice of the peace to be and appear upon the premises to view and assess the damages; such notice to be written. The justice shall proceed to view and assess the damages, and a reasonable amount to be paid for seizing and keeping said stock, and if the person or persons owning such distrained stock, refuse to pay such damages as assessed, the justice shall post up in three conspicuous places in the township where such damages were done, notices that the said stock, or as much thereof as are necessary to pay said damages with costs of sale, will be sold to the highest bidder; any money or stock left after satisfying such claims shall be returned to the owner of the stock disposed of; said sale shall take place at the enclosure where said stock was distrained, between the hours of one and three P. M. on the tenth day after posting of such notices, Sundays excepted. The owner of the stock or the person entitled to the possession thereof, when known, shall also be notified of the time and place when the justice or said trustees will proceed to assess said damages.

Assessment filed, appeal.

(287) § 9. The justice shall make an assessment in writing and file the same with the county clerk, to be kept in his office. Any person aggrieved by the action of the justice under this act, may appeal therefrom, as from a judgement of the justice of the peace,

Chap. 3.

The person appealing shall file with the justice of the peace a bond in a penalty double the value of the property distrained, or if the value of the property exceed the amount of damage claimed, then in double the amount of the damages. Notice of such appeal shall be given in the same time and manner as in appeals from the justice of the peace, with good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the justice and from and after the filing of the appeal bond, the same shall operate as a supercedeas. In case the owner of such stock be appellant, the same shall be delivered to him. The justice of the peace shall, after the appeal is taken, certify all the original papers in the case to the court to which the appeal is taken in the same manner and within the same time as taking appeals from a judgement of a justice of the peace.

Who authorized to restra n.

(288) § 10. Any person a resident of the county, may take up any jack, boar, buck, or male goat found at large in the county, and when so taken up the animal shall be treated in all respects as in this act provided in regard to stock trespassing.

Civil action, who consider ed owner.

(289) § 11. Persons injured by animals tresspassing upon their lands may pursue the remedies provided in this act, or may maintain civil action before any court of competent jurisdiction to recover the amount of damages so claimed. The persons or owners of stock prohibited from running at large by this act, shall be liable for all damages done by such animals upon the land of another, and the owner of the land so trespassed upon, may restrain such stock as in this act provided, or may recover damages by civil action. For the purposes of this act, the owner, homesteader, tenant or other person in possession of, or cultivating the land trespassed upon, shall be deemed to be the owner thereof.

Partition fences. periodical retraint law.

(290) § 12. In districts where stock is not restrained from running at large, or where it is permitted to run at large from sunrise to sundown, or is permitted to run at large during certain months in the year, the respective owners of land lying in such district and enclosed with fences shall keep up and maintain partition fences between their own and the next adjoining enclosure, so long as they improve them in equal shares, unless otherwise agreed in writing between them.

The same, work on, recovery.

(291) § 13. If such fence be not repaired or built accordingly, the complainant may repair or rebuild it, and the same adjudged sufficient by the fence viewers and the value thereof, with their fees, being ascertained by them and certified under their hands, the complainant may demand of the owner of the land where the fence was deficient, the sum so ascertained and in case of neglect to pay the same for one month after demand, may recover it by civil action, together with one per cent a month interest thereon.

The same, disagreement

(292) § 14. When a controversy arises between the respective owners about the obligation to erect or maintain partition fences, either party may apply to the fence viewers, who, after due notice to each party, may inquire into the matter and assign to each his share thereof, and direct the time in which each shall erect or repair his share in the manner provided above.

The same, viewer's assignment.

(293) § 15. If any party neglect to erect or maintain the part of fence assigned him by the fence viewers, it may be erected and maintained by the aggrieved party in the manner before provided, and he shall be entitled to double the value thereof, to be recovered as hereinafter provided.

The same, repair.

(294) § 16. All partition fences shall be kept in good repair throughout the year, unless the owners on both sides otherwise agree in writing.

Land used as commons

(295) § 17. Any person not wishing his land enclosed and not occupying or using it otherwise than as a commons, shall not be compelled to contribute to erect or maintain any fence between him and an adjacent owner; but when he encloses or uses his land otherwise than as a commons, he shall contribute to the partition fences as in this act provided.

Common enclosure, severalty demanded.

(296) § 18. When lands owned in severalty have been enclosed in common without a partition fence, and one of the owners is desirous of occupying his in severalty and the other refuses or neglects to divide the line where the fence shall be built, or refuses to build a sufficient fence on his part of the line when divided, the party desiring it may have the same divided and assigned by the fence viewers, who may, in writing, assign a reasonable time within six months, having regard for the season of the year for making the fence, and if either party neglects to comply with the decision of the viewers, the other, after making his own part, may make the other part and recover as hereinbefore provided.

The same, notice given

(297) § 19. In the case mentioned in the preceding section, when one of the owners desires to throw open any portion of his field not less than twenty feet in width and leave it unenclosed to be used as commons by the public, he shall first give the other party six months notice thereof.

Old partition fence paid for

(298) § 20. When land which has laid unenclosed is enclosed, the owner thereof, before he join to any partition fence already erected, shall pay for one half of each partition fence between his lands and the adjoining lands the value to be ascertained by the fence viewers, and if he neglect for thirty days after notice and demand to pay the same, the other party may recover as before provided, or he may at his election rebuild and make half of the fence, and if he neglects so to do for two months after making such election, he shall be liable as above provided.

County clerk's record binds heirs,

(299) § 21. When a division of fence between the owners of improved lands may have been made, either by fence viewers or by agreement in writing, recorded in the office of the county clerk of the county where the lands are, the owners and their heirs and assigns shall be bound thereby, and shall support them accordingly.

"Owner" to mean tenant.

(300) § 22. In the provisions of this act the term "owner" shall apply to the occupant or tenant when the owner does not reside in the county, but these proceedings will not bind the owner unless notified.

Fence misplaced, how removed.

(301) § 23. When a person has made a fence or other improvement on an enclosure, which, on afterward making division lines, is found to be on land of another, and the same has occurred through mistake, such person may enter upon the land of the other and remove his fence or other improvement and material within six months after such has been run, upon his first paying or offering to pay, the other party for any damage to the soil which may be occasioned thereby, and when the parties cannot agree as to the damages, the fence viewers may determine the amount as in other cases.

Chap. 3.

Conditions of removing improvements

(302) § 24. But such fence or other improvement, except substantial building, shall not be removed if they were made or taken from the land on which they lie, until the party pays the owner the value of the timber, to be ascertained by fence viewers, nor shall a fence be removed at a time when the removal will throw open or expose the crop of the other party, but it shall be removed in a reasonable time after the crop is secured, although the above six months have passed.

Viewer's further powers.

(303) § 25. When any question arises between parties other than those above stated, concerning their rights in fences or their duties in relation in building, or maintaining or removing them, such question may be determined by the fence viewers as in this act provided.

Fence placed on line

(304) § 26. A person building a fence may erect the same upon the line between him and the adjacent owners, so that the fence may be partly on one side and partly on the other, and the owner shall have the same right to remove it as if it were wholly on his own land.

This act, when no bar.

(305) § 27. The foregoing provisions of this act shall not bar any other legal proceedings for the determination of the title of land, or the dividing line between contending owners, nor do they preclude agreement by the parties.

Legal fence

(306) § 28. A fence made of three rails of good substantial material, or three boards not less than six inches wide and three quarters of an inch thick, such rails or boards to be fastened in or to good substantial posts, not more than ten feet apart, where rails are used, and not more than eight feet apart where boards are used, where either wholly or in part, substantially built and kept in good repair, or any other kind of fence, which, in the opinion of the fence viewers, shall be equivalent thereto, shall be a declared lawful fence: Provided, That the lowest or bottom rail, wire or board, shall not be more than twenty or less than sixteen inches from the ground, and that such fence shall be fifty-four inches in height, except that a barb wire fence may consist of three barb wires, or four wires, two of which shall be barbed, the wires to be firmly fastened to the posts not more than two rods apart, with two stays between the posts, or with posts not more than one rod apart without such stays, the top wire to be not more than fifty-four, nor less than fifty-eight inches in height, and the bottom wire not more than twenty nor less than sixteen inches from the ground: Provided further, That all partition fences may be made tight at the expense of the party desiring it, and such party may take from such fence the same material by him added thereto whenever he may elect: And provided further, That when the owner or occupants of adjoining lands both use the fence for the purpose of restraining swine, goats or sheep, each of said owners or occupants shall keep their respective share of the partition fence sufficiently tight to restrain such sheep or swine. Chap. 3.

Viewers, how chosen; fence broken.

(307) § 29. Fence viewers herein designated shall consist of three disinterested freeholders, one to be chosen by each of the interested parties, and the two so chosen shall choose the third person and the three so chosen shall proceed to discharge the duties of fence viewers as herein provided. Such fence viewers to be allowed one dollar a day each, to be paid by the interested parties. In districts where fences are required, as in this act provided, the owner of stock shall be liable for all damage done by animals breaking through or over lawful fences and trespassing upon the enclosed lands of another, and the animals so breaking through or over such fence may be seized as trespassing animals and proceeded with as provided in this act, may be done in districts where stock is restrained from running at large, or the party may maintain his action to recover the damages as in this act provided.

Trespassing stock, when sold.

(308) § 30. In all cases where the plaintiff may recover judgment for damages caused by the trespassing animals of another, the judgment shall be a lien upon the stock so trespassing, and the plaintiff may have special execution for the sale of such stock to satisfy the judgment and costs or general execution as he may elect.

Beaver county exempt.

(309) § 31. It is hereby declared that the provisions of this act in regard to restraining stock, shall not apply to the county now known as Beaver county, and the same is hereby declared a free range county: Provided, however, That the people of such county may by petition as hereinbefore provided for free range, have the privilege of voting on the restraining of stock.

(310) This act shall be in force from and after the adjournment of the present session of this Legislative Assembly.

AN ACT to provide for taking up domestic animals as estrays.

[Took effect December 18, 1890.]

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma.

Estray, taken up.

(311) § 1. It shall be lawful for any homesteader or land owner in the Territory, to take up any estray horse, mule, ass, neat cattle, sheep or swine found on his premises at any season of the year.

Days necessary to hold.

(312 § 2. If any animal liable to be taken up shall come upon the premises of any homesteader or land owner, and the owner of such premises fail to keep up such estray for more than five days after being notified of the fact, any other homesteader or land owner of the same county may take up such estray and proceed with it as if taken up on his own premises.

Time to advertise

(313) § 3. If any homesteader or land owner take up any estray, he shall within three days thereafter, advertise the same by posting up three printed or written notices in as many public places in the township or district, which notice shall contain a full description of the estray.

Taker up's affidavit.

(314) § 4. If such estray shall not be claimed and proved at the expiration of ten days after it was taken up and advertised, then the taker-up shall go before a justice of the peace of the township or district, and file his affidavit, stating that such estray was taken up on his premises, and that he did not drive or cause it to be driven there; or that it was taken up on the premises of some other person, naming him, and that he gave such person five days notice, and that he has advertised such estray ten days, and the marks or brands have not been altered since to his knowledge, and giving a true and correct description, giving age, sex, color, marks and brands, and cash value of such estray at the time the same was taken up.

Who to take up, bond

(315) § 5. No person shall take up any horse, mule, ass, bull, sheep, ox, swine or other animal under the provisions of this act, unless he be a homesteader or land owner as in section (1) one described, and he shall at the time he appears before the justice to post such estray, enter into a bond with sufficient sureties to the Territory of Oklahoma, for the use of the owner, in double the value of the property proposed to be taken up, to be ascertained by the justice before whom the person wishes to post such estray, which bond shall be filed and preserved by such justice.

Justice report to clerk

(316) § 6. The justice of the peace shall, within twenty days from the time such estray was taked up, make out and deliver to the county clerk a certified copy of the description and value of such estray.

Duties of county clerk.

(317) § 7. The clerk immediately after receiving the certified copy from the justice, shall record the same in a book kept for that purpose; and whenever the value of such estray or estrays shall exceed ten dollars as shown in such description thereof, said county clerk shall within ten days after receiving such certified description, unless the animal shall have been previously reclaimed by the owner, cause to be published in some newspaper, published in the county and of general circulation throughout the county, the notice of the taking up of such estray, which notice shall contain a complete description of such estray, the day on which it was taken up, its value and the name and residence of the taker-up, which notice shall be inserted in three consecutive weekly issues of said paper, for which the publisher thereof shall receive one dollar for each notice containing a description of one animal, and twenty-five cents for each additional animal: Provided, The above notice for publication shall not be required in the case of swine and sheep. And any property so taken up, the value of which shall be appraised at less than ten dollars, the taker-up shall only advertise the same by posting up three written descriptive notices of such property in as many public places in the township.

Use of estray.

(318.) § 8. Any person may use an estray, lawfully taken up by him, with care and moderation, if he do not injure or abuse it; but if said animal is damaged through his wilful negligence, then he is liable for the same.

Owner's power of recovery.

(319.) § 9. The owner of any estray swine, sheep or other stock of the value of ten dollars or less per head, may within two months and the owner of any other kind of stock of the value of from ten to twenty-five dollars, may within six months, and the owners of other stock of the value of twenty-five dollars or more per head, may within twelve months, from the time of taking up, prove the same before the justice of the peace who has custody of the book in which the description of said property is recorded; having first given three days notice to the taker-up in writing of the time and place, when and where such proof will be offered, and if the justice is satisfied from the evidence that the estray belongs to the claimant, he shall upon payment by the claimant of all costs and expenses of keeping, order it to be delivered to the owner; and the justice shall certify to the county clerk within thirty days that such estray has been proved and returned to the proper owner, and the clerk shall make an entry of the fact stated in such certificate in the margin of the county record where such estray is recorded, in his office, which entry shall cancel all liens for the costs that the county may have upon such estray.

Justice trial of taker up's expense

(320.) § 10. If the owner and taker-up cannot agree as to the amount of costs and expense of taking up and keeping, it shall be decided on application of either party by the justice of the peace before whom the proof of ownership was made, who may compel the attendance of witnesses if necessary, as in other cases; and in making up his decision he shall take into consideration whatever service the taker-up may have had of such estray.

Summons to appraisement.

(321) § 11. After the end of twelve months after any estray of the value of twenty-five dollars or more was taken up, if such estray has not been reclaimed by the owner, the justice of the peace in the township or district where said estray was taken up, or the justice who has custody of such estray book, shall issue a summons to three disinterested house-holders to appear and appraise such estray, which summons shall forthwith be certified by the taker-up of such estray; which service shall be without charge if not demanded at the time of making the appraisement

Appraisement, title.

(322) § 12. The house-holders, or two of them, shall proceed to describe and appraise such estray, stating the age, size, color, sex, marks and brands, and appraise the same; which description and appraisement they shall reduce to writing, to which they shall append their affidavits that the same is a true description and a fair and impartial appraisement, which shallbe filed by the justice and recorded by him in a book kept for that purpose. Said appraisers shall also take into consideration the cost of keeping such estray for the period of twelve months previous to their appraisement, and also consider any benefit the taker-up may have derived from the use of such estray, and shall report their allowance for same on the appraisement list: Provided, That the title to all stock taken up and appraised at not less than twenty-five dollars shall vest in the taker-up of such stock, if not proven within the time provided in this act by paying all costs.

Chap. 3.

Taker-up to pay county.

(323) § 13. In all cases where the title to any estray valued at twenty-five dollars or more shall vest in the taker-up by the lapse of time, the taker-up shall pay into the county treasury, after deducting all costs of taking up, posting and taking care, one-half of the remainder of the value of the appraised estray to the use of the county school fund; and in default of such payment, the county shall hold a lien on such estray in addition to the security of the bond provided for in this act to secure the payment of such moiety to the county.

Unlawful sale, punishment,

(324) § 14. If any person shall sell or dispose of any estray, or take the same out of this Territory before the title shall have vested in him, he or his bondsmen shall pay to the county double the value of such estray and he shall be punished by fine not exceeding twenty dollars and imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days.

Unlawful dealing; punishment

(325) § 15. Any person who shall unlawfully take up any estray, and fail to comply with the provisions of this act, or work or use such estray before advertising the same, or shall drive the same on his premises for the purpose of taking up the same, or shall keep the same out of the county more than five days at one time, before he acquires a title to it, shall forfeit to the county a sum not exceeding fifty dollars.

County commissioner's duties.

(326) § 16. The county commissioners of the several counties of the Territory, at some regular session of their respective boards, in each year, shall examine the certificates or other records of estrays filed in the office of the county clerk of their respective counties, and if, upon examination, they shall find by lapse of time, that such estrays shall have become the property of the taker-up, the board shall issue their warrant under the seal of the county, directed to the sheriff, commanding him to collect the amount due the county, according to the provisions of this act; and such estray shall, in all cases, be subjected to a lien held by the county, as provided in this act, and the county commissioners may order the sheriff to seize and sell the same, or they may order the county attorney to bring suit therefor against the taker-up and his bondsmen for the amount due the county.

Justice's duties

(327) § 17. Justices of the peace in their respective counties, shall have jurisdiction and take cognizance of all actions for the violation of this act, and enforce all the penalties and fines against persons who may be guilty of such violations; and it shall be the duty of any county officer who knows of a violation of this act to report the same to the nearest justice of the peace of the county.

This act violated; Justice's summons

(328) § 18. Upon the affidavit of any citizen of the county wherein such estrays may be held or so taken up being filed with any justice of the peace of the county, setting forth that any person, naming him, has disposed of any estray, or in any manner violated the provisions of this act, and describing the estray in full, said justice shall issue his summons and writ, as is provided in civil cases, commanding the officer to take the estray into his possession and summons the person who may have violated this act, and also the person having possession of the animal seized, to appear and answer as is provided in cases of replevin.

Jury trial before justice.

(329) § 19. All trials before a justice of the peace, under this act, if demanded by the defendant, shall be by a jury of six competent men, to be collected as in civil cases, who shall if they find the defendant guilty, assess the fine to be paid by him, or the imprisonment to be inflicted, subject to an appeal, as in civil cases.

Judgment, delivery of estray.

(330) § 20. If upon examination and hearing, it shall appear to the justice that this act has been violated, he shall assess the fine as herein provided, and shall order the officer to deliver the estray to any person who will give good and sufficient bond to the county to keep such estray until the expiration of the time of reclaiming the same herein provided for, at which time the title shall vest in him, as it would have done in the taker-up; and he shall be subject to the same liabilities and requirements as the taker-up.

Disposition of fines.

(331) § 21. All fines collected under the provisions of this act, shall be paid into the county treasury for the use of the county school fund.

Compensation paid by owner.

(332) § 22. There shall be allowed for taking up estrays the following compensation, to be paid by the owner thereof: For taking up every horse, mule or ass, fifty cents; for every head of neat cattle, twenty-five cents; for all other kinds of cattle, fifteen cents per head, and all costs and expenses as provided in this act.

County clerk's fees.

(333) § 23. The county clerk shall receive for recording each certificate of estrays and furnishing a description of the same for publication, as heretofore provided, thirty-five cents, whether such certificate contain a greater or less number of estrays.

Justice's fees.

(334) § 24. The justice of the peace shall receive the sum of thirty-five cents for making out and recording each certificate of appraisement, including the oath administered to the appraisers, whether such certificate contain a greater or less number of animals, and forty cents for each certified copy of the proceedings pertaining to such estray or estrays: Provided, That the fees charged by such justice of the peace in any one case shall not be greater than one dollar and fifty cents. The appraisers shall be allowed for their services each fifty cents, and in no case shall they receive mileage.

Escape of estray.

(335) § 25. If an estray lawfully taken up get away or die, without fault of the taker-up, he shall not be liable for the same.

County clerk or justice fined.

(336) § 26. If any county clerk or justice of the peace fail to perform the duties enjoined upon him by this act, he shall forfeit and pay to the county not less than five and not more than fifty dollars, and pay to the party injured not less than five and not more than one hundred dollars.

Chap. 3.

(337) This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the date of its passage and approval.

ARTICLE 5.—STOCK BRANDS.

AN ACT to provide for the registration of stock brands or marks.

[Took effect December 24, 1890.]

SECTION.		SECTION.
1.	Right to adopt brand.	9	Brand prima facie evidence.
2.	Brands recorded, how.	10.	Penalty for duplicating brand records.
3.	Exclusive right to brands.	11.	Running brand, neat stock.
4.	Brands recorded, where.	12.	Violation of this act.
5.	Committee on brands	13.	Fraud through misbranding and mismarking
6.	Clerk's brand report to commissioners; publication, etc.	14.	Defacing brands; defacing hides
7	Importer's duty, conflicting brands.	15.	Violation of this act.
8.	What constitutes infringement.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

Right to adopt brand.

(338) § 1. Any person having cattle, hogs, sheep, goats, horses, mules or asses shall have the right to adopt a brand or mark, for the use of which he shall have the exclusive right in the county in which such ear-mark or brand is recorded.

Brands recorded, how

(339) § 2. The county clerk of each county shall, as soon as practicable after the passage of this act, procure a suitable book or books in which all marks and brands shall be recorded, and he shall be allowed a fee of one dollar for recording such brands or marks, and a further fee of twenty-five cents, for filing for examination, as hereinafter provided, such brands or marks, said fees to be paid by the party filing the description of brand or marks for record

Exclusive rights to brands

(349) § 3. No person shall have or adopt a mark or brand previously recorded to another person of the same county, neither shall the county clerk record the same mark or brand to more than one person.

Brands recorded, where

(341) § 4. And any person so desiring may in the manner and with like effect as herein provided record his brand or mark in any county in this Territory into which his stock is liable to stray: Provided, That such brand or mark has not been theretofore recorded in such county by some other persons.

Committee on brands,

(342) § 5. The authority of deciding whether a brand or mark offered for record does or does not conflict with any previously recorded brand or mark, shall be vested in a committee of four, consisting of the county clerk and the three county commissioners. All brands offered for record shall be submitted, before acceptance, to this committee, and the objection of any two shall reject a brand. It shall be the duty of the county clerk to file all brands offered for record pending the examination which shall be made at the next subsequent session of the board of county commissioners, and if the brand is accepted the ownership shall date from date of filing

Clerk's brand report to commissioners, publication, etc

(343) § 6. It shall be the duty of the county clerk to present for examination at the first regular meeting of the county commissioners, after he shall have assumed the duties of his office, and at each regular meeting thereafter, the record of brands, and with the board of commissioners proceed to examine the present record of brands, and in any case where in the judgment of two of them a brand is found which conflicts with one previously recorded, or which might in its use endanger the property of the party owning the earliest of record, it shall be the duty of the county clerk to notify the party owning said brand last of record that the further use of the same will be illegal to the same extent as though it had never been recorded, unless previously agreed upon by owners of such brands and a joint statement be presented to the recorder of brands by such brand owners. The said notice shall be given by letter when possible, and also and in all cases by publication one month in two newspapers in general circulation in the county, the expense of which shall be paid on a proper voucher by the county commissioners; both forms of notice shall be given immediately after said examination and objection. It is expressly provided that this enactment shall not in any way effect or invalidate the ownership of animals which were branded with said brand then registered previous to the examination and rejection, the object of this act being to make illegal and enjoin from the further use of said brand. The date of the last publication shall be the date of rejection.

Importer's duty, conflicting brands.

(344) § 7. It shall be the duty of any person who after the passage of this act brings into any county of this Territory and turns loose for grazing purposes any herd-brand or individual animals already branded, to lay before the above committee a statement of the brands of said animals; and if in the judgment of any two of them, said brands conflict wfth any previously recorded in that county, it shall be the duty of the owner or manager of said animals to brand them with a brand that the committee shall consider a full and distinguishing mark from all brands there recorded, but the owner shall be enjoined from any further use of the conflicting brand. A failure to comply with the above shall render the party so failing liable for all damages resulting from such failure, which damage may be recovered in a civil suit. It is further provided that this section shall apply to all animals now in any county in this Territory, whose brands are considered by this committee to infringe on previously recorded ones.

What constitutes infringement

(345) § 8. In deciding as to the conflict of brands the committee will reject any one that being the same as one previously recorded has in addition any of the following, whether placed across, above, below, at either side or encircling the main brand, viz: A straight bar, a quarter, half or entire circle, a quarter, half or entire diamond, either upright or inverted, the same not constituting a true brand and rendering the owner of the same brand liable to damages by its use, saving only when one or more of these shall be filed by the owner of the first record of the main brand, in which case it may be accepted. The committee shall reject any brand formed by repetition of any letter, number or figure which shall have been previously recorded, whether to be placed on the same or on a different part of the animal, the exclusive right of the first record to the letter, number or figure and to repetition of it, being re-affirmed. They shall also reject all brands known as solid brands, and all ear-marks which shall remove to exceed one-half the ear. A variation in the size of a letter, number or figure, shall not constitute a new brand, and shall be rejected. A combination of letters, numbers or figures may be permitted, though the same letters, numbers or figures may have been recorded, single or together, if in the judgment of the whole committee said combination is so different from any previous record as to constitute a new brand with no danger of infringement; but in this case the objection of one member shall reject.

Brand prima facie evidence.

(346) § 9. In all suits in law or in equity or in any criminal proceedings, when the title to any stock is involved, the brand on any animal shall be prima facie evidence of ownership of the person whose brand it may be: Provided, That such brand has been duly recorded as provided by law. Proof of the right of any person to use such brand shall be made by a copy of the record of the same, certified by the county clerk of that county or of any county in which the same is recorded, under the hand and seal of office of such county clerk.

Penalty for duplicating brand records

(347) § 10. If any county clerk shall record the same mark or brand to more than one person he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction in any court of competent jurisdiction, shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding one hundred dollars, which shall go to the county in which such record shall be made.

Running brand; neat stock

(348) § 11. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons in branding any neat cattle, horses, mules, asses, sheep or goats to use what is known among stock growers as a running brand.

Violation of this act.

(349) § 12. Any person or persons who shall violate or fail to observe any of the provisions of this act, or shall continue the use of any brand or mark after the same had been rejected by said committee as conflicting with the previously recorded brand or mark, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction in any court of competent jurisdiction shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

Fraud through misbranding and mismarking

(350) § 13. Any person or persons who shall with intent to defraud, brand or misbrand, mark or mismark any neat cattle, horse, sheep, goat, ass or mule not his own; or shall intentionally brand over a previous brand, or shall cut out or obliterate a previous mark or brand, on any neat cattle, horse, sheep, goat, ass or mule, shall upon conviction in any court of competent jurisdiction be punished by imprisonment in the Territorial prison, [penitentiary] not exceeding ten years, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars.

Defacing brands, destroying hides

(351) § 14. It shall be unlawful for any person to cut or destroy any brand upon [any cattle in this territory]; burn, or in any manner to destroy the hides of any cattle within this Territory. Chap. 4.

(352) § 15. Any person or persons who shall violate the provisions of the two foregoing sections of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Violation of this act.

This act shall be in force and take effect from and after its passage and approval by the Governor.

CHAPTER IV.—APPOINTMENTS OF SPECIAL DEPUTIES.

An Act regulating the Appointment of Special Deputies, Marshals or Policemen by Officers authorized by Law to make such Appointments.

[Took effect December 25, 1890.]

SECTION
1. Who to be appointed.
2. Protection, how furnished.
3. Personating an officer.
4. Punishment for violation.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

(353) § 1. That no sheriff of a county, mayor of a city, or other person authorized by law to appoint special deputies, marshals or policemen in this Territory to preserve the public peace and prevent or quell public disturbance, shall hereafter appoint as such special deputies, marshals or policemen any person who shall not be a voter and have resided continuously in this Territory for the period of one year at least, and in the county where such appointment is made for the period of at least six months prior to the date of said appointment: Provided, That this section shall not apply to newly settled counties until one year after the settlement thereof. 17. Same, applies to assignments heretofore made.
18. Exempt property does not pass to assignee.
19. Compensation of assignee.
20. Good faith protects assignee.
21. Assignment cannot be cancelled without consent.

Assignment for the benefit of creditors is allowable, when

(365) § 1. An insolvent debtor may, in good faith, execute an assignment of property to one or more assignees, in trust towards the satisfaction of his creditors, in conformity to the provisions of this title; subject, however, to the provisions of this code relative to trusts and to fraudulent transfers, and to the restrictions imposed by law upon assignments by special partnerships, by corporations or by other specified classes of persons: Provided, moreover, That such assignment shall not be valid if it be upon, or contain any trust or condition by which any creditor is to receive a preference or priority over any other creditor; but in such case the property of the insolvent shall become a trust fund to be administered in equity, in the district court, and shall inure to the benefit of all the creditors in proportion to their respective claims or demands.

Insolvency defined,

(366) § 2. A debtor is insolvent, within the meaning of this title, when he is unable to pay his debts from his own means as they become due.

Assignment may provide for subsisting liability.

(367) § 3. An assignment for the benefit of creditors may provide for any subsisting liability of the assignor which he might lawfully pay, whether absolute or contingent.

Assignments are void in certain cases,

(368) § 4. An assignment for the benefit of creditors is void against any creditor of the assignor not assenting thereto, in the following cases:

First. If it tend to coerce any creditor to release or compromise his demand.

Second. If it provide for the payment of any claim known to the assignor to be false or fraudulent; or for the payment of more upon any claim than is known to be justly due from the assignor.

Third. If it reserve any interest in the assigned property, or in any part thereof, to the assignor, or for his benefit, before all his existing debts are paid, other than property exempt by law from execution.

Fourth. If it confer upon the assignee any power which, if exercised, might prevent or delay the immediate conversion of the assigned property to the purposes of the trust.

Fifth. If it exempt him from liability for neglect of duty or misconduct.

An assignment is executed, how.

(369) § 5. An assignment for the benefit of creditors must be in writing, subscribed by the assignor, or by his agent thereto, authorized by writing. It must be acknowledged, or proved and certified, in the mode prescribed by sections 10 and 11 of this chapter.

Void unless so made.

(370) § 6. Unless the provisions of the last section are complied with, an assignment for the benefit of creditors is void against every creditor of the assignor not assenting thereto.

Rights of assignee.

(371) § 7. An assignee for the benefit of creditors is not to be regarded as a purchaser for value, and has no greater rights than his assignor had, in respect to things in action transferred by the assignment.

Inventory is required.

(372) § 8. Within twenty days after an assignment is made for the benefit of creditors, the assignor must make and file in the manner prescribed by section 10 a full and true inventory, showing:

First. All the creditors of the assignor.

Second. The place of residence of each creditor, if known to the assignor, or if not known, that fact must be stated.

Third. The sum owing to each creditor, and the nature of each debt or liability, whether arising on written security, account or otherwise.

Fourth. The true consideration of the liability in each case, and the place where it arose.

Fifth. Every existing judgment, mortgage, or other security for the payment of any debt or liability of the assignor.

Sixth. All property of the assignor at the date of the assignment, which is exempt by law from execution; and,

Seventh. All the assignor's property at the date of the assignment both real and personal, of every kind not so exempt, and the incumbrances existing thereon, and all vouchers and securities relating thereto, and the value of such property according to the best knowledge of the assignor.

Inventory to be verified

(373) § 9. An affidavit must be made by every person executing an assignment for the benefit of creditors, to be annexed to and filed with the inventory mentioned in the last section, to effect that the same is in all respects just and true, according to the best of the assignor's knowledge and belief.

Record of the assignment.

(374) § 10. An assignment for the benefit of creditors must be recorded, and the inventory required by section 8 filed with the register of deeds of the county in which the assignor resided at the date of the assignment; or, if he did not then reside in this Territory, with the like officer of the county in which his principal place of business was then situated; or, if he had not then a residence or place of business in this Territory, with the like officer of the county in which the principal part of the assigned property was then situated.

Same—More than one assignor.

(375) § 11. If an assignment for the benefit of creditors is executed by more than one assignor, it must be recorded and a copy of the inventory required by section 8 must be filed with the register of deeds of every county in which any of the assignors resided at its date, or in which any of them, not then residing in this Territory, had then a place of business.

Must be recorded within twenty days

(376) § 12. An assignment for the benefit of creditors is void against creditors of the assignor, and against purchasers and incumbrancers in good faith and for value, if the assignment is not recorded, and the inventory required by section 8 filed, pursuant to section 10, within twenty days after the date of the assignment.

Where assignment embraces real property.

(377) § 13. Where an assignment for the benefit of creditors embraces real property, it is subject to the provisions of article 4 of the chapter on recording transfers, as well as those of this title.

[Article 4 of the chapter on recording transfers:

SECTION 3293. Every conveyance of real property, other than a lease for a term not exceeding one year, is void as against any subsequent purchaser or incumbrancer, including an assignee of a mortgage, lease, or other conditional estate, of the same property, or any part thereof, in good faith and for a valuable consideration, whose conveyance is first duly recorded.

SECTION 3294. The term "conveyance," as used in the last section, embraces every instrument in writing by which any estate or interest in real property is created, aliened, mortgaged or incumbered, or by which the title to any real property may be affected, except wills, executory contracts for the sale or purchase of real property, and powers of attorney.

SECTION 3295. No instrument containing a power to convey or execute instruments affecting real property, which has been recorded, is revoked by any act of the party by whom it was executed, unless the instrument containing such revocation is also acknowledged or proved, certified and recorded in the same office in which the instrument containing the power was recorded.

SECTION 3296. The recording and deposit of an instrument, proved and certified according to the provisions of sections 3270, 3283, 3284, 3285 and 3286, are constructive notice of the execution of snch instrument to all purchasers and incumbrancers subsequent to the recording; but the proof, recording and deposit do not entitle the instrument, or the record thereof, or the transcript of the record, to be read in evidence.

SECTION 3297. An unrecorded instrument is valid as between the parties thereto and those who have notice thereof.—Dakota Code.]

[SECTION 3270. An instrument proved and certified pursuant to sections 3285 and 3286 may be recorded in the proper office, if the original is at the same time deposited therein, to remain for public inspection, but not otherwise.

Chap. 6.

SECTION 3283. Proof of execution of an instrument, when not acknowledged, may be made either:

First. By the party executing it, or either of them; or,

Second. By a subscribing witness; or,

Third. By other witnesses, in cases mentioned in sections 3285 and 3286.

SECTION 3284. If, by a subscribing witness, such witness must be personally known to the officer taking the proof to be the person whose name is subscribed to the instrument as a witness, or must be proved to be such by the oath of a credible witness. The subscribing witness must prove that the person whose name is subscribed to the instrument as a party is the person described in it, and that such person executed it, and that the witness subscribed his name thereto as a witness.

SECTION 3285. The execution of an instrument may be established by proof of the handwriting of the party and of a subscribing witness, if there is one, in the following cases:

First. When the parties and all the subscribing witnesses are dead; or,

Second. When the parties and all the subscribing witnesses are non-residents of the Territory; or,

Third. When the place of their residence is unknown to the party desiring the proof, and cannot be ascertained by the exercise of due diligence; or,

Fourth. When the subscribing witness conceals himself, or can not be found by the officer by the exercise of due diligence in attempting to serve the subpœna or attachment; or,

Fifth. In case of the continued failure or refusal of the witness to testify, for the space of one hour, after his appearance.

SECTION 3286. The evidence taken under the preceding section must satisfactorily prove to the officer the following facts:

First. The existence of one or more of the conditions mentioned therein; and,

Second. That the witness testifying knew the person whose name purports to be subscribed to the instrument as a party, and is well acquainted with his signature, and that it is genuine; and

Third. That the witness testifying personally knew the person who subscribed the instrument as a witness, and is well acquainted with his signature, and that it is genuine; and,

Fourth. The place of the residence of the witness.]—Dakota code.]

Assignee must give bond

(378) § 14. Within thirty days after the date of an assignment for the benefit of creditors, the assignee must enter into a bond to this Territory, in double the amount of the value of the property assigned, with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the judge of the district court of the county in which the original inventory is filed, and conditioned for the faithful discharge of the trust, and due accounting for all moneys received by the assignee, which bond must be filed in the same office with the original inventory.

When authority of assignee begins.

(379) § 15. Until the inventory and affidavit required by sections 8 and 9 have been made, and the assignment has been duly recorded and the inventory filed, and the assignee has given a bond as required by the last section, an assignee for the benefit of creditors has no authority to dispose of the estate or convert it to the purposes of the trust.

When assignee to account.

(380) § 16. After the lapse of six months from the date of filing his bond the assignee, on motion of any one of the creditors, with ten day's notice, accompanied by an affidavit of the creditor, his agent or attorney, setting forth his claim and the amount thereof, and that no account has been filed within six months, may be ordered by the court, or by the judge thereof, at any place in his judicial district, to render an account of his proceedings, within a given time, to be fixed by the court, or the judge thereof, not to exceed fifteen days. All proceedings under this chapter shall be subject to the order and supervision of the judge of the district court of the county in which such assignment was made, and such judge may, from time to time, in his discretion, on the petition of one or more of his creditors, by order, citation, attachment or otherwise, require any assignee or assignees to render accounts and file reports of his or their proceedings and of the conditions of such trust estate, and may order or decree distribution thereof; and such judge may, in his discretion, for cause shown, remove any assignee or assignees and appoint another or others instead, who shall give such bond as the judge, in view of the conditions and value of the estate, may direct, and such order or removal and appointment, shall in terms transfer to such new assignee or assignees all the trust estate, real, personal and mixed, and may be recorded in the deed records in the office of registers of deeds of any county wherein any real estate affected by the assignment may be situated. And such judge may by order, which may be enforced as upon proceedings for contempt, compel the assignee or assignees so removed to deliver all property, money, choses in action, book accounts and vouchers, to the assignee or assignees so appointed, and to make, execute and deliver to such new assignee or assignees such deeds, assignments and transfers as such judge may deem proper, and to render a full account and report of all matters connected with such trust estate. Whenever any assignee so removed shall have fully accounted for and turned over to the assignee or assignees appointed by the judge, all the trust estate and made a full report of all his doings, and complied with all orders of the judge touching such estate, and also whenever an assignee has fully complied with his trust, he may by order of the judge be fully discharged from all further duties, liabilities and responsibilities connected with the trust. In either case he shall give notice by publication in some newspaper of the county, if there be one printed and published therein, if not, in a newspaper published at the capital of the Territory, once in each week, for at least three weeks, that he will apply to such judge for such discharge, at a time and place to be stated in such notice, which time shall not be more than three weeks after the last publication of the notice. If upon the hearing the judge shall be satisfied that the assignee is entitled to be discharged, he shall make an order accordingly; or if in the opinion of the judge, anything remains to be done by such assignee, he may require the performance thereof before making such order. Such order shall have the effect of discharging the assignee and his sureties from all further responsibility in respect to the trust, and such order shall not be refused on account of any failure on the part of the assignee to comply with the formal provision of law, where no loss or damage to any one shall have occurred through such failure. Whenever the trust estate shall have been taken out of the hands of the assignee by proceedings in bankruptcy in the federal court, the assignee may in like manner be discharged, upon showing that he has fully accounted with the assignee in bankruptcy, and turned over to him the whole of the trust estate.

Applies to assignments heretofore made

(381) § 17. Section 16 shall apply to all such assignments heretofore made in this Territory.

Exempt property does not pass to assignee.

(382) § 18. Property exempt from execution, and insurances upon the life of the assignor, do not pass to the assignee by a general assignment for the benefit of creditors, unless the instrument specially mentions them, and declares an intention that they should pass thereby.

Compensation of assignee.

(383) § 19. In the absence of any provision in the assignment to the contrary, an assignee for the benefit of creditors is entitled to the same commissions as are allowed by law to executors and guardians; but the assignment cannot grant more, and may restrict the commission to a less amount, or deny them altogether.

Good faith protects assignee

(384) § 20. An assignee for the benefit of creditors is not to be held liable for his acts done in good faith in the execution of the trust, merely for the reason that the assignment is afterward adjudged void.

Assignment cannot be cancelled without consent

(385) § 21. An assignment for the benefit of creditors, which has been executed and recorded so as to transfer the property to the assignee, cannot afterward be cancelled or modified by the parties thereto, without the consent of every creditor affected thereby.

		18.	Same.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

Licensed attorneys

(386) § 1. All persons, who by the laws heretofore in force, were permitted to practice as attorneys and counsellors at law, may continue to practice as such, and hereafter any person who is an inhabitant of this Territory, who satisfies any court of record, either on examination or by certificate of admission from any other Territory or State, that he possesses the requisite learning, and is of good moral character, may by such court be licensed to practice as an attorney and counsellor: Provided, That no person shall be admitted to practice in the Sepreme court unless he shall have been first licensed to practice in some one of the district courts, or on the presentation of a certificate of admission to practice in the Supreme Court of some other Territory or State.

Oath.

(387) § 2. Upon being permitted to practice as attorneys and counsellors at law, they shall, in open court, take the following oath:

You do solemnly swear that you will support, protect and defend the constitution of the United States, and the Organic Act of the Territory of Oklahoma; that you shall do no falsehood or consent that any be done in court, and if you know of any you will give knowledge thereof to the judges of the court or some one of them; that it may be reformed; you shall not wittingly, willingly or knowingly promote, sue or procure to be sued, any false or unlawful suit, or give aid or consent to the same; you shall delay no man for lucre or malice, but shall act in the office of attorney in this court according to your best learning and discretion, with all good fidelity as well to the court as to your client, so help you God.

Non resident attorney.

(388) § 3. Any practicing attorney of another State or Territory having professional business in the courts of this Territory, may be admitted to practice therein upon taking the oath aforesaid.

Attorney's duties.

(389) § 4. It is the duty of an attorney and counsellor:

First. To maintain the respect due to the courts of justice and judicial officers.

Second. To counsel or maintain no other actions, proceedings or defenses than those which appear to him legal and just, except the defense of a person charged with a public offense.

Third. To employ for the purpose of maintaining the causes confided to him such means only as are consistent with truth, and never to seek to mislead the judges by any artifice or false statement of facts or law.

Fourth. To maintain inviolate the confidence, and, at any peril to himself, to preserve the secret of his client.

Fifth. To abstain from all offensive personalities, and to advance no fact prejudicial to the honor or reputation of a party or witness, unless required by the justice of the cause with which he is charged.

Sixth. Not to encourage either the commencement or continuance of an action or proceeding from any motive of passion or interest, Seventh. Never to reject for any consideration personal to himself the cause of the defenseless or the oppressed.

Disbarred, for what.

(390) § 5. An attorney and counsellor who is guilty of deceit or collusion, or consents thereto, with intent to deceive a court or judge or party to an action or proceedings, is liable to be disbarred and shall forfeit to the injured party treble damages, to be recovered in a civil action.

Receipt of money.

(391) § 6. An attorney and counsellor has power: to receive money claimed by his client in an action or proceeding during the pendency thereof, or afterwards, unless he has been previously discharged by his client, and upon payment thereof and not otherwise to discharge the claim or acknowledge satisfaction of the judgment.

Proof of authority.

(392) § 7. The court may, on motion, for either party and on the showing of reasonable grounds therefor, require the attorney for the adverse party or for any one of the several adverse partiesr to produce or prove by his oath or otherwise the authority under which he appears, and until he does so, may stay all proceedings by him on behalf of the parties for whom he assumes to appear.

Attorney's lien.

(393) § 8. An attorney has a lien for a general balance for compensation in and for each case upon: First, Any papers belonging to his client which have come into his hands in the course of his professional employment in the case for which the lien is claimed: Second, Money in his hands belonging to his client in the case: Third, Money due his client in the hands of the adverse party, or attorney for such party in an action or proceeding in which the attorney claiming the lien was employed from the time of giving notice in writing to such adverse party or attorney of such party, if the money is in the possession or under the control of such attorney, which notice shall state the amount claimed and in specific terms, for what services: Fourth, After judgment in any court of record such notice may be given, and the lien made effective against the judgment debtor, by entering the same in the judgment docket opposite the entry of the judgment.

Bond dissolves lien.

(394) § 9. Any person interested may release such lien by executing a bond in the sum double the amount claimed, or in such sum as may be fixed by a judge, payable to the attorney, with security to be approved by the clerk of the court, conditioned to pay the amount finally due the attorney for his services, which amount may be ascertained by suit on the bond.

License suspended.

(395) § 10. Any court of record may revoke or suspend the license of an attorney or counsellor at law to practice therein, but not until a copy of the charges against him shall have been delivered to him by the clerk of the court in which the proceedings shall have been made, and an opportunity shall have been given to him to be heard in his defense.

Same, cause

(396) § 11. The following are sufficient causes for revocatiou or suspension: First, When he has been convicted of a felony, or of a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, in either of which cases the record of conviction is conclusive evidence: Second, When he is guilty of a wilful disobedience or violation of the order of the court, requiring him to do or forbear an act connected with or in the course of his profession; Third, For his wilful violation of any of the duties of an attorney or counsellor.

Same, method.

(397) § 12. The proceeding to remove or suspend an attorney may be commenced by direction of the court, or on motion of any individual. In the former case, the court must direct some attorney to draw up the accusation; in the latter, the accusation must be drawn up and sworn to by the person making it.

Same, trial.

(398) § 13. To the accusation he may plead or demur, and the issues joined thereon shall in all cases be tried by the court, all the evidence being reduced to writing, filed and preserved.

Same, judgment.

(399) § 14. If the accused plead guilty or fail to answer, the court shall proceed to render such judgment as the case requires.

Same, appeal.

(400) § 15. In case of suspension or removal being ordered by a district court, an appeal therefrom lies to the Supreme Court, and all the original papers, together with the transcript of the record shall thereupon be transferred to the Supreme Court, to be there considered and finally acted upon. A judgment of acquittal by the district court is final.

Embezzlement.

(401) § 16. An attorney who receives the money or property of his client in the course of his professional business and refuses to pay or deliver it in a reasonable time after demand, is guilty of embezzlement.

Attorney's claim, clients bond.

(402) § 17. When an attorney claims to be entitled to a lien upon the money or property, he is not liable to the penalties of the preceding section until the person demanding the money or property proffers sufficient security for the payment of the amount of the attorney's claim when it is legally ascertained.

Same.

(403) § 18. Nor is he in any case liable as aforesaid, provided he gives sufficient security that he will pay over the whole or any portion thereof to their claimant when he is found entitled thereto.

This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the date of the final adjournment of the first session of the Legislative Assembly.

SECTION.
1. Insolvent bank receiving valuables or money.
2. Violation of above section.
3. Knowledge of bank's financial condition.
4. Individual liability of employes for deposits.
5. Executors and administrators of employes.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

Insolvent bank receiving valuables or money

(404) § 1. It shall be unlawful for any president, director, manager, cashier, or other officer or clerk of any banking institution, or any private banker or officer or clerk of a private bank doing business in this Territory, to receive or assent to or permit the reception of any deposit of money or other valuable thing in such bank or banking institution; or for any such banker, officer or clerk to create or assent to or permit the creation of any debt or indebtedness by such bank or banking institution, in consideration or by reason of which indebtedness, any money or valuable property, shall be received into such bank or banking institution after he shall have knowledge of the fact that it is insolvent or in failing circumstances.

Violation of above section

(405) § 2. Any person offending against or violating the provisions of the preceding section shall be deemed guilty of larceny, and upon conviction thereof he shall be punished in the same manner and to the same extent as provided by law for stealing property of the same value.

Knowledge of bank's financial condition.

(406) § 3. It is hereby made the duty of every person or officer mentioned in section one of this act to know the condition of the bank or banking institution with which he is connected, as to solvency, and his failure to know its financial condition shall be no defense to any prosecution or civil action brought under the provisions of this act.

Individual liability of employes for deposits

(407) § 4. Every officer, director and clerk, of a bank or banking institution, shall be held individually liable for the payment of any deposit received in violation of section one of this act, and all such persons may be sued either jointly or severally.

Executors and administrators of employes.

(408) § 5. The civil remedies provided in this act may be enforced against the executors and administrators of such deceased officers, directors or clerks.

This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the final adjournment of the first session of the Legislative Assembly.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

Board of health, officers' qualifications.

(409) § 1. There is hereby established a Territorial Board of Health of the Territory of Oklahoma composed of a president, vice-president and superintendent of public health. The superintendent of public instruction of said Territory shall be ex-officio president of said board. The Governor shall appoint some suitable person, resident of this Territory, vice-president, and he shall also appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the council, said superintendent of public health who shall be learned in medicine, a graduate of some medical college recognized by the American Medical Association, and a resident of the Territory; and the several persons thus appointed shall hold their offices for two years and until their successors are elected and qualified.

Same, officers' duties

(410) § 2. The president of said board shall preside at the meetings thereof, and the vice-president shall perform the duties of the president in his absence. The superintendent of public health shall be ex-officio secretary of said board. He shall keep a record of all proceedings of the Territorial Board of Health, and of his own acts as such superintendent, and he shall perform such other duties as are prescribed by this act, or may be prescribed by the Territorial Board of Health.

Same, meetings.

(411) § 3. The several persons composing said Territorial Board of Health shall meet as often as once in every six months at such place in said Territory as they may from time to time appoint.

Powers and duties of board.

(412) § 4. Said Territorial Board of Health shall have power and it shall be their duty:

First. To fix the time and place of the meeting of said board, subject only to the provisions of action [section] three.

Second. To make rules and regulations for the government of said board, its officers and its meetings.

Third. To make and enforce any and all needful rules and regulations for the prevention and cure, and to prevent the spread of any contagious, infectious or malarial diseases among persons and domestic animals.

Fourth. To establish quarantine, and isolate any persons affected with contagious or infectious disease.

Fifth. To isolate, kill, or remove any animals affected with contagious or infectious disease.

Sixth. To remove or cause to be removed any dead, decaying or putrid body, or any decayed, putrid or other substance that may endanger the health of persons or domestic animals.

Seventh. To condemn and cause to be destroyed any impure or diseased article of food that may be offered for sale.

Eighth. To superintend the several boards of health in the cities, villages and townships, and the county boards of health of the several counties.

Ninth. To empower and direct the superintendent of public health to do or cause to be done any and all the things mentioned in subdivisions 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 of this section.

Superintendent's salary and mileage.

(413) § 5. The superintendent of public health shall be paid a yearly salary of five hundred dollars in equal installments, at the end of every three months. He shall also be paid five cents per mile for every mile actually and necessarily travelled in the performance of his official duties, and such other sum or sums as he may necessarily pay or become liable to pay, for the official books, records and papers kept by him, and for the printing of his reports, and such circulars and blanks as may be required for the proper conduct of the business of his office, not to exceed in the aggregate the sum of three hundred dollars. The accounts of the superintendent for his mileage and said other expenses of his office shall be audited by said Territorial Board of Health and the same together with his salary shall be paid out of the Territorial treasury.

President and vice-president, salaries, mileage,

(414) § 6. The president and vice-president of said Territorial Board of Health shall receive no compensation for the performance of their official duties, but they shall be paid five cents for every mile actually and necessarially travelled, and such other necessary expenses as they may pay or incur in attending the meetings of said boards or in the performance of their duties as such officers.

County board of health.

(415) § 7. At the first meeting of said Territorial Board of Health they shall appoint two persons from each county, residents thereof, who, with the county superintendent of public instruction of the county from which they are appointed, shall constitute a county board of health for such county. The county superintendent of public instruction shall be the president of such county board of health. One of the persons so appointed from each county shall be learned in medicine and shall hold a license to practice medicine from the superintendent of public health who shall be superintendent of health in the county for which he is appointed. The other person so appointed by said board from such county shall be vice-president of the county board of health.

Same, officers and duties.

(416) § 8. The president of each county board of health shall preside at the meetings thereof and in his absence the vice-president shall perform the duties of president. The county superintendent of health shall be ex-officio secretary of the board of health of the county. The said county superintendent of health shall keep a record of all the proceedings of such board, and of his official acts, and he shall, at the end of every month make a full report in writing to the superintendent of public health of the proceedings of the county board of health of his official acts, and shall, whenever danger to the health of persons or domestic animals is threatened, or whenever any contagious or infectious disease occurs in his county, either among persons or domestic animals, immediately report the same to the superintendent of public health.

Same, meetings.

(417) § 9. The several county boards of health shall meet at the county seats of their respective counties, at such time within thirty days after the appointment of the county superintendent of health as he may designate. Notice of the time and place of such meeting shall be by him given to the other members of the said county board, at least five days prior to such meeting, and thereafter said county board of health shall meet at the county seat as often as once in every three months.

Same, powers, expenses, how paid.

(418) § 10. The several county boards of health shall have power within their respective counties, subject to the supervisory control of the Territorial Board of Health, and the superintendent of public health, to do and perform all the things mentioned in subdivisions 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8, of section four. All expenses actually and necessarily paid or incurred by the county boards of health in carrying out the provisions of this act shall be audited by said board, and certified to the county commissioners of the county where such expenses were incurred, and shall be paid the same as other expenses are paid.

County superintendent of health, powers and duties of.

(419) § 11. The county superintendent of health shall have charge of and superintend, subject to the approval of the board of which he is a member, and the supervisory control of the Territorial Board of Health and superintendent of public health, in all the matters and things mentioned in subdivisions 4, 5, 6 and 7, of section four within his county, and in case of immediate danger to the health of persons or of domestic animals, he may act as in his judgment he may deem best, without consultation with the other members of the county board of health, for the prevention of such danger, and he shall immediately report such action to the president of the county board of health, and to the superintendent of public health.

Same, salary and mileage; president of county board of health, mileage.

(420) § 12. The president of the county board of health shall receive no other compensation than that which is provided for. [He] shall receive five cents for every mile actually and necessarily travelled in the performance of his duties as a member of said board. The county superintendent of health shall receive three dollars per day for every day in which he may be actually and necessarily engaged and five cents per mile for every mile actually and necessarily travelled in the performance of his duties, and he shall also receive such other sum or sums as he may necessarily pay or become liable to pay in carrying out and performing the various duties imposed upon him under the provisions of this act or by the county board of health, all of which accounts for services, mileage and other expenses shall be audited by the county board of health and certified to the county commissioners of the county, and paid as other county expenses are paid.

Superintendent of public health, reports and reccommendations.

(421) § 13. The superintendent of public health shall, on the first day of December 1892, and biennially thereafter, make a full report to the Governor, and to the legislative assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma, which report shall show all that has been done by the Territorial Board of Health, and by such superintendent of public health during the two years preceding the making of such report; the number of cases treated by such superintendent of public health, and in each of the counties by the county superintendent of health the character and extent during such time of all the contagious or infectious diseases that have been reported to said superintendent of public health; and he shall also report a full statement of all expenditures of said Territorial Board of Health, and in each of the organized counties in this Territory by the county board of health; and he shall also report such recommendations as he may deem advisable for the better protection of the public health and the prevention or cure of contagious or infectious diseases of persons and of domestic animals.

Who allowed to practice medicine; conditions regulating same.

(422) § 14. No person shall be permitted to practice [medicine], in any of its departments in this Territory, unless he be a graduate of a medical college, or unless upon examination before a board composed of the superintendent of public health and two other physicians to be selected by the Territorial Board of Health, such person shall be found proficient in the practice of medicine and surgery, and shall be found upon proof to have been actually engaged in the practice of medicine for a term of not less than five years, and no person shall practice medicine unless he be of good moral character, and is not an habitual drunkard. Any person possessing the qualifications mentioned in this section shall, upon presentation of his diploma, or proof thereof by affidavit, if the same is lost or destroyed, and upon the affidavit of two reputable citizens from the county where he resides that such applicant possesses the qualifications of a physician, as prescribed herein, to the superintendent of public health, together with a fee of two dollars, receive from such superintendent of public health, a license, certifying the applicant to be a practicing physician, and having the qualifications for such, as prescribed in this section, which license shall be recorded in the office of the register of deeds in the county where such practicing physician resides. Any person who practices medicine or attempts to practice medicine without complying with the provisions of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and any person shall be regarded as practicing medicine within the meaning of this section who shall profess publicly to be a physician and to prescribe for the sick, or who appends to his name M. D., but nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit students from prescribing under the supervision of preceptors, or to prohibit gratuitous services in case of emergency, nor shall this section apply to commissioned surgeons in the United States army and navy. Any person violating any of the provisions of this act, or who shall prevent or attempt to prevent the several officers of the public health, or persons employed by them, from performing any of the duties prescribed in this act to be performed by any such officers, or any practicing physician who shall fail to report to the county superintendent of health the existence of any contagious or infectious disease, and any person who shall wilfully conceal any case of contagious or infectious disease, either among persons or animals, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. The district court shall, upon the complaint of any member of the Territorial Board of Health or the county board of health where he resides have power to cancel any license that may be issued to any person to practice medicine where such license was fraudulently obtained, or where the person to whom such license was issued has been guilty of violating any provisions of this act.

Vacancies in office, how filled.

(423) § 15. In case any vacancy shall occur in the office of vice-president or superintendent of public health, such vacancy shall be filled by appointment by the Governor, and the person so appointed to fill such vacancy shall hold for the unexpired term of office in which such vacancy occurs. In case any vacancy occurs in the office of vice-president or superintendent of health in any of the county boards of health, the superintendent of public health shall appoint some suitable person to fill such vacancy, and the person so appointed shall hold such office until the next meeting of the Territorial Board of Health, and until a successor to such officer has been appointed by said Territorial Board of Health.

(424) § 16. Nothing contained in this act shall in any manner effect any board of health heretofore established or that may be hereafter established in any city, village or incorporated town: Provided, however, That all such boards of health shall be under the superintending control of the Territorial Board of Health.

Boards of health previously existing.

This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the date of its approval.

CHAPTER X.—BONDS.

AN ACT to provide for the issuance of bonds for the payment of the contingent expenses of the Territorial, county and city governments until such times as revenue may be derived for that purpose.

[Took effect December 24, 1890.]

ARTICLE.
1. Territorial bonds.
2. County bonds.
3. City, town and village bonds.

ARTICLE 1.—TERRITORIAL BONDS.

SECTION.
1. When issued.
2. Auditor to certify to assessment.
3. Bond; form; amount; interest.
4. Amount of indebtedness; bonds not to exceed.
5. Notice; bonds; amount, how determined.
6. How signed; proceedings in court.
7. How negotiated.
8. Further issuance, when.
9. For what issued.
10. Redeemable, when.
11. Tax levy to pay interest and principal; duty of auditor and county commissioners.
12. Territorial scrip.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma.

When issued.

(425) 1. As soon as there shall be made and filed with the county clerks of the various counties of this Territory, an assessment of the property therein for the purpose of taxation, then it shall be lawful for the Territory of Oklahoma and the various counties and cities therein, to issue bonds as in this act provided for the purpose of paying the contingent expenses of the Territory, county or city, as the case may be, until such time as revenue may be derived therefor from the collection of taxes; but bonds shall not be issued under this act for any other purpose whatsoever.

Auditor to certify to assessment

(426) § 2. As soon as the assessments are returned in the various counties, they shall be certified to the auditing officer of the Territory and be consolidated by him and the aggregate amount thereof be found.

Form of bonds, amount—interest.

(427) § 3. When thus ascertained, the Governor, Secretary of the Territory and the auditing officer, shall determine the form of bond to be issued on behalf of the Territory under this act. Each bond shall be in a sum not to exceed one thousand dollars and not less than one hundred dollars, and shall bear an annual rate of interest not to exceed six per cent payable annually.

Amount of indebtedness; bonds not to exceed.

(428) § 4. Before issuing such bonds, the Governor, Secretary of the Territory and the auditing officer, shall carefully investigate the aggregate amount of claims allowed against the Territory and incurred in the necessary operation of the Territorial Government from its foundation up to that time, which remains due and unpaid. The bonds so issued at that time shall not be in excess of the amount then so found to be outstanding, due and unpaid.

Chap. 10.

Notice, bonds; amount, how determined.

(429 § 5. Notice shall be published in two newspapers printed in the county where the Territorial offices are kept, stating that on a particular day, naming it, the Territorial Auditor and Treasurer will proceed before the district court of the county to make a showing and have the court hear and determine the amount of the Territorial indebtedness, and to sign the bonds to be issued for the payment thereof, and giving notice that all persons interested may be present at the time the proof is made and bonds signed by the judge stating the amount of indebtedness as before determined, and no bond shall be signed by the judge until such notice shall have been given for at least seven days.

How signed; proceeding in court.

(430) § 6. The bonds so issued shall, each and all of them, be signed by the Governor, by the Secretary of the Territory and the auditing officer, and when so signed a careful record of the number of each bond, and the amount thereof, shall be preserved by the auditing officer. Thereafter he and the Secretary of the Territory and the Territorial Treasurer, or some two of them, shall go before the district court of the county in which their offices may be located and in open court make proof to the satisfaction of the district judge of the existence, the amount and character of the indebtedness owed by the Territory, for which the bonds are to be issued. On proof being made to the judge of the court, of the existence, character and amount of debts, and upon his finding that they are of the class and character for which bonds are authorized to be issued under this act, he shall cause to be made upon the records of the court a statement to that effect, and show the amount, if any, of the indebtedness that he finds existing, and shall then in open court, proceed to sign each bond to be so issued until the amount of the bonds signed by him in the aggregate shall equal the amount of the indebtedness so proven, and shall thereupon deliver the same to the Territorial Treasurer, who shall then and there receipt to the Territorial Auditor for the amount thereof, and be chargable therefor upon his bond. It is hereby made the duty of the district court to suspend all other business upon the day and during the time the proof, by this section required, is being made and to permit the proof to be made on the day designated by the notice.

How negotiated.

(431) § 7. When said bonds are received by the Treasurer, it shall be his duty with the consent, advice and concurrence of the Governor and Secretary of the Territory, to proceed to negotiate the same at not less than par, and the Treasurer shall hold the proceeds thereof in his hands, and shall apply the same to the payment of the Territorial warrants, or scrip outstanding, and shall be chargeable with the amount received from said bonds, and credited with the payments made in manner and form as for taxes received by him.

Further issuance, when.

(432) § 8. When the indebtedness of the Territory incurred in the actual and necessary operating of the Territorial Government, shall after the issue of one set of bonds, have aggregated the amount of twenty-five hundred dollars outstanding, demanded and unpaid; if Territorial scrip be circulating at a discount greater than ten per cent, it shall be the duty of the Territorial officers to again follow the same method of procedure, and issue bonds in that sum, for the purpose of raising the money with which to liquidate such indebtedness; but in no event shall bonds be issued for the indebtedness incurred except as in the next section provided.

For what issued.

(433) § 9. The indebtedness for the payment of which bonds may be issued, shall consist of office rent, payable by the Territory, fuel, lights, stationary, furniture, salaries of officers, travelling expenses, where allowed by law to the officers, clerk hire, expenses of the Territorial Legislative Assembly, and its employes authorized to be paid by the Territory, expenses of courts, chargeable to the Territory, and all matters whatsoever, including repairs, pertaining to the necessary and actual operation of the Territorial Government.

Redeemable, when.

(434) § 10. Such bonds shall be redeemable at the pleasure of the Territory at any time after the expiration of five years from the date of their issue, and must be redeemed on or before the expiration of ten years from the date of their issue.

Tax Levy to pay interest and principal; duty of auditor and county commissioners

(435) § 11. For the purpose of paying the principal and annual interest on the bonds so issued, there shall be annually levied upon the taxable property of the Territory, a sum of money sufficient to pay the interest and ten per cent of the principal each year, and it shall be the duty of the auditing officer to certify to each county the amount to be levied in that county for that purpose and when so certified it shall be the duty of the county commissioners to levy the same, and to enter the same on the tax rolls of the county, to be collected as other taxes; said taxes shall be apportioned among the counties in proportion to the assessed value of the property in each. The funds so raised shall be applied to the payment of the interest and principal of the bonds issued on the payment of scrip; but if there be a surplus of money in the Territorial treasury and not otherwise appropriated, the same shall be applied in payment of bonds outstanding.

Territorial scrip.

(436) § 12. After the passage of this act, it shall be lawful for the Territorial Auditor, Territorial Treasurer and the Governor, and they are herby directed to issue scrip representing the indebtedness of the Territory, to persons to whom the Territory may be indebted. Such scrip shall be in denominations of not less than one nor more than twenty dollars, and it shall be in a form to be approved by such officers and in such design as to reasonably prevent the same from being counterfeited. Each of such bills shall be signed by the Governor and the Territorial auditing officer and bear the impress of the Auditor's seal and be countersigned by the Secretary of the Territory, and when so signed shall be delivered to the Territorial Treasurer in sums of not less than five hundred dollars at one time; and he shall be chargeable therewith as for money received. When Territorial warrants are presented the Chap. 10. Treasurer may with the consent of the holder of the warrant, receive the warrant, mark it paid and in lieu thereof deliver to the holder of such warrant the amount thereof in the scrip authorized to be issued by this act, or the Treasurer may on the order of the Auditor, pay the same direct to the person. Such scrip shall be payable to the bearer and shall be redeemed by the Territorial Treasurer in cash when he may have funds for that purpose. Such scrip shall be without interest. The Treasurer shall account for all scrip by him issued, by returning to the Territorial auditing officer the amount of Territorial warrants or orders for scrip equal to the amount of scrip by him paid out. When such scrip is once redeemed by the Treasurer it shall not be reissued, but the Territorial auditing officer may deliver to the Treasurer other scrip charging the Treasurer with the amount thereof. In accounting, the Treasurer shall be credited with all scrip by him redeemed and returned to the auditing officer as with cash paid out on behalf of the Territory. When scrip is redeemed the Treasurer shall mutilate the same by writing across the middle of the back of each bill in red ink the word "redeemed" and to whom paid, with the date thereof, and sign his name thereto.

ARTICLE 2.—COUNTY BONDS.

SECTION.
1. County bonds, when lawful to issue.
2. Duty of county commissioners.
3. Form of bond; interest; notice.
4. How signed; proceeding before court.
5. How negotiated.
6. Further issuance, when.
7. For what issued.
8. When redeemable.
9. Tax levy to pay interest and principal; duty of county commissioners.
10. County scrip.

County bonds, when lawful to issue.

(437) § 1. As soon as there shall be made and filed with the county clerks of the various counties of this Territory, an assessment of the property of the county for the purpose of taxation; it shall be lawful for such county to issue bonds as in this act provided, for the purpose of paying the contingent expenses of the county until such time as revenue may be derived for that purpose by the collection of taxes.

Duty of county commissioners.

(438) § 2. As soon as the assessments are returned in the various counties, the board of county commissioners shall ascertain the correct amount of claims allowed against the county and incurred in the necessary operation of the county government from its formation up to that time and which remain due and unpaid. The bonds to be issued at that time shall not be in excess of the amount so found.

Form of bond; interest; notice.

(439) § 3. When thus ascertained the county commissioners and probate judge shall determine the form of bond to be issued on behalf of the county under this act. Each bond shall be in a sum not to exceed one thousand dollars and not less than one hundred dollars and shall bear an annual rate of interest not to exceed six per cent, payable annually. Notice shall be published in at least one newspaper printed at the county seat, stating that on a particular day, naming it, the board of county commissioners and county clerk will proceed before the district court of the county to make a showing and have the court hear and determine the amount of the county indebtedness, and to sign the bonds to be issued for paying the same, and giving notice that all persons interested may be present at the time the proof is made, and the bonds signed by the judge, stating the amount of the indebtedness as before determined by them, and no bond shall be signed by the judge until such notice shall have been given for at least seven days.

How signed, proceeding before court.

(440) § 4. The bonds so issued, shall, each and all of them, be signed by the chairman of the board of county commissioners and by the county clerk, and when signed a careful record of the number of each bond and the amount thereof shall be preserved by the county clerk. Thereafter the county clerk and county commissioners or any two of them shall go before the district court of their county and in open court make proof to the satisfaction of the district judge of the existence, the amount, and character of the indebtedness owed by the county for which the bonds are to be issued. On proof being made to the judge of the court of the existence, character and amount of debts, and upon his finding they are of the class and character for which bonds are authorized to be issued, under this act, he shall cause to be made upon the records of the court a statement to that effect, and show the amount, if any, of the indebtedness that he finds existing, and shall then in open court, proceed to sign each bond to be so issued until the amount of the bonds signed by him in the aggregate shall equal the amount of indebtedness so proven, and shall thereupon deliver the same to the county treasurer, who shall then and there receipt to the county clerk for the amount thereof, and be chargeable therefor upon his bond. It is hereby made the duty of the district court to suspend all other business upon the day and during the time the proof, by this section required, is being made and to permit the proof to be made on the day designated by the notice; if not in session the judge shall hold a special term of court on that day for that purpose. In fixing the day on which such proof shall be made, the convenience of the judge shall be consulted by the board of county commissioners.

How negotiated

(441) § 5. When said bonds are received by the treasurer it shall be his duty, under the direction of the county commissioners and probate judge, to proceed to negotiate the same at not less than par, and the treasurer shall hold the proceeds thereof in his hands and shall apply the same to the payment of county warrants or scrip outstanding; and shall be chargeable with the amount received from said bonds, and credited with the payments made in manner and form as taxes received by him.

Further issuance, when.

(442) § 6. When the indebtedness of the county incurred in the actual and necessary operating expenses of the county government, shall after the issue of one set of bonds have aggregated the amount of two thousand dollars outstanding, demanded and unpaid, and if county scrip be circulating at a discount greater than ten per cent, it shall be the duty of the county commissioners and county judge to again follow the same method of procedure and issue bonds in that sum for the purpose of raising the money

Chap. 10. with which to liquidate such indebtedness, but in no event shall bonds be issued for any indebtedness incurred except as in the next section provided.

For what issued.

(443) § 7. The indebtedness for the payment of which bonds may be issued by the county shall consist of rents, payable by the county, fuel, lights, stationery, books, furniture, salaries of officers, travelling expenses, where allowed by law to officers, clerk hire, expenses of the courts chargeable to the county, keeping and guarding prisoners, transporting the same, repairs, and all matters whatsoever pertaining to the necessary and actual operating expenses of the county, and in addition thereto, the expenses of purchasing necessary cells or cages for the confinement of prisoners, not to exceed three thousand dollars to any one county.

When redeemable.

(444) § 8. Such bond shall be redeemable at the pleasure of the county at any time after the expiration of three years from the date of their issue, and must be redeemed on or before the expiration of ten years from the date of their issue.

Tax levy to pay interest and principal: duty of county commissioners.

(445) § 9. For the purpose of paying the principal and the annual interest on the bonds so issued, there shall be annually levied upon the taxable property of the county a sum of money sufficient to pay the interest and ten per cent of the principal each year; and it shall be the duty of the county board [board of county commissioners] to levy the same and enter it on the tax rolls of the county to be collected as other taxes, and funds so raised shall be applied to the payment of the interest and principal of the bonds so issued, or to the payment of scrip, but if there be a surplus of money in the county treasury, the same shall be applied in payment of the bonds outstanding.

County scrip.

(446) § 10. After the passage of this act, it shall be lawful for the board of county commissioners and the county judge, and they are hereby directed to issue scrip representing the indebtedness of the county. Such scrip shall be in denominations of not less than one nor more than ten dollars and shall be in a form to be approved by such officers and in such design as to reasonably prevent the same from being counterfeited, and such scrip shall be receivable for all taxes due the county. Each of such bills shall be signed by the chairman of the board of county commissioners, and by the county clerk, bear the impress of his seal and be countersigned by the probate judge, and when so signed shall be delivered to the county treasurer in sums of not less than two hundred dollars at one time, and he shall be chargeable therewith as for money received. When county warrants are presented, the treasurer may, with the consent of the holder of the warrant, receive the warrant, mark it paid and, in lieu thereof, deliver to the holder of such warrant the amount thereof in the scrip authorized to be issued by this act, or the treasurer may, on order of the county clerk, pay the same direct to the person in whose favor the order is drawn. Such scrip shall be payable to the bearer and shall be redeemed by the county treasurer in cash when he may have funds for that purpose. Such scrip shall be without interest. The treasurer shall account for all scrip by him issued by returning to the county clerk the amount of county warrants or orders for scrip equal to the amount of scrip by him paid out. When such scrip is once redeemed by the treasurer it shall not be re-issued, but the county clerk may deliver to the treasurer other scrip charging the treasurer with the amount thereof. In accounting, the treasurer shall be credited with all scrip by him redeemed and returned to the auditing officer as with cash paid out on behalf of the county. When scrip is redeemed the treasurer shall cancel each bill by writing across the middle of the back, in red ink, the word "redeemed" and to whom paid with the date and sign his name thereto.

ARTICLE 3.—CITY, TOWN AND VILLAGE BONDS.

SECTION.
1. Cities, towns and villiages; when lawful to issue bonds of.
2. Council to determine amount of indebtedness; form of bond; interest; notice.
3. How signed; proceeding before court.
4. How negotiated.
5. Further issuance, when.
6. For what expenses issued.
7. When redeemable; tax levy to pay principal and interest; duty of council and county commissioners.
8. City, town or village scrip.
9. Warrants may be exchanged for scrip.
10. Amount of scrip not to exceed fifty per cent of indebtedness; penalty for violating this act.
11. Penalty for counterfeiting or attempting to counterfeit scrip, warrants or bonds.

Cities, towns, villages, when lawful to issue bonds of.

(447) § 1. As soon as there shall be made and filed with the county clerks of the various counties of this Territory an assessment for the purpose of taxation of property within any incorporated city, village or town within this Territory, it shall be lawful for such city, village or town to issue bonds as in this act provided, for the purpose of paying the contingent expenses of the city, village or town until such time as revenue may be derived for that purpose by the collection of taxes.

Council to determine amount of indebtedness, form of bond; interest, notice.

(448) § 2. As soon as the assessments are so returned, the city, village or town council shall ascertain the correct amount of claims allowed against the city, village or town, and incurred in the necessary operation of the city, village or town government, from the time of its formation under the Statutes of Nebraska, extended over this Territory, up to the time the estimate is made; but in making such computation no debt or liability of any character whatsoever, arising from and by reason of, the existence of any provisional city, village or town governments within the Territory prior to the time that the cities were organized under the Nebraska Statutes as aforesaid. The bonds to be issued shall not be in excess of the amount so ascertained. When thus ascertained the city, village or town council and probate judge of the county shall determine the form of bond to be issued on behalf of the city, village or town under this act. Each bond shall be in a sum not to exceed one thousand dollars nor less than one hundred dollars, and shall bear an annual rate of interest not to exceed six per cent, payable semi-annually. Notice shall be published in two newspapers printed in the county, stating that on a particular day, naming it, the city, village or town council

Chap. 10. and probate judge will proceed before the district court of the county to make a showing, and have the court hear and determine the amount of the city, village or town indebtedness, and to sign the bonds to be issued for paying the same, and giving notice that all persons interested may be present at the time the proof is made and the bonds signed by the judge stating the amount of the indebtedness as before determined by them, and no bond shall be signed by the judge until such notice shall have been given for at least seven days.

How signed, proceeding before court.

(449) § 3. The bonds so issued shall, each and all of them, be signed by the mayor of the city, village or town and by the city clerk in the presence of the council, and when so signed a careful record of the number of each bond and the amount thereof shall be preserved by the city clerk and a transcript thereof filed in the office of the county clerk, who shall receive and retain the same in his office. Thereafter a quorum of the city, village or town council and the city clerk, shall go before the district court of their county and in open court make proof to the satisfaction of the district judge of the existence and amount and character of the indebtedness of the city, village or town for which the bonds are to be issued. On proof being made to the judge of the court of the existence, character and amount of debts, and upon his finding they are of the class and character for which bonds are authorized to be issued under this act, he shall cause to be made upon the records of the court a statement to that effect, and show the amount, if any, of the indebtedness that he finds existing, and shall then in open court proceed to sign each bond to be so issued until the amount of the bonds signed by him in the aggregate shall equal the amount of the indebtedness so proven, and shall thereupon deliver the same to the city, village or town treasurer who shall then and there receipt to the county clerk and to the city, town or village clerk for the amount thereof, and be chargeable therefor upon his bond, and shall hold such bonds as the property of the city, town or village issuing the same. It is hereby made the duty of the district court to suspend all other business, except the proof of other bonds, upon the day and during the time the proof, by this section required, is being made and to permit the proof to be made on the day designated in the notice; if the court be not in session the judge shall hold a special term of court on that day for that purpose. In fixing the day on which such proof shall be made, the convenience of the judge shall be consulted. by the city, town or village council.

How negotiated.

(450) § 4. When said bonds are received by the county treasurer it shall be his duty under the direction of the city, town or village council, and the probate judge, to proceed to negotiate the same at not less than par, and the county treasurer shall hold the proceeds thereof in his hands, as a special fund belonging to the city, town or village by which the bonds were issued, and shall apply the proceeds thereof to the payment of city warrants and scrip outstanding; and shall be chargeable with the amounts received from said bonds and credited with the payments made in manner and form as for taxes received by him on behalf of the city, town or village.

Further issuance, when.

(451) § 5. When the indebtedness of the city, town or village, incurred in the actual and necessary operating expenses of the city, town or village shall after the issue of one set of bonds, have aggregated the amount of one thousand dollars outstanding, demanded and unpaid, and if city scrip be circulating at a discount greater than ten per cent, it shall be the duty of the city, town or village council and probate judge to again follow the same method of procedure and issue bonds in that sum for the purpose of raising the money with which to liquidate such indebtedness, but in no event shall bonds be issued for any indebtedness incurred except as in the next section provided.

For what expenses issued.

(452) § 6. The indebtedness for the payment of which bonds may be issued shall consist of rent, payable by the city, town, or village, fuel, lights, stationery, books, furniture, salaries of officers, policemen, travelling expenses, where allowed by law to the officers, clerk hire, expenses of city courts, keeping and guarding prisoners, repairs, and all matters whatsoever pertaining to the actual and necessary operating expenses of the city, town or village, but under this section no indebtedness incurred for sewerage, grading of streets or erection of public works shall be included. Neither shall any indebtedness in any shape, case or form, nor in any manner whatever be estimated or allowed, for or on behalf of any property received, any act done, or liability incurred by any provisional village, town or city government existing before the organization of the villages, towns or cities of this Territory under the statutes of Nebraska extended over this Territory by the Organic Act thereof, but the cities, towns and villages are authorized to contract for the keeping of prisoners in the county jail, or they may erect a city prison, costing not more than one thousand dollars, and the cost thereof may be estimated as a part of the operating expenses of the city, town or village government. They may also open streets, or straighten or widen the same, not to exceed two hundred feet wide, and buy lots so to do, and the expense of so doing shall be estimated as city expenses for which bonds or scrip may be issued.

When redeemable, tax levy to pay principal and interest, duty of city council; county commissioners.

(453) § 7. Such bond shall be redeemable at the pleasure of the city, town or village at any time after the expiration of three years from the date of their issue, and must be redeemed on or before the expiration of ten years from the date of their issue. For the purpose of paying the principal and annual interest on the bonds so issued there shall be annually levied upon the taxable property of the city, town or village a sum of money sufficient to pay the interest and ten per cent of the principal each year, and it shall be the duty of the city, town or village council to certify to the county commissioners the amount of money requisite for that purpose and the county commissioners shall thereupon levy the same and enter it on the tax rolls of the county to be collected as other taxes; and funds so raised shall be applied to the payment of the interest and principal of the bonds so isued, or to the payment of scrip; but if there be a surplus of money belonging to the city, town or village in the county treasury the same shall be applied in the payment of the bonds outstanding.

Chap. 10.

City, town or village scrip

(454) § 8. After the passage of this act it shall be lawful for the city, town or village council and the probate judge to issue scrip, (representing the indebtedness of the city) such scrip shall be in denominations of not less than one, nor more than ten dollars and shall be in a form to be approved by the council and probate judge, and in such design as to reasonably prevent the same from being counterfeited. Each of such bills shall be signed by the mayor of the city, town or village, and by the city clerk, bear the impress of his seal, and be countersigned by the probate judge in the presence of the county clerk and county treasurer; and when so signed shall be delivered to the county treasurer in sums of not less than two hundred dollars at any one time, and not in excess of the sum of one thousand dollars, and the treasurer shall be chargeable therewith, as for money received belonging to the city, town or village, and the county clerk shall charge him with the amount thereof as the debt of said city town or village. When city warrants are presented the county treasurer may, with the consent of the holder of the warrant, receive the warrant, mark it paid, and in lieu thereof deliver to the holder of such warrant, the amount thereof in the city scrip authorized to be issued by this section. But the treasurer may, on orders signed by the mayor and the city clerk, and countersigned by the county clerk, pay such order in scrip to the person in whose favor such order was drawn. Such scrip shall be payable to the bearer and shall be redeemed by the county treasurer in cash, when he may have funds belonging to the city in his hands for that purpose. Such scrip shall be without interest. The treasurer shall account for all scrip by him paid out, by returning to the county clerk and the county clerk to the city clerk, the amount of city warrants or city orders for scrip equal to the amount by the treasurer paid out. When such scrip is once redeemed by the treasurer it shall not be re-issued, but shall be by the treasurer mutilated by writing in red ink across the center of the back thereof, the word "redeemed" and to whom paid, giving the date thereof, and by signing his name thereto, but the county clerk may deliver to the treasurer other scrip issued as before provided, and charge the treasurer with the amount thereof; in accounting, the treasurer shall be credited with all scrip by him redeemed and returned to the county clerk, as with cash paid out on behalf of the city on warrants; the county clerk shall return the scrip so redeemed to the city clerk, after crediting the treasurer with the amount there of as warrants paid out and he shall in the presence of the council destroy the same.

Warrants may be exchanged for scrip

(455) § 9. In any case where the claim has been duly allowed, against the Territory or against the county, or against a city, town or village, the officer authorized by law to draw warrants, therefor upon the treasury, may issue to the party in whose favor the claim is allowed, an order upon the treasurer for the amount of scrip of the Territory, county, city, town or village, as the case may be,

and deliver the order to the claimant in lieu of a warrant and it shall be the duty of the treasurer to receive such order and pay the amount thereof in scrip to the party presenting the same and he shall then return such order to the Territorial auditing officer or the county clerk or the city clerk, as the case may be, and receive credit therefor as upon a warrant paid and returned. It shall be the duty of the auditing officer, county or city clerk, when there is scrip in the hands of the treasurer to offer such order in preference to the issuance of a warrant, but no such order shall be issued unles there be at that time scrip in the hands of the treasurer with which to redeem it.

Amount of scrip not to exceed fifty per cent of indebtedness, penalty for violation of this act.

(456) § 10. In no case shall the Territory or any county or any city, town or village issue under the provisions of this act, scrip in excess of fifty per cent of their indebtedness at the time it is issued. The Territorial Treasurer and the county treasurers shall be required to produce all Territorial, county or city scrip in their hands as treasurers, in the same manner they are required to produce and count money on hand. If any treasurer shall embezzle, misapply, or improperly use any of said scrip he shall be criminally liable to the same extent and though they [he] had in like manner used money in his care and custody as a public officer. If any Territorial, county, city, town or village officer or officers shall issue scrip or put the same in circulation or use the same in any manner other than in this act provided, or shall certify or account any indebtedness as existing when in truth and fact it does not exist or shall make any false proof or false record in relation to any matter provided for in this act, they [he] shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and on conviction shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one or more than ten years at the discretion of the court.

Penalty for counterfeiting or attempting the same.

(457) § 11. Any person or persons counterfeiting, or imitating or attempting to imitate any of the forms of scrip, warrants or bonds authorized to be issued under the provisions of this act, shall, upon conviction thereof, by any court of competent jurisdiction, be adjudged guilty of a felony and shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a term of not less than five nor more than twenty years.

This act shall be in force from and after its passage and approval.

34. Value determined.
35. Deck stowage.
36. Rules applicable to sacrifice of property.

Chap. 12.

Freight defined—Consignor defined.

(476) § 1. Property carried is called freight; the reward, if any, to be paid for its carriage is called freightage; the person who delivers the freight to the carrier is called the consignor, and the person to whom it is to be delivered is called the consignee.

Carrier of property for reward must use ordinary care

(477) § 2. A carrier of property for reward must use at least ordinary care and diligence in the performance of all his duties. A carrier without reward must use at least slight care and diligence.

Must obey directions

(478) § 3. A carrier must comply with the directions of the consignor or consignee, to the same extent that an employe is bound to comply with those of his employer.

When directions are conflicting.

(479) § 4. When the directions of a consignor and consignee are conflicting, the carrier must comply with those of the consignor in respect to all matters except the delivery of the freight, as to which he must comply with the directions of the consignee, unless the consignor has specially forbidden the carrier to receive orders from the consignee, inconsistent with his own.

Storage of freight by marine carrier—Deviation from course

(480) § 5. A marine carrier must not stow freight upon deck during the voyage, except where it is usual to do so, nor make any improper deviation from or delay in the voyage, nor do any other unnecessary act which would avoid an insurance in the usual form upon the freight.

Manner of delivery.

(481) § 6. A carrier of property must deliver it to the consignee, at the place to which it is addressed in the manner usual at that place.

Place of delivery.

(482) § 7. If there is no usage to the contrary at the place of delivery, freight must be delivered as follows:

First. If carried upon a railway owned and managed by the carrier, it may be delivered at the station nearest the place to which it is addressed.

Second. If carried by sea from a foreign country, it may be delivered at the wharf where the ship moors, within a reasonable distance from the place of address; or if there is no wharf, on board a lighter alongside the ship; or,

Third. In other cases, it must be delivered to the consignee or his agent, personally, if either can, with reasonable diligence, be found.

Notice to consignee.

(483) § 8. If, for any reason, a carrier does not deliver freight to the consignee or his agent, personally, he must give notice to the consignee of its arrival, and keep the same in safety, upon his responsibility as a warehouseman, until the consignee has had a reasonable time to remove it. If the place of residence or business of the consignee be unknown to the carrier, he may give the notice by letter dropped in the nearest postoffice.

May terminate liability

(484) § 9. If a consignee does not accept and remove freight within a reasonable time after the carrier has fulfilled his obligation to deliver, or duly offered to fulfill the same, the carrier may exonerate himself from further liability by placing the freight in a suitable warehouse, on storage, on account of the consignee, and giving notice thereof to him.

Sale of unclaimed property may be made, when.

(485) § 10. Whenever any trunk, carpet-bag, valise, bundle, package or article of property transported or coming into the possession of any railroad, or express company, or any other common carrier in the course of his or its business as common carrier, shall remain unclaimed and the legal charges thereon unpaid during the space of six months after its arrival at the point to which it shall have been directed, and the owner or person to whom the same is consigned cannot be found upon diligent inquiry, or being found and notified of the arrival of such article, shall refuse or neglect to receive the same and pay the legal charges thereon for the space of three months, it shall be lawful for such common carrier to sell such article at public auction, after giving the owner or consignee fifteen days' notice of time and place of sale, through the postoffice and by advertising in a newspaper published in the county where such sale is made, and out of the proceeds of such sale to pay all legal charges on such articles, and the amount over, if any, shall be paid to the owner or consignee upon demand.

Sale of perishable property.

(486) § 11. Perishable property which has been transported to destination, and the owner or consignee notified of its arrival, on being notified, refuses or neglects to receive the same, and pay the legal charges thereon; or if upon diligent inquiry the consignee cannot be found, such carrier may, in the exercise of a reasonable discretion, sell the same at public or private sale without advertising, and the proceeds, after deducting the freight and charges and expenses of sale, shall be paid to the owner or consignee upon demand.

Act applies to hotel keepers.

(487) § 12. The provisions of this act shall apply to hotel keepers and warehousemen.

Bill of lading defined.

(488) § 13. A bill of lading is an instrument in writing signed by a carrier or his agent, describing the freight so as to identify it, stating the name of the consignor, the terms of the contract for carriage, and agreeing or directing that the freight be delivered to the order or assigns of a specified person at a specified place.

Bill of lading is negotiable.

(489) § 14. All the title to the freight which the first holder of a bill of lading had when he received it, passes to every subsequent indorsee thereof, in good faith and for value, in the ordinary course of business, with like effect and in like manner as in the case of a bill of exchange.

Negotiable by delivery, when.

(490) § 15. When a bill of lading is made to bearer, or in equivalent terms, a simple transfer thereof by delivery conveys the same title as an indorsement.

Bill of lading does not alter rights or obligations of carrier.

(491) § 16. A bill of lading does not alter the rights or obligation of the carrier, as defined in this chapter, unless it is plainly inconsistent therewith.

Sets of bills to consignor.

(492) § 17. A carrier must subscribe and deliver to the consignor, on demand, any reasonable number of bills of lading, of the same tenor, expressing truly the original contract for carriage; and if he refuses to do so, the consignor may take the freight from him, and recover from him besides all damages thereby occasioned.

Delivery according to bill.

(493) § 18. A carrier is exonerated from liability for freight by delivery thereof, in good faith, to any holder of a bill of Cahp. 12.

lading therefor, properly indorsed, or made in favor of the bearer.

Surrender of bill of lading

(494) § 19. When a carrier has given a bill of lading or other instrument substantially equivalent thereto, he may require its surrender, or a reasonable indemnity against claims thereon, before delivering the freight.

Freightage, due when

(495) § 20. A carrier may require his freightage to be paid upon his receiving the freight; but if he does not demand it then, he cannot until he is ready to deliver the freight to the consignee.

Consignor is presumed to be liable

(496) § 21. The consignor of freight is presumed to be liable for the freightage, but if the contract between him and the carrier provides that the consignee shall pay it, and the carrier allows the consignee to take the freight, he cannot afterwards recover the freightage from the consignor.

Consignee is liable, when

(497) § 22. The consignee of freight is liable for the freightage, if he accepts the freight with notice of the intention of the consignor that he should pay it.

Natural increase

(498) § 23. No freightage can be charged upon the natural increase of freight.

Apportionment of freightage.

(499) § 24. If freightage is apportioned by a bill of lading, or other contract made between a consignor and carrier, the carrier is entitled to payment according to the apportionment for so much as he delivers.

Acceptance of part of freight

(500) § 25. If a part of the freight is accepted by a consignee without a specific objection that the rest is not delivered, the freightage must be apportioned and paid as to that part, though not apportioned in the original contract.

According to distance

(501) § 26. If a consignee voluntarily receives freight at a place short of the one appointed for delivery, the carrier is entitled to a just proportion of the freightage, according to distance. If the carrier, being ready and willing, offers to complete the transit, he is entitled to the full freightage. If he does not thus offer completion, and the consignee receives the freight only from necessity, the carrier is not entitled to any freightage.

Extra carriage.

(502) § 27. If freight is carried further, or more expeditiously than was agreed upon by the parties, the carrier is not entitled to additional compensation, and cannot refuse to deliver it on the demand of the consignee, at the place and time of its arrival.

Lien for freightage

(503) § 28. A carrier has a lien for freightage, which is regulated by the chapter on liens.

Jettison and general average.

(504) § 29. A carrier by water may, when in case of extreme peril it is necessary for the safety of the ship or cargo, throw overboard, or otherwise sacrifice, any or all of the cargo or appurtenances of the ship Throwing property overboard for such purpose is called jettison, and the loss incurred thereby is called a general average loss.

Jettison begins with what

(505) § 30. A jettison must begin with the most bulky and least valuable articles, so far as possible.

Master of ship can order jettison.

(506) § 31. A jettison can be made only by authority of the master of a ship, except in case of his disability, or of an overruling necessity, when it may be made by any other person.

(507) § 32. The loss incurred by a jettison, when lawfully made, must be borne in due proportion by all that part of the ship, appurtenances, freightage, and cargo, for the benefit of which the sacrifice was made, as well as by the owner of the thing sacrificed. Loss proportioned.

(508) § 33. The proportions in which a general average loss is to be borne must be ascertained by an adjustment in which the owner of each separate interest is to be charged with such proportion of the value of the thing lost as the value of his part of the property affected bears to the value of the whole. But an adjustment made at the end of the voyage, if valid there, is valid everywhere. Ratio of adjustment

(509) § 34. In estimating values for the purpose of a general average the ship and oppurtenances must be valued as at the end of the voyage, the freightage at one-half the amount due on delivery, and the cargo as at the time and place of its discharge; adding, in each case, the amount made good by contribution. Values determined, how.

(510) § 35. The owner of things stowed on deck, in case of their jettison, is entitled to the benefit of a general average contribution only in case it is usual to stow such things on deck upon such a voyage. Deck Stowage.

(511) § 36. The rules herein stated concerning jettison are equally applicable to every other voluntary sacrifice of property on a ship, or expense necessarily incurred for the preservation of the ship and cargo from extraordinary perils. Rules applicable to any sacrifice of property.

(514) § 1. Every one who offers to the public to carry persons, property or messages, is a common carrier of whatever he thus offers to carry.

Must accept all freight

(515) § 2. A common carrier must, if able to do so, accept and carry whatever is offered to him, at a reasonable time and place, of a kind that he undertakes or is accustomed to carry.

Preference given to government of United States and the Territory.

(516) § 3. A common carrier must always give a preference in time, and may give a preference in price, to the United States and to this Territory.

Must start, where and when

(517) § 4. A common carrier must start at such time and place as he announces to the public, unless detained by accident or the elements, or in order to connect with carriers on other lines of travel.

Compensation

(518) § 5. A common carrier is entitled to a reasonable compensation and no more, which he may require to be paid in advance. If payment thereof is refused, he may refuse to carry.

Obligations, how limited

(519) § 6. The obligations of a common carrier cannot be limited by general notice on his part, but may be limited by special contract.

Void agreements

(520) § 7. A common carrier cannot be exonerated by any agreement made in anticipation thereof, from liability for the gross negligence, fraud or wilful wrong, of himself or his servants.

Construction of contract.

(521) § 8. A passenger, consignor or consignee, by accepting a ticket, bill of lading or written contract for carriage, with a knowledge of its terms, assents to the rate of hire, the time, place and manner of delivery therein stated. But his assent to any other modification of the carrier's rights or obligations contained in such instrument can only be manifested by his signature to the same.

Carrier of persons must carry luggage.

(522) § 9. A common carrier of persons, unless his vehicle is fitted for the reception of passengers exclusively, must receive and carry a reasonable amount of luggage for each passenger, without any charge except for an excess of weight over one hundred pounds to a passenger.

Luggage defined

(523) § 10. Luggage may consist of any articles intended for the use of a passenger while travelling, or for his personal equipment.

Liability for luggage

(524) § 11. The liability of a carrier, for luggage received by him with a passenger, is the same as that of a common carrier of property.

Carriage and delivery of luggage

(525) § 12. A common carrier must deliver every passenger's luggage, whether within the prescribed weight or not, immediately upon the arrival of the passenger at his destination; and, unless the vehicle be overcrowded or overloaded thereby, must carry it on the same vehicle by which he carries the passenger to whom it belongs; except that where luggage is transported by rail, it must be checked and carried in a regular baggage car; and whenever passengers neglect or refuse to have their luggage so checked and transported, it is carried at their risk.

Must provide vehicles.

(526) § 13. A common carrier of persons must provide a sufficient number of vehicles to accommodate all the passengers who can be reasonably expected to require carriage at any one time.

Seats for passengers.

(527) § 14. A common carrier of persons must provide every passenger with a seat. He must not overload his vehicle by receiving and carrying more passengers than its rated capacity allows.

Carrrier m a y make rules.

(528) § 15. A common carrier of persons may make rules for the conduct of his business, and may require passengers to conform to them, if they are lawful, public, uniform in their application, and reasonable.

Fare, when payable.

(529) § 16. A common carrier may demand the fare of passengers either at starting or at any subsequent time.

Ejection of passengers.

(530) § 17. A passenger who refuses to pay his fare, or to conform to any lawful regulation of the carrier, may be ejected from the vehicle by the carrier. But this must be done with as little violence as possible, and at any usual stopping place, or near some dwelling house. After having ejected a passenger, a carrier has no right to require the payment of any part of his fare.

Lien on luggage.

(531) § 18. A common carrier has a lien upon the luggage of a passenger for the payment of such fare as he is entitled to from him. This lien is regulated by the chapter on liens.

Liability of inland carrier.

(532) § 19. Unless the consignor accompanies the freight and retains exclusive control thereof, an inland common carrier of property is liable, from the time that he accepts until he relieves himself from liability pursuant to sections 3848 to 3851, for the loss or injury thereof from any cause whatever, except:

First. An inherent defect, vice or weakness, or a spontaneous action, of the property itself.

Second. The act of a public enemy of the United States, or of this Territory.

Third. The act of the law; or,

Fourth. Any irresistible superhuman cause.

[Sections 3848 to 3851—

SECTION 3848. A carrier of property must deliver it to the consignee, at the place to which it is addressed in the manner usual at that place.

SECTION 3849. If there is no usage to the contrary at the place of delivery, freight must be delivered as follows:

First. If carried upon a railway owned and managed by the carrier, it may be delivered at the station nearest the place to which it is addressed.

Second. If carried by sea from a foreign country, it may be delivered at the wharf where the ship moors, within a reasonable distance from the place of address; or if there is no wharf, on board a lighter alongside the ship; or,

Third. In other cases, it must be delivered to the consignee or his agent, personally, if either can, with reasonable diligence be found.

SEC. 3850. If, for any reason, a carrier does not deliver freight to the consignee or his agent, personally, he must give notice to the consignee of its arrival, and keep the same in safety, upon his responsibility as a warehouseman, until the consignee has had a reasonable time to remove it. If the place of residence or business of the consignee be unknown to the carrier, he may give the notice by letter dropped in the nearest post office.

SEC. 3851. If a consignee does not accept and remove freight within a reasonable time after the carrier has fulfilled his obligation to deliver, or duly offered to fulfill the same, the carrier may exonerate himself from further liability by placing the freight in a suitable warehouse, on storage, on account of the consignee, and giving notice thereof to him.—Dakota code.]

When not exempt

(533) § 20. A common carrier is liable, even in the cases excepted by the last section, if his ordinary negligence exposes the property to the cause of the loss.

Liability for delays.

(534) § 21. A common carrier is liable for delay only when it is caused by his want of ordinary care and diligence.

Marine carrier's liability.

(535) § 22. A marine carrier is liable in like manner as an inland carrier, except for loss or injury caused by the perils of the sea or fire. The liability of a common carrier by sea is further regulated by acts of congress.

Perils of the sea.

(536) § 23. Perils of the sea are from:

First. Storms and waves.

Second. Rocks, shoals and rapids.

Third. Other obstacles, though of human origin.

Fourth. Changes of climate.

Fifth. The confinement necessary at sea.

Sixth. Animals peculiar to the sea; and,

Seventh. All other dangers peculiar to the sea.

Valuables must be declared.

(537) § 24. A common carrier of gold, silver, platina, or precious stones, or of imitations thereof, in a manufactured or unmanufactured state, or time-pieces of any description, of negotiable paper or other valuable writings, of pictures, glass or china ware, is not liable for more than fifty dollars upon the loss or injury of any one package of such articles, unless he has notice, upon his receipt thereof, by mark upon the package or otherwise, of the nature of the freight.

Accepting freight beyond the usual route.

(538) § 25. If a common carrier accepts freight for a place beyond his usual route, he must, unless he stipulates otherwise, deliver it at the end of his route in that direction to some other competent carrier, carrying to the place of address, or connected with those who thus carry, and his liability ceases upon making such delivery.

Proof of loss of freight shipped beyond usual route

(539) § 26. If freight, addressed to a place beyond the usual route of the common carrier who first received it, is lost or injured, he must, within a reasonable time after demand, give satisfactory proof to the consignor that the loss or injury did not occur while it was in his charge, or he will be himself liable therefor.

Other services

(540) § 27. In respect to any service rendered by a common carrier about freight, other than its carriage and delivery, his rights and obligations are defined by the chapters on deposit and service.

Order telegraph messages must be transmitted.

(541) § 28. A carrier of messages by telegraph must, if it is practicable, transmit every such message immediately upon its receipt. But if this is not practicable, and several messages ac cumulate upon his hands, he must transmit them in the following order: Chap. 13.

First. Messages from public agents of the United States, or of this Territory, on public business.

Second. Messages intended in good faith for immediate publication in newspapers, and not for any secret use.

Third. Messages giving information relating to the sickness or death of any person.

Fourth. Other messages, in the order in which they were received.

Other than telegraph.

(542) § 29. A common carrier of messages, otherwise than by telegraph, must transmit messages in the order in which he receives them, except messages from agents of the United States or of this Territory, on public business, to which he must always give priority. But he may fix upon certain times for the simultaneous transmission of messages previously received.

Damages.

(543) § 30. Every person whose message is refused or postponed, contrary to the provisions of this chapter, is entitled to recover from the carrier his actual damages, and fifty dollars in addition thereto.

CHAPTER XIII.—CENSUS.

AN ACT providing for the taking of census.

[Took effect December 25, 1890.]

SECTION.
1. District judge to appoint three commissioners.
2. Claims must be presented under oath.

SECTION.
3. Commission to keep record.
4. Report of commission to district judge.
5. Compensation of commissioners.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

District judge to appoint three commissioners

(553) § 1. That the district judge of Logan county is hereby empowered to appoint three disinterested persons to act as a commission or referees to inquire into and pass upon all claims and demands of every character heretofore issued by the city governments mentioned in the caption of this act, for all purposes.

Claims must be presented under oath.

(554) § 2. That the owners and holders of any kind of scrip, warrants or other evidence of indebtedness heretofore issued by the city governments of Guthrie, East Guthrie, West Guthrie and Capitol Hill, shall present their claims to the commissioners or referees, to be appointed by the district judge, under oath, stating that the same is a bona fide claim, that they performed the labor or advanced the money or furnished the materials or purchased same for a valuable consideration, and that they believe the city, issuing the same did so for necessary expenses incurred in running the city government, and said master shall hear further evidence if he deem necessary before allowing the same.

Commission to keep record.

(555) § 3. The commission or referees shall keep a record of all claims filed with them for allowance and keep their office open during the hours of nine o'clock in the morning and four o'clock p. m , and shall be allowed sixty days to hear and determine all claims, or longer if the district judge so orders. Said commission or referees shall immediately after this appointment extend ten days notice in some newspaper published in the village of Guthrie, notifying all parties holding or owning any claims mentioned in this act to present the same to them for allowance; and all persons who fail to present their claims within thirty days from date of first publication mentioned in this section shall be forever precluded from so doing hereafter.

Report of commission to district judge.

(556) § 4. That after the commission or referees shall have passed upon and allowed any and all claims mentioned in this act, they shall make a report to the district court of same showing the names and amounts allowed by them, and also all claims and the names of persons and amounts disallowed by them, for approval or disapproval of the district judge. And all claims allowed and approved by the district judge shall be certified to the mayor and council of the village of Guthrie, who are hereby authorized and directed to issue warrants upon the village and payable by the villages to the holders and owners, payable in installments each of the amounts to be in one, two, three, four and five years to bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from the date of the allowance by the commission or referees, and said mayor and council of the village of Guthrie shall levy a tax upon the property of the residents of said village to pay the warrants herein referred to, levying same upon each subdivision heretofore constituting Guthrie, East Guthrie, West Guthrie and Capitol Hill according to the amount of indebtedness created by the city councils, the mayors and school boards, heretofore acting for and in behalf of the people resident of said cities. Each of said cities to be liable for and taxable under this act for the amount of indebtedness created by them.

Compensation of commissioners.

(557) § 5. That said commission or referee shall be allowed such compensation as the district judge may allow them for the services to be performed by them under this act, and the village of Guthrie shall pay the same to the said commission or referees upon the order of the district judge.

That this act take effect and be in force from and after its passage and approval.

AN ACT to provide for the ratification and confirmation and payment of indebtedness of the village of Kingfisher City (formerly Lisbon.)

[Took effect December 23, 1890]

PREAMBLE.

WHEREAS: The village of Kingfisher City (formerly Lisbon) through its proper officers duly elected by the inhabitants thereof, under the provisional city government between the dates of April the twenty-second, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, and the second day of July, one thousand eight hundred and ninety, the latter date being the date of the incorporation of the said village of Kingfisher City (formerly Lisbon) under the laws governing Oklahoma Territory, for the organization of villages and cities under the Nebraska laws, in the exercise of its provisional authority for and on behalf of, and for the benefit of the inhabitants thereof, did create and assume certain obligations of which there remains unpaid the sum of about three thousand and seventy-four ($3,074.00) dollars, and at the same time made provisions for the payment of the obligation by taxation upon lots, and so forth, but owing to the failure of a portion of the property and persons to pay their respective shares of the assessments, the above amount remains unpaid as herein mentioned, and whereas it is necessary to the proper adjustment and payment of this indebtedness created and incurred by the provisional city government of the village of Kingfisher City (formerly Lisbon) for the benefit of the inhabitants thereof, and the collection of certain assessments and taxes made against and levied upon the occupants and property of the inhabitants of said village of Kingfisher City (formerly Lisbon) while under the said provisional government that additional legislation be had. Therefore;

Chap. 14.

Indebtedne s s audited.

(558) § 1. Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma, the duly appointed, qualified and acting chairman and board of trustees of the village of Kingfisher City, or a legal quorum thereof, are hereby empowered and authorized as soon as practicable to audit all of the outstanding indebtedness created by the said provisional government, and when they deem it just therein to issue in lieu of the scrip, warrants or other evidence of its indebtedness given by said provisional government, the warrants of the village of Kingfisher City under the requirements and restrictions of the law now regulating the action of the trustees of villages.

Realty tax legalized

(559) § 2. The ordinance passed and approved by said provisional government "providing for the levy and collection of a tax of one half of one per cent on the real estate of Lisbon, Indian Territory, for the present year ending December 31, 1889," and the levy made and approved January 6th, 1890, are hereby directed to be legal and to be in full force and effect, and the unpaid assessments made under said ordinance are hereby made and declared to be a lien upon the property on which the same was levied, and will be collected in the manner that unpaid city taxes are collected.

Occupation tax legalized.

(560) § 3. That ordinance "providing for the levying and collecting of an occupation tax on trade and business in the city of Lisbon, Oklahoma Territory," passed and approved by said provisional government, August the ninth, one thousand eight hundred and eighty nine, is hereby declared legal and to be in full force and effect, and any unpaid part of said license tax is hereby declared to be and is made a lien against any real property owned by any person, persons or firms who have failed to pay said tax, and will be collected in the same manner as unpaid city taxes are collected. Said village of Kingfisher City is located and situated on the south half of section fifteen, township sixteen, north of range seven, west of the Indian Meridian.

This act shall be in force and effect from and after its passage and approval.

AN ACT amendatory to an act entitled "An Act to provide for the ratification, confirmation and payment of the indebtedness of the village of Kingfisher City and to restrict the amount that can be so paid. Chap. 15.

[Took effect December 25, 1890]

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma.

(561) § 4. It shall be unlawful for the village of Kingfisher City to assume or pay any of the indebtedness of the provisional government of Kingfisher City (formerly Lisbon) in excess of the amount of three thousand and seventy-four dollars, or so much thereof as shall be found to have been contracted for in good faith by said provisional government, and for the benefit of the inhabitants of the land now embraced in the village of Kingfisher City, with interest thereon at the rate of seven per cent per annum from the date said indebtedness was allowed by the said provisional government. Limitation of payment.

(562) § 5. It shall be the duty of the village trustees of the said village of Kingfisher City, before they shall assume or pay any of such indebtedness, to examine the accounts of the provisional government upon which said claims were allowed. Accounts examined.

This act shall be in force and effect from and after the final adjournment of the present session of the Legislative Assembly.

In all cases, it shall require a majority of the councilmen elected to constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner, and under such penalties, as the council may, by ordinance, have previously prescribed.

General powers of mayor and council

(586) § 2. The mayor and council shall have the care, management and control of the city and its finances, and shall have power to enact, ordain, alter, modify or repeal any and all ordinances, not repugnant to the laws of the United States and the Organic Act and laws of this Territory, as they shall deem expedient, and for the good government of the city, the preservation of the peace and good order, the suppression of vice and immorality, and the benefit of trade and commerce, and the health or the inhabitants thereof, and such ordinances, rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry such power into effect. They shall divide the city into not less than four wards, and establish the boundaries thereof. The council shall have no power to allow or pay any debt or obligation of any character arising from any act done, or thing bought by any provisional government, formerly existing, where the cities now are, nor of any debt, to any person made therewith under any guise whatsoever, unless authorized so to do by a majority of the legal voters of such city.

Specific and additional powers of cities in their corporate capacities.

(587) § 3. The cities coming under the provisions of this act, in their corporate capacities, are authorized and empowered to enact ordinances for the following purposes, in addition to the other powers granted by law:

First. To levy and collect taxes for general revenue purposes, not to exceed five mills on the dollar, in any one year, on all the real, mixed and personal property within the limits of said cities, taxable according to law, the valuation of such property to be taken from the assessment rolls in the county clerk's office.

Second. To open, straighten and improve streets, avenues and alleys, make sidewalks and build bridges, culverts and sewers within the city; and for the purpose of paying for the same, shall have power to make assessments in the following manner, to-wit:

First. For opening, widening and bringing to grade all streets, avenues and alleys, and for building bridges, culverts and sewers, and for foot-walks across streets, avenues and alleys, the assessment shall be made on all the taxable property within the limits of the city, not exceeding five mills on the dollar for these purposes in any one year.

Second. For making and repairing sidewalks, the assessment shall be made on all lots and pieces of ground abutting on the improvement, according to the front foot thereof.

Third. For paving, macadamizing, curbing and guttering all streets, avenues and alleys, and for doing all excavating and grading necessary for the same, after said streets, avenues and alleys have first been brought to grade, as provided in the first subdivision of this section, relating to the opening, widening and bringing to grade all streets, avenues and alleys and for all improvements of the squares and areas formed by the crossing of the streets. The assessment shall be made for each block separately, on all lots and pieces of ground to the center of the block, on either side of such street or avenue, the distance improved, or to be improved, or on the lots or pieces of ground abutting on such alley, according to the assessed value of the lots or pieces of ground, without regard to the buildings or improvements thereon; which value, shall be ascertained by three disinterested appraisers, appointed by the mayor and council. It shall be the duty of the appraisers, within ten days after being notified of their appointment, to proceed to appraise such lots and pieces of ground as may be designated by the council, after having taken and subscribed an oath to make a true and impartial appraisement, which appraisement shall be returned to the city council, at its first meeting, after the same shall have been completed. When said appraisement is returned, the mayor and council shall appoint a time for holding a special session, on some day to be fixed by them, to hear any complaint that may be made, as to the valuation of any lot or piece of ground appraised, as aforesaid, a notice of which special session shall be given by the mayor in the official paper of the city, and said mayor and council, at said special session, may alter the valuation of any lot or piece of ground, if in their opinion the same has been appraised too high or too low.

(588) § 4. In addition to the powers of cities, coming under the provisions of this act, in their corporate capacities, mentioned in section thirty-one of this act, they are authorized and empowered to enact ordinances for the purpose of planting, maintaining and protecting shade trees, in the streets and avenues, in addition to the other powers granted by law, whenever the same is petitioned for in the manner provided for in this act, for petitioning for sidewalks, and for the purpose of paying for the same, shall have power to make assessments and collect the tax in the same manner as is provided by this act, for assessing and collecting taxes for sidewalks.

Shade trees.

Chap. 15.

Special assessments, how levied and collected.

(589) § 5. The assessment made, pursuant to the third clause, of the second sub-division, of the second preceding section, shall be known as "special assessments for improvements," and except as hereinafter provided, shall be levied and collected as one tax, in addition to the taxes for general revenue purposes, and shall be certified by the city clerk, to the county clerk, to be placed on the tax roll for collection, subject to the same penalties, and collected in like manner as taxes under existing laws.

Assessments, how made when property is not platted

(590) § 6. Where any improvement, specified in the second and third clauses of the second sub-division, of section thirty-one of this act shall be made, and the piece or pieces of land abutting on such improvement shall not be divided into lots or blocks, the assessments therein provided for, shall be made on the piece or pieces of ground adjoining such improvement, or through which the same may be located, to the distance of three hundred feet from the street, avenue or alley, upon which such improvements are made, extending along the street, avenue or alley, the distance improved or to be improved, as provided in said section.

Cities may borrow money and issue bonds restrictions.

(591) § 7. The council may provide for making any and all improvements of a general nature in the city, and for the purpose of paying for the same, may from time to time, borrow money and issue bonds therefor, and street bonds to contractors and others, performing work, or furnishing materials; but no such money shall be borrowed; or bonds issued, (except street bonds to an amount not exceeding the taxes authorized by law to be levied for the year in which the same are issued and applicable to that purpose), until the city council shall be instructed so to do, by a majority of the votes cast by the tax payers of such city, as shown by the last tax roll, at an election held in such city for that purpose. Bonds issued under this section, except street bonds, shall be payable in not less than ten years, nor more than twenty years, from the date of their issue, with interest thereon, at a rate not exceeding seven per cent per annum with interest coupons attached, payable annually, or semi-annually Street bonds shall be payable in not more than one year from the time of their issue, and bear interest, not exceeding seven per cent per annum The council shall levy taxes on all taxable property within the city, in addition to other taxes, to pay said bonds at their maturity, and their interest coupons as they respectively become due, which taxes shall be paid in cash only: Provided, When any of said bonds are issued, for the purpose of paying for improvements, chargeable to any particular or local property, the taxes to pay the same shall be levied only on such property.

City indebtedness, how funded

(592) 8. The council may appropriate money, and provide for the payment of the debts, and expenses, of the city, and when authorized by a majority vote of the taxpayers of said city, may provide for issuing bonds for the purpose of funding any and all indebtedness, now existing, or hereafter created: Provided, That said bonds shall be payable in not less than ten years, nor more than twenty years from the date of their issue, and that said bonds shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding ten per cent per annum, with interest coupons attached, payable annually or semi-annually: And provided further, That said bonds shall not be issued or appropriated for the purpose of funding said indebtedness of the city, unless for every dollar of the outstanding scrip, orders, bonds, coupons, judgments or other evidences of indebtedness, the city shall issue in exchange therefor, such bonds, at dollar for dollar. The council shall levy taxes on all the property in the city, in addition to other taxes for the payment of said coupons, as they become due, and the taxes, levied to pay the same, shall be payable only in cash.

May create sinking fund

(593) § 9. The city council is hereby required to make provision from time to time, for a sinking fund to redeem, at maturity, the bonded indebtedness of the city, and the taxes levied for said sinking fund, shall be payable only in cash.

Tax to pay interest on bonds, payable only in cash

(594) § 10. The city council is authorized, and required, to levy annually, taxes on all taxable property within the city, in addition to other taxes, and in sufficient amount for the purpose of paying the interest and coupons, as they become due, on all bonds of the city, now issued, or hereafter to be issued by the city, which taxes shall be payable only in cash.

Total tax not to exceed four per cent.

(595) § 11. At no time shall the levy of all city taxes, of the current year for general purposes, exclusive of school taxes, exceed four per cent of the taxable property of the city, as shown by the assessment book of the preceding year.

Bonded indebtedness not to exceed twenty per cent of assessed value of property.

(596) § 12. At no time shall all the bonded indebtedness of any city of the second [first] class, exceed twenty per cent of the assessed value of all the taxable property within said city, as shown by the assessment books of the year previous to the one on which the last issue of bonds was made.

Re-levy and re-assess

(597) § 13. In case the corporate authorities of any city, have attempted to levy any taxes, or assessment for improvements, or for the payment of any bonds, or other evidence of debt, which taxes, assessments or bonds are, or may have been informal, illegal or void, for the want of sufficient authority or other cause, the council of such city, at the time fixed for levying general taxes, shall re-levy and re-assess any such assessment or taxes in the manner provided in this act.

Money must be appropriated by ordinance.

(598) § 14. The mayor and council shall have no power to appropriate or issue any scrip, or draw any order on the treasurer, for any money, unless the same has been appropriated by ordinance, or ordered in pursuance of some object provided for by law: Provided, That no ordinance providing for the borrowing of moneys, levying taxes, or appropriating money, shall be of any validity unless a majority of all the councilmen elected, shall vote for such ordinance, and such vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and the same shall be entered upon the record of proceedings of the council.

Chap. 15.

Taxes, how collected.

(599) § 15. All taxes and assessments, shall be certified to the county clerk of the proper county, to be placed on the tax roll for collection, subject to the same penalties, and collected in like manner as other taxes are by law collected.

County treasurer to pay funds to city treasurer.

(600) § 16. The county treasurer shall, on January 15, May 15, July 15, and November 15 of each year (or oftener if required by the city council) pay over to the city treasurer, all moneys and evidences of indebtedness collected for, and payable to any city of the second [first] class, and make a full itemized statement thereof, to the mayor and council, and the county treasurer shall take duplicate receipts, from the city treasurer, for the same, and file one of said receipts with the city clerk. The clerk shall enter in a book kept for that purpose, and under the proper head, all amounts so receipted for; said books and vouchers to be for reference in the settlements with the treasurers.

Financial statement to be published

(601) § 17. The conncil shall, hereafter, cause to be published quarterly, between the fifteenth and twentieth days of March, June, September and December, in each year, a full and detailed statement of the receipts, expenditures and indebtedness of the city, for the quarter ending on the fifteenth of said months, respectively. All publications mentioned in this section shall be made in a newspaper in said city.

Poll tax.

(602) § 18. The city council shall have power to impose by ordinance a poll tax, not exceeding one dollar on all able bodied males between the ages or twenty-one and fifty years; when such tax is authorized, the city clerk shall make and certify a list of those liable to pay the same, and deliver such list to the county clerk to be placed on the tax roll.

(620) § 36. The council shall have power to regulate levees, depots, depot grounds, and places of storing freight and goods and provide for the passage of railways through the streets, and public grounds of the city, also, to regulate the crossings of railway tracts, and to provide precautions and prescribe rules regulating the same, and to regulate the running of railway engines, cars and trucks within the limits of said city, and to prescribe rules relating thereto, and to govern the speed thereof, and to make any other and further provisions, rules and restrictions to prevent accidents at crossings and on the tracks of railways and to prevent fires from engines.

Private property taken for public use

(621) § 37. Private property may be taken for public use, or for the purpose of giving the right of way, or other privilege, to any railway company, or for the purpose of establishing market houses, or market places, or for any other necessary purpose; but in every case the city shall make the person or persons whose property shall be taken, or injured thereby, adequate compensation therefor, to be determined by the assessment of five disinterested house holders of the city, who shall be selected and compensated as may be prescribed by ordinance, and who shall, in the discharge of their duties, act under oath, faithfully and impartially, to make the assessment to them submitted; and in determining the same, said house holders shall consider the benefit resulting to, as well as the damages sustained by, the owner of the property so taken, except in condemnation of rights of way for private corporations. Appeals may be taken to the district court from the decision of such house holders in the same manner and within the same time as from judgments of a justice of the peace.

Library

(622) § 38. The council may establish and maintain public libraries and reading rooms at the expense of the city.

Council s ordinance power.

(623) § 39. For any purpose, or purposes, mentioned in the preceding sections, the council shall have power to enact and make all necessary ordinances, rules and regulations, and they shall, also, have power to enact and make all such ordinances, by-laws, rules and regulations, not inconsistent with the laws of the Territory, as may be expedient for maintaining the peace, good government, and welfare of the city, and its trade and commerce; and all ordinances may be enforced by prescribing and inflicting, upon inhabitants or other persons violating the same such fine, not exceeding one hundred dollars, or such imprisonment not exceeding three months, or both such fine and imprisonment, as may be just, for any offense, recoverable with costs of suit, together with judgment of imprisonment, until the fine and costs be paid or satisfied; and any person, committed for the non-payment of fine and costs, or either, while in custody, may be compelled to work on the streets, alleys, avenues, areas and public grounds of the city, under the direction of the street commissioner or other proper officer, and at such rate per day, as the council may by ordinance prescribe, until such fine and costs are satisfied.

(624) § 40. Before the city council shall make any contract for building bridges or sidewalks, or for any work on streets, or for any other work or improvement, an estimate of the cost thereof shall be made by the city engineer, and submitted to the council, and no contract shall be entered into, for any work or improvement, for a price exceeding such estimate.

Engineer's estimate

(625) § 41. All claims against the city must be presented in writing, with a full account of the items, and verified by the oath of the claimant, or his agent, that the same is correct, reasonable and just, and no claim or demand shall be audited or allowed, unless presented and verified, as provided for in this section: Provided, No costs shall be recovered against such city, in any action brought against it, for any unliquidated claim, which has not been presented to the city council to be audited, nor upon claims allowed in part unless the recovery shall be for a greater sum than the amount allowed with the interest due: And provided, further, That no action shall be maintained against such city, in exercising or failure to exercise, any corporate power or authority in any case where such action would not lie against a private individual under like circumstances.

Claims against city, how presented, when allowed.

(626) § 42. The council shall elect one of its own body, who shall be styled the "President of the Council," and who shall preside at all meetings of the council in the absence of the mayor; and in the absence of the president shall elect one of its own body to occupy the place temporarily, and who shall be styled acting president of the council; and the president, and acting president, when occupying the place of the mayor, shall have the same privileges as other members of the council, and all acts of the president or acting president, while so acting, shall be as binding upon the council and upon the city as if done by the mayor.

President of the council.

(627) § 43. The mayor and council of any city of the first class may purchase, hold and pay for, in the manner hereinbefore mentioned, lands not exceeding eighty acres in one body, outside the limits of such city, for the purpose of the burial of the dead. The council shall provide for the survey, platting, grading, fencing, ornamenting and improving all the burial and cemetery grounds and the avenues leading thereto, owned by such city, and may construct walks and rear and protect ornamental trees therein, and provide for the paying the expenses thereof.

Cemetery.

(628) § 44. Cemetery lots, owned by such city, shall be conveyed by certificates, signed by the mayor, and countersigned by the clerk under the seal of the city, specifying that the purchaser, to whom the same is issued, is the owner of the lot or lots described therein by number, as laid down on such map or plat, for the purpose of interment, and such certificates shall vest in the purchaser, his or her heirs and assigns, a right, in fee simple, to such lot for the sole purpose of interment under the regulations of the city council, and such certificate shall be entitled to be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the proper county without further acknowledgment; and such description of lots shall be deemed and recognized as sufficient description thereof. The council may limit the number of lots which shall be owned by the same person, at the same time; may prescribe rules for enclosing, adorning, and erecting monuments and tombstones on cemetery lots, and may prohibit any division of the use of said lots and any improper adornment thereof; but no religious test shall be made as to the ownership of the lots, the burial therein, for the ornamentation of graves, or of such lots.

Government of cemetery

(629) § 45. The council may pass rules and ordinances, imposing penalties and fines, not exceeding one hundred dollars, regulating, protecting and governing the cemetery, the owners of lots therein, visitors thereof, and punishing trespassers therein; and the officers of such city shall have as full jurisdiction and power in the enforcing of such rules and ordinances, as though they related to the city itself.

Unauthoriz e d claims against city allowed.

(630) § 46. The members of any city council, who shall vote to appropriate money, or to allow any bill or claims, not authorized by law shall be personally liable to said city for the amount of such money appropriated, or bills or claims allowed, with costs of suit, in an action before any court, having competent jurisdiction.

Street paving, notice, contract, tax, sidewalks

(631) § 47. When the city council shall deem it necessary to pave, macadamize, curb, gutter, or otherwise improve any street, avenue, alley or lane, or any part thereof, within the limits of the city for which a special tax is to be levied, as herein provided, such council shall, by resolution, declare such work or improvement necessary to be done, and such resolution shall be published for four consecutive weeks, in the official newspaper of the city; and if a majority of the resident owners of the property, liable to taxation therefor, shall not, within twenty days thereafter, file with the clerk of said city, their protest against such improvements, then such council shall have power to cause such improvements to be made, and to contract therefor, and to levy the taxes as herein provided. No such notice shall be required for the making of any sidewalk, but the council may, upon the petition of ten or more citizens, order any sidewalks constructed, as provided in this act, if by them deemed necessary. No formality whatever shall be required to authorize the repairing of sidewalks and making assessments therefor, but the street commissioner or the committee on improvements, may after first giving the five days notice to each occupying owner, or tenant, of the necessity therefor, and without such notice, if the lot or piece of ground be unoccupied, and make repairs at any time, keeping an account of the cost thereof, and reporting the same to the city council for assessment; and each lot or piece of ground, abutting on such sidewalk, shall be liable for the costs of repairs made along, or in front of such lot or piece of ground as reported to the city council, together with a penalty of twenty-five per centum on the amount thereof.

Police judge's jurisdiction.

(632) § 1. The police judge shall be ex officio a conservator of the peace, and shall have exclusive original jurisdiction, to hear and determine all offenses against the ordinances of the city; he shall keep a docket, in which he shall enter every cause commenced before him, as police judge. The police judge shall be ex officio a justice of the peace within the city. If the police judge be absent, sick or disqualified from acting, a justice of the peace of said city shall act as police judge, until such absence or objection shall cease.

Vacancy.

(633) § 2. In case of a vacancy in the office of police judge, by removal or otherwise, he council shall appoint a justice of the peace, or some suitable and proper person, to fill said vacancy, and the person so appointed shall hold his office for the unexpired term.

Office, how provided, when open.

(634) § 3. The council of each city of the first class, may provide at the expense of the city, a suitable room or office for the police judge, and he shall hold his court in such room, and his court shall be open every day except Sundays.

Prosecution for violating ordinance.

(635) § 4. All prosecutions for violating any city ordinance shall be entitled, "The city of.....against....," (naming the city and the person or persons charged), and the police judge shall state in his docket the name of the complainant, the nature or character of the offense, the date of the trial, the names of all witnesses sworn and examined, the finding of the court, and judgment or fine and costs, the date of payment, the date of issuing commitment, if any, and every other fact necessary to show the full proceedings in such case; the complaint, when made by the marshal, assistant marshal or regular policeman against any person arrested without process and in custody, need not be in writing; but when the accused is not in custody, the complaint shall be in writing and sworn to before a warrant be issued for his arrest. In no case shall a judgment of conviction be rendered, except upon sufficient legal testimony given on a public trial, or upon a plea of guilty made in open court.

Police docket.

(636) § 5. The city council shall furnish the police judge with a suitable docket, and he shall deliver said docket and all books and papers pertaining to his office of police judge to his successor in office.

Warrants, service of, fees; special deputy.

(637) § 6. All warrants issued by the police judge shall be directed to the city marshal, and such warrants may be executed by the marshal, assistant marshal, the sheriff of the county, or any constable of the city. The sheriff or constable making such service shall be entitled to receive therefor, such fees as are allowed them by law for similar services, to be taxed as costs. In case of the absence of the officer from the court, the police judge shall deputize some proper person to execute any process issued by him.

Speedy trial, recognizance; when committed

(638) § 7. When any person shall be arrested and brought before the police judge, it shall be his duty to hear and determine the complaint alleged against the defendant forthwith, unless for good cause the trial be posponed to a time certain; in which case he shall require the defendant to enter into a recognizance with sufficient surety, conditioned that he will appear before the said judge, at the time and place appointed, then and there to answer the complaint alleged against him, and if he fail or refuse to enter into such recognizance, the defendant shall be committed to prison and held to answer said complaint as aforesaid.

Recognizance forfeited

(639) § 8. In case of the breach of any recognizance entered into, as aforesaid, the same shall be deemed and declared forfeited, and the mayor shall cause the same to be prosecuted against the principal and surety, or the surety alone. Such action shall be in the name of the city as plaintiff, and may be prosecuted in the district court on the transcript of the proceedings before the police judge, and a copy of such recognizance certified by the police judge, and all moneys recovered in such action shall be paid over to the city treasurer, to the credit of the general revenue fund of the city.

Cases transferred from police judge to justice

(640) § 9. If in the progress of any trial before the police judge it shall appear that the accused ought to be upon his trial for an offense against the criminal laws of the Territory, and not cognizable before the said police judge, he shall immediately stop all further proceedings before him as such judge, and thereupon he shall cause complaint to be made before him as a justice of the peace, and shall proceed as in other cases cognizable before the justices of the peace.

Witnesses, how summoned, fees

(641) § 10. It shall be the duty of the said judge to summon all persons whose testimony may be deemed essential as witnesses at the trial, and to enforce their attendance by attachment, if necessary; each witness shall receive the sum of fifty cents for each day's attendance, to be taxed as other costs in the case.

Continuance, witnesses notified

(642) § 11. When a trial shall be continued by the police judge it shall not be necessary to summon any witnesses who may be present at the continuance, but the judge shall verbally notify such witnesses as either party may require to attend before him to testify in the cause, on the day set for trial, which verbal notice shall be as valid as a summons.

Judgment, what to contain

(643) § 12. If the defendant plead or be found guilty, the police judge shall declare and assess the punishment prescribed by ordinance, and render judgment accordingly, and for cost of suit, and that the defendant stand committed until the judgment is complied with.

Defendant, how discharged from commitment

(644) § 13. Any defendant committed under the provisions of this act, may be discharged on payment of fine and costs, or on perfecting an appeal as hereinafter provided

Appeal from police court.

(645) § 14. In all cases before the police judge arising under the ordinances of the city, an appeal may be taken by the defendant to the district court, but no such appeal shall be allowed unless the defendant, within ten days, shall enter into a recognizance with good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the police judge, conditioned for the personal appearance of the appellant before the district court of the county on the first day of the next term thereof.

Malicious prosecutor to pay costs.

(646) § 15. If upon the trial before the police judge, or the district court, it appear to the satisfaction of the court, that the prosecution was commenced without probable cause, and from malicious motives, the court shall state the name of the prosecutor or complainant in the finding, and shall impose the costs of prosecution upon him; and judgment shall be rendered against such prosecutor, or complainant, that he pay such costs and stand committed until the same are paid.

Oaths administered; contempt punished.

(647) § 16. The police judge shall have power to administer the oaths, and enforce due obedience to all orders, rules and judgments made by him, and may fine or imprison for contempt offered to such judge, while holding his court, or to process issued by him in the same manner and the same extent, as the district court.

Monthly report, where filed etc

(648) § 17. The police judge shall, within the first three days of each month make out a list of all the cases heard or tried before him as police judge during the preceding month, giving in each case the name of the defendent, the fine imposed, if any, the amount of costs (showing the amount taxed in favor of each officer) the names of the defendants committed, the causes appealed to the district court, and the amount collected by him as fine and costs separately. Such judge shall verify such list and statement by affidavit, and file the same forthwith, with the city clerk, who shall lay the same before the city council at their first session thereafter; and the police judge shall within the three days aforesaid, pay to the city treasurer, the full amount of all fines collected by him for violation of city ordinances during the preceding month, less only the amount of cost legally taxed for himself and the marshal, or other officers serving process, in cases where the defendant on hearing or trial was found not guilty and discharged. He shall take from the city treasurer duplicate receipts for the amount of fines so paid one of which he shall file with the city clerk. If the police judge shall thereafter collect any cost so retained, he shall state such fact and the amount thereof in his next monthly report and pay the same to the city treasurer taking and filing receipts therefor, as aforesaid.

Marshal as chief of police.

(649) § 18. The marshal shall be chief of police, and shall at all times have power to make, or order an arrest, with proper process, for any offense against the laws of the Territory, or of the city, and bring the offender for trial before the proper officer of the city, and to arrest without process, in all cases where any such offense shall be committed, or attempted to be committed in his presence.

Policemen's powers

(650) § 19. The policemen of the city shall have power to arrest all offenders against the laws of the Territory or of the city, by day or by night, in the same manner as the marshal, and keep them in the city prison or other place to prevent their escape until a trial can be had before the proper officer

Chap. 15.

Relations of mayor, marshal and police.

(651) § 20. The marshal, in the discharge of his duties, shall be subject to the orders of the mayor only. Policemen, in the discharge of their duties, shall be subject to the order of the mayor and marshal only. But any marshal, or assistant marshal or policeman may be removed by the mayor and council as provided in section eighteen, or in the following section.

Marshal or police removed.

(652) § 21. Upon complaint to the mayor, or president, or acting president of the council, that any marshal, assistant marshal or policeman has been intoxicated, or has been gambling, or has abused the power of his office, or been guilty of a brutal or indecent act, or taken or received any money, property or valuable things whatever, other than his legal salary, or fees, as a consideration for doing or omitting to do any particular act, or has refused to make an arrest in the proper case, or consented to, or connived at the escape of any person legally arrested, and in custody, the officer so receiving such complaint, shall lay the same before the council, at their first meeting thereafter. The council shall carefully and honestly inquire as to the truth of such complaint, and if they find the accused guilty, they shall forthwith by order to be entered on their journal, remove him from office; and he shall not be again appointed to such office unless two-thirds of the councilmen elect consent thereto.

(666) § 2. Such person shall cause an accurate census to be taken of the resident population of such territory as it may be on some day not more than thirty days previous to the time of presenting such application to the board of county commissioners as hereinafter provided; which census shall exhibit the name of every head of a family residing within such territory on such day, and the number of persons then belonging to every such family; and it shall be verified by the affidavit of the person taking the same.

Survey, map and census subject to examination.

(667) § 3. Such survey, map and census when completed and verified as aforesaid shall be left at some convenient place within said Territory for examintion by those having an interest in such application, for a period of not less than thirty days.

Petition for incorporation.

(668) § 4. Such application shall be by petition subscribed by the applicants, and also by not less than one-third of the whole number of qualified voters residing within such territory; and such petition shall set forth the boundaries thereof, the quantity of land embraced according to the survey, and the resident population therein contained according to said census taken; and the said petition shall have attached thereto or written thereupon affidavits verifying the facts alleged therein, and it shall be presented at the time indicated in the notice of such application or as soon thereafter as the board can receive and consider the same.

County commissioners to make order of incorporation

(669) § 5. The board of county commissioners in hearing such application shall first require proof either by affidavft or by oral examination of witnesses before them that the said survey, map and census were subject to examination in the manner and for the period required by section 669; and if said board be satisfied that the requirements of this act have been fully complied with they shall then make an order declaring that such territory shall with the assent of the qualified voters thereof as hereinafter provided be an incorporated town by the name specified in the application aforesaid, which name shall be different from that of every other town iu this Territory, and they shall also include in such order a notice for a meeting of the qualified voters resident in said proposed town, at a convenient place therein to be by them named, on some day within on month therefrom, to determine whether such territory shall be an incorporated town.

Notice of meeting to be given.

(670) § 6. The board shall cause ten days' notice of such meeting by publication in a newspaper if one be published in the county, and by posting up copies of said notice not less than ten in number at the most public places in said proposed incorporated town.

Opening of polls

(671) § 7. At the meeting of the qualified voters as herein provided polls shall be opened at nine o'clock in the forenoon of such day and shall be kept open until four o'clock in the afternoón, when they shall be closed.

Election of inspectors

(672) § 8. The voters at such meeting shall first proceed to the election of three inspectors who after being duly chosen and qualified, and one of their number elected clerk, shall without delay proclaim to the meeting that the poll is now open and that they are ready to receive the ballots of the voters.

Manner of voting.

(673) § 9. The qualified voters of said proposed incorporated town shall vote by ballot having thereon the words "for incorporation, yes;" or the words "for incorporation, no;" and if a majority of the ballots given at such meeting shall have thereon the word "no," the voters of such proposed town shall be deemed not to have assented to the incorporation thereof as a town, and no further proceedings shall be had in relation thereto; but if a majority of such ballots shall have thereon the word "yes," such territory shall from that time be deemed an incorporated town, to have continuance thereafter by the name and style specified in the order made by the board of county commissioners as hereinbefore provided; and the inspectors of such meeting shall make a statement showing the whole number of ballots given at such meeting—the number having the word "yes" thereon, and the number having the word "no" thereon—which statement shall be verified by the affidavit of such inspectors and shall be retnrned to such board of commissioners at their next session, who if satisfied of the legality of such election shall make an order declaring that said town has been incorporated by the name adopted, which order shall be conclusive of such incorporation in all suits by or against such corporation; and the existence of such corporation by the name and style aforesaid shall thereafter be judicially taken notice of in all courts and places in this territory without specially pleading or alleging the same.

Division of town into districts

(674) § 10. Such inspectors when they shall have returned the statement as aforesaid shall next proceed to divide said town into not less than three nor more than seven districts, having due regard to the equitable apportionment of the population among the same, and the convenience and contiguity of such district.

Notice of election

(675) § 11. They shall also give ten days' notice by publication in a newspaper if one be printed within such town, and by posting such notices in five public places therein, of an election to be held in such town for the purpose of electing officers thereof, naming the place therein and the day upon which the same shall be had, but such day named shall be within twenty days from the posting of such notices. Every subsequent notice of a corporation election shall be given in like manner by the clerk of said town.

Annual election, when held.

(676) § 12 An election for officers of said town after the first election shall be held annually on the first Monday of May of each year, and at every such election the preceding board of trustees or any of them shall act as the inspectors thereof.

How long polls shall remain open

(677) § 13. At all electious in said town the polls shall be open at nine o'clock in the forenoon and shall not be finally closed until four o'clock in the afternoon of said day.

Inspector to be judges of election

(678) § 14. Such inspectors shall preside at such first election and be the inspectors thereof, and in the receiving and canvassing of votes shall be governed by the laws then existing, so far as they are applicable, for the election of county officers.

What town officers to be elected

(679) § 15. There shall be elected at the first and at every subsequent election one trustee from each district in said town, and also a clerk, assessor, treasurer, marshal, and justice of the peace, who shall respectively hold their offices until the first Monday in May next following or until their successors are elected and qualified: Provided, however, That nothing herein contained shall prevent the respective offices of clerk, treasurer, assessor and marshal from being held by one and the same person.

Persons having highest number of votes to be elected, duty of inspectors.

(680) § 16. The persons having the higest number of votes for the office of trustee shall be declared elected as such trustees, and the persons who receive the highest number of votes respectively for clerk, marshal, assessor, treasurer, and justice of the peace, as designated by the ballot for such office, shall be declared so elected; and if two or more shall have an equal and highest number of votes, and there be no choice, the inspectors of such election shall forthwith determine by lot which shall be deemed elected; and it shall be the further duty of such inspectors to make a certified statement over their own signatures, of the persons elected to fill the several offices in said town, and file the same with the county clerk in the county thereof within ten days after the date of such election; and no act or ordinance of any board of trustees chosen at such election shall be valid until the provisions of this section are substantially complied with.

County clerk to make record of statement.

(681) § 17. It shall be the duty of the county clerk of the proper county to make a record of such certified statement, for which services there shall be paid the same fee as is allowed for similar services in other cases.

Vacancy in board of trustees, how filled.

(682) § 18. A vacancy occuring in the board of trustees or in any corporation office shall be filled by appointment at a special meeting of the trustees called for that purpose, but such appointment shall be made from the district if a trustee be appointed in which the vacancy has occurred, and shall in no case extend beyond the annual elections provided for in this act.

Oath of officers.

(683) § 19. The board of trustees chosen as aforesaid shall elect a president from their own body, and such president, trustees and all other officers elect shall within five days after such election take and subscribe before same person authorized to administer the same the usual oath or affirmation for the faithful performance of the duties of their respective offices.

Board of trustees a body corporate.

(684) § 20. The president and trustees of such town and their successors in office, shall constitute a body politic and corporate, by the name of the "town of .....," and shall be capable in law to prosecute and defend suits to which they are a party.

Notice of special meetings.

(685) § 21. Special meetings of the qualified voters may be called by the clerk by order of the trustees of said town, by giving ten days' notice thereof in a newspaper if any be printed in such town, otherwise by posting up such notices in five public places therein, and such notice shall state the object for which each meeting is called.

Powers of board of trustees

(686) § 22. The board of trustees shall have the following powers, viz.:

First. To have a common seal and alter he same.

Second. To purchase, hold or convey any estate real or personal for the use of the corporation, so far as such purchase may be necessary to carry out the objects contemplated by this act.

Third. To organize fire companies, hook and ladder companies, to regulate their government and the times and manner of their exercise; to provide all necessary apparatus for the extinguishment of fires; to make owners of buildings provide ladders and fire buckets, which are hereby declared to be appurtenances to the real estate and exempt from execution, seizure or sale; and if the owner shall refuse to procure suitable ladders or fire buckets after reasonable notice the trustees may procure and deliver the same to him; and in default of payment therefor may recover of said owner the value of said ladder or fire buckets, by suit before the justice of the peace of the town incorporated by the provisions of this act, and costs accrued thereby; to regulate the storage of gunpowder and other materials; to direct the construction of a place for the safe deposit of ashes; and may under any order by them, entered upon the proper book of the board, visit or appoint one or more fire wardens to visit and examine at all reasonable hours dwelling houses, lots, yards, inclosures and buildings of every description, discover if any of them are in a dangerous condition and provide proper remedies for such dangers; to regulate the manner of putting up stoves and stove pipes; to prevent out-fires and the use of fireworks and the discharge of firearms within the limit of said corporation or such parts thereof as they may think proper; to compel the inhabitants of such town to aid in the extinguishment of fire and prevent its communication to other buildings, under such penalties as are in this act provided; to construct and preserve reservoirs, wells, pumps, and other water works, and to regulate the use thereof, and generally to establish other measures of prudence, for the prevention or extinguishment of fires as they shall deem proper.

Fourth. To declare what shall constitute a nuisance and to prevent, abate and remove the same and take such other measures for the preservation of the public health as they shall deem necesssary.

Fifth. To restrain from running at large, cattle, swine or other animals.

Ninth. To lay out, open, grade and otherwise improve the streets, alleys, sewers, sidewalks and crossings, and to keep them in repair and to vacate the same.

Tenth. To appoint street commissioners and also fire wardens, not exceeding three.

Eleventh. To prohibit incumbrance of the sidewalks of said town, and riding or driving thereon except to cross the same.

Chap. 16.

Twelfth. To provide means for keeping and preserving the peace and quietness of such town.

Thirteenth. To insure the public property of such town.

Fourteenth. To purchase, lay out and regulate cemeteries.

Fifteenth. To plant trees upon public grounds and along the streets of such town, and provide for their culture and preservation, and to enclose any public square or other public ground within said corporation.

Sixteenth. To assess annual taxes not exceeding fifty cents on the one hundred dollars valuation on all property subject by law to taxation within the town and certify the same to the county commissioners to be by them levied and collected as other taxes.

Seventeenth. To levy and collect annually a tax of one dollar on each male dog and two dollars on each female dog owned and kept within such town, also to levy and collect one dollar poll tax on all male able-bodied residents of the town, over twenty-one and under fifty years of age.

Eighteenth. To make and establish such by-laws, ordinances and regulations not repugnant to the laws of this Territory as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this act, and to repeal, alter or amend the same as they shall seem to the board of trustees of such town to require; but every by-law, ordinance or regulation unless in case of emergency shall be published in a newspaper in such town if one be printed therein, or posted in five public places at least ten days before the same shall take effect.

Nineteenth. To enact fines, penalties and forfeitures for violations of this act or of any by-law or ordinance by them established, not exceeding ten dollars for any one offense, which may be recovered by action in the name of the corporation, but such board may remit the whole or any part of the fine, penalty or forfeiture: Provided, That the fine assessed for the violation of any ordinance requiring a license shall not be less than the amount required to be paid for such license although it may exceed the sum of ten dollars.

Twentieth. To authorize the construction and maintenance of street railways, water maines and water pipes and gas mains and gas pipes, electric light and telephone wires, along or through the streets and alleys within the corporate limits and to grant franchises and rights to persons, associations or corporations for such purposes, and to regulate the same, but no exclusive right shall be granted for any such purposes. The street may be granted on the same terms to all companies desiring to compete with each other in the business of furnishing gas, electricity, telephone accommodations, electric lights, water or street railway accommodations and all shall be subject to reasonable regulations by ordinance, which ordinance may be altered and changed at the pleasure of the council.

Twenty-first. When not otherwise directed by the Statutes of this Territory, the towns and villages within this Territory shall, by ordinance, grant or refuse permits to sell alcoholic, vinous or malt liquors within their corporate limits and shall have full power to make all regulations in regard thereto and shall have full power by ordinance to collect the licenses and to affix the amount and terms of paying the same and to provide for what purposes the money so collected shall be expended, and may apply it to the support of schools in the town or village and may provide the punishment for violation of their ordinances, and may inflict punishment therefor; and such regulations shall extend two miles from the outer corporate limits of the town or village.

Jurisdiction of trustees over public grounds.

(687) § 23. The trustees shall have jurisdiction over any commons or public grounds belonging to said town, and shall have power to regulate, with the consent of the majority of the owners thereof, the banks, shores and wharves of that portion of any navigable streams within the corporate limits, but no ferries heretofore or which may hereafter be established by law shall be prejudiced or in any manner affected by the provisions of this act.

Appropriation of moneys.

(688) § 24. All moneys however derived belonging to such corporation shall only be appropriated for such objects and defraying such expenses as accrue or necessarily arise in the exercise of powers granted by this act. No appropriation shall be made without an order to that effect entered upon a proper book to be kept for that purpose by such board.

Accounts must be audited.

(689) § 25. No account or claim against said town shall be audited or allowed by the board of trustees unless it be made out fully and itemized, and every such account audited shall be numbered from one upwards in the order they were presented and a memorandum of the same entered upon a book to be kept exclusively for that purpose.

Payment of accounts.

(690) § 26. No account or claim shall be paid unless audited and allowed by the board as aforesaid, and no moneys shall be drawn from the treasury except upon a warrant from the treasurer signed by the president of said town and attested by the clerk thereof.

Certain officers to give bonds.

(691) § 27. The clerk, assessor, treasurer, marshal and justice of the peace, shall within ten days after their election or appointment each and severally give bonds payable to the town of ....., with freehold sureties, to such an amount as the board of trustees shall direct; but the bonds of the treasurer and marshal shall respectively be for double the amount of the estimated tax duplicate for the current year.

Books, etc, to be delivered to successor.

(692) § 28. All books, vouchers, moneys or other property belonging to the corporation and in charge or possession of any officer of the same shall be delivered to his successor when qualified.

Board of trustees determine amount of tax

(693) § 29. The board of trustees shall before the third Tuesday in May of each year determine the amount of general tax for the current year.

Duties of assessor

(694) § 30. All property within such corporation liable to taxation shall be assessed as provided by law, and the assessor shall in addition to the returns to be made to the county clerk, make a return of his assessment roll embraced within the incorporated town, to the town board on or before the second Tuesday in April of each year.

Duty of trustees after correction of tax list.

(695) § 31. When the assessment roll shall have been corrected and completed the trustees shall levy a tax upon the taxable property of said town to such an amount as they may deem necessary, and shall set opposite the name of each person taxed a description and valuation of the property charged therewith and the amount of tax assessed against such person; and when such tax list shall have been made they shall cause a copy thereof with a warrant annexed to be delivered to the marshal of such town. The assessment roll and tax list shall be deposited with the county treasurer who is hereby charged with the safe custody of the same.

How taxes collected.

(696) § 32. The treasurer of such county shall collect the corporation taxes, upon such duplicate as other taxes are collected and pay the same over to the treasurer of such corporation. The county treasurer shall be allowed and paid by the corporation the same compensation as is paid by the county for like services.

Special taxes assessed to be a lien.

(697) § 33. All taxes assessed by the board of trustees of tows incorporated under the provisions of this act for the grading, paving or otherwise improving the streets of the town, or for building or repairing sidewalks of the town, shall be a lien on the lots or pieces of ground subject to the same from the time the amount thereof shall have been ascertained; and in case any error or irregularity should occur in levying or collecting any such tax proceedings may be taken anew so as to obviate any such error or irregularity.

When taxes due.

(698) § 34. Such special tax shall be due and may be collected as the improvements are completed in front or along or upon any block, lot or piece of ground, at the time the improvement is completed, as shall be provided in the ordinance providing for taxes. If such tax is not paid within thirty days after becoming due, there shall be added thereto the penalty of ten per cent and in addition thereto penalties provided for other delinquent taxes.

What costs may be included in special tax.

(699) § 35. The cost and expenses of grading, filling, paving, macadamizing, culverting, curbing and ditching or otherwise improving streets, sidewalks, alleys, avenues or lanes at their intersections, may be included in the special tax levied for the improvement of any street, sidewalk, alley, avenue or lane as may be deemed best by the board of trustees of such town.

Marshal's duty in relation to special taxes

(700) § 36. When the special tax is levied it shall be the duty of the marshal of such town to calculate the amount of tax on any block, lot or piece of ground, and file a statement thereof with the town clerk, who shall as soon as the tax is due on any block, lot or piece of ground issue a certificate describing it, its number and lot and block, and stating the amount of tax due thereon, and the name of the person entitled to the same, and the purpose for which said tax was levied; and such certificate so given shall be the tax warrant of the collector, and shall be by the clerk placed in the hands of the marshal, and he shall keep a record of all such warrants and enter on the margin of such records all amounts paid and by whom paid.

Duties of town treasurer.

(701) § 37. The treasurer of every incorporated town shall so keep his accounts as to show where and from what sources all moneys paid him have been derived, and to whom and when such moneys or any part thereof have been paid. The treasurer shall grant all licenses authorized by this act upon the presentation of the receipt of the marshal that the money therefor has been paid to said marshal. His books, accounts and vouchers shall at all times be subject to the examination of the board of trustees, and it is hereby made their duty to examine the same at a regular meeting of such board on some day between the first and last Mondays of April in each year, and have settlement with the said treasurer.

Board of trustees to publish receipts and expenditures.

(702) § 38. It shall be the duty of the board of trustees immediately after the annual settlement with the treasurer of said corporation to publish in a newspaper if one be printed therein, or if there be no newspaper then by posting in three or more public places, an exhibit of the receipts and expenditures specifying the sources of such receipts, what appropriations were made, for what objects, and the specific amount of each.

Duties of town clerk

(703) § 39. The clerk of such town shall have the custody of the records, books and papers of the board of trustees and shall attend all meetings and record the proceedings of said board, and shall perform all other duties appertaining to his office, as required of him by the by-laws.

Powers of marshal.

(704) § 40. The marshal of such town shall be a peace officer and shall possess the powers and be subject to the liabilities possessed and conferred by law upon sheriffs in executing the orders of the trustees or enforcing the by-laws and ordinances of said town.

Trustees to superintend grading, etc

(705) § 41. The board of trustees shall superintend the grading, paving and improving of streets and the building and repairing of sidewalks.

Fire wardens, duties of.

(706) § 42. The fire wardens shall attend all fires and give their personal superintendence to extinguish the same, and do all other acts required by the by-laws, and obey all orders given by the board of trustees in relation to the fire department. Trustees shall by virtue of their office be fire wardens.

Compensation of town officers.

(707) § 43. The trustees, clerk, assessor, treasurer, marshal and justice of the peace shall respectively receive for their services such compensation as the board of trustees in their by-laws may decide; and said board shall cause to be paid other officers of such town for their services a just and reasonable compensation.

Sidewalks, streets, etc, petition for building or repairing.

(708) § 44. Whenever two-thirds of the resident owners in number or in value of real estate bounding both sides of any street not less than one square, shall petition to have such street graded, paved or otherwise improved or the sidewalk thereof built or repaired, or when two-thirds of the owners of real estate in number or in value on one side of such street shall desire a sidewalk on that side, it shall be the duty of such board to levy and cause to be collected by tax upon the owners of real estate, lot or lots on such street or part of street such a sum of money as is necessary for the improvement of said street or sidewalk or the building of said sidewalk in front of each of the respective lots or at the side of any corner lot or lots or real estate: Provided, however, That no real estate, lot or lots shall be taxed as aforesaid for sidewalks built or improvements done at a greater distance from the front of said real estate, lot or lots than one-half the distance to the opposite side of said street.

No one exempt from highway tax

(709) § 45. Nothing contained in this act shall exempt the inhabitants of any town from the payment of highway taxes legally assessed, nor from the formation of one or more road districts irrespective of the corporate limits of such town.

Addition to corporation.

(710) § 46. When two-thirds of the owners of a tier of out-lots adjoining an incorporated town shall sign a petition asking that the corporate limits of said town be extended so as to include said out-lots, the board of trustees of said town shall cause said petition to be recorded and make an order that said tier of out-lots shall thereafter be included and constituted a part of said corporation, and the inhabitants residing thereon and owners thereof shall be subject to and entitled to all privileges of said corporation.

Annexing additional lots

(711) § 47. Whenever there shall be lots laid off and platted adjoining such town, and a record of the same is made in the register of deeds' office of the proper county, the trustees may by a resolution of their board extend the boundary of such town so as to include such lots; and the lots thus annexed shall thereafter form a part of such town and be within the jurisdiction thereof. The trustees shall immediately thereafter file a copy of such resolution, together with the plat and map of survey defining the boundaries of such addition, in the office of the register aforesaid.

Proceedings of trustees to annex additions.

(712) § 48. When any town shall desire to annex contiguous territory thereto not platted or laid [out] or recorded, the trustees shall present to the board of county commissioners a petition setting forth the reasons for such annexation, and shall accompany the same with a map or plat accurately describing by metes and bounds the territory proposed to be attached, which shall be verified by affidavit. Such trustees shall give thirty days notice by publication in a newspaper printed in such town, if any, otherwise in the county, or if none there, by posting up such notice in five or more public places within the corporation; a copy of such notice shall be served on the owner or owners of such territory if known and are residents of the county.

County board to order annexation

(713) § 49. The board of county commissioners upon the reception of such petition shall consider the same and shall have the testimony offered for or against such annexation, and if after inspection of the map and the testimony being heard such board is of the opinion that the prayer of such petition should be granted it shall cause an entry to be made on the order book specifying the territory annexed, with the boundaries thereof according to the survey, which entry or an attested copy thereof shall be conclusive evidence in all courts of such annexation: Provided, however, That no lands used for agricultural purposes shall be taken within the corporate limits and taxed to any greater rate than other adjoining lands without the c rporation.

Dissolution of corporation.

(714) § 50. When an application signed by one-third of the legal voters of any incorporated town shall be presented to the board of trustees in writing asking for a dissolution of the corporation, setting forth the reasons therefor, it shall be competent for said board if they deem the reasons good to call a meeting of the voters of said town by giving ten days' notice thereof as provided in this act, to determine whether such corporation shall be dissolved. The board of trustees shall preside at such meeting and a poll shall be opened as at any other corporation election, and the voters shall vote by ballot, "yes" or "no." If a majority of all the votes given shall have thereon the word "yes," and such votes shall have been given by two-fifths of all the legal voters in such town, a statement of the vote signed by the president and attested by the clerk shall be filed in the register of deeds' office of the county, and such town shall at the expiration of six months from the time of holding such meeting cease to be a corporation, and the property belonging to such corporation after the payment of its debts and liabilities shall be disposed of in such manner as a majority of the voters of such town at any special meeting thereof may direct.

Dissolution not to affect existing contracts.

(715) § 51. No such dissolution shall affect the rights of any person in any contract or agreement to which such corporation is a party.

Proof of compliance with law by town.

(716) § 52. Whenever any suit shall be instituted by an incorporated town it shall not be required to show its compliance with any of the provisions of this act as to its organization or publication of by-laws or ordinances unless the same is controverted by affidavit.

Debts heretofore contracted.

(717 § 53. No debt or liability due to or from any town incorporated under the laws of the State of Nebraska, extended over this Territory, shall be unpaid by reason of such town being brought within the provisions of this act, and becoming incorporated under it: Provided, however, No indebtedness or liability created by any provisional city or town government shall be recognized or paid, except as specially provided by law.

Town justice of the peace, jurisdiction of.

(718) § 54. Justices of the peace of any town heretofore or hereafter organized under the provisions of this chapter shall have exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine all offenses against the ordinances of such town, and concurrent jurisdiction with all other justices in all civil cases and in all criminal cases for offenses against the laws of the Territory, committed within the county where such town is situated; and whenever complaint shall be made to the justice of the peace of such town, upon oath or affirmation of any person competent to testify against the accused, that an offense had been committed of which such justice of the peace has jurisdiction, said justice of the peace shall forthwith issue a warrant for the arrest of the offender, which warrant shall be served by the marshal of the town, the sheriff or any constable of the county, or any person specially appointed by the justice for the purpose, and in all preliminary examinations before such justice he shall be governed by the code of criminal procedure, and in all trials before such justice for offenses against the Territory he shall be governed by the justices' code.

Duty of justice when defendant appears

(719) § 55. When any person shall be brought before such justice of the peace upon such warrant it shall be his duty to hear and determine the complaint alleged against the defendant.

Proceedings when trial is postponed.

(720) § 56. Upon good cause shown such justice of the peace may postpone the trial of the cause to a day certain, in which case he shall require the defendant to enter into bond with sufficient security conditioned that he will appear before such justice of the peace at the time and place appointed, and then and there to answer the complaint alleged against him.

Justice to summon witnesses, etc.

(721) § 57. It shall be the duty of such justice of the peace to summon all persons whose testimony may be deemed material as witnesses at the trial, and to enforce their attendance by attachment if necessary, and when a trial shall be continued by such justice of the peace he may verbally notify such witnesses as may be present at the continuance to attend before him to testify in the cause set for trial, and such verbal notice shall be as valid as a summons.

Trials, how governed

(722) § 58. All trials before such justice of the peace shall be governed by the criminal procedure applicable to justices' courts.

Justice to render judgment when defendant found guilty.

(723) § 59. In all trials for offenses under the ordinances of the town incorporated under and by the provisions of this act, if the defendant is found guilty such justice of the peace shall render judgment accordingly. It shall be part of the judgment that the defendant stand committed until the judgment be complied with, in no case to exceed one day for every seventy-five cents of the fine and costs assessed against said defendant.

Justice is peace officer; court open every day except Sunday

(724) § 60. Such justice of the peace shall be a conservator of the peace and his court shall be opened every day except Sunday to hear and determine any and all cases cognizable before him; and he shall have power to bring parties forthwith before him for trial; and no act shall be performed by him on Sunday except to receive complaints, issue process and take bail.

Appeals.

(725) § 61. In all cases before such justice of the peace an appeal may be taken by the defendant to the district court of the county in which such town is situated; but no appeal shall be allowed unless such defendant shall within ten days enter into recognizance with sufficient securities to be approved by such justice of the peace, conditioned for the payment of the fine and costs and costs of appeal, and that he will render himself in execution thereof if it should be determined against the appellant.

Punishment for violation of ordinances.

(726) § 62. Any person convicted before such justice of the peace of an offense under the ordinances of the town shall be punished by fine as may be regulated by ordinances.

Powers of justice; exceptions; jury.

(727) § 63. The justice of the peace of the town organized under the provisions of this act shall have power to enforce obedience to all orders, rules, judgments and decrees made by him; and he may fine or imprison for contempt offered to him while holding his court or to process issued or orders made by him, in the same manner and to the same extent as provided for courts of justice of the peace. On the trial of any case in said court it shall be the duty of such justice of the peace to sign any bill of exceptions rendered to the court during the progress of such trial provided the truth of the matter be fairly stated; and thereupon said exceptions shall be entered in the record of such trial and become a part thereof; and any final conviction, sentence or judgment of said court may be examined by the district court of the county in which such town is situated, on writ of error which may be allowed by the district court or the judge thereof for sufficient cause, and proceedings may be stayed as may be deemed reasonable, and the revising court shall in such proceedings take judicial notice of all the ordinances of such town. Cases before such justices of the peace, arising under town ordinances, shall be tried and determined by such justice of the peace without the intervention of a jury unless the defendant demand a trial by jury; and when a demand shall be so made the trial shall be by jury of twelve citizens of such town having the qualifications of jurors, who shall be summoned by the marshals of such towns upon a venire issued by such justice of the peace. The venire for a jury shall contain eighteen names, three of which shall be stricken off the list by the defendant and three by the marshal of such town; the remaining twelve names shall constitute a jury for the trial of a cause. If there is any challenge for cause such justice of the peace shall try the question in a summary manner, who may examine the challenged jurors under oath.

Fees of jurors.

(728) § 64. Such jurors shall be paid fifty cents for their services as jurors in each case.

Costs of jury taxed to defendant, when; proceedings; how governed.

(729) § 65. In case the defendant is found guilty the costs of the jury shall be taxed against him as a part of the costs of the case and the amount thereof shall be a part of the judgment.

(730) § 66. In all cases not herein specially provided for the process and proceedings of the court of such justice of the peace shall be governed by the laws regulating proceedings in justices' courts in criminal cases.

How ordinances may be proven.

(731) § 67. All ordinances of the town may be proven by the ordinance book of the town or the certificate of the clerk of the town under seal of the town; and when printed in a newspaper or published in a book or pamphlet form and purported to be published or printed by the authority of the town shall be read and received in all courts and places without further proof.

Vacation of Town and City Plats.

SECTION.
15. Town and city plats, how vacated.
16. Part of plat vacated, how.
17. Proprietor's rights when vacated.
18. Register of deeds to mark plats vacated.
19. Owner may plat again.

Survey and plat must be made

(732) § 1. When any person wishes to lay out a town in this Territory or an addition or subdivision of out-lots, such person shall cause the same to be surveyed and a plat thereof made which shall particularly describe and set forth all the streets, alleys, commons or public grounds and all in and out-lot or fractional lots within or adjoining said town, giving the names, width, courses, boundaries and extent of all such streets and alleys.

Lots and squares numbered.

(733) § 2. All the in-lots intended for sale shall be numbered in progressive numbers or by squares in which they are situated, and their precise length and width shall be stated on said map or plat; and out-lots shall in like manner be surveyed and numbered and their precise length and width stated on the plat or map, together with any streets, alleys or roads which shall divide or border the same.

Base-line, how formed.

(734) § 3. The proprietor or proprietors of the town, addition or subdivision of out-lots, by themselves or agents, shall at the time of surveying and laying the same cause to be planted and firmly fixed in the ground on the line of the main streets of said town two good and sufficient stones of such size and dimension as the surveyor shall direct, said stones to be at least two hundred and fifty yards apart; and the line thus formed shall be a base line from which to make future surveys; and the point or points where the same may be found shall be distinguished on the plat or map.

Plat or map must be certified and acknowledged.

(735) § 4. The plat or map after having been completed shall be certified by the surveyor and the officers; and every person or persons whose duty it shall be to comply with the foregoing requisitions shall at or before the time of offering said plat or map for record acknowledge the same before any person authorized to take the acknowledgment of deeds. A certificate of such acknowledgment shall by the officer taking the same be indorsed on the plat or map, which certificate of the survey and acknowledgment shall also be recorded and form a part of the record.

Lands donated or granted; land for streets.

(736) § 5. When the plat or map shall have been made out and certified, acknowledged and recorded as required by this chapter, every donation or grant to the public, or any individual or individuals, religious society or societies, or to any corporation or body politic, marked or noted as such on said plat or map, shall be deemed in law and equity a sufficient conveyance to vest the fee-simple of all such parcel or parcels of land as are therein expressed, and shall be considered to all intents and purposes a general warranty against such donor or donors, their heirs or representatives, to said donee or donees, grantee or grantees, for his, her or their use for the uses and purposes therein named, expressed and intended, and no other use and purpose whatever; and the land intended to be used for the streets, alleys, ways, commons or other public uses in any town or city or addition thereto shall be held in the corporate name thereof in trust to and for the use and purposes set forth and expressed or intended.

Record of plat in unorganized counties.

(737) § 6. If the county in which said town or addition is situated shall not be organized, then in that case the plat or map shall be recorded in the register's office of that county to which the county in which said town is situated shall at the time be attached for judicial purposes.

Towns already laid out must comply with this act

(738) § 7. When any town, addition or subdivision has been heretofore laid out and lots sold in this Territory by agents or proprietors, and a plat or map of the same has not been acknowledge and recorded in conformity with acts heretofore in force, it shall be the duty and it is hereby required of the county commissioners or a majority of them in such county, or proprietor or proprietors who have laid out the same, or his, her or their legal representatives, to have the same fairly, fully and clearly made out, acknowledged and recorded in the proper county, in the form and manner required by this article, noticing and particularly describing the donation of lands or otherwise to individual societies, bodies politic, or for common or public purposes: Provided, That if the lots shall have been differently numbered and sales made and they cannot be well changed they shall be returned as originally stated; but in all other respects the plat or map shall conform to the requisitions of this chapter.

Penalty if sale or lease is offered before compliance with this act

(739) § 8. The surveyor who shall lay out, survey and plat any town or addition shall be entitled to receive twenty-five cents for each and every in and out lot the same may contain, unless otherwise agreed, and the register of deeds of the county recording the same shall receive the sum of two cents for each and every lot as aforesaid; the said plat and survey to be by him transcribed or copied into a book to be provided for that purpose.

(740) § 9. If any person or persons shall dispose of, offer for sale or lease for any time any out or in-lots in any town or city or in any addition to any town or city or any part thereof, which shall hereafter be laid out, until all the foregoing requisitions of this chapter shall have been complied with, every person so offending shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten dollars for each and every lot or part of a lot sold or disposed of, leased or offered for sale.

Penalty if officer or other person neglect to do duty

(741) § 10. If any officer or other person or persons whose duty it is to comply with any of the requisitions of this chapter shall neglect or refuse so to do, he or they shall forfeit and pay a sum of not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars for each and every month he or they shall delay a compliance.

Forfeitures and liabilities

(742) § 11. All forfeitures aad liabilities which may be incurred or arise under this article shall be prosecuted for and recovered in the name of the county treasurer; and any officer or officers paying over any money to the said treasurer, received under any of the provisions of this article, shall take his receipt therefor and forthwith file the said receipt with the clerk of the board of county commissioners, and the said clerk shall charge the amount of said receipt against said treasurer on the books of the county commissioners.

District court may alter or vacate towns.

(743) § 12. The district courts are hereby authorized and empowered on application made by the proprietors of any town within their proper county to alter or vacate the same or any part thereof.

Notice of application for vacation, how given.

(744) § 13. If any proprietor or proprietors of a town shall be desirious of altering or vacating the same or any part thereof, such proprietor or proprietors shall give notice in writing of such intended application in at least two of the most public places in the county wherein such town may be situated, and insert a copy thereof in a newspaper printed or in circulation in said county if there be one, at least forty days prior to the sitting of the court to which he or they intend to make such application.

Proceedings before the court.

(745) § 14. If such applicant or applicants shall produce to said court satisfactory evidence that the notice required by the preceding section has been given, the court shall proceed to hear and determine said petition, and may alter or vacate said town or any part thereof, and order their proceedings thereon to be recorded by the clerk with the records of said court.

Town and city plats, how vacated.

(746) § 15. Any plat of any town or city or addition thereto or any subdivision of land may be vacated by the proprietors thereof at any time before the sale of any lots therein by a written instrument declaring the same to be vacated, duly executed, acknowledged or proved and recorded in the same office with the plat to be vacated; and the executing and recording of such writing shall operate to destroy the force and effect of the recording of the plat so vacated, and to divest all public rights in the streets, alleys, commons and public grounds laid out as described in such plat. And in cases where any lots have been sold the plat may be vacated as herein provided by all the owners of lots in such plat joining in the execution of the writing aforesaid: Provided, That this act shall not be construed as applying to any of the territory included within the limits of any incorporated city, town or village created and organized under and by virtue of a special act of the legislature.

Part of plat vacated, how.

(747) § 16. Any part of a plat may be vacated under the provisions and subject the conditions of this chapter: Provided, Such vacating does not abridge or destroy any of the rights and privileges of other proprietors in said plat: And provided further, That nothing contained in this section shall authorize the closing or obstructing of any public highways laid out according to law.

Proprietor's rights when vacated.

(748) § 17. When any part of a plat shall be vacated as aforesaid the proprietors of the lots so vacated may enclose the streets, alleys and public grounds adjoining said lots in equal proportion.

Register of deeds to mark plat "vacated."

(749) § 18. The register of deeds in whose office the plats aforesaid are recorded shall write in plain, legible letters across that part of said plat so vacated the word "vacated," and also make a reference on the same, to the volume and page in which the said instrument of vacation is recorded.

Owner may plat again.

(750) § 19. The owner of any lots in a plat so vacated may cause the same and a proportionate part of adjacent streets and public grounds to be platted and numbered by the county surveyor, and when such plat is acknowledged by such owner and is recorded in the record office of the county such lots may be conveyed and assessed by the numbers given them on such plat.

ARTICLE 3.—CHANGING LIMITS OF CITIES AND TOWNS.

SECTION.
1. Limits may be extended.
2. Limits may be restricted.
3. Notice of presentation of petition to be published.
4. Petition presented to district court, when
5. Duty of court.
6. Map of added territory to be filed.

Limits may be extended.

(751) § 1. On petition in writing signed by not less than three-fourths of the legal voters and by the owners of not less three-fourth (in value) of the property in any territory contiguous to any incorporated city or town and not embraced within the limits thereof, the city council of the city or the board of trustees of the town, as the case may be, may by ordinance annex such territory to such city or town upon filing a copy of such ordinance with an accurate map of the territory annexed (duly certified by the mayor of the city or the president of the board of trustees of the town) in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the annexed territory or the greater portion of it is situated, and having the same recorded therein.

Limits may be restricted

(752) § 2. On petition in writing signed by not less than three-fourths of the legal voters and by the owners of not less than three-fourths (in value) of the property in any territory within any incorporated city or town, and being upon the border and within the limits thereof, the city council of the city or the board of trustees of the town, as the case may be, may disconnect and exclude such territory from such city or town: Provided, That the provisions of this section shall only apply to lands not laid out into city or town lots or blocks.

Notice of presentation of petition to be published.

(753) § 3. No final action shall be taken by the city council or the board of trustees, as the case may be, upon any petition presented in pursuance of the provisions of sections 751 and 752, until notice of the presentation of such petition has been given by the petitioners by publication at least once in each week for two successive weeks in some newspaper published in the city or town where the petition has been presented; or if no newspaper be published in such city or town, then in the newspaper published nearest to such city or town.

Petition presented to district court, when.

(754) § 4. Upon the failure of the city council or the board of trustees, as the case may be, to grant the request contained in a petition presented in accordance with the provisions of sections 751 and 752, for thirty days after the last publication of the notice provided for in section 753, or upon a refusal to grant such request, the petitioners may present their petition to the district court of the county in which such city or town or the greater portion of it is situated, by filing such petition with the clerk of said court. Notice of such filing shall be served by the petitioners upon the mayor of the city or the president of the board of trustees of the town, as the case may be, together with a notice of the time and place when and where a hearing shall be had upon such petition, at least ten days before the date of such hearing. The hearing on the petition may be had at a regular or special term of the district court or by the court in vacation.

Duty of court.

(755) § 5. If upon the hearing the court shall find that the request of the petitioners ought to be granted and can be so granted without injustice to the inhabitants or persons interested, the court shall so order. If the court shall find against the petitioners the petition shall be dismissed at the cost of the petitioners.

Map of added territory to be filed.

(756) § 6. When any territory is annexed by ordinance or by a decree or order of court to any city or town as provided in this act, it shall be the duty of the mayor of the city or of the president of the board of trustees of the town, as the case may be, to cause an accurate map of such added territory, together with a copy of the ordinance for the annexation or a copy of the decree or order of court therefor, duly certified, to be filed and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which such added territory or the greater portion of it is situated. If territory is disconnected or excluded from any city or town a copy of the ordinance or decree therefor shall be so filed and recorded at the expense of the petitioners therefor.

ARTICLE 4—CHANGING NAMES OF TOWNS OR VILLAGES.

SECTION.
1. Petition.
2. Notice.
3. Duty of county commissioners.
4. Record.
5. Filing proof.
6. Costs.

Petition.

(757) § 1. When any number of the inhabitants of any town or village shall desire to change the name thereof, there shall be filed in the office of the county clerk or county auditor a petition for that purpose, which must be signed by at least two-thirds of the qualified electors of said town or village, setting forth the name by which said town or village is known, its location as near as practicable, and giving the name which they desire the town shall thereafter be known by.

Notice

(758) § 2. Notice of the filing of said petition and the time and place when the same shall be heard and the objects and purposes thereof shall be given by posting up a written or printed notice in at least five public places in the town or village the name of which is sought to be changed, at least four weeks before the meeting of the board of county commissioners.

Duty of county commissioners.

(759) § 3. At the next regular meeting of the board of county commissioners after said notices shall have been posted as aforesaid, said board shall proceed to hear and determine said petition unless said hearing is for good cause continued until the next meeting; and said board shall on the hearing of said petition also hear any remonstrance against the proposed change; and if on the hearing it shall appear to the said board that two-thirds of the qualified electors of said town or village in good faith signed said petition for change of name and desired the same, then the said board shall order said name to be changed as prayed for.

Record.

(760) § 4. Said order of the board shall thereupon be entered of record, giving the name of said town or village as set forth in said petition, the new name given, the time when the change shall take effect, which shall not be less than thirty days thereafter, and directing that notice of said change shall be published in at least one newspaper published in said county, if any, and if there is no newspaper published in said county, then said notice shall be published by posting the same for four weeks on the front door of the court house where the last term of the district court of the said county was held.

Filing proof.

(761) § 5. The ordinary proof of such publications shall be filed in the office of the county clerk or county auditor and shall be by him filed for preservation; and on the day fixed by the board as aforesaid the change shall be complete: Provided, That whenever the name of any town or village shall be changed by order of the provisions of this act the county clerk or county auditor shall immediately notify the register of deeds, who shall note the change of name upon the plat of said town or village with the date thereof.

Costs.

(762) § 6. In all cases arising under the provisions of this act, where there is no remonstrance or opposition to said petition, the petitioners shall pay all costs; but in all other cases costs shall abide the result of the proceeding and be taxed to either party in the discretion of the board, or divided equitably between the parties.

ARTICLE 5.—CHANGING WARDS.

SECTION.
1. Who may petition.
2. When council may order change.
3. Plats and records; corporation attorney to change.
4. Duty of clerk.
5. Manner of holding election in new ward.

Who may petition.

(763) § 1. When a petition shall be presented to the mayor and council of any town or city incorporated under any special or general act of the Territorial Legislature, signed by a majority of the legal voters of said town or city, the majority to be determined by the number of names on the poll list of the last regular election, praying for a change in the name, number or boundary of wards of said town or city, the council of such corporation shall at once cause to be published in a weekly newspaper of the town or city in at least three issues a notice of the day and hour together with the place of meeting at which they will consider such petition.

When council may order change.

(764) § 2. If it shall appear to the council that the change petitioned for is desirable and for the best interests of the town or city, the council may by a majority vote of all the members elect order the change desired, but no such change shall take effect until the next regular election.

Plats and records, corporation attorney to change.

(765) § 3. The council shall order the corporation attorney to cause such needful changes in papers, plats and matters of record as the change made may demand.

Duty of clerk.

(766) § 4. It shall be the duty of the town or city clerk to make such changes in assessment lists as the change in wards necessitates.

Manner of holding election in new ward

(767) § 5. Ten days before the next regular election the council shall designate the proper polling place or places for the new ward or wards, appoint judges, clerks, and make all necessary provisions for holding the election in the new ward or wards, naming the several officers to be chosen.

ARTICLE 6.—LOCATING AND VACATING STREETS AND ALLEYS.

SECTION.
1. Power to open, improve and vacate.
2. Petition.
3. Judge to appoint commission to appraise damages.
4. Duty of commissioners; damages and costs assessed against property.

Powers to open, improve and vacate streets and alleys.

(768) § 1. Any city, town or village organized under and by virtue of a special act or charter or under and by virtue of any general law of the Territory of Oklahoma is hereby authorized and empowered by and through its proper municipal officers to lay out, open, grade and otherwise improve the streets, alleys, sewers, sidewalks and crossings therein and to keep them in repair and to vacate the same.

Petition.

(769) § 2. Whenever a majority of the resident owners of real estate situated in any block or subdivision of any city or incorporated town or village in the Territory of Oklahoma shall be desirous of locating an alleyway through such block or subdivision when said block or subdivision contains no alleyway, they shall after having given notice of their intention so to do by publishing notice thereof in a newspaper printed and published in the city or incorporated town or village wherein said block or subdivision is situated for three consecutive weeks once in each week prior thereto, present their application in writing to the judge of the district court of the county wherein said city or incorporated town or village is located, describing the proposed location of the proposed alleyway.

Judge to appoint commission to appraise damages.

(770) § 3. Upon the presentation to him of the said application, together with due proof of publication of the notice required in the preceding section, the judge shall appoint three commissioners to appraise the damages, if any, to the property in the block or subdivision wherein said alleyway is sought to be located. Said commissioners in their appraisement may and shall take into consideration and offset any advantage to abutting property against the damages thereto.

Duty of commissioners, damages and costs assessed against property.

(771) § 4. Said commissioners shall thereupon locate said alleyway and make their return forthwith to said court, which return shall contain a plat of the block or subdivision showing the location of the proposed alleyway, the statement of the damages to each lot or parcel of land in said block or subdivision, together with the aggregate amount of damages, and if the said location be granted by the court said damages and all costs of the proceedings shall be entered up against said block or subdivision and be a first lien thereon against each lot or parcel in proportion to the assessed valuation thereof by the last assessment next preceding the date of the granting of said order, and shall be by the clerk of said court certified to the county clerk of the county in which said city or incorporated town or village is situated, who shall in making out the duplicate assessment and tax of said county next thereafter enter said sums therein in a seperate column opposite the description of the property against which the taxes so remain unpaid, and such taxes shall be collected in the same manner and by the same person as the general taxes of said county are collected; and shall when so collected be paid over to the person entitled thereto.

ARTICLE 7.—WATER WORKS AND FIRE APPARATUS.

SECTION.
1. Water works and fire alarms.
SECTION.
2. Act, how to be construed.

Water works and fire alarms.

(772) § 1. All towns, cities and municipal corporations in this Territory having a population of one thousand inhabitants or more are hereby authorized and empowered to purchase, erect, lease, rent, manage and maintain any system or part of system of water works, hydrants and supply of water, telegraphing fire signals or fire apparatus that may be of use in the prevention and extinguishment of fires; and to pass all ordinances penal or otherwise that shall be necessary for the full protection, maintenance, management and control of the property so leased, purchased or erected. The common council or board of trustees of such city or municipal corporation are hereby empowered and authorized to assess, levy and collect taxes for the purposes aforesaid, and to do all acts necessary to carry such lease and contracts of purchase, erection or maintenance into effect, and to pay the stipulated rent or contract prices for the property so leased, purchased, erected or to be maintained, excepting however that any such lease or contracts for purchase, erection or maintenance which shall stipulate for an annual payment greater than an annual levy of five mills on each dollar of the assessed valuation of such city or municipal corporation shall not be authorized until the contract providing therefor shall first have been submitted to a vote of the people of such city or municipal corporation at any general or special election and ratified by a majority of the voters of said city or municipal corporation voting at such election.

Act, how to be construed.

(773) § 2. This act shall not be construed to modify or affect the power of any city or town or the powers of the common council or board of trustees thereof as authorized and granted by the charters of such cities or towns or the laws under which they were incorporated, where said charter or law shall have expressly given to such city the power to lease, rent or maintain the property described in this act.

ARTICLE 8.—ROAD TAXES IN CITIES OR TOWNS.

SECTION.
1. County treasurer to turn over certain funds to city or town treasurer.

County treasurer to turn over certain funds to city or town treasurer.

(774) § 1. All road taxes collected as personal taxes from residents of any incorporated city or town, and all road taxes collected on account of real or personal property situated within any incorporated city or town, by the treasurer of the county in which such city or town is located, shall be turned over quarterly by such treasurer to the treasurer of such incorporated city or town, to be expended under the direction of the city council of such city or of the board of trustees of such town, as the case may be, in the improvements of the streets or bridges of such city or town or of the roads approaching thereto.

21. Expiration of term of office of person making entry of town site.
22. Appeals from townsite commissioners to district court.

Townsite, who may make entry.

(775) § 1. Whenever any portion of the public lands of the United States have been or shall be settled upon and occupied as a townsite, and therefore not subject to private entry under the agricultural pre-emption laws, it shall be lawful and the duty, whenever requested by a majority of the occupants or owners of the lots within the limits of the town, for the corporate authorities of the town if incorporated, and if not incorporated then for the judge of the probate court of the county in which such town may be situated, to enter at the proper land office the land so settled upon and occupied, and hold the same in trust for the several use and benefit of the occupants thereof and those holding by deed or otherwise, according to their respective interests

Entry fee, money for, how raised.

(776) § 2. If at any time the petition is presented as provided for in the preceding section there is not in the treasury of the town moneys sufficient to pay for the land settled upon and occupied, the corporate authorities or the probate judge, as the case may be, may raise by subscription or otherwise sufficient funds to pay for said lands and costs of entering the same, and any and all sums so advanced for such purpose shall be repaid in the manner provided for in section 779.

Disposition of town property

(777) § 3. When the corporate authorites of any city or town, or the judge of the probate court of any county in this territory in which any city or town may be located, shall have entered at at the proper land office the land or any part thereof so settled and occupied as the site of such city or town, pursuant to and by virtue of the act of Congress of the United States, entitled "an act for the relief of the inhabitants of cities and towns upon the public lands," approved March 2, 1867, and acts amendatory thereto, it shall be the duty of such corporate authorities or judge of the probate court, his or their successors, to dispose of the trust so created and conferred by said act of congiess in the manner hereinafter specified.

Persons making the entry to transfer to claimants.

(778) § 4. Any such corporate authorities or judge of the probate court holding the title to any such lands in trust as declared in said act of congress shall, subject to the provisions of this act, by a good and sufficient deed of conveyance grant and convey the title to each and every block, lot, share or parcel of the same to the person, persons, associations or corporations who shall occupy or possess or be entitled to the right of possession or occupancy thereof, according to the several rights and interests of the respective claimants in or to the same as they existed in law or equity at the time of the entry of such lands, or to the heirs or assigns of such claimants. Every such deed of conveyance made by such corporate authorities or judge of the probate court pursuant to the provisions of this act shall be so executed and acknowledged as to admit the same to be recorded.

Expenses of entry and claims.

(779) § 5. Immediately upon making the entry, and during the sixty days thereafter, such corporate authorities or probate judge shall proceed to itemize and pass upon the expenses of procuring said entry to be made, including the moneys paid at the land office for such entry, the costs of surveying and platting the town site, of attorney's fees, witness fees, recording plat and all other expenses necessary and incident to procuring the entry and perfecting the title, and for this purpose shall give notice to all persons having any claims for moneys advanced or services rendered to present and file a certified statement of the same within said sixty days, such notice to be given promptly after making of the entry, and to be by publication for three weeks in some newspaper published in the county wherein the town site is located, or if none be so published then in the newspaper published nearest thereto. And any person having or making any such claim who shall at the expiration of said sixty days have failed to file such verified statement of account shall be thereafter barred from presenting the same or recovering thereon. Upon the receipt of such verified statements of accounts they shall be duly filed by the said corporate authorities or judge of the probate court, and either allowed, rejected or allowed in part as in the judgment of such corporate authorities or judge of the probate court may be just and right, due notice of such allowance, rejection or allowance in part to be at once given to the person having filed the verified statement. Any person filing such verified statement or any lot owner feeling aggrieved at the decision of such corporate authorities or judge of the probate court making such allowance, rejection or allowance in part of any claim so filed, may within thirty days after the decision appeal therefrom to the district court of the district wherein such city or town may be located, such appeal to be taken upon notice to such corporate authorities or judge of the probate court in the same manner and subject to the same restrictions as appeals from the board of county commissioners.

Chap. 16.

Publication of notice of entry and claims awarded.

(780) § 6. Immediately upon the expiration of sixty days after the first publication of said notice as hereinbefore provided, at the proper land office, the corporate authorities or judge of the probate court entering the same, his or their successors, shall give public notice thereof by publishing such notice in a newspaper published in the county in which such city or town shall be situated, or in case there shall be no newspaper published in such county then in the newspaper published nearest the said city or town—and in the latter case where there is no newspaper published in said county, copies of said notice shall also be posted in not less than ten conspicuous places within the limits of said county; such notice shall be published not less than once a week for six consecutive weeks and shall contain an accurate description of the lands entered as the same is stated in the certificate of entry, and shall also contain a statement of the several amounts awarded and allowed for the expenses of procuring the entry and which will be assessed against the land constituting the town site in executing the deeds therefor.

Same.

(781) § 7. Such notice provided for in section 779 shall direct that each and every person, association or corporation claiming to be an occupant or to have, possess or be entitled to the right of possession or occupancy of such lands or any lots, share or parcel thereof, shall within ninety days from the date of the first publication or posting of such notice, in person or by his, her or their or its duly authorized agent or attorney, sign a statement in writing, containing an accurate description of the particular lot, lots, parcel or parcels of land in which he, she, they or it claim to have an interest; and the specified right, interest or estate so claimed therein, the character and value of the improvements thereon, and how occupied or possessed by such claimant, and for how long a time, and any other matter or thing illustrating or supporting such claimant's right to a deed of the tract so described, such statement to be verified by the affidavit of the party or parties signing the same.

Statement of claimants to be recorded.

(782) § 8. The statement of the claimant provided for in the preceding section shall, together with the accompanying affidavits, be delivered to the said corporate authorities or judge of the probate court within the time specified in said notice, and shall be by him or them filed and an abstract of the contents thereof, with name of claimant and date of filing, entered in a well bound book to be kept for such purpose, which shall be known as "the record of claimants' statements." And all persons failing to furnish such statement as herein required within the time specified in said notice, except minors and insane persons, shall be forever barred of the right of claiming or recovering such lands or any interest or estate therein or any part or parcel thereof.

Conflicting claims, how treated.

(783) § 9. Should any one or more persons, associations or corporations claim adversely the title to any lot or lots, parcel or parcels of land within the boundaries of such city or town, the party in possession, or if neither party be in actual possession, then the party first filing his application, shall be prima facie entitled to a deed of conveyance, and the party or parties claiming adversely shall within said ninety days after the first publication of the notice provided for in section 779, file with the corporate authorities or judge of the probate court a sworn statement as provided in section 781, and at the same time a notice that he, she or it contests the statement and application for deed hitherto made, and expects at once to begin an action in the district court to determine his, her or its right to the property; whereupon the corporate authorities or judge of the probate court must suspend action on such disputed lot or parcel of ground until a proper certificate be furnished that the dispute has been decided or abandoned. Such party or parties claiming adversely, and having filed such notice of contest, must within ten days thereafter begin action in the district court for the purpose of determining the rights of all parties, in which action all persons claiming adversely to the plaintiff or plaintiffs may be joined as parties defendant, and if not so joined shall have the right to intervene. For the purposes of this section an action shall be deemed begun when a complaint has been filed in the hands of the clerk of the court and a summons placed in the hands of a sheriff for the service: Provided, That personal service must be made or service by publication begun within sixty days thereafter. Upon the presentation of the clerk's certificate that no complaint has been filed and no action begun in accordance with the provisions of this section, the party aforesaid having the prima facie right shall be entitled to a deed of conveyance; and in case of action begun the party recovering therein shall be entitled to a deed of conveyance upon presentation of a certified copy of the final judgment or decree of the court in such action to the corporate authorities or judge of the probate court. Upon receiving the certificate aforesaid or certified copy of judgment or decree the same shall be filed and an abstract of the contents entered in the record of claimant's statements; and the said corporate authorities or judge of the probate court shall thereupon execute deeds of conveyance to the party or parties entitled to receive the same. All persons except minors and insane persons failing to file their notice of contest and to bring their action within the time herein prescribed shall be thereafter forever barred from setting up or asserting any claim, right or title to such lot or lots, parcel or parcels of lands so adversely claimed.

Extent of ground that may be claimed.

(784) § 10. The amount of ground which any one claimant shall be entitled to receive a deed for in a single tract under the provisions of this act, unless said claimant or his grantors were in the actual peaceable possession of the same prior to its entry as herein provided for and had improved the same and is still in the occupancy thereof, may equal but not exceed two acres in extent: Provided, That such ground be exclusively occupied by or in the possession of such claimant and have improvements thereon of not less than two hundred dollars in value. Such claimant shall also be entitled to a deed for each additional lot not exceeding in area twenty-five hundred square feet on which he may have substantial improvements of not less than one hundred dollars in value. When any claimant shall make application for a deed to more than one tract or parcel he shall file in addition to his own affidavit as required by this act the affidavits of at least two disinterested witnesses showing the nature, character and actual cash value of the improvements upon such additional lot or lots so claimed.

Chap. 16.

Expenses, certain to be paid by the claimant

(785) § 11. Each person shall upon filing an applicant's statement as herein provided be required to pay to the said corporate authorities or judge of the probate court his proper and due proportion of the money lawfully expended in perfecting the title and procuring the entry of said land, including all streets, alleys, public grounds and parks, and all expenses necessarily incurred in making the survey and plat, for recording plat and publishing notices as required by this act, such proportion to be determined by the relation which the value, extent and area of such claimant's land bears to the whole amount of land claimed during the ninety days, and in addition thereto the sum of two dollars for the principal tract claimed and fifty cents for each additional lot of two thousand five hundred square feet claimed by the same person or persons, association or corporation, as a fee for executing the trust, taking affidavit, filing and abstracting statements and affidavits and executing and acknowledging the deed as required by this act, which charges shall be in full payment for all expenses attending the execution of the trust. In case of appeals provided for in section 779, the sum of one dollar shall be paid for certified copy of statement of account filed and certificate of decision and award made; and pending such appeal and the review by the district court of any award or allowance of claims for expenses in procuring the entry of land, as provided for in section 779, the corporate authorities or judge of the probate court must in making and apportioning expenses take care that their estimate be sufficient to meet the same and any possible increase made by the appellate tribunal, any surplus resulting from such estimate to be applied as herein provided. In case of any contest, and deposit of money as in this section provided by both parties, the corporate authorities or judge of the probate court shall after final judgment and decree refund to the unsuccessful party or parties all money so advanced by such party or parties, except the sum of one dollar, which shall be retained as fees for taking and filing affidavits, statements, notice of contest, certified copy of decree, etc.

Deeds to be given

(786) § 12. After the expiration of ninety days from the date of the first publication of the notice required by section 779 the corporate authorities or judge of the probate court shall proceed to award the lot or lots, parcel or parcels of land as provided in this act, and for that purpose shall as soon as practicable and as near as practicable in the order of the time of the filing of claimant's statements examine each and every claim, read proofs filed and hear additional testimony if deemed advisable, and if the claim should be found to comply with the provisions of this act, and no adverse claim and notice of contest shall have been filed, the said corporate authorities or judge of the probate court shall proceed forthwith to make such claimant or claimants a good and sufficient deed of conveyance for such lot or lots or parcels of land so claimed.

Unclaimed lands to be conveyed to board of education.

(787) § 13. When any lots or parcels of land within the limits of any city or town shall remain unclaimed after the expiration of the time allowed by this act for the filing of claimants' statements, it shall be the duty of the corporate authorities or judge of the probate court to convey the lots or parcels of land so remaining unclaimed by good and sufficient deed to the board of education of such city or town, if there be such body qualified to take the title to real property, to be taken and disposed of by such board of education for school purposes and for the exclusive use and benefit of the school district in which such city or town may be situated, under such directions and limitations as are provided by this act.

Who shall act in the absence of probate judge.

(788) § 14. If there be no such board of education legally authorized to take the title to real property, then the corporate authorities or judge of the probate court shall sell and dispose of the said unclaimed lots or parcels of land so remaining for school purposes, and for the exclusive use and benefit of the school district in which said city or town may be situated under the directions, limitations and provisions contained in this act.

Unclaimed lands shall be appraised.

(789) § 15. The board of education, corporate authorities or judge of the probate court aforesaid shall appoint three competent and suitable freeholders of such city or town a board of appraisers whose duty it shall be to make a careful inspection and examination of all the unclaimed lots or parcels of land aforesaid, and upon each of such lots or parcels of land they shall affix a reasonable and just valuation, and upon the completion of their appraisement they shall make and return a full and complete report of their proceedings and appraisement to the board of education, corporate authorities or judge of the probate court, which said report shall contain a full schedule of each and every lot or parcel of of land remaining unclaimed, giving an exact description of said lots by their numbers and the number of the block, and all parcels of land not so numbered shall be described by metes and boundaries, and upon each lot or parcel of land separately they shall designate the valuation thereof as fixed by their appraisement; said appraisement and report shall be subscribed and sworn to by at least two of said appraisers.

Public sale of unclaimed lands.

(790) § 16. The board of education, corporate authorities or judge of the probate court shall within thirty days after the receipt of the aforesaid report of said board of appraisers give public notice that all such unclaimed lots or parcels of land, or so much thereof as may be considered for the best interest of the school district, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash; said notice to be given by publication in not less than three newspapers of general circulation in the Territory and for a period of not less than thirty days immediate prior to such sale, specifying the time and place when said unclaimed lots or parcels of land will be sold, together with a description of the same as returned by the board of appraisers.

Bids; private sale.

(791) § 17. At the time and place appointed in said notice the board of education, corporate authorities or judge of the probate court shall offer for sale at public auction subject to competitive bids all the lots and parcels of land or so much thereof as may be considered for the best interest of the school district, returned by the report of said board of appraisers as unclaimed: Provided, That no bid shall be received or lot or parcel of land sold for a less sum than the appraised valuation; and such sale shall continue open from day to day until all such lots or parcels of land, or so much thereof as may be considered for the best interest of the school district, shall have been offered for sale. Any lots or parcels of land remaining unsold at the close of such sale for want of bids equal to the appraised valuation thereof may thereafter be sold at private sale by said board of education, corporate authorities or judge of probate court for a sum of money not less than the appraised valuation thereof, and not otherwise.

Purchaser shall pay for deed.

(792) § 18. Any purchaser at such sale, in addition to the amount of purchase money paid for any lot, lots or parcel of land, shall pay to the board of education, corporate authorities or judge of probate court the sum of two dollars as a fee for making, executing and acknowledging a deed of conveyance therefor, and all such lots or parcels of land purchased by any one person may be conveyed to such purchaser in one deed, which fee shall be in full for all charges of conducting sale, giving notice, appointing appraisers, etc,

Proceeds of sale, how applied.

(793) § 19. The proceeds derived from the sale of such lots or parcels of unclaimed land, after first paying the expenses of advertising, printing and a per diem of not more than three dollars per day to each member of the board of appraisers for the days actually and necessarily employed by them in making such appraisement and report as aforesaid, and other expenses actually and necessarily incurred in the proper conduct and management of such sale, shall be immediately turned over at the close of said sale by the board of education, corporate authorities or judge of the probate court to the treasuser of the school district, and by said treasurer placed to the credit of the school house fund of said school district, only to be disbursed and applied in the payment of outstanding bonds, warrants or other indebtedness against said school district, contracted or created in the erection or construction of school houses, procuring grounds or appurtenances therewith, if any such bonds, warrants or other indebtedness exists otherwise to be applied and placed to the credit of the general school fund of the school district.

(794) § 20. In case there should be found any surplus on hand over and above receipts for fees and awards for expenses arising from the conveyances of lots as provided in section 785, then such surplus shall so soon as ascertained by the corporate authorities or the judge of the probate court be accounted for and turned over to the treasurer of the school district wherein such city or town may be situated; to be by such school district treasurer placed to the credit of the school house fund, then to be disbursed and applied as herein provided for the disbursement of proceeds derived from the sale of unclaimed lots or parcels of land.

Surplus, how disposed of.

(795) § 21. Whenever the term of office of any corporate authorities or judge of the probate court having made entry of a townsite shall expire, or he or any one or more of said corporate authorities shall resign or be removed from office, he or they shall turn over all books and papers relative to such entry to his or their successor or successors in office, with full report of the condition of the trust and receipts and disbursements thereunder, and thereafter the said trust shall be executed in every particular by such successor or successors. Any wilful violations of the provisions of this act by the corporate authorities or judge of the probate court shall be held and considered a misdemeanor; any such corporate authorities or judge of the probate court wilfully making out a deed to any party not entitled to receive the same shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor; and any such corporate authorities or judge of the probate court wilfully misappropriating funds received by them in the execution of this trust shall be held guilty of embezzlement.

Expiration of term of office of person making entry of townsite

(796) § 22. That in all cases heretofore or hereafter tried before the boards of townsite commissioners in Oklahoma appointed by the Secretary of the Interior of the United States, appeals from the decisions of such boards may be taken to the district court of the county in which such decisions are made in the same manner as is provided by law for appeals from justices of the peace, and the district court may on motion compel the boards of commissioners to transmit the papers and a transcript in each case appealed: Provided, That in all cases in which decisions have herebefore [heretofore] been made by such boards such appeals shall be taken within ninety days after the taking effect of this act, and in all other cases within thirty days from the date of the decision by the townsite commissioner.

Appeals from townsite commission to district court.

This act shall be in force and effect from and after the final adjournment of the present session of the Legislative Assembly.

Contract defined.

(797) § 1. A contract is an agreement to do or not to do a certain thing.

Requisites of a contract.

(798) § 2. It is essential to the existence of a contract that there should be:

First. Parties capable of contracting.

Second. Their consent.

Third. A lawful object; and,

Fourth. Sufficient cause or consideration.

Who may make a contract.

(799) § 3. All persons are capable of contracting, except minors, persons of unsound mind, and persons deprived of civil rights.

Capacity of certain classes.

(800) § 4. Minors and persons of unsound mind have only such capacity as defined by sections 2509 (omitting 2513) to 2525 inclusive of the Dakota code.

SECTION 2509. Minors are:

First. Males under twenty-one years of age.

Second. Females under eighteen years of age.

The periods thus specified must be calculated from the first minute of the day on which persons are born, to the same minute of the corresponding day completing the period of minority.

SECTION 2510. All other persons are adults.

SECTION 2511. A child conceived, but not born, is to be deemed an existing person so far as may be necessary for its interest in the event of its subsequent birth.

SECTION 2512. Persons of unsound mind within the meaning of this code, are idiots, lunatics, and imbeciles.

SECTION 2514. A minor cannot give a delegation of power, nor, under the age of eighteen, make a contract relating to real property, or any interest therein, or relating to any personal property not in his immediate possession or control.

SECTION 2515. A minor may make any other contract than as above specified in the same manner as an adult, subject only to his power of disaffirmance under the provisions of this chapter, and subject to the provisions of the chapter on marriage, and on master and servant.

SECTION 2516. In all cases other than those specified in sections 2517 and 2518, the contract of a minor, if made while he is under the age of eighteen may be disaffirmed by the minor himself, either before his majority or within one year's time afterwards; or in case of his death within that period, by his heirs or personal representatives; and if the contract be made by the minor whilst he is over the age of eighteen, it may be disaffirmed in like manner upon restoring the consideration to the party from whom it was received or paying its equivalent with interest.

SECTION 2517. A minor cannot disaffirm a contract, otherwise valid, to pay the reasonable value of things necessary for his support, or that of his family, entered into by him when not under the care of a parent or guardian able to provide for him or them.

SECTION 2518. A minor cannot disaffirm an obligation, otherwise valid, entered into by him under the express authority or direction of a statute.

SECTION 2519. A person entirely without understanding has no power to make a contract of any kind, but he is liable for the reasonable value of things furnished to him necessary for his support or the support of his family.

SECTION 2520. A conveyance or other contract of a person of unsound mind, but not entirely without understanding, made before his incapacity has been judicially determined, is subject to rescission as provided in the chapter of rescission of this code.

SECTION 2521. After his incapacity has been judicially determined, a person of unsound mind can make no conveyance or other contract, nor designate any power, nor waive any right, until his restoration to capacity is judicially determined. But if actually restored to capacity, he may make a will, though his restoration is not thus determined.

SECTION 2522. A minor, or a person of unsound mind, of whatever degree, is civilly liable for a wrong done by him, in like manner as any other person.

SECTION 2523. A minor or person of unsound mind, cannot be subject to exemplary damages, unless at the time of the act he was capable of knowing that it was wrongful.

SECTION 2524. A minor may enforce his rights by civil action, or other legal proceedings, in the same manner as a person of full age, except that a guardian must be appointed to conduct the same.

Chap. 17.

SECTION 2525. Indians resident within this Territory have the same rights and duties as other persons, except that:

First. They cannot vote or hold office, and that:

Second. They cannot grant, lease or incumber Indian lands, except in the cases provided by special laws.—Dakota Code,]

Identity of parties.

(801) § 5. It is essential to the validity of the contract, not only that the parties should exist, but that it should be possible to identify them.

Beneficiary may enforce

(802) § 6. A contract, made expressly for the benefit of a third person, may be enforced by him at any time before the parties thereto rescind it.

Consent to a contract

(803) § 7. The consent of the parties to a contract must be:

First. Free.

Second. Mutual; and,

Third. Communicated by each to the other.

If not free, rescinded.

(804) § 8. A consent which is not free, is nevertheless not absolutely void, but may be rescinded by the parties in the manner prescribed by the chapter on rescission.

Conditions limiting freedom of consent.

(805) § 9. An apparent consent is not real or free when obtained through:

First. Duress.

Second. Menace.

Third. Fraud.

Fourth. Undue influence; or,

Fifth. Mistake.

Construction

(806) § 10. Consent is deemed to have been obtained through one of the causes mentioned in the last section, only when it would not have been given had such cause not existed.

Kind of duress.

(807) § 11. Duress consists in:

First. Unlawful confinement of the person of the party, or of husband or wife of such party, or of an ancestor, descendant, or adopted child of such party, husband or wife.

Second. Unlawful detention of the property of any such person; or,

Third. Confinement of such person, lawful in form, but fraudulently obtained, or fraudulently made unjustly, harrassing or oppressive.

Forms of menace.

(808) § 12. Menace consists in a threat:

First. Of such duress as is specified in the first and third subdivisions of the last section.

Second. Of unlawful and violent injury to the person or property of any such person as is specified in the last section; or,

Third. Of injury to the character of any such person.

Kinds of fraud.

(809 § 13. Fraud is either actual or constructive.

Actual fraud.

(810) § 14. Actual fraud, within the meaning of this chapter, consists in any of the following acts, committed by a party to the contract, or with his connivance, with intent to deceive another party thereto, or to induce him to enter into the contract:

First. The suggestion, as a fact, of that which is not true, by one who does not believe it to be true.

Second. The positive assertion in a manner not warranted by the information of the person making it, of that which is not true, though he believe it to be true.

Third. The suppression of that which is true, by one having knowledge or belief of the fact.

Fourth. A promise made without any intention of performing it; or,

Fifth. Any other act fitted to deceive.

Constructive fraud defined.

(811) § 15. Constructive fraud consists:

First. In any breach of duty which, without an actually fraudulent intent, gains an advantage to the person in fault, or any one claiming under him, by misleading another to his prejudice, or to the prejudice of any one claiming under him; or,

Second. In any such act or omission as the law specially declares to be fraudulent, without respect to actual fraud.

Actual fraud a question of fact.

(812) § 16. Actual fraud is always a question of fact,

Kinds of undue influence.

(813) § 17. Undue influence consists:

First. In the use, by one in whom a confidence is reposed by another, or who holds a real or apparent authority over him, of such confidence or authority for the purpose of obtaining an unfair advantage over him.

Second. In taking an unfair advantage of another's weakness of mind; or,

Third. In taking a grossly oppressive aud unfair advantage of another's necessities or distress.

Mistake divided.

(814) § 18. Mistake may be either of fact or of law.

Mistake of fact.

(815) § 19. Mistake of fact is a mistake not caused by the neglect of a legal duty on the part of the person making the mistake, and consisting in:

First. An unconscious ignorance or forgetfulness of a fact past or present, material to the contract; or,

Second. Belief in the present existence of a thing material to the contract, which does not exist, or in the past existence of such a thing, which has not existed.

Mistake of law.

(816) § 20. Mistakes of law constitute a mistake within the meaning of this article only when it arises from:

First. A misapprehension of the law by all parties, all supposing that they knew and understood it, and all making substantially the same mistake as to the law; or,

Second. A misapprehension of the law by one party, of which the others are aware at the time of contracting, but which they do not rectify.

Foreign laws.

(817) § 21 Mistake of foreign laws is a mistake of fact.

Mutual consent defined.

(818) § 22. Consent is not mutual unless the parties all agree upon the same thing in the same sense. But in certain cases, defined by the chapter on interpretation, they are to be deemed so to agree without regard to the fact.

How communicated.

(819) § 23. Consent can be communicated with effect, only by some act or omission of the party contracting, by which he intends to communicate it, or which necessarily tends to such communication.

Chap. 17.

Special mode of acceptance.

(820) § 24. If a proposal prescribes any conditions concerning the communication of its acceptance, the proposer is not bound unless they are conformed to; but in other cases any reasonable and usual mode may be adopted.

Transmission of consent begun.

(821) § 25. Consent is deemed to be fully communicated between the parties as soon as the party accepting a proposal has put his acceptance in the course of transmission to the proposer, in conformity to the last section.

Acts which are an acceptance

(822) § 26. Performance of the conditions of a proposal, or the acceptance of the consideration offered with a proposal, is an acceptance of the proposal.

Acceptance must be absolute.

(823) § 27. An acceptance must be absolute and unqualified, or must include in itself an acceptance of that character, which the proposer can separate from the rest, and which will include the person accepting. A qualified acceptance is a new proposal.

Revocation of proposal.

(824) § 28. A proposal may be revoked at any time before its acceptance is communicated to the proposer, but not afterwards.

Revocations classed.

(825) § 29. A proposal is revoked:

First. By the communication of notice of revocation by the proposer to the other party in the manner prescribed by sections 818 and 820, before his acceptance has been communicated to the former.

Second. By the lapse of the time prescribed in such proposal for its acceptance, or if no time is so prescribed, the lapse of a reasonable time without communication of the acceptance.

Third. By the failure of the acceptor to fulfill a condition precedent to acceptance; or,

Fourth. By the death or insanity of the proposer.

Subsequent consent.

(826) § 30. A contract which is voidable, solely for want of due consent may be ratified by a subsequent consent.

Acceptance of benefit includes obligations.

(827) § 31. A voluntary acceptance of the benefit of a transaction is equivalent to a consent to all the obligations arising from it so far as the facts are known, or ought to be known to the person accepting.

Object of a contract

(828) § 32. The object of a contract is the thing which it is agreed, on the part of the party receiving the consideration, to do or not to do.

Requisites of the object.

(829) § 33. The object of a contract must be lawful when the contract is made, and possible and ascertainable by the time this contract is to be performed.

Impossibility defined

(830) § 34. Everything is deemed possible except that which is impossible in the nature of things.

Single unlawful object voids the contract.

(831) § 35. Where a contract has but a single object, and such object is unlawful, whether in whole or in part, or wholly impossible of performance, or so vaguely expressed as to be wholly unascertainable, the entire contract is void

Lawful part valid

(832) § 36. Where a contract has several distinct objects, of which one at least is lawful and one at least is unlawful in whole or in part, the contract is void as to the latter, and valid as to the rest.

Good consideration defined.

(833) § 37. Any benefit conferred, or agreed to be conferred upon the promisor, by any other person, to which the promisor is not lawfully entitled, or any prejudice suffered or agreed to be suffered by such person, other than such as he is at the time of consent lawfully bound to suffer, as an inducement to the promisor, is a good consideration for a promise. Chap. 17.

Moral or legal consideration, how far good

(834) § 38. An existing legal obligation resting upon the promisor, or a moral obligation, originating in some benefit conferred upon the promisor, or prejudice suffered by the promisee, is also a good consideration for a promise, to an extent corresponding with the extent of the obligation, but no further or otherwise.

Consideration must be lawful.

(835) § 39. The consideration of a contract must be lawful within the meaning of section 879.

Effect of illegality.

(836) § 40. If any part of a single consideration for one or more objects, or of several considerations for a single object, is unlawful, the entire contract is void.

Executed or executory consideration.

(837) § 41. A consideration may be executed or executory, in whole or in part. In so far as it is executory, it is subject to the provisions of sections 827, 828, 829, 830 and 831.

Executory, how determined.

(838) § 42. When a consideration is executory, it is not indispensable that the contract should specify its amount or the means of ascertaining it. It may be left to the decision of a third person, or regulated by any specific standard.

Measure of value.

(839) § 43. When a contract does not determine the amount of the consideration, nor the method by which it is to be ascertained, or when it leaves the amount thereof to the discretion of an interested party, the consideration must be so much money as the object of the contract is reasonably worth.

Exclusive method impossible; contract void.

(840) § 44. Where a contract provides an exclusive method by which its consideration is to be ascertained, which method is on its face impossible of execution, the entire contract is void.

Same, presumption, burden of proof.

(841) § 45. First. Where a contract provides an exclusive method by which its consideration is to be ascertained, which method appears possible on on its face, but in fact is, or becomes, impossible of execution, such provision only is void.

Second. A written instrument is presumptive evidence of a consideration.

Third. The burden of showing a want of consideration sufficient to support an instrument lies with the party seeking to invalidate or avoid it.

ARTICLE 2.—MANNER OF CREATING CONTRACTS.

SECTION.
1. Express or implied.
2. Express contract.
3. Implied contract.
4. What contracts may be oral.
5. Oral contracts may be enforced.
6. Contracts that must be written; statute of frauds.
7. Writing excludes oral negotiations.
8. Contract takes effect upon delivery.
9. Applies to all contracts.
10. Seal affixed how.
11. Seals abolished.

Express or implied.

(842) § 1. A contract is either express or implied.

Express contract.

(843) § 2. An express contract is one, the terms of which are stated in words,

Implied contract.

(844) § 3. An implied contract is one, the existence and terms of which are manifested by conduct.

What contracts may be oral.

(845) § 4. All contracts may be oral, except such as are specially required by statute to be in writing.

Oral contract may be enforced against fraud

(846) § 5. Where a contract, which is required by law to be in writing, is prevented from being put into writing by the fraud of a party thereto, any other party who is by such fraud led to believe that it is in writing, and acts upon such belief to his prejudice, may enforce it against the fraudulent party.

Statute of frauds, contracts that must be written.

(847) § 6. The following contracts are invalid, unless the same, or some note or memorandum thereof, be in writing and subscribed by the party to be charged, or by his agent:

First. An agreement that, by its terms, is not to be performed within a year from the making thereof,

Second. A special promise to answer for the debt, default or miscarriage of another, except in the cases provided for in section 4277.

[SECTION 4277. A promise to answer for the obligation of another, in any of the following cases, deemed an original obligation of the promisor, and need not be in writing:

First. Where the promise is made by one who has received property of another upon an undertaking to apply it pursuant to such promise; or by one who has received a discharge from an obligation in whole or in part, in the consideration of such promise.

Second. Where the creditor parts with value, or enters into an obligation, in consideration of the obligation in respect to which the promise is made, in terms or under circumstance such as to render the party making the promise the principal debtor, and the person in whose behalf it is made his surety.

Third. Where the promise, being for an antecedent obligation of another, is made upon the consideration that the party receiving it cancels the antecedent obligation, accepting the new promise as a substitute therefor; or upon the consideration that the party receiving it releases the property of another from a levy, or his person from imprisonment under an execution on a judgmentt obtained upon the antecedent obligation, or upon a consideration beneficial to the promiser, whether moving from either party to the antecedent obligation, or from another person.

Fourth. Where a factor undertakes, for a commission, to sell merchandise and guaranty the sale.

Fifth. Where the holder of an instrument for the payment of money, upon which a third person is or may become liable to him, transfers it in payment of a precedent debt of his, or for a new consideration, and in connection with such transfer enters into a promise respecting such instrument —Dakota Code.]

Third. An agreement made upon consideration of marriage, other than a mutual promise to marry.

Fourth. An agreement for the sale of goods, chattels, or things in action, at a price not less than fifty dollars, unless the buyer accept or receive part of such goods and chattels, or the evidences or some of them, of such things in action, or pay at the some part of the purchase money; but when a sale is made by auction, an entry by the auctioneer in his sale book, at the time of the sale, of the kind of property sold, the terms of sale, the price and the names of the purchaser and person on whose account the sale was made, is a sufficient memorandum.

Fifth. An agreement for the leasing for a longer period than one year, or for the sale of real property, or of an interest therein; and such agreement, if made by an agent of the party sought to be charged, is invalid, unless the authority of the agent be in writing, subscribed by the party sought to be charged.

Writing excludes oral negotiations or stipulations.

(848) § 7. The execution of a contract in writing, whether the law requires it to be written or not, supersedes all the oral negotiations or stipulations concerning its matter, which preceded or accompanied the execution of the instrument.

Contract takes effect upon delivery.

(849) § 8. A contract in writing takes effect upon its delivery to the party in whose favor it is made, or to his agent.

Applies to all contracts.

(850) § 9. The provisions of the chapter on transfers in general, concerning the delivery of grants, absolute and conditional, apply to all written contracts.

Seal affixed, how.

(851) § 10. A corporate or official seal may be affixed to an instrument by a mere impression upon paper or other material on which such instrument is written.

Seals abolished.

(852) § 11. All distinctions between sealed and unsealed instruments are abolished.

14	Restricted to intention of parties

Same, rules of interpretation for public and private.

(853) § 1. All contracts, whether public or private, are to be interpreted by the same rules, except as otherwise provided by this code.

Effect to be given.

(854) § 2. A contract must be so interpreted as to give effect to the mutual intention of the parties, as it existed at the time of contracting, so far as the same is ascertainable and lawful.

Intention ascertained.

(855) § 3. For the purpose of ascertaining the intention of the parties to a contract, if otherwise doubtful, the rules given in this chapter are to be applied.

Language governs

(856) § 4. The language of a contract is to govern its interpretation, if the language is clear and explicit, and does not involve an absurdity.

Intention ascertained from writing if possible.

(857) § 5. When a contract is reduced to writing, the intention of the parties is to be ascertained from the writing alone, if possible, subject, however, to the other provisions of this title.

Error only to be disregarded.

(858) § 6. When through fraud, mistake, or accident, a written contract fails to express the real intention of the parties, such intention is to be regarded, and the erroneous parts of the writing disregarded.

Effect given to every part.

(859) § 7. The whole of a contract is to be taken together, so as to give effect to every part, if reasonably practicable, each clause helping to interpret the others.

Several contracts to be taken

(860) § 8. Several contracts relating to the same matters, between the same parties, and made as parts of substantially one transaction, are to be taken together.

Interpretation favors validity.

(861) § 9. A contract must receive such an interpretation as will make it lawful, operative, definite, reasonable and capable of being carried into effect, if it can be done without violating the intention of the parties.

Words to be taken in ordinary sense

(862) § 10. The words of a contract are to be understood in their ordinary and popular sense, rather than according to their strict legal meaning, unless used by the parties in a technical sense, or unless a special meaning is given to them by usage, in which case the latter must be followed.

Technical words.

(863) § 11. Technical words are to be interpreted as usually understood by persons in the profession or business to which they relate, unless clearly used in a different sense.

Law of place.

(864) § 12. A contract is to be interpreted according to the law and usage of the place where it is to be performed, or, if it does not indicate a place of performance, according to the law and usage of the place where it is made.

Circumstances explain

(865) § 13. A contract may be explained by reference to the circumstances under which it was made, and the matter to which it relates.

Restricted to intention of parties.

(866) § 14. However broad may be the terms of a contract, it extends only to those things concerning which it appears that the parties intended to contract.

Relief of promisor

(867) § 15. If the terms of a promise are in any respect ambiguous or uncertain, it must be interpreted in the sense in which the promisor believed, at the time of making it, that the promisee understood it.

Part subordinate to whole

(868) § 16. Particular clauses of a contract are subordinate to its general intent.

Written and original parts control.

(869) § 17. Where a contract is partly written and partly printed, or where part of it is written or printed under the special directions of the parties, and with a special view to their intention, and the remainder is copied from a form originally prepared without special reference to the particular parties and particular contract in question the written parts control the printed parts, and the parts which are purely original control those which are copied from a form. And if the two are absolutely repugnant, the latter must be so far disregarded.

Repugnancy, how reconciled.

(870) § 18. Repugnancy in a contract must be reconciled, if possible, by such an interpretation as will give some effect to the repugnant clause, subordinate to the general intent and purposes of the whole contract. Chap. 17.

Inconsistent words rejected

(871) § 19. Words in a contract which are wholly inconsistent with its nature, or with the main intention of the parties, are to be rejected.

Uncertainty, interpretation against party causing uncertainty.

(872) § 20. In cases of uncertainty not removed by the preceding rules, the language of a contract should be interpreted most strongly against the party who caused the uncertainty to exist. The promisor is presumed to be such party, except in a contract between a public officer or body, as such, and a private party, in which it is presumed that all uncertainty was caused by the private party.

Reasonable stipulation implied

(873) § 21. Stipulations which are necessary to make a contract reasonable, or conformable to usage, are implied in respect to matters concerning which the contract manifests no contrary intention.

Necessary incidents implied.

(874) § 22. All things that in law or usage are considered as incidental to a contract, or as necessary to carry it into effect, are implied therefrom, unless some of them are expressly mentioned therein, when all other things of the same class are deemed to be excluded.

No time specified, reasonable time to be given.

(875) § 23. If no time is specified for the performance of an act required to be performed, a reasonable time is allowed. If the act is in its nature capable of being done instantly, as for example, if it consists in the payment of money only, it must be performed immediately upon the thing to be done being exactly ascertained.

When time is essence.

(876) § 24. Time is never considered as of the essence of a contract, unless by its terms expressly so provided.

Joint and several promise.

(877) § 25. Where all the parties who unite in a promise receive some benefit from the consideration, whether past or present, their promise is presumed to be joint and several.

Singular number

(878) § 26. A promise made in the singular number, but executed by several persons, is presumed to be joint and several.

Executed contract defined.

(879) § 27. An executed contract is one, the object of which is fully performed. All others are executory.

ARTICLE 4.—UNLAWFUL CONTRACTS.

SECTION.		SECTION.
1.	What is unlawful.	6.	Restraints on legal proceedings.
2.	Certain contracts unlawful.	7.	Restraint of employment.
3.	Penalties void.	8.	Good-will excepted.
4.	Fixing damages void.	9.	Partners.
5	Exception.	10.	Restraint of marriage.

What is unlawful.

(880) § 1. That is not lawful which is:

First. Contrary to an express provision of law.

Second. Contrary to the policy of express law, though not expressly prohibited; or,

Third. Otherwise contrary to good morals.

Certain contracts unlawful.

(881) § 2. All contracts which have for their object, directly or indirectly, to exempt any one from responsibility for his own

Chap. 17. fraud, or wilful injury to the person or property of another, or violation of law, whether wilful or negligent, are against the policy of the law.

Penalties void

(882) § 3. Penalties imposed by contract for any non-performance thereof, are void. But this section does not render void such bonds or obligations, penal in form, as have heretofore been commonly used; it merely rejects and avoids the penal clauses.

Fixing damages void

(883) § 4. Every contract, by which the amount of damages to be paid, or other compensation to be made, for a breach of an obligation, is determined in anticipation thereof, is to that extent void, except as expressly provided by the next section.

Exception

(884) § 5. The parties to a contract may agree therein upon an amount which shall be presumed to be the amount of damage sustained by a breach thereof, when, from the nature of the case, it would be impracticable or extremely difficult to fix the actual damage.

Restraint of legal proceedings.

(885) § 6. Every stipulation or condition in a contract, by which any party thereto is restricted from enforcing his rights under the contract by the usual legal proceedings in the ordinary tribunals, or which limits the time within which he may thus enforce his rights, is void.

Restrain of employment.

(886) § 7. Every contract by which any one is restrained from exercising a lawful profession, trade or business of any kind, otherwise than as provided by the next two sections, is to that extent void.

Good will excepted.

(887) § 8. One who sells the good-will of a business may agree with the buyer to refrain from carrying on a similar business within a specified county, city or a part thereof, so long as the buyer, or any person deriving title to the good-will from him carries on a like business therein.

Partners.

(888) § 9. Partners may, upon or in anticipation of a dissolution of the partnership, agree that none of them will carry on a similar business within the same city or town where the partnership business has been transacted, or within a specified part thereof.

Restraint of marriage.

(889) § 10. Every contract in restraint of the marriage of any person, other than a minor, is void.

ARTICLE 5.—EXTINCTION OF CONTRACTS.

SECTION.		SECTION.
1.	Contracts extinguished how.	10.	Contracts in duplicate.
2.	Rescission extinguishes contract.	11.	Abstinence from injury.
3	When party may rescind.	12.	Damages for deceit.
4.	Essential mistake.	13	Deceits classed.
5.	Rescission, how and when.	14.	Deceit upon the public.
6.	Oral contract altered by writing.	15.	Restoration.
7.	Written contract altered, how.	16.	Must be voluntary.
8.	Destruction by consent.	17.	Wilful acts and negligence.
9.	Destruction by alteration.	18.	Other obligations.

Contract may be extinguished, how.

(890) § 1. A contract may be extinguished in like manner with any other obligation, and also in the manner prescribed by this title.

Rescission extinguishes.

(891) § 2. A contract is extinguished by its rescission,

Cases when party may rescind contract.

(892) § 3. A party to a contract may rescind the same in the following cases only:

First. If the consent of the party rescinding, or of any party jointly contracting with him, was given by mistake, or obtained through duress, menace, fraud, or undue influence, exercised by or with the connivance of the party as to whom he rescinds, or of any other party to the contract jointly interested with such party.

Second. If through the fault of the party as to whom he rescinds, the consideration for his obligation fails in whole or in part.

Third. If such consideration becomes entirely void from any cause.

Fourth. If such consideration, before it is rendered to him, fails in a material respect, from any cause; or,

Fifth. By consent of all the other parties.

Rescission allowed in essential mistake.

(893) § 4. A stipulation that errors of description shall not avoid a contract, or shall be the subject of compensation, or both, does not take away the right of rescission for fraud, nor for mistake, where such mistake is in a matter essential to the inducement of the contract, and is not capable of exact and entire compensation.

Rescission, how and when.

(894) § 5. Recission, when not effected by consent, can be accomplished only by the use, on the part of the party rescinding, of reasonable diligence to comply with the following rules:

First. He must rescind promptly, upon discovering the facts which entitle him to rescind, if he is free from duress, menace, undue influence, or disability, and is aware of his right to rescind; and,

Second. He must restore to the other party everything of value which he has received from him under the contract; or must offer to restore the same, upon condition that such party shall do likewise, unless the latter is unable, or positively refuses to do so.

Oral contract allowed by writing.

(895) § 6. A contract not in writing may be altered in any respect by consent of the parties, in writing, without a new consideration, and is extinguished thereby to the extent of the new alteration.

Written contract altered, how.

(896) § 7. A contract in writing may be altered by a contract in writing, or by an executed oral agreement, and not otherwise.

Destruction by consent.

(897) § 8. The destruction or cancellation of a written contract, or of the signature of the parties liable thereon, with intent to extinguish the obligation thereof, extinguishes it as to all the parties consenting to the act.

Destruction by alteration.

(898) § 9. The intentional destruction, cancellation, or material alteration of a written contract, by a party entitled to any benefit under it, or with his consent, extinguishes all the executory obligations of the contract in his favor, against parties who do not consent to the act.

Contracts in duplicate not affected

(899) § 10. Where a contract is executed in duplicate, an alteration or destruction of one copy, while the other exists, is not within the provisions of the last section.

Abstinence from injury.

(900) § 11. Every person is bound, without contract, to abstain from injuring the person or property of another, or infringing upon any of his rights.

Damages for deceit

(901) § 12. One who wilfully deceives another, with intent to induce him to alter his position to his injury or risk, is liable for any damage which he thereby suffers.

Deceits classed

(902) § 13. A deceit, within the meaning of the last section, is either:

First. The suggestion, as a fact, of that which is not true, by one who does not believe it to be true.

Second. The assertion, as a fact, of that which is not true, by one who has no reasonable ground for believing it to be true.

Third. The suppression of a fact by one who is bound to disclose it, or who gives information of other facts which are likely to mislead for want of communication of that fact; or,

Fourth. A promise, made without any intention of performing.

Deceit upon the public

(903) § 14. One who practices a deceit with intent to defraud the public, or a particular class of persons, is deemed to have intended to defraud every individual in that class, who is actually misled by the deceit.

Restoration

(904) § 15. One who obtains a thing without the consent of its owner, or by a consent afterwards rescinded, or by an unlawful exaction which the owner could not at the time prudently refuse, must restore it to the person from whom it was thus obtained, unless he has acquired a title thereto superior to that of such other person, or unless the transaction was corrupt and unlawful on both sides.

Must be voluntary.

(905) § 16. The restoration required by the last section must be made without demand; except where a thing is obtained by mutual mistake, in which case the party obtaining the thing is not bound to return it until he has notice of the mistake.

Wilful acts and negligence

(906) § 17. Every one is responsible, not only for the result of his wilful acts, but also for an injury occasioned to another by his want of ordinary care or skill in the management of his property or person, except so far as the latter has, wilfully or by want of ordinary care, brought the injury upon himself. The extent of liability in such cases is defined by the title on compensatory relief.

Other obligations.

(907) § 18. Other obligations are prescribed by the first and second divisions of this code.

ARTICLE 6.—LOAN OF MONEY.

SECTION.
1. Loan of money defined.
2. Repayment.
3. Interest presumed.
4. Interest defined.
5. Annual rate of interest.
6. Legal rate of interest.
7. Highest rate of interest.
8. Discount may be taken.
9. Usury forfeits interest only.
10. Interest on judgments.
11. Interest on contracts after breach.

Loan of money defined

(908) § 1. A loan of money is a contract by which one delivers a sum of money to another, and the latter agrees to return at a future time a sum equivalent to that which he borrowed. A loan for mere use is governed by the chapter on loan for use.

(909) § 2. A borrower of money must pay the amount due in such money as is current at the time when the loan becomes due, whether such money is worth more or less than the actual money lent. Repayment must be made in current funds.

(910) § 3. Whenever a loan of money is made, it is presumed to be made upon interest, unless it is otherwise expressly stipulated at the time in writing. Loan presumes interest.

(911) § 4. Interest is the compensation allowed for the use or forbearance, or detention of money, or its equivalent. Interest defined.

(912) § 5. When a rate of interest is prescribed by a law or contract, without specifying the period of time by which such rate is to be calculated, it is to be deemed an annual rate. Annual rate of interest

(913) § 6. Under an obligation to pay interest, no rate being specified, interest is payable at the rate of seven per centum per annum, and in the like proportion for a longer or shorter time; but in the computation of interest for less than a year, three hundred and sixty days are deemed to constitute a year. Legal interest seven per cent.

(914) § 7. First. The highest rate of interest which it shall be lawful for any person to take, receive, retain, or contract for in this Territory, shall be twelve per cent per annum, and at the same rate for a shorter time. Highest rate twelve per cent.

Second. Unless, within the above limitation, there is an express contract in writing fixing a different rate, interest is payable on all moneys at the rate of seven per cent per annum, after they become due on any instrument of writing, except a judgment, and on moneys lent, or due on any settlement of accounts, from the day on which the balance is ascertained, and on moneys received to the use of another and detained from him.

(915) § 8. The interest which would become due at the end of the term for which a loan is made, not exceeding one year's interest in all, may be deducted from the loan in advance if the parties thus agree. Discount may be taken.

(916) § 9. A person taking, receiving, retaining, or contracting for any higher rate of interest than the rate of twelve per cent per annum, shall forfeit all the interest so taken, received, retained, or contracted for; it being the intent and meaning of this section not to provide a forfeiture of any portion of the principal. When a greater rate of interest has been paid than twelve per cent per annum, the person paying it, or his personal representative, may recover the excess from the person taking it, or his personal representative, in an action in the proper court. Usury forfeits interest only.

(917) § 10. Interest is payable on judgments recovered in the courts of this Territory, at the rate of seven per cent per annum, and no greater rate, but such interest must not be compounded in any manner or form. Interest on judgments, seven per cent.

(918) § 11. Any legal rate of interest, stipulated by a contract, remains chargeable after a breach thereof, as before, until the contract is superseded by a verdict or other new obligation. Interest on contracts after breach.

18. Rent is payable.
19 Notice of proceeding to recover real property.
20. Part of room includes all
21. Obligation of one who lets personal property.
22. Ordinary expenses
23. Extraordinary expenses.
24. Return of thing hired.
25. Charter party.

Hiring defined

(919) § 1. Hiring is a contract by which one gives to another the temporary possession and use of property, other than money, for reward, and the latter agrees to return the same to the former at a future time.

Increase belongs to hirer

(920) § 2. The products of a thing hired, during the hiring, belong to the hirer.

Quiet possession.

(921) § 3. An agreement to let upon hire, binds the letter to secure to the hirer the quiet possession of the thing hired during the term of the hiring, against all persons lawfully claiming the same.

Ordinary care

(922) § 4. The hirer of a thing must use ordinary care for its preservation in safety and in good condition.

Repairs by hirer

(923) § 5. The hirer of a thing must repair all deteriorations or injuries thereto occasioned by his ordinary negligence.

Use for purpose for which thing was let.

(924) § 6. When a thing is let for a particular purpose, the hirer must not use it for any other purpose, and if he does, the letter may hold him responsible for its safety during such use, in all events, or may treat the contract as thereby rescinded.

Hiring may be terminated by letter.

(925) § 7. The letter of a thing may terminate the hiring, and reclaim the thing before the end of the term agreed upon:

First. When the hirer uses, or permits a use of the thing hired, in a manner contrary to the agreement of the parties; or,

Second. When the hirer does not, within a reasonable time after request, make such repairs as he is bound to make.

Hiring may be terminated by hirer.

(926) § 8. The hirer of a thing may terminate the hiring before the end of the term agreed upon:

First. When the letter does not, within a reasonable time after request, fulfill his obligations, if any, as to placing and securing the hirer in the quiet possession of the thing hired, or putting it into a good condition, or repairing; or,

Second. When the greater part of the thing hired, or that part which was, and which the latter had, at the time of the hiring, reason to believe was the material inducement to the hirer to enter into the contract, perishes from any other cause than the ordinary negligence of the hirer.

Terminated by other events

(927) § 9. The hiring of a thing terminates

First. At the end of the term agreed upon

Second. By the mutual consent of the parties.

Third. By the hirer acquiring a title to the thing hired, superior to that of the letter; or,

Fourth. By the destruction of the thing hired.

Terminated by death of party.

(928) § 10. If the hiring of a thing is terminable at the pleasure of one of the parties, it is terminated by notice to the other of his death or incapacity to contract. In other cases it is not terminated thereby.

Proportionate part

(929) § 11. When the hiring of a thing is terminated before the time originally agreed upon, the hirer must pay the due proportion of the hire for such use as he has actually made of the thing, unless such use is merely nominal, and of no benefit to him.

Dwelling must be made fit by lessor.

(930) § 12. The lessor of a building intended for the occupation of human beings must, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, put it into a condition fit for such occupation, and repair all subsequent dilapidations thereof, except that the lessee must repair all deteriorations or injuries thereto occasioned by his ordinary negligence.

When lessee may repair

(931) § 13. If within a reasonable time after notice to the lessor of delapidations which he ought to repair, he neglects to do so, the lessee may repair the same himself, and deduct the expense of such repairs from the rent, or otherwise recover it from the lessor; or the lessee may vacate the premises, in which case he shall be discharged from further payment of rent, or performance of other conditions.

Lease presumed to be for one year.

(932) § 14. A hiring of real property, other than lodgings, in places where there is no usage on the subject, is presumed to be for one year from its commencement, unless otherwise expressed in the hiring.

Rent term limits lodging

(933) § 15. A hiring of lodgings for an unspecified term is presumed to have been made for such length of time as the parties adopt for the estimation of the rent. Thus a hiring at a weekly rate of rent is presumed to be for one week. In the absence of any agreement respecting the length of time of the rent, the hiring is presumed to be monthly.

Continued possession renews the lease

(934) § 16. If a lessee of real property remains in posession thereof, after the expiration of the hiring and the lessor accepts rent from him, the parties are presumed to have renewed the hiring on the same terms and for the same time, not exceeding one year.

Renewal presumed unless notice of termination is given.

(935) § 17. A hiring of real property, for a term not specified by the parties, is deemed to be renewed, as stated in the last section, at the end of the term implied by law, unless one of the parties gives notice to the other of his intention to terminate the same, at least as long before the expiration thereof as the term of the hiring itself, not exceeding one month.

Rent is payable, when.

(936) § 18. When there is no contract or usage to the contrary, the rent of agricultural and wild land is payable yearly at the end of each year. Rents of lodgings are payable monthly at the end of each month. Other rents are payable quarterly at the end of each quarter from the time the hiring takes effect. The rent for a hiring shorter than the periods herein specified is payable at the termination of the hiring.

Tenant must inform landlord in case of notice of proceeding to recover real property

(937) § 19. Every tenant who receives notice of any proceeding to recover the real property occupied by him or the possession thereof must immediately inform his landlord of the same, and also deliver to the landlord the notice, if in writing, and is responsible to the landlord for all damages which he may sustain by reason of any omission to inform him of the notice, or to deliver it to him if in writing. The attornment of a tenant to a stranger is void, unless it is made with the consent of the landlord, or in consequence of a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction.

Part of room includes all.

(938) § 20. One who hires part of a room for a dwelling is entitled to the whole of the room, notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary; and if a landlord lets a room as a dwelling for more than one family, the person to whom he first lets any part of it is entitled to the possession of the whole room for the term agreed upon, and every tenant in the building, under the same landlord, is relieved from all obligation to pay rent to him while such double letting of any room continues.

Obligations of one who lets personal property.

(939) § 21. One who lets personal property must deliver it to the hirer, secure his quiet enjoyment thereof against all lawful claimants, put it into a condition fit for the purpose for which he lets it, and repair all deteriorations thereof not occasioned by the fault of the hirer, and not the natural result of its use.

Ordinary expenses borne by hirer

(940) § 22. A hirer of personal property must bear all such expenses concerning it as might naturally be foreseen to attend it during its use by him. All other expenses must be borne by the letter.

Extraordinary expenses

(941) § 23. If a letter fails to fulfill his obligations, as prescribed by section 939, the hirer, after giving him notice to do so, if such notice can conveniently be given, may expend any reasonable amount necessary to make good the letter's default, and may recover such amount from him.

Return of thing hired.

(942) § 24. At the expiration of the term for which personal property is hired, the hirer must return it to the letter at the place contemplated by the parties at the time of hiring, or if no particular place was so contemplated by them, at the place which it was at that time.

Charter-party.

(943) § 25. The contract by which a ship is let is termed a charter-party. By it the owner may either let the capacity or burden of the ship, continuing the employment of the owner's master, crew and equipments, or may surrender the entire ship to the charterer, who then provides them himself. The master or part owner may be a charterer.

(944) § 1. A corporation is a creature of the law, having certain powers and duties of a natural person. Being created by the law, it may continue for any length of time which the law prescribes. Corporations creatures of the law.

(945) § 2. A corporation can only be created by authority of a statue. But the statue may be special for a particular corporation, or general for a number of corporations. Corporation created by statute.

(946) § 3. Every grant of corporate power is subject to alteration, suspension or repeal, in the discretion of the legislature. Power reserved

(947) § 4. The due incorporation of any company, claiming in good faith to be a corporation under this chapter, and doing business as such, or its right to exercise corporate powers, shall not be inquired to collaterally, in any private suit to which such de facto corporation may be a party; but such inquiry may be had, and action brought, at the suit of the Territory, in the manner prescribed in civil procedure. Incorporation cannot be attacked collaterally.

(948) § 5. Every corporation must have a corporate name, which it has no power to change unless expressly authorized by law; but the misnomer of a corporation in any written instrument does not invalidate the instrument if it can be reasonably ascertained from it what corporation is intended. Must have corporate name.

(949) § 6. Corporations are either : Classes of corporations.

First. Public ; or,

Chap. 18.

Second. Private.

Public corporations.

(950) § 7. Public corporations are formed or organized for the government of a portion of the Territory. Such corporations are regulated by local statute.

Private corporations

(951) § 8. Private corporations are formed for the purpose of religion, benevolence, education, art, literature, or profit; and all corporations not public are private.

Articles of incorporation, officers

(952) § 9. The instrument by which a private corporation is formed is called "articles of incorporation," or "certificate of incorporation." And one-third of the officers of such corporations shall be residents of this Territory.

Acceptance absolute.

(953) § 10. In order to constitute a private corporation, there must not only be a statutory grant of corporate authority, but an acceptance of that grant by a majority of the corporators, or their agents. The acceptance cannot be conditional or qualified.

Acceptance, how proved.

(954) § 11. Except when otherwise expressly provided, the acceptance of a grant of corporate authority may be proved like any other fact.

Private corporations, for what purposes.

(955) § 12. Private corporations can be formed by the voluntary association of three or more persons, upon complying with the provisions of this chapter, for the following purposes, namely; mining, manufacturing and other industrial pursuits; the construction or operation of railroads, wagon roads, irrigating ditches; for colleges, seminaries, churches, libraries, benevolent, charitable, and scientific associations; for conducting the business of insurance, banks of discount and deposit (but not of issue), and for loan, trust and guarantee associations: Provided, however, That no insurance company shall be incorporated under the provisions of this act except by the voluntary association of seven or more persons.

Religious corporations may hold certain amount of real estate.

(956) § 13. No corporation or association for religious or charitable purposes shall acquire or hold real estate in this Territory, during the existence of the Territorial government, of a greater value than fifty thousand dollars; and all real estate acquired or held by such corporations or associations contrary hereto, shall be forfeited and escheat to the United States; but existing vested rights in real estate shall not be impaired by the provisions of this section.

Contents of articles of incorporation.

(957) § 14. Articles of incorporation must be prepared setting forth:

First. The name of the corporation.

Second. The purpose for which it is formed.

Third. The place where its principal business is to be transacted.

Fourth. The term for which it is to exist.

Fifth. The number of its directors or trustees, and the names and residences of such of them who are to serve until the election of such officers, and their qualifications.

Sixth. If there be a capital stock, its amount and the number of shares into which it is divided.

Railroad and wagon roads

(958) § 15. The articles of incorporation of any railroad or wagon road must also state:

First. The kind of road intended to be constructed.

Second. The place from and to which it is intended to be run, and all the intermediate branches.

Third. The counties through which it is intended to be run.

Fourth. The estimated length and cost of the road.

One-third of incorporators must be residents.

(959) § 16. The articles of incorporation must be subscribed by three or more persons, one-third of whom must be residents of this Territory, and acknowledged by each before some officer authorized to take and certify acknowedgments of conveyances of real property.

Certificate to issue on filing articles of incorporation.

(960) § 17. Upon the filing of the articles of incorporation with the Secretary of the Territory, he shall issue to the corporation, over the great seal of the Territory, a certificate that the articles containing the required statement of facts have been filed in his office; and thereupon the persons signing the articles, and their associates and successors, shall be a body politic and corporate by the name and for the purposes stated in said articles.

Articles to be recorded.

(961) § 18. Upon the filing of any articles of incorporation, as in the last section is prescribed, the Secretary of the Territory shall cause the same to be recorded in a book to be kept in his office for that purpose to be called "the book of corporations," with the date of filing.

Copy of articles evidence.

(962) § 19. A copy of any articles of incorporation filed in pursuance of this chapter, and certified by the Secretary of the Territory, must be received in all courts and other places as prima facia evidence of the facts therein stated, and of the existence of such corporation.

Not necessary to prove incorporation

(963) § 20. In all civil actions brought by or against ac orporation, it shall not be necessary to prove on the trial of the cause the existence of such corporation, unless the defendant shall in his answer expressly aver that the plaintiff or defendant is not a corporation.

Stockholders; members.

(964) § 21. The owners of shares in a corporation which has a capital stock are called stockholders. If a corporation has no capital stock, the incorporators and their successors are called members.

Stock of minor, insane person or decedent.

(965) § 22. The shares of stock of an estate of a minor, or insane person, may, at all elections and meetings of a corporation, be represented by his guardian, and of a deceased person by his executor or administrator.

Married woman's stock.

(966) § 23. Shares of stock in corporations held or owned by a married woman may be transferred by her, her agent or attorney, in the same manner as if she were a femme sole; and any proxy or power given by her, touching any shares of stock of any corporation owned by her, is valid and binding the same as if she were unmarried.

SECTION.
1. Subscriptions to stock may be enforced.
2. Books to be opened for subscriptions to stock.
3. Stock forfeited for non-payment or payment enforced.
4. Stock is negotiable.
5. Excess of stock void.
6. Corporation may own its stock.
7. Dividends belong to whom.

Subscription to stock may be enforced.

(967) § 1. A subscription to the stock of a corporation about to be formed, is to be held for the benefit of the corporation when it is formed, and may be enforced by it.

Books to be opened for subscription of stock,

(968) § 2. After the Secretary of the Territory issues the certificate of incorporation as provided in section 960, the directors named in the articles of incorporation must proceed in the manner specified or provided in their by-laws; or, if none, then in such manner as they may by order adopt, to open books of subscription to the capital stock then unsubscribed, and to secure subscriptions to the full amount of the fixed capital; and to levy assessments and installments thereon, and to collect the same as in article 6 of this chapter, assessments of stock are required to be made.

May either forfeit the stock or recover subscription

(969) § 3. When a corporation is authorized by the terms of subscription, or otherwise, to forfeit stock for non-payment, it may either forfeit the stock, or recover the amount of the subscription, but it cannot do both.

Stock is negotiable

(970) § 4. All corporations for profit must issue certificates of stock when fully paid up, signed by the president and secretary, and may provide in their by-laws for issuing certificates prior to the full payment, under such restrictions and for such purposes as their by-laws may provide. Whenever the capital stock of any corporation is divided into shares, and certificates therefor are issued, such shares of stock are personal property, aud may be transferred by endorsement by the signature of the proprietor, or his attorney or legal representative, and delivery of the certificate; but such transfer is not valid except between the parties thereto, until the same is so entered upon the books of the corporation as to show the names of the parties by and to whom transferred, the number or designation of the shares, and the date of the transfer.

Excess void.

(971) § 5. A corporation whose capital is limited by its charter, either in amount or in number of shares, cannot issue valid certificates in excess of the limit thus prescribed.

Corporation may own its stock

(972) § 6 Unless otherwise provided, a corporation may purchase, hold and transfer shares of its own stock, from its surplus profits, or as provided in the article on assessments of stock, or by the unanimous consent in writing of all its stockholders, in such manner and for such price or consideration as the said stockholders may unanimonsly decide upon.

Dividend belongs to whom

(973) § 7. A dividend belongs to the person in whose name the stock stands upon the books of the corporation on the day when it becomes payable.

SECTION.
1. Powers of corporations.
2. By-laws adopted by whom.
3. What the by-laws may provide.
4. By-laws must be certified and recorded repeal of by-laws.
5. Election of directors.
6. Same.
7. Same.
8. Number of directors and their powers;
9. Directors to organize and elect officers.
10. Dividends and debts; statute of limitations; false representations.
11. False representation of officer.
12. Removal of directors.
13. Quorum of stockholders; proxies.
14. Election failing; place of meeting; power of justice of the peace.
15. Individual liability of stockholders for debts.
16. Uncalled meeting is valid, when.
17. Transfers of non-resident stock.
18. Change in amount of capital stock.

Powers of corporations

(974) § 1. Every corporation, as such, has power:

First. To have succession by its corporate name, for the period limited; and when no period is limited, perpetually.

Second. To sue and be sued; to complain and defend in any court.

Third. To make and use a common seal, and alter the same at pleasure.

Fourth. To purchase, hold, transfer and convey such real and personal property as the legitimate purposes of the corporation may require, not exceeding, in any case, any amount limited by law.

Fifth. To appoint such subordinate officers and agents as the business of the corporation may require, and to allow them suitable compensation.

Sixth. To make by-laws not inconsistent with the law of the land, for the management of its property, the regulation of its affairs, and for the transfer of its stock.

Seventh. To admit stockholders or members, and to sell their stock or shares for the payment of assessments or installments.

Eighth. To enter into any obligations or contracts essential to the transaction of its ordinary affairs, or for the purposes of the corporation.

In addition to the above enumerated powers, and to those expressly given in any other statute under which it is incorporated, no corporation shall possess or exercise any corporate powers, except such as are necessary to the exercise of the powers enumerated and given.

By-laws adopted by whom

(975) § 2. Every corporation formed under this chapter must, within one month after filing articles of incorporation, adopt a code of by-laws for its government not inconsistent with the laws of the United States or of this Territory. The assent of stockholders representing a majority of all the subscribed capital stock, or of a majority of the members, if there be no capital stock, is necessary to adopt by-laws, if they are adopted at a meeting called for that purpose; and in the event of such meeting being called, two weeks notice of the same, by advertisment in some newspaper published in the county in which the principal place of business of the corporation is located, or if none is published therein, then in a paper published in an adjoining county, must be given by order of the acting president. The written assent of the holders of two-thirds of the stock, or of two-thirds of the members, if there be no capital stock, shall be effectual to adopt a code of by-laws without a meeting for that purpose.

What the by-laws may provide

(976) § 3. A corporation may, by its by-laws, where no other provision is specially made, provide:

First. The time, place, and manner of calling and conducting its meetings.

Second. The number of stockholders or members constituting a quorum.

Third. The mode of voting by proxy.

Fourth. The time of the annual election for directors, and the mode and manner of giving notice thereof.

Fifth. The compensation and duties of officers.

Sixth. The manner of election and the tenure of office of all officers other than the directors; and,

Seventh. Suitable penalties for violations of by-laws, not exceeding, in any case, one hundred dollars for any one offense.

By-laws must be certified and recorded, repeal of by-laws

(977) § 4. All by-law adopted must be certified by a majority of the directors and secretary of the corporation, and copied in a legible hand in some book kept in the office of the corporation, to be known as "the book of by-laws," and no by-law shall take effect until so copied, and the book shall then be open to the inspection of the public during office hours of each day except holidays. The by-laws may be repealed or amended, or new by-laws may be adopted at the annual meeting, or at any other meeting of the stockholders or members, called for that purpose by the directors, by a vote representing two-thirds of the subscribed stock, or by two-thirds of the members; or the power to repeal and amend the by-laws and to adopt new by-laws may, by a similar vote at any such meeting, be delegated to the board of directors. The power, when delegated, may be revoked by a similar vote at any regular meeting of the stockholders or members. Whenever any amendment or new by-law is adopted it shall be copied in the book of by-laws with the original by-laws, and immediately after them, and shall not take effect until so copied. If any by-law be repealed, the fact of the repeal with the date of the meeting at which the repeal was enacted, shall be stated in the said book, and until so stated, the repeal shall not take effect.

Election of directors.

(978) § 5. The directors of a corporation must be elected annually by the stockholders or members, and if no provision is made in the by-laws for the time of election, the election must be held on the first Tuesday in June. Notice of such election must be given, and the right to vote determined, as provided in section 975.

Same

(979) § 6. At the first meeting at which by-laws are adopted, or at such subsequent meeting as may be then designated, directors must be elected to hold their offices for one year, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

Same

(980) § 7. All elections of directors must be by ballot, and a vote of stookholders representing a majority of the subscribed capital stock, or of a majority of the members, is necessary to a choice,

If there be capital stock in the corporation, each stockholder is entitled to one vote for each share held by him at all such elections, and also at all elections at other meetings of stockholders.

Number of directors and their powers.

(981) § 8. The corporate powers, business and property of all corporations formed under this chapter must be exercised, conducted and controlled by a board of not less than three nor more than eleven directors, to be elected from among the holders of stock; or where there is no capital stock, then from the members of such corporation. Directors of corporations for profit must be holders of stock therein in an amount to be fixed by the by-laws of the corporation. Directors of all other corporations must be members thereof. Unless a quorum is present and acting, no business performed or act done is valid as against the corporation. Whenever a vacancy occurs in the office of director, unless the by-laws of the corporation otherwise provide, such vacancy must be filled by an appointee of the board.

Directors to organize and elect officers

(982) § 9. Immediately after their election, the directors must organize by the election of a president, who must be one of their number, a secretary and treasurer. They must perform the duties enjoined on them by law and the by-laws of the corporation. A majority of the directors is a sufficient number to form a board for the transaction of business, and every decision of a majority of the directors forming such board, made when duly assembled, is valid as a corporate act.

Dividends, debts, statute of limitations does not apply.

(983) § 10. The directors of corporations must not make dividends except from the surplus profit arising from the business thereof, nor must they divide, withdraw, or pay to the stockholders, or any of them, any part of the capital stock; nor must they create debts beyond their subscribed capital stock, or reduce or increase their capital stock, except as specially provided by law. For a violation of the provisions of this section, the directors under whose administration the same may have happened (except those who may have caused their dissent therefrom to be entered at large on the minutes of the directors at the time, or were not present when the same did happen), are, in their individual and private capacity, jointly and severally liable to the corporation, and to the creditors thereof, in the event of its dissolution, to the full amount of the capital stock so divided, withdrawn, paid out, or reduced, or debt contracted; and no statute of limitations is a bar to any suit against such directors for any sums for which they are made liable by this section. There may, however, be a division and distribution of the capital stock of any corporation which remains after the payment of all its debts, upon its dissolution or the expiration of its term of existence.

False representation by officer.

(984) § 11. Any officer of a corporation who wilfully gives a certificate, or wilfully makes an official report, public notice, or entry in any of the records or books of the corporation, concerning the corporation or its business, which is false in any material representation, shall be liable for all the damages resulting therefrom to any person injured thereby; and if two or more officers unite or participate in the commission of any of the acts herein designated, they shall be jointly and severally liable.

Chap. 18.

Removal of directors.

(985) § 12. No director shall be removed from office, unless by a vote of two-thirds of the members, or of stockholders holding two-thirds of the capital stock, at a general meeting held after notice of the time and place, and of the intention to propose such removal. Meetings of stockholders for this purpose may be called by the president, or by a majority of the directors, or by members or stockholders holding at least one-half of the votes. Such calls must be in writing and addressed to the secretary, who must thereupon give notice of the time, place, and object of the meeting, and by whose order it was called. If the secretary refuse to give the notice, or if there is none, the call may be addressed directly to the members or stockholders, and be served as a notice, in which case it must specify the time and place of meeting. The notice must be given in the manner provided in section 975, unless other express provision has been made therefor in the by-laws. In case of removal, the vacancy may be filled by election at the same meeting.

Quorum of stockholders, proxies

(986) § 13. At all elections or votes had for any purpose, there must be a majority of the subscribed capital stock or of the members, represented either in person or by proxy, in writing. Every person acting therein, in person, or by proxy, or representative, must be a member thereof or a bona fide stockholder, having stock in his own name on the stock books of the corporation at least ten days prior to the election. Any vote or election had other than in accordance with the provisions of this article is voidable at the instance of absent stockholders or members, and may be set aside by petition to the district court of the county where the same was held. Any regular or called meeting of the stockholders or members may adjourn from day to day, or from time to time, if for any reason there is not present a majority of the subscribed stock or members, or no election or majority vote had; such adjournment and the reasons therefor being recorded in the journal of proceedings of the board of directors.

Election failing, place of meeting, justice of the peace may call meeting in absence of any other officer

(987) § 14. First. If from any cause an election does not take place on the day appointed in the by-laws, it may be held on any day thereafter as is provided for in such by-laws, or to which such election may be adjourned or ordered by the directors. If an election has not been held at the appointed time, and no adjourned or other meeting for the purpose has been ordered by the directors, a meeting may be called by the stockholders, as provided in section 985.

Second. Upon the application of any person or body corporate aggrieved by any election held by any corporate body, or any proceedings thereof, the district judge of the district in which such election is held must proceed forthwith summarily to hear the allegations and proofs of the parties, or otherwise inquire into the matters of complaint, and thereupon confirm the election, order a new one, or direct such other relief in the premises as accords with right and justice. Before any proceedings had are under this section, five days notice thereof must be given to the adverse party, or those to be affected thereby.

Third. The meetings of the stockholders and board of directors of a corporation must be held at its office or principal place of business: Provided, That the meetings of the boards of directors of railroad corporations having one or more directors resident in this Territory, or having duly appointed an agent resident in this Territory, upon whom service may be made, may be held at any place mentioned in the notice convening said board of directors, either within or without the Territory,

Fourth. When no provision is made in the by-laws for regular meetings of the directors and the mode of calling special meetings, all meetings must be called by special notice in writing, to be given to each director by the secretary, on the order of the president, or if there be none, on the order of two directors,

Fifth. Whenever, from any cause, there is no person authorized to call or to preside at a meeting of a corporation, any justice of the peace of the county where such corporation is established, may, on written application of three or more of the stockholders or of the members thereof, issue a warrant to one of the stockholders or members, directing him to call a meeting of the corporation; by giving the notice required, and the justice may in the same warrant direct such person to preside at such meeting until a clerk is chosen and qualified, if there is no other officer present legally authorized to preside thereat.

Individual liability of stockholders for debts.

(988) § 15. Each stockholder of a corporation is individually and personally liable for the debts of the corporation to the extent of the amount that is unpaid upon the stock held by him. Any creditor of the corporation may institute joint or several actions against any of its stockholders that have not wholly paid the capital stock held by him, and in such action the court must ascertain the amount that is unpaid upon the stock held by each stockholder and for which he is liable, and several judgment must be rendered against each in conformity therewith. The liability of each stockholder is determined by the amount unpaid upon the stock or shares owned by him at the time such action is commenced, and such liability is not released by any subsequent transfer of stock. And in no other case shall the stockholders be individually and personally liable for the debts of the corporation. The term "stockholder," as used in this section, shall apply not only to such persons as appear by the books of the corporation to be such, but also to every equitable owner of stock, although the same appear on the books in the name of another; and also to every person who has advanced the installments or purchase money of stock in the name of a minor, so long as the latter remains a minor; and also to every guardian or other trustee who voluntarily invests any trust funds in the stock. Trust funds in the hands of a guardian or trustee shall not be liable under the provisions of this section by reason of any such investment, nor shall the person for whose benefit the investment is made be responsible in respect to the stock nntil he becomes competent and able to control the same; but the responsibility of the guardian or trustee making the investment shall continue until that period. Stock held as collateral security, or by a trustee, or in any other representative capacity; does not make the holder thereof a stockholder within the meaning of this section, except in the cases above mentioned, so as to charge him with the debts or liabilities of the corporation; but the pledgor or person or estate represented, is to be deemed the stockholder as respects such liability.

Unlawful meeting valid, when

(989) § 16. When all the stockholders or members of a corporation are present at any meeting, however called or notified, and sign a written consent thereto on the record of such meeting, the doings of such meeting are as valid as if had at a meeting legally called and noticed. The stockholders or members of such corporation, when so assembled, may elect officers to fill all vacancies then existing, and may act upon such other business as might lawfully be transacted at regular meetings of the corporation.

Transfers of non-resident stock.

(990) § 17. When the shares of stock in a corporation are owned by parties residing out of the Territory, the president, secretary and directors of the corporation, before entering any transfer of the shares on its books, or issuing a certificate thereof to the transferee, may require from the attorney or agent of the non-resident owner, or from the person claiming under the transfer, an affidavit or other evidence that the non-resident owner was alive at the date of the transfer; and if such affidavt or other satisfactory evidence be not furnished, may require from the attorney, agent, or claimant, a bond of indemnity, with two sureties satisfactory to the officers of the corporation. or if not so satisfactory, then one approved by the district judge of the county in which the principal office of the corporation is situated, conditioned to protect the corporation against any liability to the legal representatives of the owner of the shares, in case of his or her death before the transfer, and if such affidavit or other evidence or bond be not furnished when required, as herein provided, neither the corporation nor any officer thereof shall be liable for refusing to enter the transfer on the books of the corporation.

Change in amount of capital stock

(991) § 18. Every corporation may increase or diminish its capital stock at a meeting called for that purpose by the directors, as follows:

First. Notice of the time and place of the meeting, stating its object and the amount to which it is proposed to increase or diminish its capital stock, must be personally served on each stockholder resident in the Territory, at his place of residence, if known, and, if not known, at the place where the principal office of the corporation is situated, and be published in a newspaper published in the county of such principal place of business, once a week for four weeks successsively.

Second. The capital stock must in no case be diminished to an amount less than the indebtedness of the corporation, or the estimated cost of the works which it may be the purpose of the corporation to construct.

Third. At least two-thirds of the entire capital stock must be represented by the vote in favor of the increase or diminution before it can be effected.

Fourth. A certificate must be signed by the chairman and secretary of the meeting, and a majority of the directors, showing a compliance with the requirements of this section, the amount to which the capital stock has been increased or diminished, the amount of stock represented at the meeting, and the vote by which the object was accomplished.

Fifth. The certificate must be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Territory, there to be recorded in the book of corporations, and thereupon the capital stock shall be so increased or diminished.

Sixth. The written assent of the holders of three-fourths of the subscribed capital stock shall be as effectual to authorize the increase or diminution of the capital stock as if a meeting were called and held; and upon such written assent the directors may proceed to make the certificate herein provided for.

ARTICLE 4.—CORPORATE RECORDS.

SECTION 1.
Record of business transactions; stock book; publicity.

(992) § 1. All corporations for profit are required to keep a record of all their business transactions; a journal of all meetings of their directors, members or stockholders, with the time and place of holding the same, whether regular or special, and if special, its object, how authorized, and the notice thereof given. The record must embrace every act done, or ordered to be done; who were present and who were absent; and, if requested by any director, member, or stockholder, the time shall be noted when he entered the meeting or obtained leave of absence therefrom. On a similar request, the ayes and nays must be taken on any proposition, and a record thereof made. On a similar request, the protest of any director, member, or stockholder to any action or proposed action, must be entered in full; all such records to be open to the inspection of any director, member, stockholder, or creditor of the corporation.

Record of business transactions; stock book, publicity.

Second. In addition to the records above required to be kept, corporations for profit must keep a book, to be known as the "stock and transfer book," in which must be kept a record of all stock; the names of the stockholders or members, alphabetically arranged; installments paid or unpaid; assessments levied and paid or unpaid; a statement of every alienation, sale or transfer of stock made, the date thereof, and by and to whom; and all such other records as the by-laws prescribe. Corporations for religious and benevolent purposes must provide in their by-laws for such records to be kept as may be necessary. Such stock and transfer book must be kept open to the inspection of any stock-holder, member, or creditor.

ARTICLE 5.—DISSOLUTION OF CORPORATIONS.

SECTION.
1. Dissolution of Corporations.
2. Lapse of corporation by non-user.
3. Directors are trustees on dissolution.
4. Liability of trustees.
5. Revival of corporations.

Chap. 18.

Dissolution of corporations, involuntary, voluntary, by the district court.

(993) § 1. A corporation is dissolved:

First. By the expiration of the time limited by its articles of incorporation.

Second. Its involuntary dissolution is provided for in sections 5357, 5358 and 5359.:

[SECTION 5357. If it shall be adjudged that a corporation against which an action shall have been brought pursuant to this chapter, has by neglect, abuse, or surrender, forfeited its corporate rights, privileges and franchises, judgment shall be rendered that the corporation be excluded from such corporate rights, privileges and franchises, and that the corporation be dissolved.

SECTION 5358. If judgment be rendered in such action against a corporation, or against a person claiming to be a corporation, the court may cause the costs therein to be collected by execution against the person claiming to be a corporation, or by attachment or process against the directors or other officers of such corporation.

SECTION 5359. When such judgment shall be rendered against a corporation the court has power to restrain the corporation, to appoint a receiver of its property, and to take an account and make distribution thereof among its creditors; and the district attorney must, immediately after the rendition of such judgment, institute proceedings for that purpose.—Dakota code.]

Third. If voluntary, its dissolution may be effected in the following manner:

First. A corporation may be dissolved by the district court of the county where its office or principal place of business is situated, upon its voluntary application for that purpose.

Second. The application must be in writing, and must set forth; that at a meeting of the stockholders or members called for that purpose, the dissolution of the corporation was resolved upon by a two-thirds vote of all the stockholders or members; and that all claims and demands against the corporation have been satisfied and discharged.

Third. The application must be signed by a majority of the board of directors, trustees, or other officers having the management of the affairs of the corporation, and must be verified in the same manner as a complaint in a civil action.

Fourth. If the court is satisfied that the application is in conformity with this article, it must order the application to be filed and that the clerk give not less than thirty nor more than fifty days notice of the application, by publication in some newspaper published in the county,and if there are none such, then by advertisement posted up in five of the principal public places in the county.

Fifth. At any time before the expiration of the time of publication any person may file his objections to the application.

Sixth. After the time of publication has expired, the court may, upon five days notice to the persons who have filed objections or without further notice if no objections have been filed proceed to hear and determine the application; and if all the statements therein made are shown to be true, the court must declare the corporation dissolved.

Seventh. The application, notices and proof of publication, objections (if any) and declaration of dissolution, constitute the judgment roll, and from the judgment an appeal may be taken in the same manner as in other actions. Chap. 18.

Lapse of corporation by non-user.

(994) § 2. If a corporation does not organize and commence the transaction of business, or the construction of its works, within one year from the date of its incorporation, its corporate powers cease.

Directors are trustees on dissolution

(995) § 3. Unless other persons are appointed by the court, the directors or managers of the affairs of such corporation at the time of its dissolution are trustees of the creditors and stockholders or members of the corporation dissolved, and have full power to settle the affairs of the corporation, and to collect and pay debts and divide among the stockholders the property which remains after the payment of debts and necessary expenses; and for such purposes may maintain or defend actions in their own names by the style of the trustees of such corporation dissolved, naming it; and no action whereto any such corporation is a party shall abate by reason of such dissolution.

Liability of trustees.

(996) § 4. The trustees mentioned in the preceding section are jointly and severally responsible to the creditors, stockholders and members of the corporation, to the extent of its property in their hands.

Revival of corporation.

(997) § 5. A corporation once dissolved can be revived only by the same power by which it could be created.

ARTICLE 6.—ASSESSMENTS OF STOCK.

SECTION.
1. Assessments may be levied, when.
2. Assessment limited.
3. New assessment can be levied, when.
4. Requisites of an assessment.
5. Form of notice.
6. Service of the notice.
7. Assessment unpaid; stock declared delinquent.
8. Contents of the notice
9. Publication of the notice.
10. Effect of publication.
11. Sale of the stock.
12. Definition of the term "bidder."
13. Stock bid in by corporation, when.
14. Stock held by corporation
15. Extension of notice.
16. Irregularities.
17. Redemption of stock; action to recover.
18. Proof of notice.
19. Directors may bring action.
20. Interest of delinquent member of corporation may be sold.
21. Purchaser becomes a member of the corporation.

Assessments may be levied, when.

(998) § 1. The directors of any corporation formed or existing under the laws of this Territory, after one-fourth of its capital stock has been subscribed, may, for the purpose of paying expenses, conducting business, or paying debts, levy and collect assessments upon the subscribed capital stock thereof, in the manner and form and to the extent provided herein.

Assessment limited.

(999) § 2. No assessment must exceed ten per cent of the amount of the capital stock named in the articles of incorporation. except in the cases in this section otherwise provided for, as follows:

First. If the whole capital of a corporation has not been paid up, and the corporation is unable to meet its liabilities or to satisfy the claims of its creditors, the assessment may be for the full amount unpaid upon the capital stock; or if a less amount is sufficient then it may be for such a percentage as will raise that amount.

Second. The directors of railroad corporations may assess the capital stock in installments of not more than ten per cent per month, unless in the articles of incorporation it is otherwise provided.

Third. The directors of fire or marine insurance corporations may assess such a percentage of the capital stock as they deem proper.

New assessment can be levied, when.

(1000) § 3. No assessment must be levied while any portion of a previous one remains unpaid, unless:

First. The power of the corporation has beeh exercised in accordance with the provisions of this article for the purpose of collecting such previous assessment.

Second. The collection of the previous assessment has been enjoined; or,

Third. The assessment falls within the provisions of either the first, second or third subdivision of section 999.

Requisites of an assessment.

(1001) § 4. Every order levying an assessment must specify the amount thereof, when, to whom and where payable, fix a day, subsequent to the full term of publication of the assessment notice, on which the unpaid assessments shall be delinquent, not less than thirty nor more than sixty days from the time of making the order of levying the assessment; and a day for the sale of delinquent stock, not less than fifteen nor more than sixty days from the day the stock is declared delinquent.

Form of notice.

(1002) § 5. Upon the making of the order, the secretary shall cause to be published a notice thereof, in the following form:

(Name of corporation in full Location of principal place of business.)

Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the directors, held on the (date), an assessment of (amount) per share was levied upon the capital stock of the corporation, payable (when, to whom and where). Any stock upon which this assessment shall remain unpaid on the (day fixed) will be delinquent and advertised for sale at public auction, and, unless payment is made before, will be sold on the (day appointed), to pay the delinquent assessment, together with costs of advertising and expenses of sale.

(Signature of secretary, with location of office).

Service of the notice.

(1003) § 6. The notice must be personally served upon each stockholder, or in lieu of personal service, must be sent through the mail, addressed to each stockholder at his place of residence, if known, and if not known, at the place where the principal office of the corporation is situated, and be published once a week for four successive weeks in some newspaper of general circulation and devoted to the publication of general news, published at the place designated in the articles of incorporation as the principal place of business, and also in some newspaper published in the county in which the works of the corporation are situated, if a paper be published therein. If the works of the corporation are not within a state or territory of the United States, publication in a paper of the place where they are situated is not necessary. If there be no newspaper published at the place designated as the principal place of business of the corporation, then the publication must be made in some other newspaper of the county, if there be one, and if there be none, then in a newspaper published in an adjoining county.

Assessment unpaid, stock declared delinquent.

(1004) § 7. If any portion of the assessment mentioned in the notice remains unpaid on the day specified therein for declaring the stock delinquent, the secretary must, unless otherwise ordered by the board of directors, cause to be published in the same papers in which the notice hereinbefore provided for shall have been published, a notice substantially in the following form:

(Name in full. Location of principal place of business.)

NOTICE.—There is delinquent upon the following described stock, on account of assessment levied on the (date), (and assessments levied previous thereto, if any), the several amounts set opposite the names of the respective shareholders, as follows: (Names, number of certificate, number of shares, amount). And in accordance with law (and an order of the board of directors made on the (date), if any such order shall have been made), so many shares of each parcel of such stock as may be necessary, will be sold, at the (particular place), on the (date), at (the hour) of such day, to pay delinquent assessments thereon, together with costs of advertising and expenses of the sale.

(Name of secretary with location of office.)

Contents of notice

(1005) § 8. The notice must specify every certificate of stock, the number of shares it represents, and the amount due thereon, except where certificates may not have been issued to parties entitled thereto, in which case the number of shares and amount due thereon, together with the fact that the certificate for such shares have not been issued must be stated.

Publication of notice.

(1006) § 9. The notice, when published in a daily paper, must be published for ten days, excluding Sundays and holidays, previous to the day of sale. When published in a weekly paper, it must be published in each issue for two weeks previous to the day of sale. The first publication of all delinquent sales must be at least fifteen days prior to the day of sale.

Effect of publication

(1007) § 10. By the publication of the notice the corporation acquires jurisdiction to sell and convey a perfect title to all of the stock described in the notice of sale upon which any portion of the assessment or costs of advertising remains unpaid at the hour appointed for the sale, but must sell no more of such stock than is necessary to pay the assessment due and costs of sale.

Sale of stock.

(1008) § 11. On the day, at the place, and at the time appointed in the notice of sale, the secretary must, unless otherwise ordered by the directors, sell or cause to be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, so many shares of each parcel of the described stock as may be necessary to pay the assessment and charges thereon, according to the terms of sale; if payment is made before the time fixed for sale, the party paying is only required to pay the actual cost of advertising in addition to the assessment.

Definition of term "bidder."

(1009) § 12. The person offering at such sale to pay the assessment and costs for the smallest number of shares or fraction of a share is the highest bidder, and the stock purchased must be transferred to him on the stock books of the corporation, on payment of the assessment and costs.

May be bid in by corporation if no other bidder.

(1010) § 13. If at the sale of stock no bidder offers the amount of the assessment and costs and charges due, the same may be bid in and purchased by the corporation, through the secretary, president, or any director thereof, at the amount of the assessments costs and charges due; and the amount of the assessments, costs and charges must be credited as paid in full on the books of the corporation, and entry of the transfer of the stock of the corporation must be made on the books thereof. While the stock remains the property of the corporation it is not assessable, nor must any dividends be declared thereon; but all assessments and dividends must be apportioned upon the stock held by the stockholders of the corporation.

Stock held by corporation.

(1011) § 14. All purchases of its own stock made by any corporation vest the legal title to the same in the corporation; and the stock so purchased is held subject to the control of the stockholders, who may make such disposition of the same as they deem fit, in accordance with the by-laws of the corporation, or vote of a majority of all the remaining shares. Whenever any portion of the capitol stock of a corporation is held by the corporation by purchase, a majority of the remaining shares is a majority of the stock for all purposes of election or voting on any question at a stockholders' meeting.

Extended notice.

(1012) § 15. The dates fixed in any notice of assessment or notice of delinquent sale, published according to the provisions hereof, may be extended from time to time for not more than thirty days, by order of the directors, entered on the records of the corporation; but no order extending the time for the performance of any act specified in any notice is effectual unless notice of such extension or postponement is appended to and published with the notice to which the order relates.

Irregularities

(1013) § 16. No assessment is invalidated by a failure to make publication of the notices hereinbefore provided for, nor by the non-performance of any act required in order to enforce the payment of the same; but in case of any substantial error or omission in the course of proceedings for collection, all previous proceedings, except the levying of the assessment, are void and publication must be begun anew.

Redemption of stock, action to recover

(1014) § 17. No action must be sustained to recover stock sold for delinquent assessments, upon the ground of irregularity in the assessment, irregularity or defect of the notice of sale, or defect or irregularity in the sale, unless the party seeking to maintain such action first pays or tenders to the corporation, or the party holding the stock sold, the sum for which the same was sold, together with all delinquent assessments which may have been paid thereon, and interest on such sums from the time they were paid; and no such action must be sustained unless the same is commenced by the filing of a complaint and the issuing of a summons thereon within six months after such sale was made.

Proof of notice.

(1015) § 18. The publication of notice required by this article may be proved by the affidavit of the printer, foreman, or principal clerk of the newspaper in which the same was published; and the affidavit of the secretary or auctioneer is prima facie evidence of the time and place of sale, of the quantity and particular description of the stock sold, and to whom, and for what price, and of the fact of the purchase money being paid. The affidavits must be filed in the office of the corporation, and copies of the same, certified by the secretary thereof, are prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated. Certificates signed by the secretary and under the seal of the corporation are prima facie evidence of the contents thereof.

Directors may bring action.

(1016) § 19. On the day specified for declaring the stock delinquent, or at any time subsequent thereto and before the sale of the delinquent stock, the board of directors may elect to waive further proceedings under this article for the collection of delinquent assessments, or any part or portion thereof, and may elect to proceed by action to recover the amount of the assessment and the costs and expenses already incurred, or any part or portion thereof.

Interest of delinquent member of corporation may be sold.

(1017) § 20. Whenever any member of an incorporated company organized under articles 10, 12 and 13 of this chapter, duly organized under the laws of this Territory, where the same is not a stock company, shall refuse, fail or neglect to pay any assessment levied by the company of which he is a member, in accordance with law, after having been notified of such assessment as provided in said chapter, his share, interest or membership, in such company may be sold in the same manner and like proceedings had as in the sale of the stock of incorporated companies, under said chapter, and the title to such share, interest or membership when so sold shall vest absolutely in the purchaser thereof.

Purchaser becomes member of corporation.

(1018) § 21. Any member of an incorporated company, not being a stock company, may, by deed, transfer his interests, share or membership therein, whereupon the purchaser thereof shall become a member of such company; and if any assessment or amount of money shall at the time be due and unpaid thereon, such share, interest or membership may be sold as in other cases, if such assessment or amount remains unpaid, after said purchaser has due notice of such delinquency.

ARTICLE 7.—JUDGMENT AGAINST AND SALE OF CORPORATE FRANCHISES

SECTION.
1. Corporate franchise may be sold.
2. Certificate of sale.
3. Rights of the purchaser.
4. Other powers remain.
5. Corporation may redeem its franchise.
6. Sale must take place, when.

Corporate franchise may be sold.

(1019) § 1. For the satisfaction of any judgment against a corporation authorized to receive tolls, its franchise, and all the rights and privileges thereof may be levied upon and sold under execution, in the same manner and with the same effect as any other property, but without any exemption.

Certificate of sale

(1020) § 2. The purchaser at the sale must receive a certificate of purchase of the franchise, and be immediately let into the possession of all property necessary for the exercise of the powers and the receipt of the proceeds thereof, and must thereafter conduct the business of such corporation, with all its powers and privileges, and subject to all its liabilities, until the redemption of the same as hereinafter provided.

Chap. 18.

Rights of the purchaser.

(1021) § 3. The purchaser or his assignee is entitled to recover any penalties imposed by law and recoverable by the corporation for an injury to the franchise or property thereof, or for any damages or other cause, occurring during the time he holds the same, and may use the name of the corporation for the purpose of any action necessary to recover the same. A recovery for damages or any penalties thus had is a bar to any subsequent action by or on behalf of the corporation for the same.

Other powers remain.

(1022) § 4. The corporation whose franchise is sold, as in this article provided, in all other respects retains the same powers, is bound to the discharge of the same duties, and is liable to the same penalties and forfeitures as before such sale.

Corporation may redeem its franchise.

(1023) § 5. The corporation may, at any time within one year after such sale, redeem the franchise by paying or tendering to the purchaser thereof the sum paid therefor, with twelve per cent interest thereon, but without any allowance for the toll which he may in the meantime have received; and upon such payment or tender the franchise and all the rights and privileges thereof revert and belong to the corporation, as if no such sale had been made.

Sale must take place, where.

(1024) § 6. The sale of any franchise under execution must be made in the county in which the corporation has its principal place of business, or in which the property, or some portion thereof, upon which the taxes are paid. is situated.

ARTICLE 8.—EXAMINATION OF CORPORATIONS, ETC.

SECTION.		SECTION.
1.	Legislature may examine into corporations.	2.	Power reserved.

Legislature may examine into corporations.

(1025) § 1. The legislative assembly, or either branch thereof, may examine into the affairs and condition of any corporation in this Territory at all times; and for that purpose any committee appointed by the said assembly, or either branch thereof, may administer all the necessary oaths to the directors, officers and stockholders of such corporation, and may examine them on oath in relation to the affairs and condition thereof; and may examine the safes, books, papers and documents belonging to such corporation, or pertaining to its affairs and condition, and compel the production of all keys, books, papers and documents by summary process, to be issued on application to any district court or any judge thereof, under such rules and regulations as the court may prescribe.

Power reserved

(1026) § 2. The Legislative Assembly may at any time amend this chapter or any article or section thereof.

(1027) § 1. Any number of persons, not less than five, may form a corporation for the purpose of constructing, maintaining and operating a railroad for the transportation of freight and passengers, and for the purpose of maintaining and operating any railroad already constructed for the like purpose, by making articles of organization in which shall be stated: Who may form railroad corporation; articles, what to state.

First. Name. The name of the corporation.

Second. Termini. The place from and to which such railroad is to be constructed, or maintained and operated, as the case may be.

Third. Length and route. The estimated length of such railroads and name of each county in this Territory through or into which it is made or intended to be made.

Fourth. Stock. The amount of the capital stock of the corporation, the number of shares of which it shall consist, and if such stock shall consist of common and preferred stock, the number and amount of each class.

Fifth. Directors and their duty. The names and residences of the directors of the corporation, who shall manage its affairs for the first year, and until others are chosen in their places, and who shall be not less than five nor more than thirteen in number; and each such person shall subscribe thereto his name, place of residence, and the number of shares of stock he agrees to take in such corporation. There shall be annexed to such articles an affidavit of at least three of the directors therein named, that the signatures thereto are genuine, and that it is intended in good faith to construct or maintain and operate the railroad therein mentioned; and thereupon said articles and affidavits shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Territory, who shall indorse thereon the date of their filing, and record the same. After such filing a a patent under the seal of the Territory, signed by the governor and Secretary, of the Territory, shall be issued in substantially the following form,

To all to whom these Presents shall come, Greeting:

WHEREAS (naming the person subscribing the articles of organization), have filed in the office of the Secretary of the Territory certain articles of organizations with a view of forming a corporation to be known as (here insert the name), and with a capital of (here insert the amount), for the purpose of constructing, maintaining and operating or maintaining and operating a railroad from.....to..... ..and having complied with the provisions of the statutes in such cases made and provided; therefore the Territory of Oklahoma hereby grants unto the above-named persons and their associates, successors and assigns, full authority by and under the said name of.....to exercise the powers and privileges of a corporation for the purpose above stated and in accordance with their said articles of organization and the laws of this Territory.

In witness whereof these presents have been attested with the great seal and signed and countersigned by the Governor and Secretary of Oklahoma at... ..... the..... day of ....., in the year one thousand eight hundred and.... . .....

Governor.

....
Secretary of Territory.

Upon the issue of such patent, the subscribers to such articles, and all persons who shall hereafter become stockholders in such corporation, shall be a corporation by the name specified in such articles, and shall possess all the powers and privileges, and be subject to all the provisions of the law regulating railroad corporations and the provisions of this chapter applicable thereto.

Directors to open stock books.

(1028) § 2. When such patent is issued the directors may, in case the whole of the capital stock shall not have been before subscribed, open books of subscription to fill up the capital stock, at such place and after giving such notice as they may deem expedient, and may from time to time receive subscriptions until the capital stock is subscribed.

Number of directors, elections, who may be directors

(1029) § 3. There shall be a board of not less than five nor more than thirteen directors of every such corporation, to manage its affairs, who shall be elected at such time, in such manner, and for such terms, as shall be prescribed by its by-laws, and shall hold their offices until their respective successors shall be chosen. In the election of directors each stockholder shall be entitled to one vote, either in person or by proxy, for every share of stock owned by him for thirty days next preceding such election. Vacancies shall be filled in the manner prescribed by the by-laws. Inspectors of the first elections of directors shall be appointed by the board of directors named in the articles of organization and thereafter as provided by the by-laws. No person shall be a director unless he shall be a stockholder, owning stock absolutely in his own name, or as trustee or personal representative, and qualified to vote at the election at which he shall be chosen; and at every election of directors the books and papers of such corporation shall be exhibited to the meeting if a majority of the stockholders present shall require it. If, for any reason, the election of directors shall not have been held at the time fixed therefor by law, the same may be held at any time thereafter on a notice of twenty days. Such election may be called by a majority of the directors, or by the stockholders holding a majority of the stock; but any meeting at which all the stockholders shall be present or be represented by attorney or proxy, it shall be lawful to waive notice, and proceed to an election of directors.

Officers

(1030) § 4. The directors shall appoint one of their number presidcnt; they also may appoint a vice-president, secretary and treasurer, and such other officers and agents as shall be prescribed by the by-laws of such corporation.

Forfeiture of stock.

(1031) § 5. The directors may require any amounts unpaid upon the capital stock to be paid in such manner and in such installments as they may deem proper. If any stockholder shall neglect to pay any installment as required by a resolution of the board, and the board shall have caused a notice in writing to be served on him personally, or by depositing the same in the postoffice, postage paid, properly directed to him at the postoffice nearest his usual place of residence, at least sixty days previous to the day on which said payment is required to be made, stating that he is required to make such payment at the time and place in such notice specified, and that if he fails so to do his stock and all previous payments thereon will be forfeited for the use of the corporation, such board may declare such stock and previous payments forfeited, and they shall be forfeited accordingly, to the use of the corporation, or such board may in any case enforce payment by action at law.

Stock deemed personal estate

(1032) § 6. The stock of every such corporation shall be deemed personal estate, and shall be transferable in the manner prescribed in its by-laws, but no shares shall be transferable until all previous calls thereon shall have been fully paid in.

Capital stock how increased.

(1033) § 7. The capital stock of any such corporation may be increased to such amount as may by its stockholders be deemed necessary for the construction or operation of its road, by a vote of the owners of at least two-thirds of all its stock, in person or by proxy, at any annual meeting, or at any meeting called by its directors for that purpose, by a notice in writing to each stockholder, or to be served on him personally, or by depositing the same in postoffice, postage paid, properly directed to him at the postoffice, if known, nearest his usual place of residence, at least twenty days prior to such meeting. Such notice shall state the time and place of such meeting, its object, and the amount to which it is proposed to increase such capital stock. No vote in favor of such increase shall take effect until the proceedings of such meeting, showing the names of all the stockholders voting therefor, and the amount of stock owned by each, shall be entered upon the records of such corporation.

Who shall be liable as stockholders

(1034) § 8. No person holding stock in any such corporation as executor, administrator, guardian or trustee, and no person holding such stock as collateral security, shall be personally subject to any liability as stockholders of such corporation, for any calls or installments on any part-paid stock thereof; but the person pledging such stock shall be considered as holding the same, and shall be liable as a stockholder accordingly; and the estates and funds in the hands of such executor, administrator, guardian, or trustee, shall be liable in like manner, and to the same extent. as the testator or intestate, ward or person interested would have been if he had been living, or competent to act, and held the same stock in his own name.

Powers of railroad corporations.

(1035) § 9. Every corporation formed under this article, and every railroad corporation authorized to construct, operate or maintain a railroad within this Territory shall be a body corporate by the name designated in its articles, shall have perpetual succession, shall have the right to sue and be sued, may have a common seal and alter the same at pleasure, and shall also have power:

First. To make surveys. To cause such examination and surveys for its proposed railroad to be made, as may be necessary to the selection of the most advantageous route; and for such purpose by its officers or agents and servants, to enter upon the lands or waters of any person, but subject to responsibility for all damage which shall be done thereto.

Second. To hold real estate. To take and hold such voluntary grants of real estate and other property as may be made to it, to aid in the construction, maintenance and accommodation of its railroad; but the real estate received by voluntary grant shall be held and used for the purposes of such grant only.

Third. Same. To acquire under the the provisions of this article or by purchase. all such real estate and other property as may be necessary for the construction, maintenance and operation of its railroad, and the stations, depot grounds, and other accommodations reasonably necessary to accomplish the objects of its incorporation; to hold and use the same, to lease or otherwise dispose of any part or parcel thereof, or sell the same when not required for railroad uses, and no longer necessary to its use.

Fourth. To lay out road, etc. To lay out its read not exceeding one hundred feet in width, and to construct the same; and for the purpose of cuttings and embankments and of obtaining gravel or other material, to take as much land as may be necessary for the proper construction, operation and security of the road, and for the protection of such road from snow, and to cut down any standing trees that may be in danger of falling on the road, making compensation therefor as provided by law for lands taken for the use of the corporation.

Fifth. Construction of road. Subject to the provisions of section 1044, to construct its railroad across, along or upon any stream of water, water-course, street, highway, toll or wagon road, plank road, turnpike, wharf, levee, river front, steamboat or other public landing, or canal, which its route shall intersect or touch; to carry any highway, street, toll or wagon road, plank road or turnpike which it shall touch, intersect or cross, over or under its track, as may be most expedient for the public good; to change the course or direction of any highway, street, turnpike, toll or wagon road, or plank road, when made necessary or desirable to secure more easy ascent or descent by reason of any embankment or cut made in the construction of the railroad, and take land necessary therefor: Provided, Such highway or road be not so changed from its original course more than six rods, nor its distance thereby lengthened more than five rods.

Sixth. To connect with other road. To cross, intersect, join and unite its railroad with any railroad heretofore or hereinafter constructed, at any point on its route and upon the grounds of such railroad corporation, with the necessary turnouts, sidings and switches, and other conveniences in furtherance of the objects of its connections. And every corporation whose railroad is or shall be hereafter intersected by any new railroad shall unite with the owners of such new railroad in forming such intersections and connections, and grant the facilities aforesaid; and if the two corporations cannot agree upon the amount of compensation to be made therefor, or the points and manner of such crossings and connections, the same shall be ascertained and determined in the manner provided by law for the ascertainment and determination of damages for the taking of real property. But no corporation which shall have obtained the right of way and constructed its road at the point of intersection, before the application for the appointment of commissioners may be made, shall be required to alter the grade or change the location of its road, or be required to bear any part of the expense of making and maintaining such crossings.

Seventh. Depot grounds, etc. To have and use equal room, ground, rights, privileges and conveniences for tracks, switches, sidings and turnouts upon any levee, river bank or front, steam, boat or other public landing, and upon any street, block, alley, square or public ground within any incorporated town or city, any charter or ordinance of any such city or town to the contrary notwithstanding; and to accomplish this, may adjust, with other corporations, the ground to be occupied by each with such tracks, switches, sidings and turnouts; and if such corporations cannot agree upon such adjustment, and the amount of compensation to be paid for the purchase or necessary change of location and removal of any track previously laid, the same shall be ascertained and determined, and the common, mutual and separate rights adjusted in the manner provided by law for the ascertainment and determination of damages for the taking of real property. The commissioners provided by law may employ a competent engineer, and define, locate and plat the ground, and assign to each corporation the part for the tracks and other conveniences for each, and may require the removal or purchase of tracks previously laid, so as to justly settle the rights of each corporation upon such ground, and assess the damages to be paid under the law providing for taking real property.

Eighth. To carry persons and property. To take and convey persons or property over their railroad by the power or force of steam or of animals, or by any mechanical power, and to receive Chap. 18. compensation therefor; and to do all the business incident to railroad corporations.

Ninth. To erect buildings. To erect and maintain all necessary and convenient buildings, stations, fixtures and machinery for the accommodation and use of their passengers, freight and business, subject to the statutes in relation thereto.

Tenth. To establish time-tables. To regulate the time and manner in which passengers and property shall be transported, and the compensation to be paid therefor.

Corporation shall have power to borrow money.

(1036) § 10. To borrow from time to time such sums of money at such rates of interest and upon such terms as the corporation or board of directors shall agree upon and authorize as necessary or expedient, and to execute trust deeds or mortgages, or both, as occasion may require, on any railroads or parts thereof, constructed or in process of construction, for amounts borrowed or owing by the corporation, and therein to make provision granting, transferring, or mortgaging their railroad track, right of way, depot grounds, rights, privileges, franchises, immunities, exemptions, machine houses, rolling stock, furniture, tools, implements, appendages, and appurtenances used in connection with such railroads in any manner whatever, then belonging to the corporation or which may thereafter belong to it, as security for any bonds or evidence of debt therein mentioned, in such manner as the corporation or directors shall think proper, and such instruments shall fully convey the same or so much thereof as shall be therein described. In case of sale by virtue of any such trust deed, or upon foreclosure of any such mortgage, the persons acquiring title under such sale and their associates, successors and assigns, or such corporation as they shall organize according to section 1027, with all the powers conferred upon corporations by this act, shall thereafter have, exercise and enjoy all such described grants which were purchased at such sale, including all rights, privileges, grants, franchises, immunities and advantages mentioned in such instruments which were possessed by such corporation making the same or contracting such debts, so far as the same relate or appertain to that portion or line of road granted or mortgaged and purchased at such sale and no further, as fully and absolutely in all respects as such corporation, its shareholders, officers and agents might have done if such sale had not taken place. And whenever the person so acquiring title under any such sale shall own or represent a majority in amount of the bonds or other evidences of debt secured by any such trust deed or mortgage, and shall also include the persons who owned at the time of the sale a majority in amount of the capital stock of such mortgage or corporation, such purchasers and such corporation as they shall organize as aforesaid, shall also have, possess and enjoy any exemption, privilege or immunity previously granted by any law to such former corporation relating to any of the property so acquired, to the same extent as if such latter corporation had been named in such law as the grantee thereof.

Person selling property to railway company shall have lien on same.

(1037) § 11. In all cases where railroad equipment and rolling stock may have been or shall be sold to any person, firm, or corporation, to be paid for in whole or in part in installments, or shall be leased, rented, hired or delivered, on condition that the same may be used by the person, firm or corporation purchasing, leasing, renting, hiring or receiving the same, and that the title to the same shall remain in the vendor, lessor, renter, hirer or deliverer of the same until the agreed-upon price of or rent for such property shall have been fully paid, such condition in regard to the title so remaining in the vendor, lessor, renter, hirer or deliverer until such payments are fully made, shall be valid for all intents and purposes as to subsequent purchasers in good faith and creditors: Provided, The term during which the installments or rent are to be paid shall not exceed ten years, and such contract shall be in writing and acknowledged.

Where contract shall be recorded.

(1038) § 12. Such contract shall be recorded in the office of the Secretary of the Territory and in the county in which is located the principal office or place of business of such vendee or lessee, and on each locomotive or car that may have been or may be so sold or leased, the name of the vendor or lessor or assignee of the vendor or lessor shall be marked, followed by the word "owner" or "lessor," as the case may be.

Extensions and branches may be built.

(1039) § 13. Any railroad corporation may, under the provisions of this article, extend its road from any point named in its charter or articles of organization, or may build branch roads either from any point on its line of road or from any point on the line of any other road connecting or to be connected with its road, the use of which other road between such points and the connection with its own road such corporation shall have secured by lease or agreement for a term of not less than ten years from its date. Before making such extension or building any such branch road, such corporation shall, by resolution of its directors, to be entered in the record of its proceedings, designate the route of such proposed extension or branch in the manner provided in section 1027, and file a copy of such record, certified by the president and secretary, in the office of the Secretary of the Territory, and cause the same to be recorded as provided in said section 1027. Thereupon such corporation shall have all the rights and privileges to make such extension or build such branch and receive aid thereto which it would have had if it had been authorized in its charter or articles of organization. But this section shall not be construed to authorize any railroad corporations to consolidate with each other.

The route may be changed.

(1040) § 14. The board of directors of every railroad corporation may, by a vote of two-thirds of the whole number, at any time alter the route or any portion of the route of their road, or any extension or branch thereof, or part of their road, or any extension or branch as constructed, if it shall appear to them that the line can be improved thereby; but no railroad shall be so diverted from any county, town, city or village which in its corporate capacity shall have extended aid to such road, either while in the hands of the then present owner or any former person or corporation; and no such alteration shall be made in any city or village after the road shall have been constructed therein, unless the same shall have been sanctioned by a vote of two-thirds of the legal voters of such county, town, city or village, the council of such city, or the trustees of such village. Before making any such alteration the board of directors shall designate the route thereof by resolution, to be entered in its records, filed and recorded in the office of the Secretary of the Territory, as provided in the preceding section; thereupon it shall have the same rights and privileges to build such road as altered, as if it were the original line.

Consolidating railroads, leasing and purchasing.

(1041) § 15. Any railroad corporation may consolidate its stock, franchises, and property with any other railroad corporation, whether within or without the Territory, when their respective railroads can be lawfully connected and operated together to constitute one continuous main line, with or without branches, upon such terms as may be agreed upon, and become one corporation, by any name selected, which, within this Territory, shall possess all the powers, franchises, and immunities, including the right of further consolidation with other corporations under this section, and be subject to all the liabilities and restrictions of this article; and such in addition as such corporations peculiarly possess, or were subject to, at the time of consolidation by the laws then in force, applicable to them or either of them. Articles stating the terms of consolidation shall be approved by each corporation by a vote of the stockholders owning a majority of the stock in person, or by proxy, at a regular annual meeting thereof, or a special meeting, called for that purpose, in the manner prescribed in section 1033, or by the consent in writing of such stockholders annexed to such articles; and a copy thereof, with a copy of the records of such approval or such consent, and accompanied by lists of their stockholders and the number of shores held by each, duly certified by the respective presidents and secretaries, with the respective corporate seals of such corporations affixed, shall be filed for record in the office of the Secretary of the Territory, before any such consolidation shall have any validity or effect. Any railroad corporation whose line is wholly or in part within this Territory, whether chartered by or organized under the laws of this Territory, or of any other state or territory, or of the United States, may lease or purchase and operate the whole or any part of the railroad of any other railroad corporation, together with the franchises, powers, immunities and all other property or appurtenances appertaining thereto when such railroads can be lawfully connected and operated together, so as to constitute a continuous main or branch line. And all such purchases or leases heretofore made or entered into, are for all intents and purposes hereby ratified and confirmed: Provided, That in no case shall the capital stock of the company formed by such consolidation exceed the sum of the capital stock of the companies so consolidated at the par value thereof, nor shall any bonds or other evidences of debt be issued as a consideration for or in connection with such consolidation.

Changing corporate name.

(1042) § 16. Any railroad corporation may change its corporate name and adopt any other by resolution adopted by the stockholders owning a majority of all the stock thereof, at either a regular annual meeting or a special meeting called for that purpose, in the manner prescribed in section 1033. Such changes shall not take effect until a copy of such resolution and of the record of its adoption, certified by the secretary under his hand and the corporate seal, shall be filed with the Secretary of the Territory. A like certified copy of such resolution shall be published for three successive weeks thereafter in any newspaper of general circulation published at the seat of government of the Territory. Every proceeding, act, liability, or thing done, undertaken, or encouraged by or on behalf of the corporation under its former name, shall be and continue of the same validity and obligation under such new name as if the name had remained unchanged.

Railroad corporation shall restore stream, highway, etc. as nearly as possible to former condition.

(1043) § 17. Every corporation constructing, owning, or using a railroad, shall restore every stream of water, water-course, street, highway, plank road, toll or wagon road, turnpike, or canal, across, along, or upon which said railroad may be constructed, to its former state, or to such condition as that its usefulness shall not be materially impaired, and thereafter maintain the same in such condition against any effects in any manner produced by such railroad. When any lands shall be required in order to change any highway, street, turnpike, or plank road, toll or wagon road, the same may be condemned, taken, and compensation made in the manner provided by law; and when taken shall become a part of such highway, street, turnpike, or plank road, toll or wagon road, to the same extent as, and by the same tenure, by which the adjacent parts thereof are held.

When railroad passes over highways

(1044) § 18. When it shall be necessary in the construction of a railroad to erect a bridge or culvert over any highway, street, turnpike or plank road, toll or wagon road, it shall be sufficient to construct the same so as to give a clear passage way of twenty feet, or two passage ways of fourteen feet each.

What property shall be subject to mortgage.

(1045) § 19. All rolling stock of any railroad corporation organized under the provisions of this act used and employed in connection with its railroad, and all fuel necessary to the operation of the same, are declared and shall be held to be fixtures; and all such property, and all additional rights of way, depot grounds, and other real property, acquired subsequently to the execution of any trust deed, or mortgage which shall have been described or provided for therein, shall be subject to the lien thereof to the same extent as the property therein described, which the corporation owned at the time of its execution.

Conveyance or lease executed, how (1046) § 20, Every conveyance or lease, deed of trust, mortgage or satisfaction there of, made by any railroad corporation, of any franchises, real estate fixtures, or other real propetry, in pursuance of law, shall be executed and acknowledged in the manner in which conveyances of real estate by corporations are required to be, to entitle the same to be recorded, and shall be recorded in the office of the Secretary of the Territory, who shall indorse thereon his certificate thereof, specifying the day and hour of its reception, and the volume and page where recorded, which shall be evidence of such facts. Every such record of any such instrument shall, from the time of reception, have the same effect as to any property in this Territory described therein, as the record of any similiar instrument in the office of a register of deeds may have by law as to property in his county, and shall be notice of the rights and interests of the grantee, lessee, or mortgagee by such instrument to the same extent as if it were recorded in each and all of the several counties in which any property therein described may be situated.

Chap. 18.

Directors may set aside money for payment of debts

(1047) § 21. The board of directors of any railroad corporation may annually or oftener, as may be deemed expedient, set apart and appropriate a sum of money not exceeding fifty per cent of its net earnings as resources for any one year, after paying the current expenses of their road and the interest on its outstanding indebtedness, in order to sink, redeem, pay off, cancel, or discharge the indebtedness of such corporation; and the said sums so set apart shall be annually applied to the payment and discharge of such debts of such corporation as shall be due, and to the purchase and redemption of the outstanding evidences of indebtedness of such corporation, as the board of directors thereof shall deem most for the interest of such corporation, and for no other purpose.

Defense of usury prohibited.

(1048) § 22. No railroad corporation shall be allowed to make the defense of usury against the holder of any bond or other obligation for the payment of money issued by such corporation.

Directors may be classified.

(1049) § 23. Any railroad corporation may, by a vote of a majority in amount of the stockholders present or represented at any annual meeting, classify its directors into three classes, each of which shall be composed, as nearly as may be, of one-third of the directors; the term of office of the first class to expire in one year, of the second in two years, and of the third in three years. At each annual election thereafter a number of directors shall be elected for three years equal to the number whose term of office shall then expire; all other vacancies to be filled in accordance with the by-laws.

Annual report must be made.

(1050) § 24. Every railroad corporation shall make an annual report to the stockholders of its operations during the year ending on the thirty-first day of December, which report shall be verified by the affidavit of the secretary, treasurer, and superintendent of the corporation, and shall state:

First. Length of road, etc. The length of the road in operation; the length of single track; the length of double track; the weight of the rail per yard.

Second. Capital Stock. The capital stock actually subscribed and the amount paid thereon.

Third. Whole cost of road. The whole cost of the road, showing the amount expended for the right of way, bridging, grading, iron and buildings respectively, and for all other purposes incidental to the construction of such road.

Fourth. Indebtedness. The amount and nature of its indebtedness, distinguishing the first, second and third mortgage bonds, and the unsecured indebtedness, and the amount due the corporation.

Fifth. Amount received. The amount received for the transportation of passengers, property and mails, for interest, and from other sources respectively.

Sixth. Amount of freight. The amount of freight, specifying the quantity in tons or other usual mode of measurement.

Seventh. Amount paid out. The amount paid for the repairs of the road, buildings, engines and cars respectively; for fuel, taxes and interest, specifying the indebtedness on which the same is paid; for wages of employes; the aggregate amount paid for salaries of officers, and for any other purpose incidental to the business of transportation so as to give a complete statement of the entire annual expense of the corporation.

Eighth. Amount of loss. The amount of loss to the corporation paid for loss and damage to freight and injury to person and property.

Ninth. Dividends. The number and amount of dividends and when made, and in what manner such dividends have been paid.

Tenth. Amount of sinking fund. The amount appropriated to the sinking fund, and the manner in which the same has been applied, and the the total amount then held by such sinking fund.

Eleventh. Persons killed. The number of persons killed or injured, the causes thereof, and whether passengers or persons employed by the corporation.

Twelfth. Manner of accidents. Whether any such accidents have arisen from carelessness or negligence of any person in the employ of the corporation, and whether such person is retained in the service of such corporation. The secretary of each railroad corporation shall mail to every stockholder thereof, whose post-office address is known, a copy of its annual report, and shall file a certified copy thereof with the Secretary of the Territory on or before the first day of February in each year.

Power of corporation to enter upon lands

(1051) § 25. Every railroad corporation incorporated under this act and any railroad corporation authorized to construct, operate or maintain a railroad within this Territory, has power and is authorized to enter upon any land for the purpose of examining and surveying its railroad, and to take, hold and appropriate so much real estate as may be necessary for the location, construction and convenient use of its road, including all necessary grounds for buildings, stations, work-shops, depots, machine-shops, switches, side-tracks, turn-tables, snow defences and water stations; all material for the construction of such road and its appurtenances, and the right of way over adjacent land sufficient to enable such corporation to construct and repair its road and the right to conduct water to its water stations, and to construct and maintain proper drains, and may obtain the right to such real estate by purchase or condemnation in the manner provided by the law.

Proceedings when corporation organized out of the Territory wishes to enter.

(1052) § 26. Any railroad corporation chartered by or organized under the laws of the United States, or any state or territory whose constructed railroad shall reach or intersect the boundary line of this Territory at any point, may extend its railroad into this Territory from any such point or points to any place or places within the Territory, and may build branches from any point on such extension. Before making such extension or building any such branch road, such corporation shall, by resolution of its directors, to be entered in the record of its proceedings, designate the route of such proposed extension or branch in the manner provided in section 1027, and file a copy of such record, certified by the president and secretary, in the office of the Secretary of the Territory, and cause the same to be recorded as provided in said section 1027. Thereupon such corporation shall have all the rights and privileges to make such extension or build such branch, and receive such aid thereto as it would have had had it been authorized so to do by articles of association duly filed in accordance with the provisions of this act.

Chap. 18.

May purchase or take realty.

(1053) § 27. Any railroad corporation may purchase and use real property for a price to be agreed upon with the owners thereof; or the damages to be paid by such corporation for any real property taken as aforesaid, when not agreed upon, shall be ascertained and determined by commissioners to be appointed by the judge of the district court of the county or judicial subdivision, wherein such real estate is situated, in conformity with the provisions of this article.

Proceedings for taking real property where owner refuses to grant right of way.

(1054) § 28. If the owner of any real property over which said railroad corporation may desire to locate its road, shall refuse to grant the right of way through and over his premises, the district judge of the county or subdivision in which said real property may be situated as provided in this article, shall, upon the application or petition of either party, and after ten days notice to the opposite party either by personal service or by leaving a copy thereof at his usual place of residence, or in case of his non-residence in the Territory by such publication in a newspaper as the judge may order, direct the sheriff of said county to summon three disinterested freeholders of said county or subdivision (or if there be none such then of the Territory) as commissioners, who shall be selected by said judge, and who must not be interested in a like question. The commissioners shall be duly sworn to perform their duties impartially and justly; and they shall inspect said real property and consider the injury which such owner may sustain by reason of such railroad; and they shall assess the damages which said owner will sustain by such appropriation of his land; and they shall forthwith make report thereof in writing to the clerk of the said court, setting forth the qnantity, boundaries and value of the property taken, or amount of injury done to the property which they assess to the owner; which report must be filed and recorded by the clerk, and a certified copy thereof may be transmitted to the register of deeds of the county or subdivision where the land lies, to be by him filed and recorded (without further acknowledgment or proof) in the same manner and with like force and effect as is provided for the record of deeds. And if said corporation shall, at any time before it enters upon said real property for the purpose of constructing said road, pay to said clerk for the use of said owner the sum so assessed and reported to him as aforesaid, it shall thereby be authorized to construct and maintain its road over and across said premises: Provided, That if the corporation shall need or require for the purpose of constructing said railroad, to take and occupy any real property in any unorganized county, or in other unorganized country where there is no district court established, then the judge of the district court of the nearest organized county or subdivision (wherein such court is established), upon the line of said road, shall appoint commissioners to assess said damages; and he and they shall perform all other duties required of district judges and commissioners by the terms of this article, and either party shall have the right to appeal as in other cases herein provided: And provided further, That the report of the commissioners may be reviewed by the district court, on written exceptions filed by either party, in the clerk's office within sixty days after the filing of such report; and the court shall take such order therein as right and justice may require, either by confirming, modifying, or rejecting the same, or by ordering a new appraisement on good cause shown; or theier party may within thirty days after the filing of such report file with the clerk a written demand for a trial by jury; in which case the amount of damages shall be assessed by a jury, and the trial shall be conducted and judgment entered on the verdict in the same manner as civil actions in the district court. If the party demanding such trial does not recover a verdict more favorable to him than the assessment of the commissioners, he shall not recover costs in the district court; and all costs in the district court may be taxed against him: And provided further, That either party may appeal from the decision of the district court to the Supreme Court and the money so deposited shall remain in the hands of the clerk, as aforesaid, until a final decision be had and subject thereto. But such review or appeal shall not delay the prosecution of the work on said railroad over the premises in question, if such corporation shall first have paid or deposited with said clerk the amount so assessed by said commissioners; and in no case shall said corporation be liable for the costs on such review or appeal, unless the owner of such real property shall be adjudged entitled, upon either review or appeal, to a greater amount of damages than was awarded by said commissioners. The corporation shall in all cases pay the costs and expenses of the first assessment, And in case of review or appeal, the final decision may be transmitted by the clerk of the proper court, duly certified, to the proper register of deeds to be by him filed and recorded as hereinbefore provided for the recording of the report, and with like effect.

Commissioners to act in all cases.

(1055) § 29. Freeholders so appointed shall be the commissioners to assess all the damages to the owners of real property in said county or subdivision; and said corporation may, at any time after their appointment, upon the refusal of any owner or guardian of any owner of lands in said county or sub-division to grant the right of way as aforesaid, by giving said owner or guardian ten days notice thereof in the manner prescribed in the preceding section, have the damages assessed in the manner hereinbefore prescribed. In case of the death, absence, or refusal or neglect of any of said freeholders to act as commissioners as aforesaid, the sheriff shall, upon the selection of the district judge, summon other freeholders to complete the panel, and said commissioners shall receive three dollars per day each for their services, and the same shall be taxed in the bill of costs.

Guardians, married women.

(1056) § 30. Whenever any railroad corporation shall take any real property as aforesaid, of any minor, any person insane or otherwise incompetent, or of any married woman whose husband is under guardianship, the guardian of such minor, insane or incompetent person, or such married woman with the guardian of her husband, may agree and settle with said corporation for all damages or claims by reason of the taking of such real property, and may give valid releases and discharges therefor upon the approval thereof by the judge of the probate court.

Unknown owner.

(1057) § 31. If upon the location of said railroad it shall be found to run through the real property of any non-resident owner who is unknown to the corporation, or who has not been by it informed thereof, and has neither granted nor refused to grant the right of way through and over his said premises, the said corporation may give four weeks notice to such owner, if known, and if not known, by a description of such real property, by publication four consecutive weeks in some newspaper published in the county or subdivision where such real property may lie, if there be any, and if not, in one nearest thereto on the line of their said road, that said railroad has been located through and over his lands; and if said owner do not, within thirty days thereafter, apply to the district judge to have the damages assessed, in the mode prescribed in this article, said corporation may proceed to have the damages assessed as hereinbefore provided, subject to the same right of review and appeal, as in case of resident owners; and upon payment of damages assessed to the clerk of the district court, the corporation shall acquire all the rights and privileges mentioned in this article.

Claimants on public lands

(1058) § 32. Any railroad corporation is authorized to pass over, occupy and enjoy all the public lands, to the extent and in the manner prescribed by the act of congress approved March 3, 1875: Provided, That the damages accruing to any occupant or possessory claimant or other person who may reside on or have improvements upon said public land, shall be determined and paid by said railroad corporation as provided in this chapter for owners of private lands.

Changing line or grade.

(1059) § 33. Whenever any railroad corporation shall find it necessary, for the purpose of avoiding annoyance to public travel, or dangerous or difficult curves or grades, or unsafe or unsubstantial grounds or foundations, or for other reasonable causes, to change the grade or location of any portion of its road, such railroad corporation shall be and is hereby authorized to make such changes of grade and location, not departing from its general route. And for the purpose of making any such change in the location and grades of any such roads as aforesaid, such corporation shall have all the rights, powers and privileges to enter upon and appropriate such real property, and make surveys necessary to effect such changes and grades, upon the same terms, and subject to the same obligations, rules and regulations as are prescribed by law; and shall also be liable in damages, when any may have been caused by such change to the owner of real property upon which such road was heretofore constructed, to be ascertained and paid, or deposited as herein provided; but no damages shall be allowed unless claimed within ninety days after actual notice in writing of such intended change shall be given to such owner residing on the premises, or, if non-resident, notice by such publication in some newspaper in general circulation, as the district judge may order.

Public grounds and streets.

(1060) § 34. If it shall be necessary, in the location of any part of any railroad, to occupy any road, street, alley, or public way or ground of any kind, or any part thereof, it shall be competent for the municipal or other corporation or public officer or public authorities owning or having charge thereof, and the railroad corporation, to agree upon the manner and upon the terms and conditions upon which the same may be used or occupied; and if said parties shall be unable to agree thereon, and it shall be necessary, in the judgment of the directors of such railroad corporation, to use or occupy such road, street, alley or other public way or ground, such corporation may appropriate so much of the same as may be necessary for the purposes of such road, in the same manner and upon the same terms as is provided in this chapter for the appropriation of the property of individuals.

Rules for running trains

(1061) § 35. Every such railroad corporation shall start and run its cars, for the transportation of persons or property, at regular times to be fixed by public notice, and shall furnish sufficient accommodation for the transportation of all such passengers and property as shall within a reasonable time previous thereto offer, or be offered, for transportation at the place of starting, or at the junction of other railroads, and at siding or stopping places established for receiving and discharging way passengers and freight, and shall take, transport, and discharge passengers and property at, from, and to such places, on the due payment of tolls, freight, or fare therefor.

Violation of provisions of preceding section, penalty.

(1062) § 36. In case of the refusal by such corporation or its agents to take or transport any passenger or property as provided in the preceding section; or in case of the neglect or refusal of such corporation or its agents to discharge or deliver passengers or property at the regularly appointed place, under the laws which regulate common carriers, such corporation shall pay to the party aggrieved all damages which shall be sustained thereby with costs of action.

Injuries to persons

(1063) § 37. In case any passenger on any railroad shall be injured while on the platform of a car while in motion, or in any baggage, wood or freight car, in violation of the printed regulations of the corporation posted up at the time in a conspicuous place inside of its passenger cars then in the train, such corporation shall not be liable for the injury: Provided, It had furnished room inside its passenger cars sufficient for the accommodation of its passengers.

Chap. 18.

Fare paid imposes duty on company.

(1064) § 38. When fare is taken by any railroad corporation for transporting passengers on any mixed train of passenger and freight cars, or on any baggage, wood, gravel or freight car, the same care must be taken and the same responsibility and duties are assumed by the corporation as for passengers on passenger cars.

Changing highway.

(1065) § 39. Any railroad corporation may raise or lower any turnpike, plank road, or other way, for the purpose of having its railroad pass over or under the same; and in such cases said corporation shall put such turnpike, plank road or other way, as soon as may be, in good repair.

Temporary ways provided

(1066) § 40. Every railroad corporation, while employed in raising or lowering any turnpike or other way, or in making any other alterations, by means of which the said way may be obstructed, shall provide and keep in good order, suitable temporary ways to enable travellers to avoid or pass such obstructions.

Bridge repairs

(1067) § 41. Every railroad corporation shall maintain and keep in good repair all bridges, with their abutments, which such corporation shall construct for the purpose of enabling its road to pass over or under any turnpike road, canal, water course, or other way.

Signs at crossings.

(1068) § 42. Every railroad corporation operating a line of road within this Territory must erect suitable signs of caution at each crossing of its road with a public highway, which signs shall be painted with black Roman or block letters, on white back ground, "railroad crossing, look out for the cars:" said letters to be at least eight inches in length and proportionately broad; said signs shall be placed at the top of posts at least fifteen feet high.

Neglect of same.

(1069) § 43. In case any railroad corporation shall refuse or neglect, for a space of thirty days after notice given by the board of county commissioners, to comply with the provisions of the preceding section, it shall become the duty of the county commissioners of each county through which any such railroad shall be in operation to erect such signs, and the company shall be liable for all expenses so incurred by said commissioners.

Bells and whistles

(1070) § 44. A bell of at least thirty pounds weight, or a steam whistle, shall be placed on each locomotive engine, and shall be rung or whistled at the distance of at least eighty rods from the place where the said railroad shall cross any other road or street, and be kept ringing or whistling until it shall have crossed said road or street, under a penalty of fifty dollars for every neglect, to be paid by the corporation owning the railroad, one-half thereof to go to the informer, and the other half to this Territory, and also be liable for all damages which shall be sustained by any person by reason of such neglect.

Causeway.

(1071) § 45. When any person owns land on both sides of any railroad, the corporation owning such railroad, shall, when required to so do, make and keep in good repair one causeway or other safe and adequate means of crossing the same.

Railroad company shall maintain fence.

(1072) § 46. Whenever the owner of any tract of land abutting against any line of railroad within this Territory, shall desire to enclose any such tract of land for pasturage or other purposes, and shall construct a good and sufficient fence about said tract of land on all sides except along the side abutting against such railroad, it shall be the duty of such railroad company to construct a good and sufficient fence not less than four and one-half feet high, on the side of such tract or lot so far as the same extends along the line of such railroad, and to maintain the same in good repair and condition until released therefrom by the owner of said tract, or until the owner of said tract shall have ceased to maintain in good repair and condition for the term of one year his portion of the fence around such inclosure.

Notice from owner of lands.

(1073) § 47. Whenever the owner of any tract of land shall have completed his portion of the fence about such proposed inclosure, he shall give written notice of its completion to the railroad company upon whose line said tract is situated, by personal service upon the agent of said company at the station nearest to the proposed inclosure, describing in said notice the situation of said tract and the number of acres to be inclosed, as near as may be, and the length of the fence required along the line of snch railroad to complete the proposed inclosure; and it shall be the duty of the railroad company to construct and complete its portion of such fence within sixty days after the service of such notice.

Liability of railway company.

(1074) § 48. If any railroad company shall neglect or refuse to comply with any of the requirements of this act, it shall be lawful for the owner of such tract to construct or repair the fence along the line of such railroad, and the railroad company shall be liable to the owner thereof, to an amount not exceeding one dollar and twenty-five cents per rod, to be recovered in a civil action; and such railroad company shall be liable for all damages accruing by reason of such neglect or refusal.

Refusal to pay fare.

(1075) § 49. If any passenger shall refuse to pay his fare, it shall be lawful for the conductor of the train and the servants of the corporation to put him and his baggage out of the cars in the following manner:

A passenger who refuses to pay his fare, or to conform to any lawful regulation of the carrier, may be ejected from the vehicle by the carrier. But this must be done with as little violence as possible, and at any usual stopping place, or near some dwelling house. After having ejected a passenger, a carrier has no right to require the payment of any part of his fare.

Right to deal in passage tickets.

(1076) § 50. Any person having an established place of business in any village, town or city within this Territory, shall have the right to buy, sell and exchange passage tickets or other evidences of a right of passage from one place to another upon any railroad line or steamboat line and their connections that said tickets may have been regularly issued over and for.

Purchasers may sell.

(1077) § 51. Any person purchasing a ticket from the authorized office of any line for the transportation of passengers, shall have the right to sell his ticket or tickets to any person doing business under this act: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent any incorporated village, town or city to regulate this business by any law deemed necessary for the protection of the public.

Chap. 18.

Railway companies may appoint police.

(1078) § 52. Railway companies organized under the laws of this Territory, or doing business within the Territory, are hereby authorized and empowered at their own expense to appoint and employ policemen at such stations or other places on the lines of their railroads within this Territory, as said companies may deem necessary for the protection of their property, and the preservation of order on their premises, and in and about their cars, depots, depot grounds, yards, buildings or other structures; and said policemen shall have power and authority to arrest, with or without warrant, any person or persons who shall commit any offense against the laws of this Territory, or the ordinances of any town, city, village or municipality, when such offense shall have been committed upon the premises of said companies, or in and about their cars, depots, depot grounds, yards, buildings, or other structures; and shall also have the authority of sheriffs, constables and peace officers in regard to the arrest and apprehension of any such offenders, in or about the premises or appurtenances aforesaid; but in case of the arrest by said policemen of any person without warrant, they shall forthwith take such offender before some justice of the peace or other magistrate having jurisdiction, and make complaint against said offender according to law. Nothing in this act contained shall be construed as restricting the lawful rights, powers or privileges of any sheriff, constable, policeman, or peace officer within their respective jurisdiction, and for the official acts of such policeman or policemen the railroad company making such appointment shall be held responsible to the same extent as for the acts of any of its general agents or employes.

Right of way for telegraph and telephone lines

(1079) § 53. There is hereby granted to the owners of any telegraph or telephone lines operated in this Territory, the right of way over lands and real property in this Territory, and the right to use public grounds, streets, alleys and highways in this Territory, subject to control of the proper municipal authorities as to what grounds, streets, alleys or highways said lines shall run over or across, and the place the poles to support the wires are located; the right of way over real property granted in this act may be acquired in the same manner and by like proceedings as provided for railroad corporations.

ARTICLE 10.—WAGON ROADS.

SECTION.
1. Wagon roads laid out, how.
2. Map of road must be filed; record of approval.
3. Bridges and ferries; tolls.
4. Public highways used.
5. Toll rates posted.
6. Tolls required.
7. Toll gatherer's duty.
8. Passing around gate.
9. Injuring the road.
10. Revenue applied, how.
11. Mortgaging the road.
12. Natural person operating the road.

Wagon roads laid out, how.

(1080) § 1. Where a corporation is formed for the construction and maintenance of a wagon road, the road must be laid out as follows: Three commissioners must act in conjunction with the surveyor of the corporation, two to be appointed by the board of commissioners of the county through which the road is to run, and one by the corporation, who must lay out the proposed road and report their proceedings, together with the map of the road, to the board of commissioners of the county as provided in the succeeding section.

Maps of route muse be filed; record of approval.

(1081) § 2. When the route is surveyed a map thereof must be submitted to and filed with the board of commissioners of each county through or into which the road runs, giving its general course, and the principal points to or by which it runs, and its width, which must in no case exceed one hundred feet, and the board of county commissioners must either approve or reject the survey. If approved, it must be entered of record on the journal of the board, and such approval authorizes the use of all public lands and highways over which the survey runs; but the board of county commissioners must require the corporation at its own expense, and the corporation must so change and open the highways so taken and used as to make the same as good as they were before the appropriation thereof; and must so construct all crossings of public highways over and by its road and its toll gates, as not to hinder or obstruct the use of the same.

Bridges and ferries, Tolls.

(1082) § 3. All wagon road corporations may bridge or keep ferries on streams on the line of their road, and must do all things necessary to keep the same in repair. They may take such tolls only on their roads, ferries or bridges as are fixed by the board of commissioners of the proper county through which the road passes, or in which the ferry or bridge is situate, subject, however, to the limitation of rates for ferriage prescribed in the general law upon ferries; but in no case must the tolls be more than sufficient to pay fifteen per cent per annum on the cost of construction, after paying for repairs and other expenses for attending to the roads, bridges and ferries. If tolls, other than as herein provided, are charged or demanded, the corporation forfeits its franchise, and must pay to the party so charged one hundred dollars as liquidated damages.

Public highways used.

(1083) § 4. When any highway or public road is taken and used by any wagon road corporation as a part of its road, the corporation must not place a toll gate on or take tolls for the use of such highway or public road by teamsters, travellers, drovers, or any one transporting property over the same.

Toll rates posted.

(1084) § 5. The corporation must affix and keep up, at or over each gate or in some conspicuous place, so as to be conveniently read, a printed list of the rates of toll levied and demanded.

Tolls required.

(1085) § 6. Each toll gatherer may prevent from passing through his gates persons leading or driving animals or vehicles subject to toll, until they shall have paid, respectively, the tolls authorized to be collected.

Toll gatherer's duty.

(1086) § 7. Every toll gatherer, who at any gate, unreasonably hinders or delays any traveller or passenger liable to the payment of toll, or demands or receives from any person more than he is authorized to collect, for each offense forfeits the sum of twenty-five dollars to the person aggrieved,

Passing around gate.

(1087) § 8. Every person who, to avoid the payment of the legal toll, with his team, vehicle or horse, turns out of a wagon, turnpike or plank, or passes any gate thereon on the ground adjacent thereto, and again enters upon such road, for each offense forfeits the sum of five dollars to the corporation injured.

Injuring road.

(1088) § 9. Every person who:

First. Wilfully breaks, cuts down, defaces or injures any milestone or post on any wagon, turnpike or plank road; or,

Second. Wilfully breaks or throws down any gate on such road; or,

Third. Digs up or injures any part of such road, or anything thereunto belonging; or,

Fourth. Forcibly or fraudulently passes any gate thereon without having paid the legal toll;

For each offense forfeits to the corporation injured the sum of twenty-five dollars, in addition to the damages resulting from his wrongful act.

Revenue applied.

(1089) § 10. The entire revenue from the road shall be appropriated.

First. To repayment to the corporation of the costs of its construction, together with the incidental expenses incurred in collecting tolls and keeping the road in repair; and,

Second. To the payment of the dividend among its stockholders, as provided in section 1082. When the repayment of the cost of construction is completed, the tolls must be so reduced as to raise no more than an amount sufficient to pay a dividend of twelve per cent per annum, and incidental expenses, and to keep the road in good repair,

Mortgaging the road.

(1090) § 11. The corporation may mortgage or hypothecate its road and other property for funds with which to construct or repair their road, but no mortgage or hypothecation is valid or binding unless at least twenty-five per cent of the capital stock subscribed has been paid in and invested in the construction of the road and appurtenances, and then only after an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the capital stock subscribed.

Natural persons like corporations.

(1091) § 12. When a wagon, turnpike or plank road is constructed, owned or operated by any natural person, this chapter is applicable to such person in like manner as it is applicable to corporations.

Chap. 18.

and all kinds of buildings, and upon household furniture and other property, against loss or damage by fire, lightning, cyclone, tornado or hail, and the risk of inland navigation and transportation. Any and all insurance companies incorporated under the provisions of this act shall, in a declaration and charter provided to be filed, have expressed an intention to make an insurance, or which shall have power to make insurance against loss or damage by the risks of inland navigation or transportation, shall have power to make insurance upon vessels, boats, cargoes, goods, merchandise, freights and other property, against loss and damage by all or any of the risks of lake, river, canal and inland navigation and transportation.

Reinsurance may be taken.

(1093) § 2. Any companies organized under this act shall have power to effect reinsurance of any risks taken by them respectively.

Declaration of intention to be filed and published.

(1094) § 3. Such persons shall file in the office of the Territorial Auditor a declaration, signed by all the incorporators, expressing their intention to form a company for the purpose of transacting the business of insurance, as expressed in the first section of this act, which declaration shall also comprise a copy of the charter proposed to be adopted by them, and shall publish a notice of such intention, once in each week, for at least four weeks, in a public newspaper published in the county in which such insurance company is proposed to be located.

Charter of company, what it shall contain.

(1095) § 4. The charter comprised in such declaration shall set forth the name of the company, the place where the principal office for the transaction of its business shall be located, and the mode and manner in which the corporate powers granted by this act are to be exercised, the mode and manner of electing directors, a majority of whom shall be citizens of this Territory, and filling of vacancies, and each director of the company shall be the owner, in his own right, of at least five hundred dollars worth of the stock of such company, and the period for the commencement and termination of its fiscal year and the amount of capital to be employed in the transaction of its business; and the Territoral Auditor shall have the right to reject any name or title of any company applied for, when he shall deem the name too similar to any one already printed or likely to mislead the public in any respect.

Company shall not engage in trade.

(1096) § 5. No company formed under this act shall, directly or indirectly, deal or trade in buying or selling any goods, wares, merchandise or other commodities whatever, except such articles as may have been insured by such company and are claimed to be damaged by fire, lightning, cyclone, tornado, hail or water.

Capital stock of the company.

(1097) § 6. No company shall be incorporated under this act with a capital less than one hundred thousand dollars, actually paid in cash, and shall at all times be provided with cash on hand equal, at least, to twenty per centum of its capital. No joint-stock fire, cyclone, tornado, hail, inland or marine insurance company, of any other state, territory or nation, shall do business in this Territory, unless it has at least one hundred thousand dollars capital, actually paid in cash.

(1098) § 7. No fire insurance company organized under this act, or transacting business in this Territory, shall expose itself to any loss by any one fire or inland navigation risk or hazard to an amount exceeding ten per centum of its paid up capital, and it shall be lawful for any company doing business in the Territory to insure houses, buildings, and all other kinds of property against loss or damage by fire, lightning, cyclone or tornado, and to make all kinds of insurance on goods, merchandise or other property in the course of transportation, whether on land or water, or any vessel or boat, wherever the same may be; to insure growing crops against damage or loss by hail; to insure horses, cattle and other live stock, against loss or damage by accident, theft, or any other unknown or contingent event whatever, which may be subject to legal insurance; and to cause itself to be insured against any loss or risk it may have incurred in the course of its business, and upon any interest which it may have in property; and generally to do and perform all other matters and things proper to promote these objects; and no company organized under this act for transacting business in this Territory, shall expose itself to loss on any one risk or hazard, to an amount exceeding ten per centum of its paid up capital, unless the excess shall be reinsured in some other good reliable company.

Limit of risk taken by company.

(1099) § 8. It shall be lawful for the individuals associated for the purpose of organizing any company under this act, after having published the notice and filed the declaration and charter as required by section 1094, and also on filing in the office of the Territorial Auditor, proof of such publication, by the affidavit of the publisher of said newspaper, his foreman or clerk, to open books for subscription to the capital stock of the company so intended to be organized, and to keep the same open until the full amount specified in the charter is subscribed.

Books for subscription to stock.

(1100) § 9. It shall be lawful for any insurance company organized under this act, or any such company incorporated under any law of this Territory, to invest its capital and the fund accumulated in the course of its business, or any part thereof, in bonds and mortgages on improved unincumbered real estate within the Territory of Oklahoma, worth double the sum loaned thereon (exclusive of buildings, unless such buildings are insured and the policy transferred to said company), and also in the bonds of the Territory, or stocks, or treasury notes of the United States, and also the bank stock of national banks, and also in the stock and bonds of any county or incorporated city in the Territory, authorized to be issued by the Legislature; to loan the same, or any part thereof on the security of such stocks, or bonds, or Treasury notes, or upon bonds or mortgages as aforesaid, and to change and reinvest the same as occasion may, from time to time, require, but the surplus money over and above the capital stock of such insurance company, incorporated under any law of this Territory, may be invested in or loaned upon the pledge of public stocks or bonds of the United States, or any of the states, or stocks, bonds, or other evidences of indebtedness of any solvent, dividend-paying institution, incorporated under the laws of Capital may be invested.

this Territory, or United States, except their own stock: Provided, always, That the market value of such stocks, bonds or other evidence of indebtedness, shall be at all times, during the continuance of such loan, at least ten per centum more than the amount loaned thereon.

Purchasing real estate, limitation.

(1101) § 10. No company organized by or under this act shall purchase, hold or convey real estate, except for the purpose and in the manner herein set forth, to-wit:

First. Such as shall be requisite for the convenient accommodation in the transaction of its business; or,

Second. Such as shall have been mortgaged to it in good faith as security for loans previously contracted, or for money due; or,

Third. Such as shall have been conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in their legitimate business, or for money loaned; or,

Fourth. Such as have been purchased at sales upon judgment, degrees or mortgage foreclosures obtained or made for such debts. And it shall not be lawful for any such company to purchase, hold or convey real estate in any other case or for any other purpose.

Charter shall be issued by the auditor

(1102.) § 11. The charter or proof of publication herein required to be filed by every such company, shall be examined by the district [county] attorney of the county in which the principal office of the company is located, and if found conformable to this act, and not inconsistent with the laws of the Territory, shall be certified by him to the Territorial Auditor, who shall thereupon cause an examination to be made, either by himself or three disinterested persons specially appointed by him for that purpose, who shall certify under oath that the capital herein required of the company named in the charter, according to the nature of the business proposed to be transacted by such company, has been paid in, and is possessed by it in money, or in such stocks and bonds and mortgages as are required by section 1100 of this act. Such certificates shall be filed in the office of the said Auditor, who shall thereupon deliver to such company a certified copy of the charter and of such certificates, which, on being filed in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the company is to be located, shall be their authority to commence business and issue policies; and such certified copy of the charter and of said certificates may be used for or against such company with the same effect as the originals, and shall be conclusive evidence of the fact of the organization of such company.

By-laws.

(1103) § 12. The incorporators or directors, as the case may be, of any company organized under this act, shall have the power to make such by-laws, not inconsistent with the laws of this Territory, as may be deemed necessary for the government of its officers and conduct of its affairs, and the same, when necessary, to alter and amend. And they and their successors may have a common seal, and change and alter the same at their pleasure.

Dividends to be made from surplus profits

(1104) § 13. It shall not be lawful for the directors, trustees or managers of any insurance company organized under this act, or incorporated under any law of this Territory, to make any dividends, except from the surplus profits arising from their business; and in estimating such profits there shall be reserved therefrom a sum equal to forty per cent of the amount received as premiums on all unexpired risks and policies, which amount, so reserved, is hereby declared to be unearned premiums; and there shall be also reserved all sums due the corporation on bonds, mortgages, stocks and book account of which no part of the principal or interest thereon has been paid during the year preceding such estimate of the profits, and upon which suit for foreclosure or collection has not been commenced, or which, after judgment has been obtained thereon, shall have remained more than two years unsatisfied, and on which interest shall not have been paid.

Charter may be extended.

(1105) § 14. Any existing insurance company heretofore incorporated under the laws of this Territory, or any company organized under this act, having a capital of at least one hundred thousand dollars, may, without increasing its capital at any time within two years previous to the termination of its charter, after giving notice at least once a week for four weeks successively, in a newspaper published in the county where such company is located, of such intention, with declaration under its corporate seal, signed by the president and two-thirds of the directors of their desire for such extension, provided such directors have been so instructed by a majority vote of the stock, may extend the term of its original charter in accordance with the provisions of this act, by altering or amending the same so as to agree therewith, and filing a copy of such amended charter, with the declaration aforesaid, in the office of the Territorial Auditor, whereupon the same proceedings shall be had as are required in section 1108.

Capital stock may be increased.

(1106) § 15. Any existing insurance company or any company formed under this law, may at any time increase the amount of its capital stock, after giving notice once a week for four consecutive weeks in any newspaper published in the county where such company is located, of such intention, with the written consent of three-fourths in amount of its stock, unless otherwise provided in its charter or by-laws, by altering or amending its charter or by-laws in this respect, upon filing a copy of its charter or by-laws so amended, together with the declaration under its corporate seal, signed by its president and directors of their desire to do so, with such consent of three-fourths in the amount of its stock to such increase, in the office of the Territorial Auditor, and upon the same proceedings had as are required by section 1108.

Company must make annual statement.

(1107) § 16. Every insurance company doing business in this Territory must transmit to the Territorial Auditor a statement of its condition and business for the year ending on the preceding thirty-first day of December, which shall be rendered on the first day of January in each year, or within one month thereafter, except that foreign insurance companies shall transmit their statement of business other than that taken in the United States prior to the following first day of May; such statement must be published at least three times in a newspaper of general circulation, printed and published in each judicial district of this Territory in which said insurance company shall have an agency, and a duplicate thereof, upon which shall be indorsed the names of the attorneys on whom process of law can be served as required by this act, shall be filed in the office of the register of deeds of the county wherein the agency may be established, but the provisions of this section as to the appointment of attorneys shall not apply to companies organized within this Territory. Statements for publication shall be made out on blanks furnished by the Territorial Auditor, and the Territorial Auditor's certificate of authority for the company to do business in this Territory shall be published in connection with the said statement of each company doing business in this Territory. Proof of publication, to-wit, the printer's affidavit of the fact, shall be filed with the Territorial Auditor in all cases: Provided, The Territorial Auditor shall select three newspapers of general circulation, published in each of the judicial districts, from which said company shall select one in which said statement shall be published.

What the annual statement must contain.

(1108) § 17. The annual statements required by the last section must be in form, and state particulars, as follows:

First. The name of the company and where located.

Second. The name and residence of the attorney for this Territory.

Third. The amount of capital stock actually paid in cash.

Fourth. The property or assets of the company, specifying:

(f) The whole amount paid for salaries of officers and agents during the preceding year.

(g) The whole amount of all other expenditures.

Eighth. Specifying:

(a) The gross amount of risks taken during the preceding year, stating the amount in this Territory separately.

(b) The whole amount of risks outstanding.

(c) The whole amount of losses incurred during the year, including those claims not yet due, stating separately those incurred in this Territory.

(d) The number of agents in this Territory.

Special statements may be required by auditor.

(1109) § 18. The Territorial Auditor may require at any time statements from any company doing business in this Territory, or any of their officers and agents, on such points as he may deem necessary to elicit a full exhibit of its business and standing.

Statements must be verified.

(1110) § 19. The statements required under this act must be verified by the signature and oath of the president or vice-president, with those of the secretary or actuary, or by the manager or general agent of a foreign company doing business in this Territory; and it shall be the duty of the Territorial Auditor to cause the information contained in the statements required by this act to be arranged in a tabular form and printed annually, and transmitted to the Territorial Legislature with his biennial report; also for distribution to the companies doing business in the Territory.

Company prohibited from doing business when.

(1111) § 20. No company having neglected to file the statements required from it within the time and manner prescribed, shall do any new business after a notification by the Auditor, while such neglect continues.

Chap. 18.

Forfeit for neglect.

(1112) § 21. Any company wilfully neglecting to make and transmit any statement required by this act shall forfeit one hundred dollars for each week's delay.

Auditor may prevent publication.

(1113) § 22. The Territorial Auditor has authority to prevent the publication of any part or all of the statement of any company made under this act until its annual report is made.

Company retiring from business.

(1114) § 23. In case any insurance company not incorporated in this Territory shall cease to transact business in this Territory according to the laws thereof, the attorney last designated shall be deemed to continue the [as] attorney for such corporation, for the purpose of serving papers or process for the commencement of any action or proceedings for any violation or any liability accruing on their policies while transacting business in this Territory, and service of such papers in the action or proceedings aforesaid, upon any such attorney, shall be deemed valid and personal service upon such corporation.

Companies organized outside of territory must file statement and copy of charter.

(1115) § 24. And every company or association shall also file a certified copy of its charter, together with a statement, under oath of the president (or vice-president) and secretary, stating the name of the company and where located, the amount of its capital, with a detailed statement of its assets, showing the amount of cash on hand, in bank, or in the hands of agents; the amount of real estate, and how much the same is incumbered by mortgage; the number of shares of stock of every kind owned by the company; the par and market value of the same; amount loaned on bond and morgage; the amount loaned on other security, stating the kind and amount loaned on each, and the estimated value of the whole amount of such securities and other assets or property of the company; also stating the indebtedness of the company; the amount of losses adjusted and unpaid; the amount incurred and in process of adjustment; the amount resisted by the company as illegal and fraudulent, and all other claims existing against the company; also a report of the last annual report, if any, made under the laws of the state or county, and under which such company was incorporated. And no agent shall be allowed to transact business for any such company whose capital is impaired to the extent of twenty per cent thereof while such deficiency continues.

Agents to procure certificate

(1116) § 25. It shall not be lawful for any agent or agents to act for any company or companies referred to in this act, directly or indirectly, in taking risks or transacting the business of fire, cyclone, tornada, hail and inland navigation insurance in this Territory, without procuring from the Territorial Auditor a certificate of authority, stating that such company has complied with all the requisites of this act which applies to such company. The statements and evidences of investment required by this act shall be renewed from year to year, in such manner and form as required by this act, and the Auditor on being satisfied with the capital, securities and investments remaining secured as hereinbefore provided, shall furnish a renewal of the certificate as aforesaid.

Violation of preceding section, penalty.

(1117) § 26. Any violation of any of the provisions of this act shall subject the party violating the same to a penalty of five hundred dollars for each violation, and to the additional sum of one hundred dollars for each month during which any such agent shall neglect to file such affidavits and statement as herein required.

(1118) § 27. The provisions of this act shall apply to all foreign companies, partnerships, associations and individuals, whether incorporated or not. All insurance companies, associations, or partnerships incorporated or organized under the laws of any other state or territory of the United States or any foreign government, transacting the business of fire, cyclone, tornado, hail or marine insurance, or any other kind of insurance, in this Territory, shall make annual statements of their condition and affairs to the Auditor, in the same manner and the same form as similar companies organized under the laws of this Territory.

Provisions apply to foreign companies.

(1119) § 28. If the Auditor has, or shall have at any time after examination, reason to believe that any annual statement or other report required or authorized by this act, made or to be made out by any officer or officers, agent or agents of any corporation, association or partnership, incorporated by or organized under the laws of any state or territory of the United States or any foreign government, is false, it shall be the duty of said Auditor to immediately revoke the certificate of authority granted on behalf of such corporation or association and mail a copy of such revocation to such company, and the agent or agents of such corporation, association or partnership, after such notice, shall discontinue the issuing of any new policies or of the renewal of any policy previously issued; and such revocation shall not be set aside nor any new certificate of authority be given until satisfactory evidence shall have been furnished to said Auditor that such corporation or association is in substance and in fact in the condition set forth in such statement or report, and that all requirements of said act have been fully complied with,

Revocation of authority.

(1120) § 29. It shall be the duty of the Territorial Auditor, whenever he shall deem it expedient to do so, in person or by one or more persons appointed by him for that purpose, not officers or agents of, or in any manner interested in, any insurance company doing business in this Territory, except as policy holders, to examine into the affairs of any company incorporated under this act in this Territory or companies of other states or territories or any foreign companies doing business by its agents in this Territory; it shall be the duty of the officers or agents of any such company, doing business in this Territory to cause their books to be opened for the inspection of the Auditor or persons so appointed, and to otherwise facilitate such examination so far as it may be in their power to do, and pay all reasonable expenses incurred therein, in no case to exceed ten dollars per diem. And for that purpose the said Auditor, or person or persons so appointed by him, shall have the power to examine, under oath, the officers and agents of any such company, relative to the business of said company. And whenever the said Auditor shall deem it for the best interests of the public so to do he shall publish the result of such investigation in two newspapers in this Territory.

Auditor to make examination of companies.

Chap. 18.

Duty of auditor when assets are insufficient.

(1121) § 30. And whenever it shall appear to said Auditor from such examination, that the assets of any such company incorporated in this Territory are insufficient to justify the continuance in business of any such company, he may direct the officers thereof to require the stockholders to pay in the amount of such deficiency within such a period as he may designate in such requisition, or he shall communicate the fact to the district [county] attorney, whose duty it shall be to apply to the district court of the county in which the principal office of the company shall be located, for an order requiring them to show cause why the business of such company shall not be closed, and the court shall thereupon proceed to hear the allegations and proof of the respective parties; and in case it shall appear to the satisfaction of said court that the assets and effects of said company are not sufficient as aforesaid, and that the interests of the public so require it, and the said court shall decree the dissolution of said company and a distribution of its effects. And said district court shall have the power to refer all applications for distribution to a referee, who shall inquire into, and report upon the facts stated therein. Any company receiving the aforesaid requisition from such Auditor, shall forthwith call upon thc stockholders for such amount as shall make the capital equal to the amount fixed by the charter of said company. And in case any stockholder of such company shall refuse or neglect to pay the amount so called for, after notice personally given, or by advertisement in such time and manner as the Auditor shall approve, it shall be lawful for such Auditor to require the return of said original certificate of stock held by said stockholder, and in lieu therefor to issue new certificates for such number of shares as said stockholder may be entitled to, in the proportion that the ascertained value of the funds of said company may be found to bear to the original capital of said company; the value of such shares for which the new certificates shall be issued, to be ascertained under the direction of said Auditor, and the company paying for the fractional parts of shares; and it shall be lawful for the directors of such company to create new stock, dispose of the same and issue new certificates of stock to the amount sufficient to make up the original capital of the company.

When directors are liable

(1122) § 31. And it is hereby declared that in the event of any additional losses incurring upon new risks, taken after expiration of the period limited by said Auditor, in the aforesaid requisition for the filling up of the deficiency in the capital of said company, and before said deficiency shall have been made up, the directors shall be individually liable to the extent thereof.

When transfer of stock will not release stockholder

(1123) § 32. No transfer of the stock of any company organized under this act, made during the pendency of any such investigation, will release the party making the transfer from his liability for the losses which may have occurred previous to the transfer.

Revocation of certificates.

(1124) § 33. And whenever it shall appear to said Auditor, from the report of the person or persons appointed by him, that the affairs of any company not incorporated by the laws of this Territory are in unsound condition, he shall revoke the certificates granted in behalf of said company, and shall cause a notification thereof to be published in any newspaper of general circulation published at the capital, and mail a copy thereof to each agent of the company. The agent or agents of such company shall, after such notice, be required to discontinue the issuing of new policies and the renewal of any policies previously issued.

Penalties, how recovered.

(1125) § 34. Every penalty provided for by this act, shall be sued for and recovered in the name of the Territory by the district [county] attorney in whose jurisdiction the company or agent or agents so violating shall be doing business, and one-half of all such penalties shall be paid, when recovered, into the treasury of said county, and the other half to the informer; and in case of the non-payment of such penalties, the party so offending shall be liable to imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months, in the discretion of any court having cognizance thereof.

Duration of charters.

(1126) § 35. All companies incorporated or extended under this act, may provide in their charter for not more than thirty years duration, but the Legislature may at any time alter or amend this act, and provide for the closing up of the business and affairs of any company formed under it. Nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to prevent the subsequent extension of the charter of companies organized or extended under this act.

Capital stock may be reduced when and how.

(1127) § 36. Whenever it shall appear to the Territorial Auditor, from examination made by him, in the manner prescribed by law, that the capital stock of any company organized under this act, is impaired to an amount exceeding twenty per cent of such capital, and he shall be of the opinion that the interests of the public will not be prejudiced by permitting such company to continue business with the reduced capital, it shall be lawful for such company, with the permission of the said Auditor, to reduce its capital stock, and the par value of the shares thereof, to such amount as the Auditor may, under his hand and seal, certify to be proper, and as shall, in his opinion, be justified by the assets and property of such company: Provided, That no part of such assets and property shall be distributed to the stockholders: Provided, further, That the capital stock of any such company shall not be reduced to an amount less than the sum now required by law for the organization of a new company under the general insurance laws, for the transaction of business at the place where such company is located, and of the kind which said company is authorized to transact. No reduction of the capital of any such company shall be made except upon a resolution of the board of directors, approved by at least two-thirds of the directors, certified under its corporate seal, signed by the president and at least two-thirds of the directors and proved or acknowledged in the manner required by law for the proof or acknowledgment of conveyances, which certificate shall be filed in the office of said Auditor before any action shall be had by him thereon. The Territorial Auditor, in case he shall permit any such company to reduce its capital in the manner provided in this act, shall execute the certificate required by this act in duplicate, and deliver one of said certificates to the officers of said company, who shall forthwith file the same with the clerk of said county in which said company is located, and the other to be filed in the office of said Auditor. Such company upon filing the certificate with the county clerk as required by this act, shall with such reduced capital, possess the same rights and be subject to the same liabilities as it possessed and was subject to at the time of the reduction of its capital, and the charter of such company shall be deemed to be amended in all respects to the amount of capital, and par value of the shares, so as to conform to the reduction. It shall be lawful for the said company to require the return of the original certificate of stock held by each stockholder, in lieu thereof to issue new certificates for such number of shares as each stockholder may be entitled to; in the proportion that the reduced capital may be found to bear to the original capital of the company. It shall be lawful for any such company after its capital shall be so reduced as aforesaid, to increase its capital stock in the manner prescribed by this act.

Statement of receivers of insurance companies

(1128) § 37. It shall be the duty of all receivers of insurance companies, on or before the first day of March of each year, and at any other time, when required by the Territorial Auditor, to make and to file, annually, their statements of their assets and liabilities, and of their income and expenditures, in the same manner and form, and under the same penalties, as the officers of such companies are now required by law to make annual and other statements to the auditor.

Publication of statement.

(1129) § 38. And the said Auditor shall also require its annual statement, required to be filed by this act, to be published, in conformity with the provisions of section 1107.

Fees

(1130) § 39. There shall be paid by every company, association, person or persons, or agent, doing business in this Territory, to whom this act shall apply, the following fees :

Upon filing declaration, or certified copy of charter, twenty-five dollars.

Upon filing the annual statement. ten dollars.

For each certificate of authority, and certified copy thereof, two dollars.

For every copy of any paper filed in the department, the sum of twenty cents per folio; and for fixing official seal to such copy and certifying the same, the sum of one dollar.

For official examinations of companies under this act, the actual expenses incurred, not to exceed ten dollars per diem.

And companies organized under the laws of this Territory, shall pay the following fees:

For filing and examination of the first application of any company, and the issuing of the certificates of license thereon, ten dollars.

For filing each annual statement, and the issuing renewal of license required by law, three dollars.

For each certificate of authority to its agents, fifty cents: Pro- vided, That the net amount of all fees over and above the cost of performing the clerical labor connected therewith shall not exceed under this act, the sum of two thousand dollars, and that any amount above that sum shall be paid over to the Territorial Treasurer for the general fund of the Territory.

Taxes.

(1131) § 40. Every insurance company doing business in this Territory, except in joint-stock and mutual companies organized under the laws of this Territory, shall, at the time of making the annual statement, as required by law, pay into the State [Territorial] treasury, as taxes, two and a-half per cent of the gross amount of premiums received in this Territory during the preceding year, taking duplicate receipts therefor, one of which shall be filed with the Auditor; and upon the filing of said receipts, not until then, the said Auditor shall issue the annual certificate as provided by law; and the said sum of two and a-half per cent shall be in full of all taxes, State, [Territorial] and local.

When company may begin business.

(1132) § 41. No company formed under this act for the purpose of doing the business of insurance on the mutual plan, shall commence business within this Territory, nor establish agencies for the transaction of business within this Territory, until agreements have been entered into for insurance with at least one hundred applicants, the premiums of which shall amount to not less than fifty thousand dollars, of which ten thousand dollars at least, shall have been paid in cash, and notes of solvent parties, founded on actual and bona fide applications for insurance, shall have been received for the remainder, and no one of the notes received as aforesaid, shall amount to more than two hundred dollars, and no two shall be given for the same risk, or be made by the same person or firm, except where the whole amount of such notes shall not be more than two hundred dollars, nor shall any such note be represented as capital stock, unless a policy be issued upon the same within thirty days after the organization of the company, upon a risk which shall not be for a shorter period than twelve months. Each of said notes shall be payable, in part or in whole, at any time when the directors shall deem the same requisite for payment of any loss and such incidental expenses as may be necessary for the transaction of said business. And no note shall be and appear as a help to said capital stock, unless the same shall be accompanied by a certificate of the register of deeds or clerk of the district court of the county where the person making such note shall reside, that the person making the note is, in his opinion, pecuniarily good and responsible for the same; and no such note shall be surrendered during the life-time of the policy for which it was given.

Agents' responsibility.

(1133) § 42. Agents appointed by any company doing business in this Territory, to solicit for applications for insurance, collect the premiums on the same, and transact other duties of agents in such cases, shall be held personally responsible to such company for any money received by them for such company; and in case any such agent shall embezzle or fraudulently convert to his own use, or shall take or secrete the same with the intent to embezzle and convert to his own use, without the consent of such company, any money belonging to such company, which shall come into his possession, or shall be under his care by virtue of his agency, he shall be deemed by so doing to have committed the crime of larceny, and on conviction shall be subject to the fine and penalties provided by the statutes in such cases.

Reciprocal obligations.

(1134) § 43. When by the laws of any state or territory, any taxes, fines, penalties, licenses, fees, deposits of moneys or securities, or capital requirements, or other obligations, or prohibitions are imposed or would be imposed on insurance companies of this Territory, doing or that might seek to do, business in such state or territory, or upon their agents therein; so long as such laws continue in force, the same obligations and prohibitions, of whatever kind, shall be imposed upon all insurance companies of such state or territory doing business within this Territory or upon their agents here.

Annual statement.

(1135) § 44. All insurance companies heretofore organized in the Territory of Oklahoma, and now doing business in this Territory, shall be required to make the annual statement provided for and required by companies formed or organized under this act. But this shall not be construed to interfere with, or in any manner abridge the rights and privilege of any company already in existance or doing business under any law now or heretofore existing in the Territory.

Changing principal office.

(1136) § 45. It shall be lawful for any insurance company to change the location of its principal office to any place within the Territory of Oklahoma, by a majority vote of the stock of said company, and said company shall also publish a notice of such change of location for three consecutive months immediately thereafter, in some newspaper of general circulation published in said Territory, a copy of which notice must be filed with the Auditor of the Territory.

Who may unite to form company.

(1137) § 46. It shall be lawful for any number of persons, not less than twenty-five, residing in any county in this Territory, who collectively shall own property not less than twenty-five thousand dollars in value, which they desire to insure, to form themselves into a company for mutual insurance against loss or damage by fire, lightning and hail, which corporation shall possess other powers and be subject to other duties of corporations, and the corporate name thereof shall embrace the name of the county in which the business office of the said company shall be located.

Directors

(1138) § 47. Every company so formed shall choose of that number not less than five nor more than thirteen directors, to manage the affairs of such company, who shall hold their office for one year, or until others are elected and qualified, and such directors shall choose one of their number president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, and said treasurer shall give such bond as may be required by the board of directors of said company, and said company may also require the secretary thereof to give such bonds.

Articles to be filed.

(1139) § 48. The directors of such company shall file their articles of incorporation, together with a copy of their by-laws and the names of the officers of such company, in the office of the county clerk, or the auditor of the county in which such company is located, and shall keep a record of sheir proceedings in a book kept for that purpose, together with the names of all persons insured and the amount each person is insured, which record shall be kept open for inspection to all the members in such company at the office of the secretary thereof.

May issue policies.

(1140) § 49. The directors of such company may issue policies, signed by the president and secretary, agreeing in the name of the company to pay all losses or damage by fire, lightning and hail, for a term not exceeding five years, to the holder of such policies, not exceeding the sum named in such policy.

Duty of company in hail insurance.

(1141) § 50. In all cases of insurance against loss or damage by hail, it shall be the duty of such company to keep a separate and distinct record of all interest, premiums and policies of insurance relating or pertaining to such hail insurance, and no note, premium, undertaking or policy of insurance which shall be received, issued or delivered for any insurance against loss by hail shall be used in any connection with insurance against loss or damage by reason of any other cause, and that no moneys, premiums or funds arising out of or received for insurance against loss or damage by hail shall be used in the payment of any loss or damage by reason of fire or lightning and that no moneys, premiums or funds arising out of, or received for insurance against loss or damage by fire and lightning shall be used in the payment of any loss or damage by hail.

Obligation of insured against hail.

(1142) § 51. Every person insuring grain against loss or damage by hail shall, except where cash premium is paid, execute and deliver to such company his promissory note, bearing even date with the policy issued to him therefor, together with such security as may be required by the board of directors, or the by-laws of such company. In case of insurance against loss or damage by hail, the directors of such company may issue policies signed by the president and secretary, agreeing in the name of the company, to pay all losses or damages by hail, or such pro rata share of such loss or damage as can be paid out of the highest limit of the liabilities of the members, which liabilities shall be established by the by-laws of such company, before the issuing of any policy of insurance against loss or damage by hail.

Appointment of hail loss adjusters.

(1143) § 52. It shall be the duty of the board of directors to appoint one or more adjusters, prescribe their duties and fix their compensation, requiring them to report to the president or secretary upon all losses or damage by hail adjusted by them. Upon any loss or damage by hail, the party sustaining the same shall immediately notify the secretary or a duly appointed adjuster of such loss or damage. In case the adjuster and party sustaining the loss cannot agree, the claimant may then appeal, as provided for in section 1146, and notice of loss or damage by hail shall be the same as prescribed in said section 1146.

What by-laws may provide regarding hail department.

(1144) § 53. It shall be lawful for any company organized under this act, to provide in their by-laws for creating a fund of not to exceed fifteen thousand dollars in the hail department, and the sum of not to exceed three thousand dollars in the fire and lightning department, the by-laws to set fourth the manner in which such funds shall be created and the purpose to which they shall be applied.

Chap. 18.

Obligations of insured against fire and lightning.

(1145) § 54. Every person insured against loss or damage by fire and lightning, shall give his undertaking, bearing even date with the policy so issued to him, binding himself, his heirs and assigns to pay his pro rata share to the company of all losses or damage by fire and lightning, which may be sustained by any member thereof, and every such undertaking shall within five days after the execution thereof, be filed with the secretary in the office of said company and shall remain on file in said office, except when required to be produced in court as evidence. He shall also at the time of receiving such insurance pay such percentage in cash or such reasonable sum named in the policy, as may be required by the rules and by-laws of the company.

In case of loss.

(1146) § 55. Every member of said company who may sustain loss or damage by fire, and lightning, shall immediately notify the secretary of said company, or in case of his absence, the president thereof, specifying the property destroyed, the damage and cause thereof, which officer shall forthwith ascertain and adjust the amount of such loss or damage, or who shall forthwith convene the directors of such company, whose duty it shall be to appoint a committee of not more than three members of said company, to ascertain the amount of such loss, and in case of the inability of the parties to agree upon the amount of such damage, the claimant shall choose a disinterested party and the company shall choose a disinterested party, who shall constitute a board of arbitration to settle such loss, and in case these parties cannot agree, they shall choose a third party to act with them, and said board of arbitration shall have power to examine witnesses and determine all matters in dispute, and the decision of said board shall be final.

May classify property

(1147) § 56. The company, under the provisions of this act, may classify property insured at the time of issuing the policy thereon, under different rates, corresponding as nearly as may be to the greater or less risk from fire or loss which may attach to each several building or personal property insured, or damage by hail. Whenever the amount of any loss shall be ascertained, and there are not sufficient funds in the treasury to pay such loss or damage, the president or secretary shall convene the directors of said company, who shall make assessments on the property insured, taking in connection the rate of premium under which it may have been classified: Provided, however, That no assessment for loss or damage by hail shall be made prior to the first day in September of the year in which said loss occurred,

Secretary to collect assessments.

(1148) § 57. It shall be the duty of the Secretary, whenever such assessment shall have been completed, to notify every person composing such company by letter sent to their postoffice address, of the amount of such loss, and the sum due from him as his share thereof, and the time when, and to whom, such payment is to be made, and such time shall not be less than thirty days nor more than sixty days from the time of such notice. And no company organized under the provisions of this act shall be liable in any action at law or otherwise, for the recovery of any loss or damage by hail before the fifteenth day of November of the year in which loss occurred.

Suits.

(1149) § 58. Suits at law may be brought against any member of such company who shall refuse or neglect to pay any assessment made upon them by the provisions of this act, and the directors of such company so formed who shall wilfully neglect to perform the duties imposed upon them under the foregoing sections of this act shall be liable in their individual capacity to the person sustaining such loss.

Cannot insure property outside of county.

(1150) § 59. No company formed under the provisions of this act shall insure any property outside the limits of the county in which such company is located, nor shall they insure any property other than detached dwellings and their contents, farm buildings and their contents, school houses and school furniture therein, church buildings and furniture therein, live stock only on the premises or running at large and hay or grain in bin or stack, or growing grain against damage by hail, nor shall they insure any property within the limits of any incorporated city or village in this Territory.

Election of directors.

(1151) § 60. The directors of each company so formed, shall be chosen by a vote at the annual election thereof, which shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January of each year and each member shall have one vote; but no person shall vote by proxy at such election: Provided, That any company organized under the provisions of this act whose policies of insurance shall not run for a longer period than one year, all persons holding policies of insurance therein during the year immdiately preceding the annual election shall be considered as members of said company, and shall be entitled to vote at such election.

Statement of condition.

(1152) § 61. It shall be the duty of the secretary of every company as aforesaid, to prepare a statement, showing the condition of such company on the Tuesday preceding the annual election, which statement shall contain the amount insured, the number of policies issued and to whom, and the amount insured by each policy, and other matters pertaining to the interest of such company, which statement shall be filed in the office of the county auditor in the county in which such company is located, on or before the fifteenth day of January of each year, and which statement shall also be read to the members at their annual meeting, or so much thereof as may be required by the members present.

Withdrawals.

(1153)§ 62. Any member of such company may withdraw therefrom at any time by giving ten days notice to the president in writing, or to the secretary thereof, and by paying his share of all claims existing at the expiration of the ten days, against said company, and the directors or a majority thereof, shall have power to annul any policy by giving ten days notice in writing to the holder thereof.

Non-residents.

(1154) § 63. Non-residents of any county in this Territory owning property therein may become members of any company founded under this act and shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges pertaining thereto, except that it shall not be lawful for such non-residents to become directors in such company.

By-laws.

(1155) § 64. Any company so formed may adopt such by-laws for its regulation as are not inconsistent with the provisions of this act and may therein prescribe the compensation for its officers.

Duration of Company.

(1156) § 65. No company formed under this act shall continue for a longer term than thirty years.

Holder of policy may surrender same for cancellation at any time.

(1157) § 66. The holder of any policy of insurance against loss or damage to property by fire or other casualty, hereafter issued by any insurance company doing business in this Territory, may, notwithstanding any provision thereof, or contract to the contrary, at any time surrender the same for cancellation; and upon such surrender, the company issuing such policy shall retain or receive such proportion and no more of the premium paid or agreed to be paid, as corresponds with the usual short rates upon term policies, as adopted and maintained by the Minnesota and Dakota fire underwriters' union of St. Paul, Minnesota, for the time the policy remained in force.

Policy forfeited, when; insurer to give notice, what notice to contain.

(1158) § 67. No such policy of insurance shall, by virtue of any condition, or provision thereof, be forfeited, suspended or impaired for non-payment of any note or obligation taken for the premium, or any part thereof, unless the insurer shall, not less than thirty days prior to the maturity of such premium, note, or obligation, mail, postage prepaid to the assured at his usual postoffice, a notice stating:

First. The date when such note or obligation will become due.

Second. The amount of principal and interest, that will then be due.

Third. The effect upon the policy of non-payment.

Fourth. Such notice shall further inform the assured of his right, at his own election, either to pay in full, and keep the policy in full force, or to terminate the insurance by surrendering the policy, and paying such part of the whole premium as it shall have earned, and must further state the amount, which assured is lawfully required to pay, or which, on account of previous payment, may be due him, in case of his election, to terminate the insurance on the day of the maturity of the premium, note or obligation.

Premium defined.

(1159) § 68. The term "premium," within the meaning of this act, includes policy fees, in excess of two dollars, on any one policy, and all other sums of money paid, or agreed to be paid in consideration of a policy of insurance.

Mortgage and application must be separate and distinct.

(1160) § 69. It shall be unlawful for any insurance company or any agent or solicitor therefor, within this Territory, to take or procure to be taken, upon the property to be insured or any other property, a chattel mortgage securing the payment of the premium due or to become due (including policy fees) or any part thereof, unless such chattel mortgage shall be printed or written upon a separate and distinct paper from the application, and no mortgage given in violation of the provisions of this section shall be valid or binding upon the party executing the same, but shall in all things be null and void.

Penalty

(1161) § 70. Any insurance company, or any agent or solicitor thereof, violating the provisions of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. And such company shall further forfeit all its rights and privileges under its charter.

(1162) 1. Corporations for mining, manufacturing and other industrial pursuits may be formed as provided in this article; and such corporations have all the rights, and are subject to all the duties, restrictions, and liabilties therein mentioned, so far as the same apply or relate to such corporations, but the term of existence of any such corporation shall not exceed twenty years.

Loans to stockholders forbidden.

(1163) § 2. The purposes for which every such corporation shall be formed must be distinctly and definitely specified in the articles of incorporation, and it must not appropriate its funds to any other purpose, nor must it loan any of its money to any stockholder therein; and if any such loan or misappropriation be made, the officers who shall make it, or who shall assent thereto, shall be jointly and severally liable, to the extent of such loan or misappropriation, and interest, for all the debts of the corporation contracted before the repayment of the sum so loaned or misappropriated.

Accounts; statements.

(1164) § 3. Regular books of accounts of all the business of such corporations must be kept, which, with the vouchers, shall be at all reasonable times open for the inspection of any of the stockholders; and as often as once in each year a statement of such accounts shall be made, by order of the directors, and laid before the stockholders.

Stockholders liable for labor.

(1165) § 4. The stockholders of any corporation formed for the purposes mentioned in this article shall be jointly and severally liable, in their individual capacities, for all debts due to mechanics, workmen and laborers employed by such corporation, which said liability may be enforced against any stockholders by an action at any time after an execution against such corporation shall be returned not satisfied: Provided, Such action be commenced within four months: And provided always, That if any stockholder shall be compelled by any such action to pay the debts of any creditor, or any part thereof, he shall have the right to call upon all the stockholders to contribute their part of the sum so paid by him as aforesaid, and may sue them jointly or severally, or any number of them, and recover in such action the ratable amount due from the person or persons so sued.

Annual report shall be made and published.

(1166) § 5. Every such corporation shall annually, within twenty days from the first day of January, make a report, which must be published in some newspaper published at or nearest to the place where the business of said corporation is carried on, which report must state the capital stock and the amount thereof actually paid in, the amount and nature of its indebtedness and the amounts due the corporation, the number and amount of dividends and when paid, and the net amount of profits. The said report must be signed by the president and a majority of the directors, and be verified by the oath of the president or secretary of the corporation, and filed in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the business of the corporation is carried on; any person who wilfully neglects, fails or refuses to make, sign or publish the report as provided in this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Demand for statement.

(1167) § 6. Whenever any person or persons owning twenty per cent of the capital stock of any corporation formed for the purposes mentioned in this article shall present a written request to the treasurer thereof that they desire a written statement of the affairs of the corporation, he must make such statement under oath, embracing a particular account of all its assets and liabilities in detail, and deliver the same to the persons presenting the written request; within twenty days after such presentation; and such treasurer shall also, at the same time, place and keep on file in his office for six months thereafter a copy of such statement, which shall at all times during business hours be exhibited to any stockholder of such corporation demanding an examination thereof; the treasurer, however, shall not be required to make or deliver such statement in the manner aforesaid oftener than once in every six months. If such treasurer neglect or refuse to comply with the provisions of this section, he shall forfeit and pay to the person or persons presenting such written request the sum of fifty dollars, and the further sum of ten dollars for every twenty-four hours thereafter until such statement shall be furnished, to be sued for and recovered in an action.

May have office outside of territory.

(1168) § 7. Any corporation formed for the purposes mentioned in this article may provide in the articles of incorporation for having a business office without this Territory, at any place within the United States and to hold any meeting of the stockholders or directors of the corporation at such office so provided for; but every such corporation having a business office out of this Territory must have its main office for the transaction of business within this Territory, to be also designated in such articles.

Violation of provisions of this act.

(1169) § 8. If any such corporation shall wilfully violate any of the provisions of this chapter relating or applying to such corporation, and shall thereby become insolvent, the directors ordering or assenting to such violation shall jointly and severally be liable in an action founded upon this statute for all debts contracted after such violation.

Ditch corporation; requisites.

(1170) § 9. In addition to the matters required by section 956 every corporation formed for the purpose of constructing a ditch to convey water to any mines, mills or lands, to be used for mining, manufacturing, milling, or for the irrigation of lands, must, in the articles of incorporation, specify as follows: The stream or streams from which the water is to be taken; the point or place on said stream at or near which the water is to be taken out; the line of said ditch as near as may be, and the use to which the said water is intended to be applied.

Right of way.

(1171) § 10. Any ditch corporation shall have the right of way over the line named in the articles, and shall also have the right to run the water of the stream or streams named in the articles, through their ditch: Provided, That the line proposed shall not interfere with any other ditch whose rights are prior to those granted under this article, and acquired by virtue of such articles of incorporation. Nor shall the water of any stream be diverted from its original channel to the detriment of any miners, millmen, or others along the line of said stream, who may have a priority of right; and there shall be at all times left sufficient water in said stream for the use of miners and agriculturists along said stream.

Duty to furnish water.

(1172) § 11. Every ditch corporation must furnish water to the class of persons using water in the way and for the purpose for which the articles of incorporation declare the water obtained by the corporation is to be used, whether miners, manufacturers, millmen or farmers, whenever they shall have water in their ditch unsold, and must at all times give the preference to the use of the water in such ditch to the class of persons so named in the articles.

Protection from injury.

(1173) § 12. Every ditch corporation must keep the banks of its ditch in good condition, so that the water shall not be allowed to escape from it to the injury of any mining claim, road, ditch, or other property; and whenever it is necessary to extend or construct any ditch over, across or above any lode or mining claim, or public highway, the corporation shall, if necessary to keep the water of said ditch out or from any such lode, claim or highway, flume the ditch so far as necessary to protect such claim, property or highway, from the water of such ditch.

Flumes.

(1174) § 13. In addition to the matters required in section 957, every corporation formed for the purpose of constructing a flume, must in its articles of incorporation, specify as follows: The place of beginning, the termini, and the route so near as may be, and the purpose for which such flume is intended. Such corporation shall have the right of way over the line named in its articles: Provided, It does not conflict with the right of any fluming, ditching or other corporation, or with the prior water-rights of any person.

Tunnels.

(1175) § 14. In addition to the matters required by section 957, every corporation formed for the purpose of running and excavating a tunnel for mining for gold, silver or other ore, or quartz or coal, must, in the articles of incorporation, specify as follows: Where said tunnel is to be run; the place of commencement; the course and termination; and the metals, minerals or ores designed to be excavated. Through all lodes crossed by such tunnel such corporation shall have the right of way.

Chap. 8.

Acquiring right of way.

(1176) § 15. The right of way granted in this article to any ditch, flume or tunnel corporation, may be acquired in the same manner, and by like proceedings as provided for railroad corporations.

Non-user forfeits rights

(1177) § 16. Every corporation formed under the provisions of this article must, within ninety days from the date of the issue of its certificate of incorporation, commence the construction of its works or the transaction of its business, and must prosecute the work or business with due diligence until the same is completed; and the time of completion of its works shall not extend beyond a period of two years from the time work was commenced as aforesaid; and any such corporation failing to commence work within ninety days from the date of its certificate, or failing to complete the same within two years from the time of commencement as aforesaid, shall forfeit all right to the route so claimed, and the same shall be subject to be claimed by any other corporation: Provided, That this section shall not apply to the construction of any works through or over any grounds owned by such corporation.

Time extended for completion of works.

(1178) § 17. [Every incorporated company transacting business within this Territory shall be allowed twice the length of time now allowed under chapter 18 for the completion of its works, without working any forfeiture whatever until the expiration of such extended time, and then only upon failure to complete such works.]

Parties using water responsible for damages.

(1179) § 18. All persons using the waters of any irrigation ditch in this Territory, shall be responsible for all damages occasioned by such waters, after the same have been diverted from such ditch.

ARTICLE 13.—BRIDGE CORPORATIONS.

SECTION.

1. What the articles of incorporation must include.
2. County board must give authority.
3. Forfeiture
4. Bridge must be kept in good condition.
5. Toll rates must be posted.
6. Penalty for allowing bridge to be in bad condition.
7. Collection of tolls.
8. Forcible passing,
9. Annual report to county board.
10. Report must be published; penalty for neglect.

What the articles of incorporation must include.

(1180) § 1. The term of existence of a bridge corporation shall not exceed twenty years; and in addition to the matters required by section 957, every corporation formed for the purpose of constructing a bridge over any stream of water must, in the articles of incorporation, specify as follows: The place where such bridge is to be built over what stream; that the banks on both sides of the stream where such bridge is to be built are owned by such corporation, or that it has obtained in writing the consent of the owners of the banks, where the bridge is to be built, to build the bridge; or that the banks at such place are included within and part of a public highway, and in such case that the consent in writing of the board of county commissioners of the county or counties for the erection of such bridge by such corporation has been obtained, and it must file a certified copy of its articles of incorporation in the office of the register of deeds of the county or counties in which its bridge or any part thereof is situated or to be located.

County board must give authority.

(1181) § 2. No such corporation shall construct or take tolls on a bridge until authority is granted therefor by the board of county commissioners of the county or counties in which it is to be located.

Forfeiture.

(1182) § 3. Every such corporation also ceases to be a body corporate:

First. If, within six months from the issue of its certificate by the Secretary of the Territory, it has not obtained such authority from the board or boards of county commissioners, as mentioned in the last section; and if, within one year thereafter, it has not commenced the construction of its bridge, and actually expended thereon at least ten per cent of its capital stock.

Second. If, within three years from the issuing of its certificate of incorporation, the bridge be not completed.

Bridge must be kept in good condition.

(1183) § 4. Every bridge corporation must at all times keep the bridge in good and safe condition for travel, both night and day unless it be rendered impassable by reason of floods or high water; and if it be destroyed by fire or other causes the corporation must rebuild within a period of one year from such destruction or its corporate rights shall be forfeited and cease to exist.

Toll rates must be posted.

(1184) § 5. Such corporation, previous to receiving and as a precedent condition to the right to receive any toll upon the use of its bridge, must set up and keep in a conspicuous place on the bridge, a board on which must be written, painted or printed, in a plain and legible manner, the rates of toll which shall have been prescribed by the board of county commissioners; and if such corporation shall demand or receive any greater rate of toll than the rate so prescribed, it shall be subject to a fine of ten dollars for each offense, to be recovered in an action by the party aggrieved or by any public officer making the complaint.

Penalty for allowing bridge to be in bad condition.

(1185) § 6. No such corporation shall demand or receive toll whenever said bridge is not in good and safe condition for use, and any person having paid toll on such bridge and finding the same in a bad or unsafe condition for loaded wagons or teams, shall have the right to make complaint before any justice of the peace in the county or counties in which the bridge is located, who shall thereupon summon the said corporation, through its toll-gatherer, officers or directors, to appear before him to answer the complaint, within not over five days from the date thereof, and if upon the hearing it be found that the bridge is not in a good and safe condition for use, or is in a bad condition and unsafe for loaded wagons or teams, the justice of the peace must impose a fine not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars upon such corporation, and he must thereupon also enter judgment and issue his order that no toll be collected upon said bridge until it is put in good repair and safe condition.

Collection of toll.

(1186) § 7. Each toll-gatherer may prevent from passing through his gate all persons, animals or vehicles subject to toll until he shall have received, respectively, the tolls authorized to be collected; and if he wilfully and unreasonably hinder or delay any such persons, animals or vehicles from passing, when the lawful toll has been paid or tendered, he shall forfeit and pay for each offense a sum not less than five dollars nor more than twenty-five dollars, to be recovered in an action by the party aggrieved.

Forcible passing.

(1187) § 8 Every person who forcibly, willfully or fraudulently passes over any such bridge without having paid or tendered the legal toll for himself and the property in his charge, shall, for each offense, forfeit and pay to the corporation injured a sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars, to be recovered in an action in the name of such corporation.

Annual report must be made to the county board.

(1188) § 9. The president and secretary of every bridge corporation must annually, within twenty days from the first day of January, report under oath to the board of county commissioners of the county in which the articles of incorporation are filed, specifying as follows: The costs of constructing and providing all necessary appendages and appurtenances of their bridge; the amount of all moneys expended thereon, since its construction, for repairs and incidental expenses; the capital stock, how much paid in and how much actually expended thereof; the amount received during the year for tolls and from all other sources, stating each separately; the amount of dividends made; the indebtedness of of the corporation, specifying for what it was incurred; the net amount of profits; and such other facts and particulars respecting the business of the corporation as the board of county commissioners may require.

Report must be published, penalty for neglect.

(1189) § 10. Such corporation must cause the report required in the preceding section to be published for four weeks in a newspaper published in the town or city nearest such bridge. A failure to make such report and to publish it as aforesaid, subjects the corporation to a penalty of two hundred dollars; and for every week permitted to elapse after such failure, an additional penalty of fifty dollars, payable in each case to the county or counties from which the authority to construct and take tolls is derived, at the suit of such county or counties. All such cases must be reported by the boards of county commissioners to the district attorney, who must commence an action therefor.

(1192) § 3. All such corporations may hold all the property of the association owned prior to incorporation, as well as that acquired thereafter in any manner, and transact all business relative thereto; but no such corporation shall own or hold more real prop- Amount of property limited.

erty than may be reasonably necessary for the business and objects of the association; and no such corporation for religious or charitable purposes shall acquire or hold real property of a greater value than fifty thousand dollars.

Must make annual report

(1193) § 4. The trustees or directors of all such corporations must annually make a full report of all their property, real and personal, including property held in trust by them, and of the condition thereof, and of all their affairs, to the members of the corporation for which they are acting.

May sell or mortgage property.

(1194) § 5. Corporations of the character mentioned in this article may sell, exchange or mortgage any or all property held or owned by them in the manner determined by such corporations.

By-laws.

(1195) § 6. Such corporation may, in their by-laws or articles of incorporation, in addition to the provisions of sections 957 and 976, provide for:

First. The qualification of members, mode of election, and terms of admission to membership.

Second. The fees of admission, and dues to be paid to their treasury by members.

Third. The expulsion and suspension of members for misconduct or non-payment of dues; also for restoration to membership.

Fourth. Contracting, securing, paying and limiting the amount of their indebtedness.

Fifth. Other regulations not repugnant to the law of the land, and consonant with the objects of the corporation.

Subsequent members to have equal rights

(1196) § 7. Members admitted after incorporation have all the rights and privileges, and are subject to the same responsibilities, as members of the association prior thereto.

Membership rights personal.

(1197) § 8. No member, or his legal representative, must dispose of or transfer any right or privilege conferred on him by reason of his membership of such corporation, or be deprived thereof, except as herein provided.

Trustees of religious corporations

(1198) § 9. The board of trustees, or other officers of any religious corporation, may be chosen at such times and in such manner as may be in conformity to the rules, usage or general discipline of such church.

Members of any church may form association without incorporation

(1199) § 10. The members of any church or religious society, not less than three, who by its rules, usage and general discipline, or otherwise, do not desire to organize and become ncorporated under the forgoing provisions relating to corporations may organize and become corporate, capable of suing aud being sued, holding, purchasing and receiving title to real estate and other property by devise, gift, grant or other conveyance, with power to mortgage, sell or convey the same, or any part, parcel or portion thereof, by adopting and signing articles containing:

First. The name of the church, society, association or corporation, its general purpose and plan of operation and its place of location.

Second. The terms of admission and qualifications of membership, and the selection of officers, and the filling of vacancies, and the manner in which the same is to be governed and managed. such articles shall be recorded in the office of the Secretary of the Territory, and also in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which such church, society, association or corporation is located; and thereupon such church, society, association or corporation shall have all the powers hereinbefore provided, and may adopt and establish by-laws and make all rules and regulations deemed necessary and expedient for the management of its affairs in accordance with law.

Title vests in successors, in trust.

(1200) § 11. All grants or deeds from private individuals, or acts of legislative bodies, transferring, conveying or granting real estate in this Territory to any bishop, dean, rector, vestryman, deacon, director, minister, or any other officer or officers of any church or organized religious society in trust for the use and benefit of such society of which they are such officer or officers, which have been or may be made, done or executed, shall vest in their successor or successors in office, or other officer which such society may at any time designate, all the legal or other title, to the same extent and in all respects the same, as trustee of such trust, for the use and benefit of such society, which such bishop, dean, rector, vestryman, deacon, director, minister or other officer or officers, had under such grant, deed or act; and all transfers or sales made by such officer or officers so acquiring title by virtue of this act by succession in office shall have all the validity, force and effect that it would have had had it been made by such bishop, dean, rector, vestryman, deacon, director, minister or other officer or officers, while holding under and by virtue of such grant, deed or act of such Legislative body.

[For limitation of amount of real estate which any religious body may own, see section 956.]

Articles for instructions of learning.

(1201) § 12. Any corporation formed for the purpose of establishing an institution of learning must, in addition to the requirements mentioned in section 957, set forth in its articles of incorporation the particular branch or branches of science, literature and the arts proposed to be taught; and, if the institution is to be of the rank of a college or university, the number and designation of the professorships to be established.

Property held, how.

(1202) § 13. Such corporation shall hold the property of the institution solely for the purposes of education, and not for the individual benefit of itself or any contributor to the endowment thereof.

Objects for expenditure.

(1203) § 14. The trustees or directors of any such corporation shall faithfully apply all the funds collected, or the proceeds of the property belonging to the institution, according to their best judgment, in erecting, completing or repairing suitable buildings, in supporting necessary officers, instructors, agents and employes, and in procuring books, maps, charts, globes and philosophical, chemical, and other apparatus or cabinets, necessary to the objects and success of the institution; and all donations, devises or bequests made to it for particular purposes when accepted, shall be applied in conformity with the express condition of the donor or devisor.

Powers of corporation

(1204) § 15. Such corporation has power to appoint a president or principal for the institution, and such professors, tutors and other agents and officers, as may be necessary, and to displace any of them as the interests of the institutions may require; to fill vacancies, to prescribe aud direct the course of studies and the discipline to be pursued and observed in the institution, and the rates of tuition in the same; and the president and professors shall constitute the faculty of such institution; and they have power to enforce the rules and regulations enacted for the government and discipline of the students, and to suspend and expel offenders, as may be deemed expedient.

Degrees conferred.

(1205) § 16. Every such corporation having the rank of a college or university. has power to confer, on the recommendation of the faculty, all such degrees or honors as are usually conferred by colleges and universities in the United States, and such others, having reference to the course of studies and the worth and accomplishment of the student, as may be deemed proper.

Mechanics and agriculture.

(1206) § 17. Such corporation may connect with its institution, to be used as a part of its course of education, any mechanical shops or machinery, or lands for agricultural purposes, not exceeding three hundred and twenty acres, to which may be attached all necessary buildings for carrying on the mechanical and agricultural purposes of such institution.

Cemetery corporations may hold limited amount of real estate.

(1207) § 18. Every cemetery corporation has power to purchase or take by gift, grant or devise, and to hold real property, not exceeding eighty acres, for the sole use and purpose of a burial ground, and to lay out the same into blocks and lots with convenient avenues and walks, and to sell the lots for the sole use and purpose of burying the dead; and it may hold all such personal property as the legitimate and necessary purposes of the corporation may require.

Surveys and plat.

(1208) § 19. Such corporation shall cause its land, or such portion thereof as may from time to time become necessary for that purpose, to be surveyed into lots, avenues and walks, and platted, and the plat of ground as surveyed shall be acknowledged and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county. Each lot shall be regularly numbered by the surveyor, and such number shall be marked on that plat and recorded.

Powers of corporation.

(1209) § 20. Such corporation has power to inclose, improve and embellish its grounds, avenues and walks, and to erect buildings or vaults for its use, and to prescribe in its by-laws, rules for the sale, inclosure and ornamentation of lots and for erecting monuments or gravestones thereon; and to prohibit any use, division, improvement or ornamentation of any lot which the corporation may deem improper; and to make other by-laws and acts to the end that all the appliances, and conveniences and benefits of a public and private cemetery may be obtained and secured.

Use of proceeds from sale of lots.

(1210) § 21. The proceeds arising from the sale of lots, after deducting all expenses of purchasing, inclosing, laying out and improving the ground, and of erecting buildings, shall be exclusively applied, appropriated and used in protecting, preserving, improving and embellishing the cemetery and its appurtenances, and to paying the necessary expenses of the corporation, and must not be appropriated to any purposes of profit to the corporation or its members.

Payment of debts.

(1211) § 22. At least fifty per cent of the gross proceeds of sales of blocks, lots or graves must be applied, as often as every six months, to the payment of the debts and obligations of the corporation.

Previous burials protected

(1212) § 23. When grounds purchased or otherwise acquired for cemetery purposes have been previously used as a burial ground, those who are lot owners at the time of the purchase continue to own the same, and are members of the corporation, as hereinafter provided, with all the privileges the purchase of a corporation lot confers.

Qualifications of voters.

(1213) § 24. At each subsequent election of officers of any such corporation, held after the first annual election, the owner or owners of a lot in the cemetery, and none other, shall be entitled to one vote at such election, or for any other purpose, and no more than one vote; and shall, by virtue of such proprietorship, be a member of the corporation, and eligible to any of its offices; but if there be more than one proprietor of any such lot, then such one of the proprietors as the majority of them shall designate may cast the one vote as aforesaid; and each trustee or director shall be the sole proprietor of a lot in such cemetery.

Interment renders lot inalienable.

(1214) § 25. Whenever an interment is made in any lot transferred to individual owners by the corporation, the same thereby, while any person is buried therein, becomes forever inalienable, and descends in regular line of succession to the heirs at law of the owner, but any one or more of such heirs may release to any other of said heirs his or their interests in the same, and any other joint owners may release to each other in like manner.

Wholly exempt.

(1215) § 26. All the property of every such benevolent corporation, and the lots sold by it to individual proprietors, shall be exempt from taxation, assessment, lien, attachment, and from levy and sale upon execution; and all such real property shall be exempt from appropriation for streets, roads, or any other public uses or purposes.

Benevolent and charitable corporations.

(1216) § 27. The following associations for benevolent and charitable purposes may become incorporated, as provided in this chapter, to wit:

First. To establish and maintain hospitals and infirmaries for the cure of the sick and support of the aged and indigent, and asylums for orphans.

Second. For the mutual assistance of the members in time of sickness or necessity, and to provide a fund for this purpose by contributions of the members thereof from time to time, and for the like incidental benevolent purposes.

Third. To establish and maintain lodges, chapters and encampments of fraternities or associations commonly known as Free Masons, the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Good Templars, Sons of Temperance, and other like benevolent orders or societies.

Fourth. To establish and maintain fire companies in any incorporated city or town.

ARTICLE 15.—AGRICULTURAL FAIR CORPORATIONS.

SECTION.
1. Agricultural fair corporations may hold property.
2. Debts limited.
3. Income and expenses.

Agricultural fair corporations may hold property.

(1217) § 1. Agricultural fair corporations may purchase, hold or lease any quantity of land, not exceeding in the aggregate one hundred and sixty acres, with such buildings and improvements as may be erected thereon, and may sell, lease, or otherwise dispose of the same at at pleasure. This real estate must be held for the purpose of erecting buildings and making other improvements thereon, to promote and encourage agriculture, horticulture, mechanics, manufacturers, stock raising and general domestic industry.

Debts limited.

(1218) § 2. Such corporation must not contract any debts or liabilities in excess of the amount of money in the treasury at the time of contract except for the purchase of real property, for which they may create a debt not exceeding three thousand dollars, secured by mortgage on the property of the corporation. The directors who vote therefor are personally for any debt contracted or incurred in violation of this section.

Income and expenses.

(1219) § 3. Agricultural fair corporations are not conducted for profit, and have no capital stock or income other than that derived from charges to exhibitors and fees for membership and admissions, which charges, together with the term of membership and mode of acquiring the same must be provided for in their by-laws. Such charges and fees must never be greater than to raise sufficient money to discharge the debt for the real estate and the improvemeuts thereon, and to defray the current expenses of fairs: Provided, That agricultural fair corporations may also be organized by three or more persons, as in the case of other corporations, with all the rights, privileges and liabilities appertaining to such corporations under the corporation laws of this Territory, including such rights and privileges as are specified in this and the two preceding sections.

ARTICLE 16.—BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS.

SECTION.
1. Charter.
2. Capital stock,
3. By-laws, what to contain.
4. Loaning funds.
5. Payment of loans.
6. Interest not usurious.
7. Neglect not to affect life of corporation.
8. Association may purchase at sheriff sale.
9. Validating securities.
10. Mode of incorporation.
11. Notice of intention to apply for charter.
12. By-laws.
13. Business, how managed.
14. Stock certificates.
15. Oath of officer.
16. Vacancies.
17. Lawful to receive premiums.
18. Withdrawal of stock.
19. When entitled to privileges of this article.

Charter.

(1220) § 1. At any time when ten or more persons may desire to form a building and loan association under the provisions of this act, they shall make application to the Secretary of the Territory in the manner prescribed by section 1229. The said Secretary is hereby fully empowered to grant charters to said associations, provided that no charter granted under or by virtue of the provisions of this act shall be for a longer period than twenty years.

Capital stock.

(1221) § 2. The capital stock of any corporation created by virtue of this act shall at no time consist of more than two thousand five hundred shares, of two hundred dollars each, or five thousand shares of one hundred dollars each, the installments on which stock are to be paid at such time and place as the by-laws shall appoint, no periodical payment to be made exceeding two dollars on each share. Every share of stock shall be subject to a lien for the payment of unpaid installments and other charges incurred thereon, under the provisions of the charter and by-laws, and the by-laws may prescribe the form and manner of enforcing such lien. New shares of stock may be issued in lieu of the shares withdrawn or forfeited. The stock may be issued in one or more successive series, in such amount as the board of directors or stockholders may determine, and any stockholder wishing to withdraw from the said corporation shall have power to do so by giving thirty days notice of his or her intention to withdraw, when he or she shall be entitled to receive the amount paid in by him or her, and such proportion of the profits as the by-laws may determine, less all fines and other charges: Provided, That at no time shall more than one-half of the funds in the treasury of the corporation be applicable to the demands of withdrawing stockholders without the consent of the board of directors, and that no stockholder shall be entitled to withdraw whose stock is held in pledge for security. Upon the death of a stockholder, his or her legal representative shall be entitled to receive the full amount paid in by him or her and legal interest thereon, first deducting all charges that may be due on the stock. No fines shall be charged to a deceased member's account from or after his or her decease, unless the legal representatives of such decedent assume the future payments of the stock.

By-laws, what to contain.

(1222) § 3. The number, titles, functions and compensation of the officers of any corporation created by virtue of this act, their terms of office, the times of their election, as well as the qualifications of electors, and the votes and manner of voting, and the periodical meetings of said corporation, and the manner and terms upon which loans shall be made and repaid shall be determined by the by-laws.

Loaning funds.

(1223) § 4. The said officers shall hold stated meetings at which the money in the treasury, if equal to the amount of one share of stock in such corporation shall be offered for loan in open meeting and the stockholder who shall bid the highest premium for the preference or priority of loan shall be entitled to receive a loan of the full amount for each share of stock held by such stockholder: Provided, That good and ample security shall be given by the borrower to secure the repayment of the loan. In case the borrower shall neglect to offer security that is approved by the board of directors by such time as the by-laws may prescribe, he or she shall be charged with one months interest at the rate charged by the association on loans, and a fine not to exceed one dollar per share, together with any expenses incurred, and the money shall be resold at the next stated meeting. In case of non-payment of installments, or interest or premium by borrowing stockholder, for the space of six month's, payment of principal and interest, without deducting the premium paid or interest thereon, may be enforced by proceeding on their securities according to law.

Paymcnt of loans.

(1224) § 5. A borrower may repay a loan at any time by the payment to the corporation of the principal sum borrowed, together with interest, not to exceed twelve per cent per annum, together with such per cent of premium per annum as may have been bid for the preferences or priority of such loan and any fines or charges that may be imposed upon such stockholder at the time of such repayment; or in case the amount of premium bid for the priority of such loan be deducted in advance, and the repayment thereof is made before the expiration of the eighth year after the organization of the corporation. there shall be refunded to such borrower one-eighth of the premium paid for every year of the said eight years unexpired; Provided: That when the stock is issued in separate series, the time shall be computed from the date of the issuing of the shares of stock on which the loan was made: Provided further, That when the series of stock has a less period than eight years to complete full payment thereof, there shall be refunded only pro rata for the unexpired term of the series: And, provided further, When the by-laws of the corporation prescribe a different manner and terms upon which a loan may be repaid, then the repayment can only be made in accordance with the by-laws of such corporation.

Interest not usurious.

(1225) § 6. No premiums, fines or interest on such premiums that may accrue to the said corporation according to the provisions of this act shall be deemed usurious; and the some may be collected as debts of like amount are now by law collected in this Territory.

Neglect not to affect life of corporatton.

(1226) § 7. No corporation created under this act shall cease or expire from neglect on the part of the corporation to elect officers at the time mentioned in their charter or by-laws, and all officers elected by such corporation shall hold their offices until their successors are duly elected and qualified.

Association may purchase at sheriff's sale.

(1227) § 8. Any building or loan association incorporated by or under the provisions of this act, or any one heretofore or hereafter incorporated, accepting of the provisions of the same, is hereby authorized and empowered to purchase at the sheriff's or other judicial sale, or at any other sale, public or private, any real estate upon which such association may have or hold any mortgage, judgment, lien or other incumbrance, or in which said association may have an interest, and the real estate so purchased, or any other that such association may hold or be entitled to at the passage of this act to sell, convey, lease or mortgage at pleasure to any person or persons whatsoever, and all sales of real estate heretofore made by such association to any person or persons not members of the association so selling are hereby confirmed and made valid.

Validating securities.

(1228) § 9. All mortgages heretofore given to the building and loan associations organized under the laws of this Territory before the passage of this act or subsequent hereto, but such associations subsequently accepting the provisions hereof, be and the same are hereby declared good and valid to all intents and purposes, as though they had been made to corporations organized under the provisions of this act.

Mode of incorporation.

(1229) § 10. The charter of an intended corporation under the provisions of this act must be subscribed by ten or more persons, a majority of whom must be citizens of this Territory, and set forth:

First. The name of the corporation.

Second. The purpose for which it is formed.

Third. The place where its principal office, or the business is to be transacted.

Fourth. The time for which it is to exist.

Fifth. The names and residences of the subscribers, and the number of shares subscribed by each.

Sixth. The number of its directors, and the names and residences of those who are selected as directors, and who shall hold their office until the next annual election, or until their successors are elected and qualified.

Seventh. The amount of its capital stock, and the number and par value of its shares.

Notice of intention to apply for charter.

(1230) § 11. Notice of the intention to apply for any such charter shall be inserted in two newspapers of general circulation printed in the proper county for three weeks, setting forth briefly the character and object of the corporation to be formed, and the the intention to make application therefor. The certificate for a corporation under the provisions of this act, shall set forth all that is hereinbefore required to be set forth, the same shall be acknowledged by at least five of the subscribers thereto before a notary public or other officer authorized to administer oaths, and they shall also make and subscribe an oath or affirmation before him, to be indorsed on said certificate that the statements contained therein are true. The said certificate, accompanied with proof of publication of the notice as hereinbefore provided, shall then be produced to the Secretary of the Territory, who shall examine the same and if he find it to be in proper form, as specified in the foregoing sections, he shall approve thereof, and indorse his approval thereon, and issue letters patent in the usual form incorporating the subscribers and their associates and successors into a body politic and corporate in deed and in law, by the manner chosen; and the said certificate shall be recorded in the office of the Secretary of the Territory, in a book to be by him kept for that purpose, and a certified copy of the said certificate shall be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the principal business of the association is transacted. Certified copies of the records thereof shall be competent evidence for all purposes in the several courts of this Territory.

Chap. 18.

By-laws.

(1231) § 12. The by-laws of every corporation created under the provisions of this act or of those accepting the provisions of the same, shall be deemed and taken as its law, subordinate to this statute. They shall be made by the stockholders, or the board of directors, at their annual meeting or at any stated meeting of the board of directors. They shall prescribe the time and place of meeting of the corporation, the power and duty of its officialy, the fines and penalties to be imposed upon delinquents and borrowers for the non-payment of dues, interest and premiums, and such other matters as may be pertinent and necessary for the business to be transacted.

Business; how managed.

(1232) § 13. The business of every corporation created hereunder, or of those accepting the provisions of the same, shall be managed and conducted by a president, a board of directors or trustees, a secretary and treasurer, and such other officers or agents as the by-laws may provide. The directors or trustees shall be elected annually by the stockholders or members, at the time fixed by the by-laws, and shall hold their office until others are chosen and qualified in their stead; the manner of such choice, and of the choice or appointment of all other agents or officers, shall be prescribed by the by-laws, The number of directors or trustees shall not be less than five, one of whom shall be chosen president by the directors, or by the members of the corporation, as the by-laws may direct; the members of said corporation may, at a meeting called for that purpose, determine, fix or change the number of directors or trustees that shall thereafter govern its officers, and a majority of the whole number of such directors or trustees shall be necessary to constitute a quorum. The treasurer shall give bond in such sum, and with such sureties as shall be required by the by-laws, for the faithful discharge of his duties, and he shall keep the moneys of the corporation in a separate bank account, to his credit as treasurer, and if he shall neglect or refuse so to do, he shall be liable to a penalty of fifty dollars for every day he should fail so to do, to be recovered at the suit of any informer in an action of debt.

Stock certificates.

(1233) § 14. The directors of such corporation shall procure certificates or evidences of stock, and shall deliver them signed by the president and secretary and seased with the common seal of the corporation to each person or party entitled to receive the same according to the number of shares by him, her or them respectively held, which certificate or evidence of stock shall be transferable at the pleasure of the holder in person or by attorney duly authorized as the by-laws may prescribe, subject, however, to all payments due or to become due thereon, and the assignee or party to whom the same shall have been so transferred shall be a member of said corporation, and have and enjoy all the immunities, privileges and franchises, and be subject to all the liabilities, conditions and penalties incident thereto, in the same manner as the original subscriber or holder would have been, but no certificate shall be transferred so long as the holder is indebted to said company, unless the board of directors shall consent thereto.

(1234) § 15. No person acting as judge or officer for holding an election for any such corporation shall enter upon the duties of his appointment until he take and subscribe an oath or affirmation before a notary public or other person qualified by law to administer oaths, that he will discharge the duties of his office with fidelity, that he will not receive any rate but such as he really believes to be legal, and if any such judge or officer shall knowingly or wilfully violate his oath or affirmation he shall be subject to all the penalties imposed by law upon the officers of the general election of this Territory for violating their duties, and shall be proceeded against in like manner and with like effect.

Oath of officer.

(1235) § 16. In case of the death, removal or resignation of the president, or any of the directors, secretary, treasurer or other officer of such company, the remaining directors may supply the vacancy thus created until the next general election,

Vacancies.

(1236) § 17. It shall be lawful for any building and loan association now incorporated under the general laws of this Territory and accepting the provisions of this act, or that may hereafter be incorporated, in addition to dues and interest to charge and receive the premiums or bonus bid by a stockholder for preference or priority of right to a loan in periodical installments, and such premium or bonus so paid in installments shall not be deemed usurious but shall be taken to be a payment as it fall due, in contradiction to a premium charged and paid in advance, in so far as said premium or bonus so charged and paid, in addition to dues and interest, shall be in excess of two dollars for each periodical payment, the same shall be lawful, any law, usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding: Provided, That the certificate of incorporation of each association hereafter to be incorporated, and the certificate provided in section 1238, for those heretofore incorporated, shall set forth whether the premium or bonus bid for the prior rights to a loan shall be deducted therefrom in advance or paid in periodical installments.

Lawful to receive premiums.

(1237) § 18. The by-laws of such association may provide for the voluntary withdrawal and cancellation at or before maturity of shares of stock not borrowed on: Provided, That such withdrawal and cancellation shall be pro rata among the shares of the same series of stock: And provided further, That not less than twelve per cent per annum shall be credited and allowed to each share so withdrawn and cancelled.

Withdrawal of stock.

(1238) § 19. Any building and loan association heretofore or hereafter incorporated under the provisions of any law of the Territory shall be entitled to all the privileges and immunities, franchises and powers, conferred by this article upon filing with the Secretary of the Territory a certificate to be by him recorded as provided in section 1230 of their acceptance of the same, in writing under the duly authenticated seal of the said association, which certificate shall also prescribe their mode or plan of charging premiums or bonus for priority of loan as set forth in section 1236, and upon such acceptance and approval thereof by the Secretary of the Territory he shall issue his certificate to said corporation reciting the same,

8. When in more than one county; venue in either.
9. Jurisdiction is territorial.

Jurisdiction and powers of probate court.

(1247) § 1. The probate court has jurisdiction, and the judge thereof power, which must be exercised in the cases, and in the manner prescribed by statute:

First. To open and receive proof of last wills and testaments, and to admit them to proof, and to revoke the probate thereof, and to allow and record foreign wills.

Second, To grant letters testamentary, of administration and of guardianship, and to revoke the same.

Third. To appoint appraisers of estates of deceased persons.

Fourth. To compel executors, administrators and guardians to render accounts.

Fifth. To order the sale of property of estates, or belonging to minors.

Sixth. To order the payment of debts due from estates.

Seventh. To order and regulate all distributions of property or estates of deceased persons.

Eighth. To compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of title deeds, papers and other property of an estate, or of a minor.

Ninth. To exercise all the powers conferred by this article or by other law.

Tenth. To make such orders as may be necessary to the exercise of the powers conferred upon it.

Eleventh. To appoint and remove guardians for infants, and for persons insane or otherwise incompetent; to compel payment and delivery by them of money or property belonging to their wards, to control their conduct and settle their accounts.

Construction and effect of proceedings.

(1248) § 2. The proceedings of this court are construed in the same manner, and with like intendments, as the proceedings of courts of general jurisdiction, and to its records, orders, judgments and decrees, there are accorded like force, effect and legal presumptions as to the records, orders, judgements and decrees of district courts.

Service of process.

(1249) § 3. All process issued by the probate court shall be served in the same manner. and by the persons and officers as provided for the service of process of the district court, with the same fees.

Judge disqualified, when.

(1250) § 4. When the judge of the probate court is a party to any proceeding therein, or connected by blood or affinity to any person so interested nearer than the fourth degree, or is personally interested in the conduct or event of any probate matter or proceeding, or when he is named as a legatee or devisee, or executor, or trustee in a will, or is a witness thereto, he shall be disqualified to act therein, and it shall be disposed of as follows:

First. He shall call the county clerk, who shall in such cases be substituted for and have power to act in placed of the judge of the probate court; and such acts of the county clerk while acting as judge of the probate court, shall be binding upon all parties interested therein, and the record shall set forth the occasion of his substitution, and show by his official signature the proceedings had, and the acts done by and before him.

Second. Whenever in such cases the probate of any will, the appointment of any executor, administrator or guardian, or any other probate act, is resisted, and any issue of law or fact is joined, the said issue, and all the papers and records relating thereto, shall be sent to the district court for the county or judicial subdivision which shall have full jurisdiction of the same, and it shall be tried and determined and the necessary judgment and order made by that court, and all the proceedings had and the judgments and orders made therein shall be entered by the clerk of said court in the record of the probate court, and returned together with all the papers, to the probate court; and the clerk of the district court is entitled to charge and receive the same fees as for like services in the district court, and the county clerk the same fees as the judge of the probate court in like cases.

Jurisdiction resumed when another judge is qualified.

(1251) § 5. Under the substitution or transfer of jurisdiction provided in the last section, the law and the rights of parties shall in all other respects be and remain the same; and if, before the issues so transferred are decided, or the administration of such estate is closed, another person be elected or appointed and qualified as judge of the probate court, who is not disqualified to to act in the settlement of the estate, he must resume full jurisdiction of the case, and upon notice to that effect from the judge of the probate court, the clerk of the district court must return all papers and records to the probate court.

Powers of judge.

(1252) § 6. A judge of the probate court, as contradistinguished from the probate court, may exercise out of court all the powers expressly conferred upon him as a judge.

Chap. 19.

Venue of probate acts.

(1253) § 7. Wills must be proved, and letters testamentary or of administration granted.

First. In the county of which the decedent was a resident at the time of his death, in whatever place he may have died.

Second. In the county in which the decedent may have died, leaving estate therein, he not being a resident of the Territory.

Third. In the county in which any part of the estate may be, the decedent having died out of the Territory, and not resident thereof at the time of his death.

Fourth. In the county in which any part of the estate may be, the decedent not being a resident of the Territory, but dying within it, and not leaving estate in the county in which he died.

Fifth. In all other cases, in the county where application for letters is first made.

When in more than one county, venue in either.

(1254) § 8. When the estate of the decedent is in more than one county, he having died out of the Territory, and not having been a resident thereof at the time of of his death, or being such non-resident and dying within the Territory, and not leaving estate in the county where he died, the probate court of that county in which application is first made for letters testamentary or of administration, has exclusive jurisdiction of the settlement of the estate.

Jurisdiction territorial.

(1255) § 9. The probate court of the county in which application is first made for letters testamentary or of administration in any of the cases above mentioned, shall have jurisdiction co-extensive with the Territory in the settlement of the estate of the decedent and the sale and distribution of his real estate and excludes the jurisdiction of the probate court of every other county.

Probate of Nuncupative Wills.

SECTION.
33. Nuncupative wills, how proved.
34. Limitation as to time and facts alleged.
35. Double time allowed for revocation.

(1256) § 1. Every custodian of a will, within thirty days after receipt of information that the maker thereof is dead, must deliver the same to the probate court having jurisdiction of the estate, or to the executor named therein. A failure to comply with the provisions of this section makes the person failing responsible for all damages sustained by any one injured thereby. Custodian of will to deliver same to probate court.

(1257) § 2. Any executor, devisee or legatee named in any will, or any other person interested in the estate, may at any time after the death of the testator, petition the court having jurisdiction to have the will proved, whether the same be in writing, in Who may petition court for proof of will

Chap. 19. his possession or not, or is lost or destroyed, or beyond the jurisdiction of the Territory, or a nuncupative will.

Requisites of the petition.

(1258) § 3. A petition for the probate of a will must show:

First. The jurisdictional facts.

Second. Whether the person named as executor consents to act, or renounces his right to the letters testamentary.

Third. The names, ages and residence of the heirs and devisees of the decedent so far as known to the petitioner.

Fourth. The probable value and character of the property of the estate.

Fifth. The name of the person for whom letters testimentary are prayed.

No defect of form, or in the statement of jurisdictional facts actually existing, shall make void the probate of a will.

Presumed renunciation of executorship.

(1259] § 4. If the person named in a will as executor, for thirty days after he has knowledge of the death of the testator, and that he is named as executor, fails to petition the proper court for the probate of the will, and that letters testamentary be issued to him, he may be held to have renounced his right to letters, and the court may appoint any other competent person administrator, unless good cause for delay is shown.

Compulsory production of the will.

(1260) § 5. If it be alleged in any petition that any will is in the possession of a third person and the court is satisfied that the allegation is correct, an order must be issued and served upon the person having possession of the will, requiring him to produce it in the court at the time named in the order, If he has possession of the will and neglects or refuses to produce it in obedience to the order, he may by warrant of the court be committed to the jail of the county, and kept in close confinement until he produces it.

Hearing of the petition; notice to be given.

(1261) § 6. When the petition is filed and the will produced, the judge of the probate court must fix a day for hearing the petition, not less than ten or more than thirty days from the production of the will. Notice of a hearing shall be given by the judge by publishing the same in a newspaper of the county; if there is none, then by three written or printed notices posted at three of the most public places in the county. If the notice be published in a weekly newspaper, it must appear therein on at least three different days of publication, and if in a newspaper published oftener than once a week, it shall be so published that there must be at least ten days from the first to the last day of publication, both the first and last days being included. If the notice is by posting it must be given at least ten days before the hearing.

Heirs given notice by mail.

(1262) § 7. Written or printed copies of the notice of the time appointed for the probate of the will, must be addressed to the heirs of the testator resident in the Territory, at their places of residence, if known to the petitioner, and deposited in the post-office, with the postage thereon prepaid by the petitioner, at least ten days before the hearing; the notice must be issued by the judge over the seal of the court. Proof of the mailing of the notice must be made at the hearing; the same notice and proof of service thereof on the person named as executor must be made if he be not the petitioner; also on any person named as co-executor, not petitioning, if their place of residence be known.

Powers of judge at chambers

(1263) § 8. The judge of the probate court may, out of term time, or at chambers, receive petitions for the probate of wills, and make and issue all necessary orders and writs to enforce the production of wills and the attendance of witnesses, and may appoint special terms of his court for hearing the petitions, trials of issues, and admitting wills to probate.

Proof of notice appearance is waiver of notice.

(1264) § 9. At the time appointed for the hearing, or at tte time to which the hearing may have been postponed, the court unless the parties appear, must require proof that the notice has been given, which being made the court must hear testimony in proof of the will. If such notice is not proved to have been given, or if from any other cause it is necessary, the hearing may be postponed to a day certain, and notice to absentees given thereof, as original notice is required to be given. The appearance in court of parties interested is a waiver of notice.

Contesting a will.

(1265) § 10. Any person interested may appear and contest the will. Devisees, legatees or heirs of an estate may contest the will through their guardians or attorneys appointed by themselves, or by the court for that purpose; but a contest made by an attorney appointed by the court does not bar a contest, after probate, by the party so represented, if commenced within one year after such probate; nor does the non-appointment of an attorney by the court of itself invalidate the probate of a will.

When there is no contest.

(1266) § 11. If no person appears to contest the probate of a will, the court may admit it to probate on the testimony of one of the subscribing witnesses only, if he testifies that the will was executed in all particulars as required by law, and that the testator was of sound mind at the time of its execution.

Olopraphic will, how proved.

(1267) § 12. An olographic will may be proved in the same manner that other private writings are proved.

Proceedings when probate of will is contested.

(1268) § 13. If any one appears to contest the will, he must file written grounds of opposition to the probate thereof, and serve a copy on the petitioner and other residents of the county interested in the estate, any one or more of whom may demur thereto upon any of the grounds of demurrer allowed by law in civil actions. If the demurrer be sustained, the court must allow the contestant a reasonable time, not exceeding ten days, within which to amend his written opposition. If the demurrer is overruled, the petitioner and others interested may jointly or separately answer the contestant's grounds, traversing or otherwise obviating or avoiding the objections. Any issues of fact thus raised, involving;

First. The competency of the decedent to make a last will and testament;

Second. The freedom of the decedent at the time of the execution of the will from duress, menace, fraud, or undue influence.

Third. The due execution and attestation of the will by the decedent or subscribing witnesses; or,

Fourth. Any other questions substantially affecting the validity of the will must be tried and determined by the court.

On the trial the contestant is plaintiff, and the petitioner is defendant.

Findings and conclusions of the court.

(1269) § 14. The court, after hearing the case; must give in writing the findings of fact and conclusions of law upon the issues submitted, and upon these the court must render judgment, either admitting the will to probate or rejecting it. In either case, the proofs of the subscribing witnesses must be reduced to writing. If the will be admitted to probate, the judgment, will, and proofs must be recorded.

nesses on trial of the contest

(1270) § 15. If the will is contested, all the subscribing witnesses who are present in the county, and who are of sound mind, must be produced and examined; and the death, absence or insanity of any of them must be satisfactorily shown to the court. If none of the subscribing witnesses reside in the county, and are not present at the time appointed for proving the will, the court may admit the testimony of other witnesses to prove the sanity of the testator and the execution of the will; and, as evidence of the execution, it may admit proof of the handwriting of the testator and of the subscribing witnesses, or any of them.

Testimony of each witness must be preserved

(1271) § 16. The testimony of each witness, reduced to writing and signed by him, shall be taken, kept and filed by the judge, and shall be good evidence in any subsequent contests or trials concerning the validity of the will, or the sufficiency of the proof thereof, if the witness be dead, or has permanently removed from this Territory.

Certificate of probate

(1272) § 17. If the court be satisfied upon the proof taken that the will was duly executed, and that the testator was, at the time of the execution thereof, of sound and disposing mind, and not acting under duress, menace, fraud or undue influence, a certificate of the proof and the facts so found, signed by the judge and attested by the seal of the court, must be attached to the will.

Record of will and certificate.

(1273) § 18. The will and the certificate of the proof thereof, together with all the evidence taken, must be filed by the judge, and recorded by him in a book to be provided, at the charge of the county, for that purpose.

Foreign wills probated where estate is claimed.

(1274) § 19. Every will duly proved and allowed in any other of the territories, or in any of the United States or the District of Columbia, or in any foreign country or state, may be allowed and recorded in the probate court of any county in which the testator shall have left any estate, or any estate for which claim is made.

Petition filed and time appointed for hearing.

(1275) § 20. When a copy of the will and the probate thereof, duly authenticated, shall be produced by the executor, or by any other person interested in the will, with a petition for letters, the same must be filed, and the court or judge must appoint a time for the hearing, notice whereof must be given as provided for an original petition for the probate of a will.

Requisites of proof

(1276) § 21. If, on the hearing, it appears upon the face of the record that the will has been proved, allowed and admitted to probate in any other of the territories, or any state of the United States, the District of Columbia, or in any foreign country or state, and that it was executed according to the law of the place in which the same was made, or in which the testator was at the time domiciled, or in conformity with the laws of this Territory, it must be admitted to probate, be certified in like manner according to the facts, and recorded, and have the same force and effect as a will first admitted to probate in this Territory, and letters testamentary or of administration issued thereon.

Causes for contesting will after probate.

(1277) § 22. When a will has been admitted to probate, any person interested therein may at any time within one year after such probate, contest the same or the validity of the will. For that purpose he must file in the court in which the will was proved a sworn petition in writing containing his allegations, that evidence discovered since the probate of the will, the material facts of which must be set forth, shows:

First. That a will of a later date than the one proved by the decedent, revoking or changing the former will, has been discovered, and is offered; or,

Second. That some jurisdictional fact was wanting in the former probate; or Third. That the testator was not competent, free from duress, menace, fraud, or undue influence when the will allowed was made; or,

Fourth. That the former will was not duly executed and attested.

Citation issued to executors.

(1278) § 23. Upon filing the petition, a citation must be issued to the executors of the will, or to the administrators with the will annexed, and to all the legatees and devisees mentioned in the will, and heirs residing in the Territory, so far as known to the petitioner, or to their guardian, if any of them are minors, or their personal representatives, if any of them are dead, requiring them to appear before the court on some day of a regular term therein specified, to show cause why the probate of the will should not be revoked.

Another will offered.

(1279) § 24. If another will be offered by the petition, it must show all that is required in the original case of a petition for the probate of a will, and like notices must be served in the same manner and upon all the parties, as required before the hearing of proof of any will originally: Provided, That such notices need not be served on any persons upons whom the citation required in the preceding section is to be served.

Hearing of contest.

(1280) § 25. At the time appointed for showing cause, or at any time to which the hearing is postponed, personal service of the citations having been made upon the persons named therein, and the required publication, posting and service of the notices having been made, and all duly proved, the court must proceed to try the issues joined in the same manner as in an original contest of a will. If upon hearing the proofs of the parties the court shall decide that the will is, for any of the reasons alleged, invalid, or that it is not proved to be the last will of the testator, the probate must be annulled and revoked; and if the court shall decide that the new will is valid, it may admit the same to probate in the same manner as originally upon the probate of a contested will.

Revocation of will.

(1281) § 26. Upon the revocation being made, the powers of the executor or administrator with the will annexed, must cease; but such executor or administrator shall not be liable for any act done in good faith previous to the revocation.

Costs of contest.

(1282) § 27. The fees and expenses must be paid by the party contesting the validity or probate of the will, if the will in probate be confirmed. If the probate be annulled and revoked, the costs must be paid by the party who resisted the revocation, or out of the property of the decedent, as the court directs.

Probate conclusive.

(1283) § 28. If no person, within one year after the probate of a will, contests the same or the validity thereof, the probate of the will is conclusive, saving to infants and persons of unsound mind, a like period of one year after their respective disabilities are removed.

Proceedings in case of lost will.

(1284) § 29. Whenever any will is lost or destroyed, the probate court must take proof of the execution and validity thereof, and establish the same, notice to all persons interested being first given, as prescribed in regard to proofs of wills in other cases, All the testimony given must be reduced to writing, signed by the witnesses, filed and preserved.

Special requisites of proof.

(1285) § 30. No will shall be proved as a lost or destroyed will, unless the same is proved to have been in existence at the time of the death of the testator, or is shown to have been fraudulently destroyed in the life-time of the testator, nor unless its provisions are clearly and distinctly proved by at least two credible witnesses.

Statement of lost will.

(1286) § 31. When a lost will is established, the provisions thereof must be distinctly stated and certified by the judge of the probate court, under his hand and the seal of the court, and the certificate must be filed and recorded as other wills are filed and recorded, and letters testamentary or of administration with the will annexed, must be issued thereon in the same manner as upon wills produced and duly proved; the testimony must be reduced to writing; signed, certified and file as in other cases, and shall have the same effect as evidence as provided in sections from 1268 to 1273 inclusive.

Restraint of former administration.

(1287) § 32. If before or during the pendency of an application to prove a lost or destroyed will, letters of administration are granted on the estate of the testator, or letters testamentary of any previous will of the testator are granted, the court may restrain the administrators or executors so appointed from any acts or proceedings which would be injurious to the legatees or devisees claiming under the lost or destroyed will.

Nuncupative wills, how proved

(1288) § 33. Nuncupative wills may at any time, within sfx months after the testamentary words are spoken by the decedent, be admitted to probate on petition and notice as provided for the probate of wills executed in writing. The petition, in addition to the jurisdictional facts, must allege that the testamentary words, or the substance thereof, were reduced to writing within thirty days after they were spoken, which writing must accompany the petition.

Limitation as to time and facts alleged.

(1289) § 34. The probate court must not receive or entertain a petition for the probate of a nuncupative will until the lapse of fourteen days from the death of the testator, nor must such petition be at any time acted on, unless the testamentary words are, or their substance is, reduced to writing and filed with the petition, nor until the surviving husband or wife, if any, and all other persons resident in the Territory or county, interested in the estate, are notified, as provided in sections from 1256 to 1267, inclusive.

Double time allowed for revocation.

(1290) § 35. Contests of the probate of nuncupative wills and appointments of executors and administrators of the estate devised thereby must be had, conducted and made as hereinbefore provided in cases of the probate of written wills; Provided, That double the period allowed for the petition of revocation of the probate of a written will shall be allowed in which to petition for the revocation and annulling of the nuncupative will.

Letters to the executors by the will.

(1291) § 1. The court admitting the will to probate after the same is proved and allowed, must issue letters thereon to the persons named therein as executors, who are competent to discharge the trust, who must appear and qualify unless objections be made as provided in the second section following.

Incompetency defined.

(1292) § 2. No person is competent to serve as executor who at the time the will is admitted to probate, is:

First. Under the age of majority.

Second. Convicted of an infamous crime.

Third. Adjudged by the court incompetent to execute the duties of the trust by reason of drunkennes, improvidence, or want of understanding and integrity.

If the sole executor or all the executors are incompetent, or renounce or fail to apply for letters, or to appear and qualify, letters of administration with the will annexed must be issued,

Objections to executors.

(1293) § 3. Any person interested in a will may file objections in writing, to granting letters testamentary to the persons named as executors, or any of them; and the objections must be heard and determined by the court. A petition may at the same time, be filed for letters of administration, with will annexed.

Marriage of executrix extinguishes her authority.

(1294) § 4. When an unmarried woman, appointed executrix, marries, her authority is extinguished. When a married woman is named as executrix, she may be appointed and serve in every respect as a femme sole.

Death of an executor.

(1295) § 5. No executor of an executor shall, as such, be authorized to administer on the estate of the first testator, but on the death of the sole or surviving executor of any last will, letters of administration with the will annexed, of the estate of the first testator, left unadministered, must be issued.

Removal of the disqualification.

(1296) § 6. Where a person absent from the Territory, or a minor, is named executor, and there is another executor who accepts the trust and qualifies, the latter may have letters testamentary and administer the estate until the return of the absentee, or the majority of the minor, who may then be admitted as joint executor. If there is no other executor, letters of administration with the will annexed, must be granted; but the court may, in its discretion, revoke them on the return of the absent executor, or the arrival of the minor at the age of majority.

Appointment or acts of part of executors.

(1297) § 7. When all the executors named are not appointed by the court, those appointed have the same authority to perform all the acts and discharge the trust required by the will, as effectually for every purpose as if all were appointed and should act together; when there are two executors or administrators, the act of one alone shall be effectual, if the other is absent from the Territory, or laboring under any legal disability from serving, or if he has given his co-executor or co-administrator authority, in writing, to act for both; and when there are more than two executors or administrators, the act of a majority of them is valid.

Administrators have same power as executor.

(1298) § 8. Administrators with the will annexed have the same authority over the estates which executors named in the will would have, and their acts are effectual for all purposes. Their letters must be signed by the judge of the probate court, and bear the seal thereof.

Form of letters testamentary.

(1299) § 9. Letters testamentary must be substantially in the following form:

TERRITORY OF OKLAHOMA, }
COUNTY OF..... }

The last will of A B, deceased, a copy of which is hereto annexed, having been proved and recorded in the probate court of the county of....., C D, who is named therein, is hereby appointed executor.

Witness, G H, judge of the probate court of the county of....., with the seal of the court affixed, the.....day of.....A. D., 18..

[Seal and the official signature of the judge.]

Letters of administration with the will.

(1300) § 10. Letters of administration with will annexed must be substantially in the following form:

TERRITORY OF OKLAHOMA, }
COUNTY OF..... }

The last will of A B, deceased, a copy of which is hereto annexed, having been proved and recorded in the probate court of the county of....., and there being no executor named in the will (or, as the dase may be), C D is hereby appointed administrator, with the will annexed.

Witness, G H, judge of the probate court of the county of....., with the seal of the court affixed, the....day of.....A. D., 18..

[Seal and the official signature of the judge.]

Letters of administration.

(1301) § 11. Letters of administration must be signed by the judge, under the seal of the court, and substantially in the following form:

TERRITORY OF OKLAHOMA, }
COUNTY OF..... }

C D is hereby appointed administrator of the estate of A B, deceased.

Witness, G H, judge of the probate court of the county of..... , with the seal thereof affixed, the... ..day of..... , A. D., 18..

[Seal and official signature of the judge.]

Who are entitled to letters of administration.

(1302) § 12. Administration of the estate of a person dying intestate must be granted to some one or more of the persons hereinafter mentioned, and they are respectfully entitled thereto in the following order:

First. The surviving husband or wife, or some competent person whom he or she may request to have appointed.

Second. The children.

Third. The father or mother.

Fourth. The brothers.

Fifth. The sisters.

Sixth. The grandchildren.

Seventh. The next of kin entitled to share in the distribution of the estate.

Eighth. The creditors.

Ninth. Any person legally competent.

If the decedent was a member of a partnership at the time of his decease, the surviving partner must in no case be appointed administrator of his estate.

Preferences

(1303) § 13. Of several persons claiming and equally entitled to administer, males must be preferred to females, and relatives of the whole blood to those of the half blood.

Equally entitled

(1304) § 14. When there are several persons equally entitled to the administration, the court may grant letters to one or more of them; and when a creditor is claiming letters, the court may, in its discretion, at the request of another creditor, grant letters to any other person legally competent.

Letters to guardian of minor.

(1305) § 15. If any person entitled to administration is a minor, letters must be granted to his or her guardian, or any other person entitled to letters of administration, in the discretion of the court.

Incompetency defined.

(1306) § 16. No person is competent to serve as administrator or administratrix, who, when appointed, is:

First. Under the age of majority.

Second. Convicted of an infamous crime.

Third. Adjudged by the court incompetent to execute the duties of the trust by reason of drunkeness, improvidence or want of understanding or integrity.

Married women cannot be administratrix.

(1307) § 17. A married woman must not be appointed ad ministratrix. When an unmarried woman, appointed administratrix, marries, her authority is extinguished.

Requisites of petition for administration.

(1308) § 18. Petition for letters of administration must be in writing, signed by the applicant or his counsel, and filed with the judge of the court stating the facts essential to give the court jurisdiction of the case, and when known to the applicant, he must state the names, ages and residence of the heirs of the decedent, and the value and character of the property. If the jurisdictional facts existed, but are not fully set forth in the petition, and are afterwards proved in the course of administration, the decree or order of administration and subsequent proceedings are not void on account of such want of jurisdictional averments.

When letters may be granted.

(1309) § 19. Letters of administration may be granted at a regular term of the court or at a special term appointed by the judge for the hearing of the application.

Notice of hearing.

(1310) § 20. When a petition praying for letters of administration is filed, the judge must give notice thereof containing the name of the decedent, the name of the applicant for letters, and the day and term of the court at which the application will be heard, which notice must be published by posting or printing in a newspaper, the same as required for notice of the probate of a will.

Who may contest the application.

(1311) § 21. Any person interested may contest the petition by filing written opposition thereto on the ground of the incompetency of the applicant, or may assert his own rights to the administration and pray that letters be issued to himself. In the latter case the contestant must file a petition and give the notice required for an original petition, and the court must hear the two petitions together.

Hearing of the petition.

(1312) § 22. On the hearing, it being first proved that notice has been gived as herein required, the court must hear the allegations and proofs of the parties, and order the issuing of letters of administration to the party best entitled thereto.

Proof of the notice.

(1313) § 23. An entry in the minutes of the court, that the required proof was made and notice given, shall be conclusive evidence of the fact of such notice.

Waivers of right to letters.

(1314) § 24. Letters of administration must be granted to any applicant, though it appears that there are other persons having better rights to the administration when such persons fail to appear and claim the issuing of letters to themselves.

Proof of intestacy and value and character of property.

(1315) § 25. Before letters of administration are granted on the estate of any person who is represented to have died intestate, the fact of of his dying intestate must be proved by the testimony of the applicant or others; and the court may also examine any other person concerning the time, place and manner of his death, the place of his residence at the time, the value and character of his property, and whether or not the decedent left any will, and may compel any person to attend as a witness for that purpose.

Administration to third persons on request.

(1316) § 26. Administration may be granted to one or more competent persons, although not entitled to the same, at the written request of the person entitled, filed in the court. When the person entitled is a non-residents of the Territory, affidavits or depositions taken ex-parte before any officer authorized by the laws of this Territory to take acknowledgments and administer oaths out of this Territory,may be received as prima facie evidence of the identity of the party, if free from suspicion, and the fact is established to the satisfaction of the court.

When letters may be waived.

(1317) § 27. When letters of administration have been granted to any person other than the surviving husband or wife, child, father, mother, brother, or sister of the intestate, any one of them may obtain the revocation of the letters, and be entitled to the administration, by presenting to the probate court a petition praying the revocation, and that letters of administration may be issued to him.

Additional notice given.

(1318) § 28. When such petition is filed, the judge must in addition to the notice provided upon petition for letters, issue a citation to the administrator to appear and answer the same at the time appointed for the hearing.

Hearing on application for revocation.

(1319) § 29. At the time appointed, the citation having been duly served and returned, the court must proceed to hear the allegations and proofs of the parties; and if the right of the applicant is established, and he is competent, letters of administration must be granted to him, and the letters of the former administrator revoked.

Assertion of prior right.

(1320) § 30. The surviving husband or wife, when letters of administration have been granted to a child, father, mother, brother or sister of the intestate, or any of such relatives when letters have been granted to any other of them, may assert his prior right, and obtain letters of administration, and have the letters before granted revoked in the manner prescribed in the three preceding sections.

Executor and administrator must take oath.

(1321) § 31. Before letters testamentary or of administration are issued to the executor or administrator, he must take and subscribe an oath, before some officer authorized to administer oaths, that he will perform, according to law, the duties of executor or administrator, which oath must be attached to the letters. All letters testamentary and of administration issued to, and all bonds executed by executors or administrators, with the affidavits and certificates thereon must be forthwith recorded by the judge in books to be kept by him in his office for that purpose.

Non-resident must appoint an agent upon whom service can be made (1322) § 32. Every executor, administrator or guardian appointed in, but residing out of the Territory, shall, before entering upon the duties of his trust, in writing, appoint an agent residing in the county where he is appointed, and shall by such writing stipulate and agree that the service of any legal process against him as such executor, administrator or guardian if made on said agent shall be of the same legal effect as if made on himself personally within the Territory. Such writing shall give the proper address of such agent and shall be filed in the office of the judge of the probate court where such appointment is made.

Executors and administrators must give bond.

(1323) § 33. Every person to whom letters testimentary or of administration are directed to issue, must, before receiving them, execute a bond to the Territory of Oklahoma, with two or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by the judge of the probate court. In form the bond must be joint and several, and the penalty must not be less than twice the value of the personal property and twice the probable value of the annual rents, profits and issues of the real property belonging to the estate, which values must be ascertained by the probate judge, by examining on oath the party applying, and any other persons.

Additional bonds must be given before real estate is sold.

(1324) § 34. The judge must require an additional bond whenever the sale of any real estate belonging to an estate is ordered by him; but no such additional bond must be required when it satisfactorily appears to the court that the penalty of the bond given before receiving letters, or any bond given in place thereof is equal to twice the value of the personal property remaining in, or that will come into the possession of the executor or administrator, including the annual rents, profits, and issues of real estate belonging to the estate, and twice the probable amount to be realized on the sale of the real estate ordered to be sold.

Condition of bond

(1325) § 35. The bond must be conditioned that the executor or administrator shall faithfully execute the duties of the trust according to law.

Separate bonds.

(1326) § 36. When two or more persons are appointed executors or administrators, the judge of the probate court must require and take a separate bond from each of them.

Successive recoveries on the bond.

(1327) § 37. The bond shall not be void upon the first recovery, but may be sued and recovered upon from time to time, by any person aggrieved, in his own name, until the whole penalty is exhausted.

Justification and approval of bonds.

(1328) § 38. In all cases were bonds are required to be given, under this title, the officer taking the same must require the sureties to accompany it with an affidavit that they are each residents and householders or freeholders within the Territory, and are each worth the sum specified in the bond, over and above all their just debts and liabilities, exclusive of property exempt from execution; but when the amount specified in the bond exceeds one thousand dollars, and there are more than two sureties thereon, they may state in their affidavits that they are severally worth amounts less than that expressed in the bond, if the whole amount be equivalent to that of two sufficient sureties, and the affidavits thereof must be attached to, and filed and recorded with the bond. All such bonds must be approved by the judge of the probate court before being filed and recorded. Before the judge of the probate court approves any bond required under this title, and after its approval he may of his own motion, or upon the motion of any person interested in the estate, supported by affidavit that the sureties or some one or more of them are not worth as much as they have justified to, issue a citation, requiring such sureties to appear before him, at a designated time and place, to be examined touching their property and its value; and the judge must, at the same time, issue a notice to the executor or administrator, requiring his appearance on the return of the citation; and on its return he may examine the sureties and such witnesses as may be produced, touching the property of the sureties and its value; and if, upon such examination, he is satisfied that the bond is insufficient, he must require sufficient additional security.

Security insufficient, right of executor or administrator must cease.

(1329) § 39. If sufficient security be not given within the time fixed by the judge's order, the right of such executor or administrator to the administration shall cease, and the person next entitled to the administration on the estate, who will execute a sufficient bond, must be appointed to the administration.

Bonds waived by will.

(1330) § 40. When it is expressly provided in the will that no bond shall be required of the executor, letters testamentary may issue and sales of real estate be made and confirmed without any bond, unless the court, for good cause, require one to be executed; but the executor may, at any time afterward, if it appears from any cause necessary or proper, be required to file a bond as in other cases.

Bond becoming insufficient.

(1331) § 41. Any person interested in an estate may, by verified petition, represent to the judge of the probate court that the sureties of the executor or administrator thereof have become, or are becoming insolvent or that they have removed or are about to remove from this Territory, or that from any other cause the bond is insufficient, and ask that further security be required.

Same of citations

(1332) § 42. If the judge is satisfied that the matter requires investigation, a citation must be issued to the executor or administrator, requiring him to appear, at a time and place to be therein specified, to show cause why he should not give further security. The citation must be served personally on the executor or administrator, at least five days before the return day. If he has absconded, or cannot be found, it may be served by leaving a copy of it at his last place of residence, or by such publication as the judge may order.

Hearing and order.

(1333) § 43. On the return of the citation, or at such other time as the judge may appoint, he must proceed to hear the proofs and allegations of the parties. If it satisfactorily appears that the security is from any cause insufficient, he may make an order requiring the executor or administrator to give further security, or to file a new bond, in the usual form, within a reasonable time, not less than five days.

Revocation of letters for disobedience.

(1334) § 44. If the executor or administrator neglects to comply with the order within the time prescribed, the judge must, by order, revoke his letters, and his authority must thereupon cease.

Suspenson of powers, removal

(1335) § 45. When a petition is presented praying that an executor or administrator be required to give further security, or to give bond where, by the terms of the will no bond was originally required and it is alleged on oath that the executor or administrator is wasting the property of the estate, the judge may, by order, suspend his powers until the matter can be heard and determined. It shall be the duty of the probate court to make an examination of all bonds filed by administrators, or guardian or executors, at least once each year, and to make diligent inquiry as to the solvency of the sureties on such bond, and to ascertain if they are still residents within the Territory and all other matters which might effect the said bonds or the sureties thereon: And if not found to be fully solvent and safe the court shall demand further security, and if not given within a reasonable time, the administrator, executor or guardian shall be removed.

Judge must make inquiry into sufficiency of bond.

(1336) § 46. When it comes to his knowledge that the bond of any executor or administrator is, from any cause, insufficient, the judge of the probate court, without any application, must cite him to appear and show cause why he should not give further security, and must proceed thereon as upon the application of any person interested.

Release of surety on application.

(1337) § 47. When a surety ot any executor or administrator desires to be released from responsibility on account of future aets, he may make application by petition to the judge of the probate court for relief. The judge must issue a citation to the executor or administrator, to be served personally upon him requiring him to appear at a time and place to be therein specified, and give other security. If he has absconded, left or removed from the Territory, or cannot be found after due diligence and inquiry, service may be made as provided when the citation is to require further security.

Release allowed, when (1338) § 48. If new sureties be given to the satisfaction of the judge. he may thereupon make and enter an order that the sureties who applied for relief shall not be liable on their bond for any subsequent act, default or misconduct of the executor or administrator.

Refusal to give new sureties

(1339) § 49. If the executor or administrator neglects or refuses to give new sureties, to the satisfaction of the judge, on the return of the citation, or within such reasonable time as the judge shall allow, unless the surety making the application shall consent to a longer extension of time, the judge must, by order, revoke his letters.

Hearings out of term time.

(1340) § 50. The applications authorized by the nine preceding sections of this article, may be heard and determined out of term time; and all orders made therein must be entered upon the minutes of the court.

Special administrators appointed, when.

(1341) § 51. When there is delay in granting letters testamentary, or of administration, from any cause, or when such letters are granted irregularly, or no sufficient bond is filed as required, or when no application is made for such letters, or when an administrator or executor dies, or is suspended or removed, the judge of the probate court must appoint a special administrator to collect and take charge of the estate of the decedent, in whatever county or counties the same may be found, and to exercise such other powers as may be necessary for the preservation of the estate.

How appointed.

(1342) § 52. The appointment may be made out of term time, and without notice, and must be made by entry upon the minutes of the court specifying the powers to be exercised by the administrator. Upon such order being entered, and after the person appointed has given bond, the judge must issue letters of administration to such person, in conformity with the order in the minutes.

Chap. 19.

Preference.

(1343) § 53. In making the appointment of a special administrator, the judge must give preference to the person entitled to letters testamentary or of administration, but no appeal must be allowed from the appointment.

Bond of special administrator.

(1344) § 54. Before any letters issue to any special administrator, he must give bond, in such sum as the judge may direct, with sureties to the satisfaction of the judge, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties; and he must take the usual oath and have the same endorsed on his letters.

Duties of special administrator.

(1345) § 55. The special administrator must collect and preserve for the executor or administrator all the goods, chattles, debts and effects of the decedent, all incomes, rents, issues and profits, claims and demands, of the estate, must take the charge and management of, enter upon and preserve from damage, waste and injury, the real estate, and for such and all necessary purposes may commence and maintain or defend suits and other legal proceedings, as an administrator; he may sell such perishable property as the probate court may order to be sold, and exercise such other powers as are conferred upon him by his appointment, but in no case is he liable to an action by any creditor on a claim against the decedent.

Special administrator superseded by regular appointee.

(1346) § 56. When letters testamentary or of administration on the estate of the decedent have been granted, the powers of the special administrator cease, and he must forthwith deliver to the executor or administrator all the property and effects of the decedent in his hands; and the executor or administrator may prosecute to final judgment any suit commenced by the special administrator.

Special administrator must render account.

(1347) § 57. The special administrator must render an account, on oath of his proceedings, in like manner as other administrators are required to do.

Letters of administration revoked.

(1348) § 58. If, after granting letters of administration on the ground of intestacy, a will of the decedent is duly proved and allowed by the court, the letters of administration must be revoked, and the power of the administrator ceases, and he must render an account of his administration within such time as the court shall direct.

Successions to the rights and possessions.

(1349) § 59. In such case, the executor or the administrator with the will annexed, is entitled to demand, sue for, recover and collect all the rights, goods, chattels, debts and effects of the decedent remaining unadministered, and may prosecute to final judgment any suit commenced by the administrator before the revocation of his letters of administration.

Summoning executor or administrator completes duties.

(1350) § 60. In case any one of several executors or administrators, to whom letters are granted, dies, becomes lunatic, is convicted of an infamous crime, or otherwise becomes incapable of executing the trust, or in case the letters testamentary or of administration are revoked or annulled, with respect to any one executor or administrator, the remaining executor or administrator must proceed to complete the execution of the will or administration.

When all become incompetent, successor must be appointed.

(1351) § 61. If all such executors or administrators die or become incapable, or the power and authority of all of them are revoked, the probate court must issue letters of administration, with the will annexed or otherwise, to the widow or next in kin, or others, in the same order and manner as is directed in relation to original letters of administration. The administrators so appointed must give bond in the like penalty, with like sureties and conditions as hereinbefore required of administrators, and shall have the like power and authority.

Resignation of administrator or executor, liability.

(1352) § 62. Any executor or administrator may, at any time, by writing, filed in the probate court, resign his appointment, having first settled his account and delivered up all the estate to the person whom the court shall appoint to receive the same. If, however, by reason of any delays in such settlement and delivering up of the estate, or for any other cause, the circumstances of the estate or the rights of those interested therein require it, the court may at any time before settlement of accounts and delivering up of the estate is completed, revoke the letters of such executor or administrator, and appoint in his stead an administrator, either special or general, in the same manner as is directed in relation to original letters of administration. The liability of the outgoing executor or administrator, or of the sureties on his bond, shall not be in any manner discharged, released or affected by such appointment or resignation.

Previous acts are void.

(1353) § 63. All acts of an executor or administrator, as such, before the revocation of his letters testamentary or of administration, are as valid, to all intents and purposes, as if such executor or administrator had continued lawfully to execute the duties of his trust.

Proof of appointment.

(1354) § 64. A transcript from the minutes of the court, showing the appointment of any person as executor or administrator, together with the certificate of the judge, under his hand and the seal of his court, that such person has given bond and qualified, and that letters testamentary or of administration have been issued to him and have not been revoked, shall have the same effect in evidence as the letters themselves.

Embezzlement by executor or administrator; annual report

(1355) § 65. Whenever the judge of the probate court has reason to believe, from his own knowledge or from creditable information, that any executor or administrator has wasted, embezzled or mismanaged, or is about to waste, or embezzle the property of the estate committed to his charge, or has committed or is about to commit a fraud upou the estate, or is incompetent to act or has permanently removed from the Territory or has wrongfully neglected the estate, or has long neglected to perform any act as such executor or administrator, he must, by an order entered upon the minutes of the court, suspend the powers of such executor or administrator until the matter is investigated. The judge of the probate court shall require each and every administrator, executor or guardian to make report at least once in each year, showing the condition of the estate, and of all property, notes, moneys, and other assets in his hands and the use that has been made thereof during the past year.

Chap. 19.

Citation on suspension.

(1356) § 66. When such suspension is made, notice thereof must be given to the executor or administrator, and he must be cited to appear and show cause why his letters should not be revoked. If he fail to appear in obedience to the citation, or, if appearing, the court is satisfied there exists cause for his removal, his letters must be revoked, and letters of administration granted anew as the case may require.

Hearing of the issues.

(1357) § 67. At the hearing, any person interested in the estate may appear and file his allegations in writing, showing that the executor or administrator should be removed to which the executor or administrator may demur or answer, as hereinbefore fore provided, and the court must hear and determine the issues raised.

Attendance of executor or administrator may be compelled.

(1358) § 68. In the proceedings authorized by the preceding three sections, for the removal of an executor or administrator, the court may compel his attendance by attachment, and may compel him to answer questions, on oath, touching his administration, and upon his refusal to do so, may commit him until he obey, or may revoke his letters, or both.

Notice of proceedings given by publication, when.

(1359) § 69. If any executor, administrator or guardian has absconded or conceals himself or has removed or absented himself from the Territory, notice may be given him of the pendency of any proceedings in which he is interested in any court, by publication, in such manner as the court may direct, and the court may proceed upon such notice as if the citation had been personally served.

ARTICLE 4.—OF THE INVENTORY AND COLLECTION OF THE EFFECTS OF DECEDENTS.

SECTION.		SECTION.
1.	Inventory of estate.	9.	Additional inventory.
2.	Appraisers to be appointed.	10.	Possession of property is in executor or administrator.
3.	Oaths of appraisers; their duties.	11.	Term of possession.
4	Inventory to contain account of moneys received.	12.	Embezzlement before letters granted.
5.	Executor's personal debt.	13.	Complaint in embezzlement.
6.	Bequest of executor.	14.	Commitment of person cited
7.	Return of inventory.	15.	Account for property by third persons.
8.	Refusal to return inventory.

Inventory of estate

(1360) § 1. Every executor or administrator must make and return to the court, at its first term after his appointment, a true inventory and appraisement of all the estate of the decedant, except the homestead, if any, which has come to his possession or knowledge.

Appraisers to be appointed.

(1361) § 2. To make the appraisement, the judge must appoint three disinterested persons, any [two] of whom may act, who are entitled to receive a reasonable conpensation for their services, not to exceed two dollars per day, to be allowed by the court. The appraisers must, with the inventory, file a verified account of their services and disbursements. If any part of the estate is in any other county, the same appraisers may proceed to view and appraise the same, or other appraisers in that county may be appointed to perform that duty, by the judge of the probate court of the county in which the letters were issued, as he may deem best, and the like report must be made in each case direct to the probate court of the county which issued the letters.

Oath of appraisers; their duties.

(1362) § 3. Before proceeding to the execution of their duty, the appraisers must take and subscribe an oath, to be attached to the inventory, that they will truly, honestly and impartially appraise the property exhibited to them, according to the best of their knowledge and ability. They must then proceed to estimate and appraise the property; each article must be set down separately, with the value thereof in dollars and cents, in figures, opposite to the articles respectively; the inventory must contain all the estate of the decedent, real and personal, except the homestead, a statement of all debts, partnerships and other interests, bonds, mortgages, notes and other securities for the payment of money belonging to the decedent, specifying the name of the debtor in each security, the date, the sum originally payable, the indorsements thereon, if any, with their dates and the sum which, in the judgment of the appraisers, may be collected on each debt, interest or security.

Inventory contain accounts of moneys received.

(1363) § 4. The inventory must also contain an account of all moneys belonging to the decedent, which have come to the hands of the executor or administrator, and if none, the fact must be so stated in the inventory. If the whole estate consists of money, there need not be an appraisement, but an inventory must be made and returned as in other cases.

Executor's personal debt.

(1364) § 5. The naming of a person as executor does not thereby discharge him from any just claim which the testator has against him, but the claim must be included in the inventory, and the executor is liable for the same, as for so much money in his hands, when the debt or demand becomes due.

Request to executor.

(1365) § 6. The discharge or bequest in a will of any debt or demand of the testator against the executor named, or any other person, is not valid against the creditors of the decedent, but is a specific bequest of the debt or demand. It must be included in the inventory, and, if necessary, applied in the payment of the debts. If not necessary for that purpose, it must be paid in the same manner and proportion as other specific legacies.

Return of inventory.

(1366) § 7. The inventory must be signed by the appraisers, and the executor or administrator must take and subscribe an oath, before an officer authorized to administer oaths, that the inventory contains a true statement of all the estate of the decedent which has come to his knowledge and possession, and particularly of all money belonging to the decedent, and of all just claims of the decedent against the affiant. The oath must be indorsed upon or annexed to the inventory.

Refusal to return inventory.

(1367) § 8. If an executor or administrator neglects or refuses to return the inventory within the time prescribed, or within such further time, not exceeding two months, which the judge shall, for a reasonable cause, allow, the court may, upon notice, revoke the letters testamentary or of administration, and the executor or administrator is liable on his bond for any injury to the estate, or any person interested therein, arising from such failure.

Chap. 19.

Additional inventory

(1368) § 9. Whenever property not mentioned in an inventory that is made and filed, comes to the possession or knowledge of an executor or administrator, he must cause the same to be appraised in the manner prescribed in this article, and an inventory thereof to be returned within two months after the discovery; and the making of such inventory may be enforced, after notice, by attachment or removal from office.

Possession of all property in executor or administrator.

(1369) § 10. The executor or administrator is entitled to the possession of all the real and personal estate of the decedent, and to receive the rents and profits of the real estate, except the realty and improvements thereon properly belonging to the homestead, and such personal property as is reserved by law to the widow and children of the decedent, or either of them, until the estate is settled or delivered over by order of the probate court to the heirs or devisees; and must keep in good tenantable repair all houses, buildings, and fixtures thereon, which are under his control. The heirs or devisees may themselves, or jointly with the executor or administrator, maintain an action for the possession of the real estate, or for the purpose of quieting title to the same, against any one except the executor or administrator.

Term of such possession.

(1370) § 11. Unless it satisfactorily appears to the probate court that the rents, issues and profits of the real estate for a longer period are necessary to be received by the executor or administrator wherewith to pay the debts of the decedent, or that it will probably be necessary to sell the real estate for the payment of such debts, at the end of ten months from the first publication of the notice to creditors, the court must direct the executor or administrator to deliver possession of all the real estate to the heirs at law or devisees.

Embezzlement before letters of administration are granted.

(1371) § 12. If any person before the granting of letters testamentary or of administration, embezzles or alienates any of the moneys, goods, chattels or effects of a decedent, he is chargeable therewith, and liable to an action by the executor or administrator of the estate, for double the value of the property so embezzled or alienated, to be recovered for the benefit of the estate.

Complaint on embezzlement.

(1372) § 13. If any executor, administrator, or other person interested in the estate of a decedent, complains to the probate court, on oath, that any person is suspected to have concealed, embezzled, smuggled, conveyed away, or disposed of any moneys, goods or chattels of the decedent, or has in his possession or knowledge, any deeds, conveyances, bonds, contracts, or other writings which contain evidences of, or tend to disclose the right, title, interest or claim of the decedent to any real or personal estate, or any claim or demand, or any lost will, the judge may cite such person to appear before the probate court, and may examine him, on oath, upon the matter of such complaint, if he can be found in the Territory. But if cited from another county, and he appears and is found innocent, his necessary expenses must be allowed him out of the estate.

(1373) § 14. If the person so cited refuses to appear and submit to an examination, or to answer such interrogatories as may be put to him, touching the matters or the complaint, the court may, by warrant for that purpose, commit him to the county jail, there to remain in close custody until he submits to the order of the court or is discharged according to law. If, upon such examination, it appears that he has concealed, embezzled, smuggled, conveyed away, or disposed of any moneys, goods or chattels of the decedent, or that he has in his possession or knowledge any deeds, conveyances, bonds, contracts or other writings, tending to disclose the right, title, interest or claim of the decedent to any real or personal estate, claim or demand, or any lost will of the decedent, the probate court may make an order requiring such person to disclose his knowledge thereof to the executor or administrator, and may commit him to the county jail, there to remain until the order is complied with, or he is discharged according to law; and all such interrogatories and answers must be in writing, signed by the party examined, and filed in the probate court. The order for such disclosure made upon such examination, is prima facie evidence of the right of such administrator to such property in any action brought for the recovery thereof; and any judgment recovered therein must befor double the value of the property as assessed by the district court or jury ; or for return of the property, and damages in addition thereto, equal to the value of such property. In addition to the examination of the party, witnesses may be produced and examined on either side.

Commitment of person cited.

(1374) § 15. The probate judge, upon the complaint, on oath, of any executor or administrator, may cite any person who has been entrusted with any part of the estate of the decedent, to appear before such court and require him to render a full account, on oath, of any moneys, goods, chattels, bonds, accounts, or other property or papers belonging to the estate which have come to his possession in trust for the executor or administrator, and of proceedings thereon; and if the person so cited refuses to appear and render such account, the court may proceed against him as provided in the preceding section.

Account for property by third persons.

ARTICLE 5.—OF THE HOMESTEAD, AND OF THE ALLOTMENT OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

SECTION.
1. Property delivered to the family at once.
2 Additional allotment to widow and children.
3 Selection of the homestead.
4 Homestead exempt from debt or liability.
5. Allowance for the family.
6. Allowance is a perferred claim.
7. Who receives the property set apart.
8. Summary administration, when.
9. Widow's separate property.

(1375) § 1. Upon the death of either husband or wife, the survivor may continue to possess and occupy the whole homestead until it is otherwise disposed of according to law; and upon the death of both husband and wife the children may continue to possess and occupy the whole homestead until the youngest child becomes of age. And in addition thereto the following personal Property to be delivered to the family at once.

Chap. 19.

property must be immediately delivered by the executor or administrator to such surviving wife or husband, and child or children, and is not to be deemed assets, namely:

First. All family pictures.

Second. A pew or other sitting in any house of worship.

Third. A lot or lots in any burial ground.

Fourth. The family bible and all school books used by the family, and all other books used as a part of the family library not exceeding in value one hundred dollars.

Fifth. All wearing apparel and clothing of the decedent and his family.

Sixth. The provisions for the family necessary for one year's supply, either provided or growing, or both; and fuel necessary for one year.

Seventh. All household and kitchen furniture, including stoves, beds, bedsteads and bedding, not exceeding one hundred and fifty dollars in value.

The executor or administrator must make a separate and distinct inventory of all the personal property specified in this section, by articles, and opposite each article give the appraised value of the same, in dollars and cents, as given in the general inventory of the appraisers appointed by the court and return the same to the probate court, and no such property shall be liable for any prior debts or claims whatever.

Additional allotment to widow and children.

(1376) § 2. In addition to the property mentioned in the preceding section, there shall also be allowed and set apart to the surviving wife or husband, or the minor child or children of the decedent, all such personal property or money as is exempt by law from levy and sale on execution or other final process from any court, to be, with the homestead, possessed and used by them; and the executor or administrator must make and return a separate and distinct inventory thereof in the same manner as required for the property mentioned in the preceding section, and no such property shall be liable for any prior debts or claims against the decedent, except when there are no assets thereunto available for the payment of the necessary expenses of his last illness, funeral charges and expenses of administration.

Selection of the homestead.

(1377) § 3. If no homestead has been selected, marked out, platted and recorded, as provided by the homestead law, the judge of the probate court must cause the same to be done according to the provisions of said law.

Homestead exempt from debt or liability.

(1378) § 4. The homestead is not subject to the payment of any debt or liability contracted by or existing against the husband and wife, or either of them, previous to or at the time of the death of such husband or wife, except as provided in the law relating to homesteads.

Allowance for the family.

(1379) § 5. If the amount so as aforesaid set apart be less than that allowed, and insufficient for the support of the widow and children, or either, or, if there be no such personal property to be set apart, and if there be other estate of the decedent, the court may in its discretion make such reasonable allowance out of the estate as shall be necessary for the maintenance of the family, according to their circumstances, during the progress of the settlement of the estate, which in case of an insolvent estate, must not be longer than one year after granting letters testamentary or of administration.

Allowance is a preferred claim.

(1380) § 6. Any allowance made by the court in accordance with the provisions of this article must be paid in preference to all other charges, except funeral charges or expenses of administration, and any such allowance, whenever made, may, in the discretion of the court, take effect from the death of the decedent.

Who receives the property set apart.

(1381) § 7. When personal property is set apart for the use of the family, in accordance with the provisions of this article, if the decedent left a widow or surviving husband, and no minor child, such property is the property of the widow or surviving husband. If the decedent left also a minor child, the one-half of such property shall belong to the widow or surviving husband, and the other half to the minor child; and if the decedent left more than one minor child, the one-third of such property shall belong to the widow or surviving husband and the remainder in equal shares to the minor children, and if the decedent left no widow or surviving husband, such property shall belong to the minor child, or, if more than one minor child, to them in equal parts.

Summary administration when estate does not exceed fifteen hundred dollars.

(1382) § 8. If, upon the return of the inventory of the personal estate of an intestate, it appears that the value of the whole personal estate does not exceed the sum of fifteen hundred dollars, the probate court, by a decree for that purpose, must assign for the use and support of the widow and minor child, or children, if there be a widow or minor child, and if no widow then for the children, if there be any, the whole of the estate, after the payment of the funeral expenses, the expenses of the last sickness, and expenses of the administration, and there must be no further proceedings in the administration unless further estate be discovered; and when it so appears that the value of the whole estate does not exceed the sum of three thousand dollars, it is in the discretion of the probate court to dispense with the regular proceedings, or any part thereof prescribed in this article, and there must be had a summary administration of the estate, and an order of distribution thereof at the end of six months after the issuing of letters; the notice to creditors must be given to present their claims within four months after the first publication of such notice, and those not so presented are barred as in other cases.

Widow's separate property.

(1383) § 9. If the widow has a maintenance derived from her own property equal to the portion set apart to her by the preceding sections of this article, the whole property so set apart, other than her right in the homestead, must go to the minor children.

SECTION.
1. Notice to creditors to present claims.
2. Time for filing claims.
3. Proof of notice and want of same.
4. Claims not presented in time.
5. Proof of same.
6. Allowance of claims not proved.
7. Claim by probate judge.
8. Allowance and rejection of claims.
9. Claims filed in court.
10. Suit on rejected claim.
11. Claims barred cannot be allowed.
12. Presentment of claim must be made before suit.
13. Vacancy in administration not included in limitation.
14. Action pending at death.
15. Partial allowance of claim.
16. Effect of judgment against administrator or executor.
17. Judgment before death; how collected.
18. Death after verdict; judgment not a lien.
19. Reference of claim to referee.
20. Duties of referee.
21. Costs against representative.
22. Claim by executor or administrator.
23. Neglect to give notice to creditors.
24. Statement of claims.
25. Payment of claims not due.

Notice to creditors to present claims.

(1384) § 1. Every executor or administrator must, immediately after his appointment, cause to be published in some newspaper in the county, if there be one, if not, then such newspaper as may be designated by the court, a notice to the creditors of the decedent, requiring all persons having claims against him to exhibit them, with the necessary vouchers, to the executor or administrator, at the place of his residence or business, to be specified in the notice. Such notice must be published as often as the judge shall direct, but not less than once a week for four weeks. The judge may also direct additional notice by publication or posting. In case such executor or administrator resigns, or is removed, before the time expressed in the notice, his successor must give notice only for the unexpired time allowed for such presentation.

Time for filing claims

(1385) § 2. The time expressed in the notice must be six months after its first publication, when the estate exceeds in value the sum of five thousand dollars, and four months when it does not.

Proof of notice and record of same.

(1386) § 3. After the notice is given, as required by the preceding section, a copy thereof, with the affidavit of due publication, or of publication and posting, must be filed, and upon such affidavit or other testimony to the satisfaction of the court, an order or decree, showing that due notice to creditors has been given, must be made by the court and entered in the minutes and recorded.

Claims not presented in time allowed.

(1387) § 4. If a claim arising upon a contract heretofore made, be not presented within the time limited in the notice, it is barred forever, except as follows: If it be not then due, or if it be contingent, it may be presented within one month after it becomes due or absolute; if it be made to appear by the affidavit of the claimant, to the satisfaction of the executor or administrator and the judge of the probate court, that the claimant had no notice as provided in this article, by reason of being out of the Territory, it may be presented at any time before a decree of distribution is entered, a claim for a deficiency remaining unpaid after a sale of property of the estate mortgaged or pledged must be presented within one month after such deficiency is ascertained. All claim arising upon contracts hereafter made, whether the same be due, not date or contingent, must be presented within the time limited in the notice; and any claim not so presented is barred forever: Provided, however, That when it is made to appear by the affidavit of the claimant, as above provided, that he had no notice by reason of being out of the Territory, it may be presented as therein provided: Provided further, That nothing in this section, nor in this act contained, shall be construed to prohibit the right or limit the time of foreclosure of mortgages upon real property of decedents, whether heretofore or hereafter executed, but every such mortgage may be foreclosed within the time and in the mode prescribed in civil procedure, except, that no balance of the debt secured by such mortgage remaining unpaid after foreclosure shall be a claim against the estate, unless such debt was presented as required by law.

Proof of claims.

(1388) § 5. Every claim which is due when presented to the administrator must be supported by the affidavit of the claimant or some one in his behalf, that the amount is justly due, that no payments have been made thereon which are not credited, and that there are no offsets to the same, to the knowledge of the claimant or affiant. If the claim be not due when presented, or be contingent, the particulars of such claim must be stated. When the affidavit is made by a person other than the claimant, he must set forth in the affidavit the reason why it is not made by the claimant. The executor or administrator may also require satisfactory vouchers or proofs to be produced in support of the claim. If the estate is insolvent, no greater rate of interest shall be allowed upon any claim, after the first publication of notice to creditors, than is allowed by law on judgments obtained in the district court.

Claims paid when not proved and allowed.

(1389) § 6. When it shall appear, upon the settlement of the accounts of any executor or administrator, that debts against the deceased have been paid without the affidavit and allowance prescribed by the preceding section, and shall be proven by competent evidence to the satisfaction of the probate court that such debts were justly due, were paid in good faith, that the amount paid was the true amount of such indebtedness over and above all payments or set offs, and that the estate is solvent, it shall be the duty of the said court to allow the said sums so paid in the settlement of said accounts.

Claim by probate judge, proceedings.

(1390) § 7. Any judge of the probate court may present a claim against the estate of a decedent, for allowance, to the executor or administrator thereof; and if the executor or administrator allows or rejects the claim, he must, in writing, present the same to the county clerk of the county, who shall thereupon be substituted in the settlement of said estate in place of the probate judge, as provided by law, and the judge of the probate court presenting such claim, in case of its rejection by the executor or administrator, or by such county clerk, acting as judge, has the same right to sue in a proper court for its recovery as other persons have when their claims against an estate are rejected.

Allowance and rejection of claims.

(1391) § 8. When a claim accompanied by the affidavit required in this chapter, is presented to the executor or administrator, he must indorse thereon his allowance or rejection, with the day and date thereof. If he allow the claim, it must be presented to the judge for his approval, who must, in the same manner, indorse upon it his allowance or rejection. If the executor or administrator, or the judge refuse or neglect to indorse such allowance or rejection for ten days after the claim has been presented to him, such refusal or neglect is equivalent to a rejection on the tenth day; and if the presentation be made by a notary, the certificate of such notary, under seal, is prima facie evidence of such presentation and rejection. If the claim be presented to the executor or administrator before the expiration of the time limited for the presentation of claims, the same is presented in time, though acted upon by the executor or administrator, and by the judge, after the expiration of such time.

Chap. 19.

Claims filed in court.

(1392) § 9. Every claim allowed by the executor or administrator, and approved by the judge, or a copy thereof, as hereinafter provided, must, within thirty days thereafter, be filed in the probate court, and he ranked among the acknowledged debts of the estate, to be paid in due course of administration. If the claim is founded on a bond, bill, note, or any other instrument, a copy of such instrument must accompany the claim, and the original instrument must be exhibited if demanded, unless it is lost or destroyed, in which case the claimant must accompany his claim by his affidavit, containing a copy or particular description of such instrument, and stating its loss or destruction, If the claim or any part thereof is secured by a mortgage or other lien which has been recorded or filed according to law in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the land affected by it lies, it is sufficient to described the mortgage or lien, and refer to the date of its filing and volume, and page of its record. If, in any case, the claimant has left any original voucher in the hands of the executor or administrator, or suffered the same to be filed in court, he may withdraw the same when a copy of the same has been already, or is then, attached to his claim. A brief description of every claim filed must be entered by the judge in the register, showing the name of the claimant, the amount and character of the claim, rate of interest, and date of allowance.

Suit on rejected claim must be brought, when.

(1393) § 10. When a claim is rejected, either by the executor or administrator, or the judge of the probate court, the holder must bring suit in the proper court, to-wit, before a justice of the peace, or in the district court, according to its amount, against the executor or administrator, within three months after the date of its rejection, if it be then due, or within two months after it becomes due, otherwise the claim is forever barred.

Claims barred cannot be allowed.

(1394) § 11. No claim must be allowed by the executor or administrator, or by the judge, which is barred by the statute of limitations. When a claim is presented to the judge for his allowance, he may, in his discretion, examine the claimant and others, on oath, and hear any other legal evidence touching the validity of the claim.

Presentment of claim must be made before suit.

(1395) § 12. No holder of any claim against an estate shall maintain any action thereon, unless the claim is first presented to the executor or administrator.

Vacancy to administration not included in limitation.

(1396) § 13. The time during which there shall be a vacancy in the administration, must not be included in any limitation herein prescribed.

Action pending at death.

(1397) § 14. If an action is pending against the decedent at time of his death, the plaintiff must in like manner present his claim to the executor or administrator, for allowance or rejection, authenticated as required in other cases; and no recovery shall be had in the action unless proof be made of the presentation required.

Partial allowance of claim.

(1398) § 15. Whenever any claim is presented to an executor or administrator, or to the judge of the probate court, and he is willing to allow the same in part, he must state in his endorsement the amount he is willing to allow. If the creditor refuse to accept the amount allowed in satisfaction of his claim, he shall recover no costs in an action therefor, brought against the executor or administrator, unless he recovers a greater amount than that offered to be allowed.

Effect of judgment against executor and administrator

(1399) § 16. A judgment rendered against an executor or administrator, in the district court or before a magistrate, upon any claim for money against the estate of his testator or intestate, only establishes the claim in the same manner as if it had been allowed by the executor or administrator, and the judge of the probate court, and the judgment must be that the executor or administrator pay, in due course of administration, the amount ascertained to be due. A certified transcript of the judgment must be filed in the probate court. No execution must issue upon such judgment, nor shall it create any lien upon the property of the estate, or give to the judgment creditor any priority of payment.

Judgments before death; how collected.

(1400) § 17. When any judgment has been rendered for or against the testator or intestate in his life-time, no execution shall issue thereon after his death, except:

First. In case of the death of the judgment creditor, upon the application of his executor or administrator, or successor in interests.

Second. In case of the death of the judgment debtor, if the judgment be for the recovery of real or personal property, or the enforcement of a lien thereon.

A judgment against the decedent for the recovery of money, must be presented to the executor or administrator, like any other claim. If the execution is actually levied upon any property of the decedent before his death, the same may be sold for the satisfaction thereof, and the officer making the sale must account to the executor or administrator for any surplus in his hands.

Death after verdict, judgment not a lien.

(1401) § 18. A judgment rendered against a decedent, dying after verdict or decision on an issue of fact, but before judgment is rendered thereon, is not a lien on the real property of the decedent, but is payable in due course of administration.

Reference of claim to referee.

(1402) § 19. If the executor or administrator doubts the correctness of any claim presented to him, he may enter into an agreement, in writing, with the claimant, to refer the matter in controversy to some disinterested person, to be approved by the judge of the probate court. Upon filing the agreement, and approval of the judge of the probate court, in the office of the clerk or the district court for the county or judicial subdivision in which the letters testamentary or of administration were granted, the clerk must, either in vacation or in term, enter a minute of the order referring the matter in controversy to the person so selected; or, if the parties consent, a reference may be had in the probate court; and the report of the referee, if confirmed, establishes or rejects the claim, the same as if it had been allowed or rejected by the executor or administrator and the probate judge.

Duties of the referee.

(1403) § 20. The referee must hear and determine the matter, and make his report thereon to the court in which his appointment is entered. The same proceedings shall be had in all respects, and the referee shall have the same powers, be entitled to the same compensation, and subject to the same control as in other cases of reference. The court may remove the referee, appoint another in his place, set aside or confirm his report, and adjudge costs, as in actions against executors or administrators, and the judgment of the court thereon shall be as valid and effectual, in all respects, as if the same had been rendered in a suit commenced by ordinary process.

Costs against representative.

(1404) § 21. When a judgment is recovered, with costs, against any executor or administrator, he shall be individually liable for such costs, but they must be allowed him in his administration accounts, unless it appears that the suit or proceeding in which the costs were taxed was prosecuted or defended without just cause.

Claim by executor.

(1405) § 22. If the executor or administrator is a creditor of the decedent, his claim, duly authenticated by affidavits, must be presented for allowance or rejection to the judge of the probate court, and its allowance by the judge is sufficient evidence of its correctness, and it must be paid as other claims, in due course of administration. If, however, the judge rejects the claim, action thereon may be had against the estate by the claimant, and summons must be served upon the judge of the probate court, who may appoint an attorney at the expense of the estate, to defend the action. If the claimant recover no judgment, he must pay all costs, including defendant's attorney's fee.

Neglect to give notice to creditors

(1406) § 23. If an executor or administrator neglect for two months after his appointment to give notice to creditors, as prescribed by this article, the court must revoke his letters, and appoint some other person in his stead, equally or next in order, entitled to the appointment.

Executor and administrator to make statement of claims.

(1407) § 24. At the same term at which he is required to return his inventory, the executor or administrator must also return a statement of all claims against the estate which have been presented to him, if so required by the court; and from term to term thereafter he must present a statement of claims subsequently presented to him. In all such statements he must designate the names of the creditors, the nature of each claim, when it became due or will become due, and whether it was allowed or rejected by him.

Payment of claims not due.

(1408) § 25. If there be any debt of the decedent bearing interest, whether presented or not, the executor or administrator may, by order of the probate court, pay the amount then accumulated, and unpaid, or any part thereof, at any time when there are sufficient funds properly applicable thereto, whether said claim be then due or not; and interest shall thereupon cease to accrue upon the amount so paid. This article does not apply to debts existing at the date this law goes into effect, unless the creditor consent to accept the amount.

Chap. 19.

surviving wife or husband and minor child or children, shall be chargeable with the payment of the debts of the deceased, the expenses of the administration, and the allowance to the family. And the property, personal and real, may be sold as the court may direct, in the manner hereinafter prescribed. There shall be no priority as between personal and real property for the above purposes.

All sales ordered by the court.

(1410) § 2. No sale of any property of an estate of a decedent is valid unless made under order of the probate court, except as otherwise hereinafter provided. All sales must be reported under oath, and confirmed by the probate court, before the title to the property sold passes,

Petition for orders for sale

(1411) § 3. All petitions for orders of sale must be in writing, setting forth the facts showing the sale to be necessary, and upon the hearing, any person interested in the estate may file his written objections, which must be heard and determined. A failure to set forth the facts showing the sale to be necessary will not invalidate the subsequent proceedings, if the defect be supplied by the proofs at the hearing, and the general facts showing the necessity be stated in the order directing the sale.

When estate is insolvent

(1412) § 4. When it appears to the court that the estate is insolvent, or that it will require a sale of all the property of the estate of every character, chargeable therewith, to pay the family allowance, expenses of administration and debts, there need be but one petition filed, but one order of sale made and but one sale had, except in cases of perishable property, which may be sold as provided in the next section. The probate court when a petition for the sale of any property for any of the purposes herein named, is presented, must inquire fully into the probable amount required to make all such payments and if there be no more estate chargeable therewith than sufficient to pay the same, may require but one proceeding for the sale of the entire available estate. In such case the petition must set forth all the facts required by the second section of the following article relating to sales of real estate.

What personal property can be sold without notice.

(1413) § 5. At any time after receiving letters, the executor, administrator, or special administrator may apply to the judge and obtain an order to sell perishable and other personal property likely to depreciate in value, or which will incur loss or expense by being kept, and so much other personal property as may be necessary to pay the allowance made to the family of the decedent. The order for the sale may be made without notice; but the executor, administrator or special administrator is responsible for the property, unless after making a sworn return, and on proper showing, the court shall approve the sale.

Prerequisites of the sale of personal property.

(1414) § 6. If claims against the estate have been allowed, and a sale of property is necessary for their payment, or the expenses of administration, or for the payment of legacies, the executor or adminstrator may apply for an order to sell so much of the personal property as may be necessary therefor. Upon filing his petition, notice of at least five days must be given of the hearing of the application, either by posting notices or by advertising. He may also make a similar application, either in vacation or term, from time to time, so long as any personal property remains in his hands, and sale thereof is necessary. If it appears for the best interest of the estate, he may, at any time after filing the inventories, in like manner, and after giving like notice, apply for and obtain an order to sell the whole of the personal property belonging to the estate, remaining and not set apart, whether necessary to pay debts or not.

Partnership interests and claims may be sold.

(1415) § 7. Partnership interests, or interests belonging to any estate by virtue of any partnership formerly existing, interest in personal property pledged, and choses in action, may be sold in the same manner as other personal property, when it appears to be for the best interest of the estate. Before confirming the sale of any partnership interest, whether made to the surviving partner or to any other person, the judge must carefully inquire into the condition of the partnership affairs, and must examine the surviving partner, if in the county and able to be present in court.

Causes of sales, what should be first sold.

(1416) § 8. If it appear that a sale is necessary for the payment of the debts of the family allowance, or for the best interests of the estate, and the persons interested in the property to be sold, whether it is or is not necessary to pay the debts or family allowance, the court or judge must order it to be made. In making orders and sales for the payment of debts or family allowance, such articles as are not necessary for the support and subsistence of the family of the decedent, or are not specially bequeathed, must be first sold, and the court or judge must so direct.

Method and notice of sale.

(1417) § 9. The sale of personal property must be made at public auction, and after public notice given for at least fifteen days, by notices posted in three public places in the county, or by publication in a newspaper, or both, containing the time and place of sale, and a brief description of the property to be sold; unless for good reasons shown, the court or judge orders a private sale, or a shorter notice. Public sales of such property must be made at the court house door, or at the residence of the decedent, or at some other public place, but no sale shall be made of any personal property which is not present at the time of sale, unless the court or judge otherwise order.

When the sale of porperty is necessary.

(1418) § 10. When a sale of property of the estate is necessary to pay the allowance of the family, or the debts outstanding against a decedent, or the debts, expenses or charges of administration, or legacies, the executor or administrator may also sell any real, as well as personal, property of the estate in his hands and chargeable for that purpose, upon the order of the probate court, and an application for the sale of real property may also embrace the sale of personal property.

Requisites of the petition for sale.

(1419) § 11. To obtain an order for the sale of real property, he must present a verified petition in the probate court, or to the judge thereof, setting forth the amount of personal property that has come into his hands as assets, and how much thereof, if any, remains undisposed of; the debts outstanding against the decedent, as far as can be ascertained or estimated; and the amount due upon the family allowance, or that will be due after the same has been in force for one year; the debts, expenses and charges of administration already accrued, and an estimate of what will or may accrue during the administration; a general description of all the real property except the homestead, of which the decedent died seized, or in which he had any interest, or in which the estate has acquired any interest, and the condition and value thereof; the names of the legatees and devisees, if any, and the heirs of the decedent, so far as known to the petitioner. If any of the matters here enumerated cannot be ascertained, it must be so stated in the petition; but a failure to set forth the facts showing the sale to be necessary, will not invalidate the subsequent proceedings, if the defect be supplied by the proofs at the hearing, and the general facts showing such necessity be stated in the decree.

Chap. 19.

Order for hearing on the petition

(1420) § 12. If it appears to the court or judge, from such petition, that it is necessary to sell the whole or some portion of such real estate for the purposes and reasons mentioned in the preceding section, or any of them, such petition must be filed and an order thereupon made, directing all persons interested in the estate to appear before the court, at a time and place specified, not less than four nor more than ten weeks from the time of making such order, to show cause why an order should not be granted to the executor or administrator to sell so much of the real estate of the decedent as is necessary.

Service of the order, how and on whom.

(1421) § 13. A copy of the order to show cause must be personally served on all persons interested in the estate, any general guardian of a minor so interested, and any legatee or devisee, or heir of the decedent, provided they are residents of the county, at least ten days before the time appointed for hearing the petition, or be published four successive weeks in such newspaper of the county as the court or judge shall direct. If all persons interested in the estate join in the petition for the sale, or signify in writing their assent thereto, the notice may be dispensed with and the hearing may be had at any time.

Hearing of the petition

(1422) § 14. The probate court, at the time and place appointed in such order, or at such other time to which the hearing may be postponed, upon satisfactory proof of personal service or publication of a copy of the order, by affidavit or otherwise if the consent in writing to such sale of all parties interested is not filed, must proceed to hear the petition, and hear and examine the allegations and proof of the petitioners, and of persons interested in the estate who may oppose the application. All claims against the decedent not before presented, if the period of presentation has not elapsed, may be presented and passed upon at the hearing.

Attendance of witnesses may be compelled (1423) § 15. The executor, administrator, and witnesses may be examined on oath by either party, and process to compel them to attend and testify may be issued by the judge of the probate court in the same manner and with like effect as in other cases.

Sale of all the real estate may be authorized.

(1424) § 16. If it appear necessary to sell a part of the real estate, and that by a sale thereof the residue of the estate, real or personal, or some specific part thereof, would be greatly injured or diminished in value, or subjected to expense, or rendered unprofitable, or that after such sale the residue would be so small in quantity or value, or would be of such a character with reference to its future disposition among the heirs or devisees, as clearly to render it for the best interests of all concerned that the same should be sold, the court may authorize the sale of the whole estate, or of any part thereof necessary and for the best interest of all concerned.

Order of sale.

(1425) § 17. If the court be satisfied, after a full hearing upon the petition and examination of the proofs and allegations of the parties interested, that a sale of the whole or some portion of the real estate is necessary, for any of the causes mentioned in this article, or if such sale be assented to by all the persons interested, an order must be made to sell the whole, or so much and such parts of the real estate described in the petition as the court shall judge neeessary or beneficial.

Order must contain what; terms and method of the sale.

(1426) § 18. The order of sale must describe the lands to be sold and the terms of sale, which may be for cash, or may be for one-third cash and the balance on a credit not exceeding two years, payable in gross or installments within that time, with interest, as the court may direct. The land may be sold in one parcel or in sub-divisions, as the executor or administrator shall judge most beneficial to the estate, unless the court otherwise specially directs. If it appears that any part of such real estate has been devised and not charged in such devise with the payment of debts or legacies, the court must order the remainder to be sold before that so devised. Every such sale must be ordered to be made at a public auction, unless, in the opinion of the court, it would benefit the estate to sell the whole or some part of such real estate at private sale; the court may if the same is asked for in the petition, order or direct such real estate, or any part thereof, to be sold at either public or private sale, as the executor or administrator shall judge to be most beneficial to the estate. If the executor or administrator neglects or refuses to make a sale under the order and as directed therein, he may be compelled to sell, by order of the court, made on motion, after due notice, by any party interested.

Petition for sale by third person

(1427) § 19. If the executor or administrator neglects to apply for any order of sale when it is necessary, any person may make application therefor in the same manner as the executor or administrator, and notice thereof, must be given to the executor or administrator, before the hearing. The petition of such applicant must contain as many of the matters required for the petition of the executor or administrator as he can ascertain, and the decree of sale must fix the period of time within which the executor or administrator must make the sale.

Notice of time and place of sale.

(1428) § 20. When a sale is ordered, and is to be made at public auction, notice of the time and place of sale must be posted in three of the most public places in the county in which the land is situated, and published in a newspaper if there be one printed in the same county, but if none; then in such paper as the court may direct, for three weeks successively next before the sale. The lands and tenements to be sold must be described with common certainty in the notice.

Place and time of sale.

(1429) § 21. Sales at public auction must be made in the county where the land is situated; but when the land is situated in two or more counties, it may be sold in either. The sale must be made between the hours of nine o'clock in the morning and the setting of the sun on the same day, and must be made on the day named in the notice of sale, unless the same is postponed.

Private sale; notice of, bids.

(1430) § 22. When a sale of real estate is ordered to be made at private sale, notice of the same must be posted up in three of the most public places in the county in which the land is situated, and published in a newspaper, if there be one printed in the same county; if none, then in such paper as the court may direct, for two weeks successively next before the day on or after which the sale is to be made, in which the lands and tenements to be sold must be described with common certainty. The notice must state a day on or after which the sale will be made, and a place where offers or bids will be received. The day last referred to must be at least fifteen days from the first publication of notice, and the sale must not be made before that day, but must be made within six months thereafter. The bids or offers must be in writing, and may be left at the place designated in the notice, or delivered to the executor or administrator personally, or may be filed in the office of the judge of the probate court, to which the return of the sale must be made, at any time after the first publication of notice, and before the making of the sale. If it is shown that it will be for the best interest of the estate, the court or judge may, by an order, shorten the time of notice, which shall not, however, be less than one week, and may provide that the sale may be made on or after a day less than fifteen, but not less than eight days from the first publication of the notice, in which case the notice of sale and the sale may be made to correspond with such order.

Limit of price, re-appraisement.

(1431) § 23. No sale of real estate at private sale shall be confirmed by the court unless the sum offered is at least ninety per cent of the appraised value thereof, nor unless such real estate has been appraised within one year of the time of such sale. If it has not been so appraised, or if the court is satisfied that the appraisement is too high or too low, appraisers must be appointed, and they must make an appraisement thereof in the same manner as in case of an original appraisement of an estate. This may be done at any time before the sale or the confirmation thereof.

Security when sale is made on credit.

(1432) § 24. The executor or administrator must, when the sale is made upon a credit, take the notes of the purchaser for the purchase money with a mortgage on the property to secure their payment.

Return of the sale, hearing by the court, re-sale ordered, when.

(1433) § 25. The executor or administrator, after making any sale of real estate, must make a return of his proceedings to the probate court, which must be filed by the judge, at any time subsequent to the sale, either in term or vacation. If the sale be made at public auction, and the return is made and filed on or before the first day of the next term thereafter, no notice is required of such return or of the hearing thereof, but the hearing may be had upon the first day of the term, or any subsequent day to which the same may be postponed. If the sale be not made at public auction, or if made at public auction, a hearing upon the return of proceedings be asked for in the return, or is brought on for a hearing upon a day before the first day of the next term thereafter, or upon any other day than the first day of the next term after such sale, the court or judge must fix the day for the hearing, of which notice of at least ten days must be given by the judge, by notices posted in three public places in the county, or by publication in a newspaper, or both, as he may deem best, and must briefly indicate the land sold, the sum for which it was sold, and must refer to the return for further particulars. Upon the hearing, the court must examine the return and witnesses in relation to the same, and if the proceedings were unfair, or the sum bid disproportionate to the value, and if it appear that a sum exceeding such bid at least ten per cent, exclusive of the expenses of a new sale, may be obtained, the court may vacate the sale and direct another to be had, of which notice must be given, and the sale in all respects conducted as if no previous sale had taken place; if an offer of ten per cent more in amount than that named in the return be made to the court in writing, by a responsible person, it is in the discretion of the court to accept such offer and confirm the sale to such person or to order a new sale.

Objections to the sale.

(1434) § 26. When return of the sale is made and filed, any person interested in the estate may file written objections to the confirmation thereof, and may be heard thereon when the return is heard by the court or judge, and may produce witnesses in support of his objections.

Proportionate bids.

(1435) § 27. If it appear to the court that the sale was legally made and fairly conducted, and that the sum bid was not disproportionate to the value of the property sold, and that a greater sum, as above specified, cannot be obtained, or if the increased bid mentioned in the second preceding section be made and accepted by the court, the court must make an order confirming the sale, and directing conveyances to be executed. The sale from that time is confirmed and valid, and a certified copy of the order confirming it and directing conveyances to be executed must be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county within which the land sold is situated. If after the confirmation the purchaser neglects or refuses to comply with the terms of sale the court may, on motion of the executor or administrator, and after notice to the purchaser, order a re-sale to be made of the property, If the amount realized on such re-sale does not cover the bid and the expenses of the previous sale, such purchaser is liable for the deficiency to the estate.

Conveyance and record, effect of.

(1436) § 28. Conveyances must thereupon be executed to the purchaser by the executor or administrator, and they must refer to the orders of the probate court authorizing and confirming the sale of the property of the estate, and directing the conveyances thereof to be executed, and to the record of the order of confirmation in the office of the register of deeds, by the date, volume and page of the record, and such reference shall have the same effect as if the orders were at large inserted in the conveyance. Conveyances so made convey all the right, title, interest and estate of the decedent, in the premises, at the time of his death, if, prior to the sale, by operation of law or otherwise, the estate has acquired any right, title or interest in the premises, other than, or in addition to, that of the decedent at the time of his death, such right, title or interest also passes by such conveyance.

Proof of notice before order.

(1437) § 29. Before any order is entered confirming the sale, it must be proved to the satisfaction of the court that notice was given of the sale as prescribed, and the order of confirmation must show that such proof was made.

Postponement of sale.

(1438) § 30. If, at the time appointed for the sale, the executor or administrator deems it for the interest of the persons concerned therein that the same be postponed, he may postpone it from time to time, not exceeding in all three months.

Notice of postponment at place of sale.

(1439) § 31. In case of a postponement, notice thereof must be given, by public declaration, at the time and place first appointed for the sale, and if the postponment be for more than one one day, further notice must be given by posting notices in three or more public places in the county where the land is situated, or publishing the same, or both, as the time and circumstances will admit.

Provisions of the will must be followed.

(1440) § 32. If the testator makes provisions by his will or designates the estate to be appropriated for the payment of his debts, the expenses of administration, or family expenses, they must be paid according to such provisions or designation, out of the estate thus appropriated, so far as the same is sufficient.

Sale of property under the will; confirmation.

(1441) § 33. When property is directed by the will to be sold, or authority is given in the will to sell property, the executor may sell any property of the estate without the order of the probate court, and at either public or private sale, and with or without notice, as the executor may determine; but the executor must make return of such sales as in other cases; and if directions are given in the will as to the mode of selling, or the particular property to be sold, such directions must be observed. In either case no title passes unless the sale is confirmed by the court.

When provisions of will are insufficient.

(1442) § 34. If the provision made by the will, or the estate appropriated therefor, is insufficient to pay the debts, expenses of administration, and family expenses, that portion of the estate not devised or disposed of by will, if any, must be appropriated and disposed of for that purpose according to the provisions of this article.

Property liable for debts.

(1443) § 35. The estate, real and personal, given by will to legatees or devisees, is liable for the debts, expenses of administration, and family expenses, in proportion to the value or amount of the several devises, or legacies, but specific devises or legacies are exempt from such liability if it appears to the court necessary to carry into effect the intention of the testator, and there is other sufficient estate.

Contribution from all the devisees and legatees.

(1444) § 36. When an estate given by will has been sold for the payment of debts or expenses, all the devisees and legatees must contribute according to their respective interests to the devisee or legatee whose devise or legacy has been taken therefor, and the probate court, when distribution is made, must, by decree for that purpose, settle the amount of the several liabilities, and decree the amount each person shall contribute, and reserve the same from their distributive shares respectively, for the purpose of paying such contribution.

Contract for the purchase of lands may be sold.

(1445) § 37. If a decedent, at the time of his death, was possessed of a contract for the purchase of land, his interests in such land and under such contracts may be sold on the application of his executor or administrator, in the same manner as if he had died seized of such land, and the same proceedings may be had for that purpose as are prescribed in this article for the sale of lands of which he died seized, except as hereinafter provided.

Terms of the sale of such contract.

(1446) § 38. The sale must be made subject to all payments that may hereafter become due on such contracts, and if there are any such the sale must not be confirmed by the probate court until the purchasers execute a bond to the executor or administrator, for the benefit and indemnity of himself and of the persons entitled to the interest of the decedent in the lands so contracted for, in double the whole amount of payments thereafter to become due on such contract, with such sureties as the probate judge shall approve.

What bond must specify.

(1447) § 39. The bond must be conditioned that the purchaser will make all payments for such land that become due after the date of the sale, and will fully indemnify the executor or administrator and the persons so entitled against all demands, costs, charges and expenses by reason of any covenant or agreement contained in such contract.

Transfer of title.

(1448) § 40. Upon the confirmation of the sale, the executor or administrator must execute to the purchaser an assignment of the contract, which vests in the purchaser, his heirs and assigns, all the right, title and interest of the estate, or of the persons entitled to the interest of the decedent in the lands sold at the time of the sale and the purchaser has the same rights and remedies against the vendor of such land as the decedent would have had if he were living.

Liens on realty paid.

(1449) § 41. When any sale is made by an executor or administrator, pursuant to the provisions of this article, of lands subject to any mortgage or other lien, which is a valid claim against the estate of the decedent, and has been presented and allowed, the purchase money must be applied, after paying the necessary expenses of the sale, first to the payment and satisfaction of the mortgage or lien, and the residue, if any, in due course of administration. The application of the purchase money to the satisfaction of the mortgage or lien must be made without delay; and the land is subject to such mortgage or lien until the purchase money has been actually so applied. No claim against any estate which has been presented and allowed is affected by the statute of limitations, pending the proceedings for the settlement of the estate. The purchase money, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to pay such mortgage or lien, with interest, and any lawful costs and charges thereon, may be paid into the probate court, to be received by the judge thereof, whereupon the mortgage or lien upon the land must cease, and the purchase money must be paid over by the judge without delay, in payment of the expenses of the sale and in satisfaction of the debt, to secure which the mortgage or other lien was taken, and the surplus, if any, at once returned to the executor or administrator, unless, for good cause shown, after notice to the executor or administrator, the judge otherwise directs.

Lien on the purchase land.

(1450) § 42. At any sale under order of the probate court, of lands upon which there is a mortgage or lien, the holder thereof may become the purchase, and his receipt for the amount due him from the proceeds of the sale is a payment pro tanto. If the amount for which he purchased the property is insufficient to defray the expenses and discharge his mortgage or lien, he must pay to the judge an amount sufficient to pay such expenses.

Misconduct of sale.

(1451) § 43. If there is any neglect or misconduct in the proceedings of the executor or administrator in relation to any sale, by which any person interested in the estate suffers damage, the party aggrieved may recover the same in an action upon the bond of the executor or administrator or otherwise.

Fraudulent sale.

(1452) § 44. Any executor or administrator who fraudulently sells any real estate of a decedent, contrary to or otherwise than under the provisions of this article, is liable in double the value of the land sold, as liquidated damages, to be recovered in an action by the person having an estate of inheritance therein.

Limitation of time of beginning action to recover.

(1453) § 45. No action for the recovery of any estate sold by an executor or administrator, under the provisions of this article can be maintained by any heir or other person claiming under decedent, unless it be commenced within three years next after the sale. An action to set aside the sale may be instituted and maintained at any time within three years from the discovery of the fraud or other grounds upon which the action is based.

Persons under disabilities excepted.

(1454) § 46. The preceding section shall not apply to minors, or others under any legal disibility to sue at the time when the right of action first accrues; but all such persons may commence an action at any time within three years after the removal of the disability.

Account of sale made by executor or administrator.

(1455) § 47. When a sale has been made by an executor or administrator, of any property of the estate, real or personal, he must return to the probate court, at its next term thereafter, an account of sales, verified by his affidavit. If he neglect to make such return, he may be punished by attachment, or his letters may be revoked, one days notice having been first given him to appear and show cause why such attachment should not issue or such revocation should not be made.

Representative cannot be a purchaser.

(1456) § 48. No executor or administrator must directly or indirectly, purchase any property of the estate he represents, nor must he be interested in any sale.

ARTICLE 8.—OF THE POWERS AND DUTIES OF EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS, AND OF THE MANAGEMENT OF ESTATE.

SECTION.
1. Possession; powers and duties of executors and administrators.
2. Actions by and against executors and administrators.
3. Action for waste; trespass and conversion.
4. Action against representative.
5. Inventory and bond by surviving partner.
6. Action against predecessor.
7. Joinder of parties.
8. Compounding debts.
9. Recovery of fraudulent conveyance.
10. Creditors may require action for recovery.
11. Sale of realty recovered.

Possession, powers and duties of executors and administrators.

(1457) § 1. The executor or administrator must take into his possession all the estate of the decedent, real and personal, except the homestead and personal property not assets, and collect all debts due to the precedent or to the estate. For the purpose of bringing suits to quiet title or for partition of such estate, the possession of the executors or administrators is the possession of the heirs or devisees; such possession by the heirs or devisees is subject, however, to the possession of the executor or administrator, for the purposes of administration, as provided in this article.

Actions by and against executors and administrators.

(1458) § 2. Actions for the recovery of any property, real or personal, or for the possession thereof, and all actions founded upon contracts, may be maintained by and against executors and administrators in all cases and in the same courts in which the same might have been maintained by or against their respective testators and intestates.

Action for waste, trespass and conversion.

(1459) § 3. Executors and administrators may in like manner maintain actions against any person who has wasted, destroyed, taken or carried away, or converted to his own use, the goods of their testator or intestate in his life-time. They must also maintain actions for trespass committed on the real estate of the decedent in his life-time.

Action against representatives.

(1460) § 4. Any person, or his personal representatives, may maintain an action against the executor or administrator of any testator or intestate who in his lifetime had wasted, destroyed, taken, or carried away, or converted to his own use, the goods or chattels of any such person or committed any trespass on the real estate of such person.

Inventory and bond by surviving partner.

(1461) § 5. When a partnership exists between the decedent, at the time of his death, and any other person, the surviving partner shall immediately, in company with the executor or administrator, or some other person or persons, to be appointed by the judge of the probate court, take and furnish to said executor or administrator a correct and full inventory, and a fair and just appraisement, of all partnership property and assets held and belonging to himself and the deceased partner, after which the surviving partner shall settle the business of the co-partnership. The surviving partner shall settle the affairs of the partnership without delay, and account with the executor or administrator, and pay over such balances as may from time to time be payable to him in the right of the decedent. Upon the application of the executor or administrator, the judge of the probate court shall in all cases require the surviving partner to give a good and sufficient bond, to be approved by the judge of the probate court, for the honest and faithful disposal of the interest of the decedent in the co-partnership, and the prompt payment of the proceeds thereof over to the executor or administrator, and, in case of neglect or refusal, may, after notice, compel it by attachment; and the executor or administrator may maintain against him any action which the decedent could have maintained.

Action against predecessor.

(1462) § 6. An administrator may, in his own name, for the use and benefit of all parties interested in the estate, maintain actions on the bond of an executor, or of any former administrator of the same estate.

Joinder of parties.

(1463) § 7. In actions by or against executors, it is not necessary to join those as parties to whom letters were issued, but who have not qualified.

Compounding debts.

(1464) § 8. Whenever a debtor of a decedent is unable to pay all his debts, the executor or administrator, with the approbation of the probate judge, may compound with him, and give him a discharge upon receiving a fair and just dividend of his effects. A compromise may also be authorized, when it appears to be just, and for the best interest of the estate.

Recovery of fraudulent conveyances.

(1465) § 9. When there is a deficiency of assets in the hands of an executor or administrator, and when the decedent, in his life-time, has conveyed any real estate, or any rights or interests therein, with intent to defraud his creditors, or to avoid any right, debt or duty of any person, or has so conveyed such estate that by law the deeds or conveyances are void as against creditors, the executor or administrator must commence and prosecute to final judgment any proper action for the recovery of the same; and may recover for the benefit of the creditors all such real estate so fraudulently conveyed; and may also, for the benefit of the creditors, sue and recover all goods, chattels, rights or credits which have been so conveyed by the decedent in his life-time, whatever may have been the manner of such fraudulent conveyance.

Creditors may require action for recovery.

(1466) § 10. No executor or administrator is bound to sue for such estate as mentioned in the preceding section, for the benefit of the creditors, unless on application of creditors, who must pay such part of the costs and expenses of the suit, or give such security therefor to the executor or administrator, as the judge shall direct.

Sale of such realty.

(1467) § 11. All real estate so recovered must be sold for the payment of debts, in the same manner as if the decedent had died seized thereof, upon obtaining an order therefor from the probate court; and the proceeds of all goods, chattels, rights and credits so recovered must be appropriated in the payment of the debts of the decedent, in the same manner as other property in the hand of the executor or administrator.

ARTICLE 9.—OF THE CONVEYANCE OF REAL ESTATE BY EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS IN CERTAIN CASES. Chap. 19.

SECTION.
1. Representative to make deed under decedent's contract.
2. Application for conveyance; petition and notice.
3. Hearing of the application.
4. Decree on the hearing.
5. Deed and record thereof.
6. Dismissal and appeal.
7. Effect of conveyance.
8. Decree gives possession to persons entitled.
9. Enforcing the decree.
10. Death of claimant.
11. Surrender of possession ordered by the decree.

Representative to make deed under decedent's contract.

(1468) § 1. When a person who is bound by contract in writing to convey any real estate, dies before making the conveyance, and in all cases when such decedent, if living, might be compelled to make such conveyance, the probate court may make a decree authorizing and directing his executor or administrator to convey such real estate to the person entitled thereto.

Petition and notice of application for conveyances.

(1469) § 2. On the presentation of a verified petition by any person claiming to be entitled to such conveyance from an executor or administrator, setting forth the facts upon which the claim is predicated, the probate judge must appoint a time and place for hearing the petition, at a regular term of court, and must order notice thereof to be published at least four successive weeks before such hearing, in such newspaper in this Territory as he may designate.

Hearing of application.

(1470) § 3. At a time and place appointed for the hearing, or at such other time to which the same may be postponed, upon satisfactory proof, by affidavit or otherwise, of the due publication of the notice, the court must proceed to a hearing, and all persons interested in the estate may appear and contest such petition, by filing their objections in writing, and the court may examine, on oath, the petitioner and all who may be produced before him for that purpose.

Decree on hearing.

(1471) § 4. If, after a full hearing upon the petition and objections, and examination of the facts and circumstances of the claim, the court is satisfied that the petitioner is entitled to a conveyance of the real estate described in the petition, a decree authorizing and directing the executor or administrator to execute a conveyance thereof to the petitioner must be made, entered on the minutes of the court, and recorded.

Deed and record thereof.

(1472) § 5. The executor or administrator must execute the conveyance according to the directions of the decree, a certified copy of which must be recorded with the deed in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the lands lie, and is prima facie evidence of the correctness of the proceedings and of the authority of the executor or administrator to make the conveyance.

Dismissal and appeal.

(1473) § 6. If, upon hearing in the probate court, as hereinbefore provided, the right of the petitioner to have a specific performance of the contract is found to be doubtful, the court must dismiss the petition without prejudice to the rights of the petitioner, who may, at any time within six months thereafter, proceed in the district court to enforce a specific performance thereof.

Effect of such conveyance.

(1474) § 7. Every conveyance made in pursuance of a decree of the probate court, as provided in this article, shall pass the title to the estate contracted for as fully as if the contracting party himself was still living and executed the conveyance.

Decree gives possession.

(1475) § 8. A copy of the decree for a conveyance made by the probate court, and duly certified and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the lands lie, gives the person entitled to the conveyance a right to the possession of the lands contracted for, and to hold the same according to the terms of the conveyance, in like manner as if they had been conveyed in pursuance of the decree.

Enforcing the decree.

(1476) § 9. The recording of any decree, as provided in the preceding section, shall not prevent the court making the decree from enforcing the same by other process.

Death of the claimant.

(1477) § 10. If the person entitled to the conveyance die before the commencement of proceedings therefor under this article, or before the completion of the conveyance, any person entitled to succeed to his rights in the contract, or the executor or administrator of such decedent may, for the benefit of the person so entitled, commence such proceedings, or prosecute any already commenced, and the conveyance must be so made as to vest the estate in the persons entitled to it, or in the executor or administrator, for their benefit.

Surrender of possession ordered by the decree.

(1478) § 11. The decree provided for in this article may direct the possession of the property therein described to be surrendered to the person entitled thereto, upon his producing the deed, and a certified copy of the decree, when, by the terms of the contract, possession is to be surrendered.

ARTICLE 10.—OF ACCOUNTS RENDERED BY EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS, AND OF THE PAYMENT OF DEBTS.

Liabilities and Compensation of Executors and Administrators.

SECTION.
1. Requisites of contract by representatives.
2. Representatives chargeable with whole estate.
3. He shall make neither profit nor loss.
4. Not chargeable with uncollected debts.
5. Allowed expenses and certain fees.
6. Representative cannot purchase claims.
7. Fees and commissions.

Accounting and Settlement by Executors and Administrators.

SECTION.
8. Full statement of accounts must be rendered.
9. Citations upon failure.
10. Petition by third person for accounting.
11. Action upon petition.
12. Contest of the exhibit.
13. Compulsory attendance of representative.
14. Full account at end of year.
15. Representative must account to his successor.
16. Revocation of letters.
17. Representative must furnish vouchers for claims paid.
18. Settlement of items without vouchers.
19. Notice of settlement must be given.
20. Requisites of notice for final settlement.
21. Exceptions to the account.
22. Heirs may contest all matters in settlement.
23. Allowance of account.
24. Proof of notice.
25. Personalty sold, when.
26. Investment of funds.

The Payment of Debts of the Estate.

SECTION.
27. Order of payment of debts.
28. Limit as to mortgage.
29. Equal creditors within classes.
30. Certain expenses, when paid.
31. Order for payment of debts.
32. Advance payment.
33. Representative is personally liable.
34. Liability on failure to notice filing of claims.
35. Extension of time for final settlement.
36. Final account and settlement.
37. Provisions applying to final settlement.

Requisites of a contract by representative.

(1479) § 1. No executor or administrator is chargeable upon any special promise to answer damages or to pay the debts of the testator or intestate out of his own estate, unless the agreement for that purpose, or some memorandum or note thereof, is in writing and signed by such executor or administrator, or by some other person by him thereunto specially authorized.

Representative chargeable with whole estate

(1480) § 2. Every executor and administrator is chargeable in his account with the whole of the estate of the decedent which may come into his possession, at the value of the appraisement contained in the inventory, except as provided in the following sections, and with all the interest, profit and income of such estate.

He shall make neither profit or loss.

(1481) § 3. He shall not make profit by the increase, nor suffer loss by the decrease or destruction, without his fault, of any part of the estate. He must account for the excess when he sells any part of the estate for more than the appraisement, and if any part be sold for less than the appraisement, he is not responsible for the loss, if the sale has been justly made.

Not chargeable with uncollected debts.

(1482) § 4. No executor or administrator is accountable for any debts due to the decedent, if it appears that they remain uncollected without his fault.

Allowed expenses and certain fees.

(1483) § 5. He shall be allowed all necessary expenses in the care, management and settlement of the estate, and for his services such fees as are provided in this article, but when the decedent, by his will, makes some other provision for the compensation of his executor, that shall be a full compensation for his services, unless by a written instrument, filed in the probate court, he renounces all claim for compensation provided by the will.

Representatives cannot purchase claims.

(1484) § 6. No administrator or executor shall purchase any claim against the estate he represents; and if he pays any claim for less than its nominal value, he is only entitled to charge in his account the amount he actually paid.

Fees and commissions.

(1485) § 7. When no compensation is provided by the will, or the executor renounces all claim thereto, he must be allowed commissions upon the amount of the whole estate accounted for by him, excluding all property not ranked as assets, as follows: For the first thousand dollars, at the rate of five per cent; for all above that sum, and not exceeding five thousand dollar, at the rate of four per cent; for all above that sum, at the rate of two and one-half per cent; and the same commission must be allowed administrators. In all cases such further allowance may be made as the probate judge may deem just and reasonable, for any extraordinary service. The total amount of such allowance must not exceed the amount of commissions allowed by this section.

Full statement of accounts must be rendered

(1486) § 8. At the third term of the court after his appointment, and thereafter at any time when required by the court, either upon its own motion or upon the application of any person interested in the estate, the executor or administrator must render, for the information of the court, an exhibit under oath, showing the amount of money received and expended by him, the amount of all claims presented against the estate and the names of the claimants, and all other matters necessary to show the condition of its affairs.

Citation upon failure.

(1487) § 9. If the executor or administrator fail to render an exhibit at the third term of the court, the judge of the probate court must issue a citation requiring him to appear and render it.

Petition by third person for accounting.

(1488) § 10. Any person interested in the estate may, at any time before the final settlement of accounts, present his petition to the probate judge, praying that the executor or administrator be required to appear and render such exhibit, setting forth the facts showing that it is necessary and proper that such an exhibit should be made.

Action upon petition

(1489) § 11. If the judge be satisfied, either from the oath of the applicant or from any other testimony offered, that the facts alleged are true, and considers the showing of the applicant sufficient, he must issue a citation to the executor or administrator, requiring him to appear at some day named in the citation, which must be during a term of the court, and render an exhibit as prayed for.

Contest of the exhibit.

(1490) § 12. When an exhibit is rendered by an executor or administrator, any person interested may appear and, by objections in writing, contest any account or statement therein contained. The court may examine the executor or administrator, and if he has been guilty of neglect, or has wasted, embezzled, or mismanaged the estate, his letters must be revoked.

Compulsory attendance of representative.

(1491) § 13. If any executor or administrator neglects or refuses to appear and render an exhibit, after having been duly cited, an attachment may issued against him and such exhibit enforced, or his letters may be revoked, in the discretion of the court.

Full account rendered at end of one year.

(1492) § 14. Every executor or administrator must render a full account and a report of his administration at the expiration of one year from the time of his appointment. If he fail to present his account, the court must compel the rendering of the account by attachment, and any person interested in the estate may apply for and obtain an attachment, but no attachment must issue unless a citation has been first issued, served and returned, requiring the executor or administrator to appear and show cause why an attachment should not issue. Every account rendered must exhibit not only the debts which have been paid, but also a statement of all the debt which have been duly presented and allowed during the period embraced in the account.

Representative must account to his successor.

(1493) § 15. When the authority of an executor or administrator ceases or is revoked for any reason he may be cited to account before the probate court at the instance of the person succeeding to the administration of the same estate, in like manner as he might have been cited by any person interested in the estate during the time he was executor or administrator.

Revocation of letters.

(1494) § 16. If the executor or administrator resides out of the county, or absconds, or conceals himself so that the citation cannot be personally served and neglects to render an account within thirty days after the time prescribed in this article, or if he neglects to render an account within thirty days after being committed where the attachment has been executed his letters must be revoked.

Representative must furnish vouchers for claims paid.

(1495) § 17. In rendering his account, the executor or administrator must produce and file vouchers for all charges, debts, claims, and expenses which he has paid, which must remain in the court; and he may be examined on oath touching such payments, and also touching any property and effects of the decedent, and the disposition thereof. When any voucher is required for other purposes, it may be withdrawn on leaving a certified copy on file; if a voucher is lost, or for other good reason cannot be produced on the settlement, the payment may be proved by the oath of any competent witness.

Settlement of items without vouchers.

(1496) § 18. On the settlement of his account he may be allowed any item of expenditure, not exceeding fifteen dollars, for which no voucher is produced, if such item be supported by his own uncontradicted oath reduced to writing and certified by the judge, positive to the fact of payment, specifying when, where, and to whom it was made; but such allowances in the whole must not exceed three hundred dollars against any one estate, nor over ten per cent of the inventory appraised value of any estate under three thousand dollars.

Notice of settlement must be given.

(1497) § 19. When any account is rendered for settlement the court or judge must appoint a day for the settlement thereof; the judge must thereupon give notice thereof, by causing notices to be posted in at least three public places in the county, setting forth the name of the estate, the executor or administrator, and the pay appointed for the settlement of the account, which must be on some pay of a term of the court. The court or judge may order such further notice to be given as may be proper.

Requisites of notice for final settlement.

(1498) § 20. If the account mentioned in the preceding section be for a final settlement, and the estate be ready for distribution, the notice of the settlement must state these facts, and must be served, published or waived in the same manner as provided for sales of real property and interests therein; and on confirmation of the final account distribution and partition of the estate to all entitled thereto may be immediately had without further notice or proceedings. If, from any cause, the hearing of the account, or the partition and distribution be postponed, the order postponing the same to a day certain is notice to all persons interested therein.

Exceptions to the account.

(1499) § 21. On the day appointed, or any subsequent day to which the hearing may be postponed by the court, any person interested in the estate may appear and file his exceptions in writing to the account, and contest the same.

Chap. 19.

Heirs may contest all matters on settlement.

(1500) § 22. All matters, including allowed claims not passed upon on the settlement of any former account, or on rendering an exhibit, or on making a decree of sale, may be contested by the heirs for cause shown. The hearing and allegations of the respective parties may be postponed from time to time, when necessary, and the court may appoint one or more referees to examine the accounts and make report thereon, subject to confirmation; and may allow a reasonable compensation to the referees, to be paid out of the estate of the decedent.

Allowance of account.

(1501) § 23. The settlement of the account and the allowance thereof by the court, or upon appeal, is conclusive against all persons in any way interested in the estate, saving, however, to all persons laboring under any legal disability, their right to move for cause to reopen and examine the account, or to proceed by action against the executor or administrator, either individually or upon his bond, at any time before final distribution; and in any action brought by any such person, the allowance and settlement of such account is prima facie evidence of its correctness.

Proof of notice.

(1502) § 24. The account must not be allowed by the court until it is first proved that notice has been given as required by this chapter, and the decree must show that such proof was made to the satisfaction of the court, and is conclusive evidence of the fact.

Personalty sold, when.

(1503) § 25. Whenever it appears to the court on any hearing of an application for the sale of real property, that it would be for the interest of the estate that personal property of the estate, or some part of such property, should be first sold, the court may decree the sale of such personal property, or any part of it, and the sale thereof shall be conducted in the same manner as if the application had been made for the sale of such personal property in the first instance.

Investment of funds.

(1504) § 26. Pending the settlement of any estate on the petition of any party interested therein, the probate court may order any moneys in the hands of the executor or administrators to be invested for the benefit of the estate, in securities of the United States. Such order can only be made after publication of notice of the petition in some newspaper to be designated by the judge.

Order of payment of debts.

(1505) § 27. The debts of the estate must be paid in the following order:

First. Funeral expenses.

Second. The expenses of the last sickness.

Third. Funds necessary for the support of the family for ninety days.

Fourth. Taxes to the United States or the Territory, county or city.

Fifth. Debts having preference under the laws of the United States and of this Territory.

Sixth. Judgments rendered against the decedent in his lifetime, which are liens upon his property and mortgages in the order of their date.

Seventh. Demands or claims which are presented to the administrator for an allowance or proved within six months after notice of his appointment.

Eighth. All other demands against the estate.

Limit as to mortgage.

(1506) § 28. The preference given in the preceding section to a mortgage only extends to the proceeds of the property mortgaged. If the proceeds of such property be insufficient to pay the mortgage, the part remaining unsatisfied must be classed with other demands against the estate.

Equal creditors within classes.

(1507) § 29. If the estate be insufficient to pay all the debts of any one class, each creditor must be paid a dividend in proportion to his claim; and no creditor of any class shall receive any payment until all those of the preceding class are fully paid.

When certain expenses paid.

(1508) § 30. The executor or administrator, as soon as he has sufficient funds in his hands, must pay the funeral expenses, and the expenses of the last sickness, and the allowance made to the family of the decedent. He may retain in his hands the necessary expenses of administration, but he is not obliged to pay any other debt or any legacy until, as prescribed in this article, the payment has been ordered by the court.

Order for the payment of debts.

(1509) § 31. Upon the settlement of the accounts of the executor or administrator, at the end of the year, as required in this chapter, the court must make an order for the payment of the debts, as the circumstances of the estate require. If there be not sufficient funds in the hands of the executor or administrator, the court must specify in the decree the sum to be paid to each creditor. If the whole assets of the estate be exhausted by such payment or distribution, such account must be considered as a final account, and the executor or administrator is entitled to his discharge on producing and filing the necessary vouchers and proofs showing that such payments have been made, and that he has fully complied with the decree of the court.

Advance payments.

(1510) § 32. If there is any claim not due, or any contingent or disputed claim against the estate, the amount thereof, or such part of the same as the holder would be entitled to if the claim were due, established or absolute, must be paid into the court, and there remain, to be paid over to the party when he becomes entitled thereto; or, if he fails to establish his claim, to be paid over or distributed as the circumstances of the estate require. If any creditor whose claim has been allowed, but is not yet due, appears and assents to a deduction therefrom of the legal interest for the time the claim has yet to run, he is entitled to be paid accordingly. The payments provided for in this section are not to be made when the estate is insolvent, unless a pro rata distribution is ordered.

Representative is personally liable for debts ordered paid.

(1511) § 33. When a decree is made by the probate court for the payment of creditors, the executor or administrator is personally liable to each creditor for his allowed claim, or the dividend thereon, and execution may be issued on such decrees as upon judgment in the district court, in favor of each creditor, and the same proceeding may be had under such execution as if it had been issued from the district court. The executor or administrator is liable therefor on his bond to each creditor.

Liability on failure to notice filing of claims.

(1512) § 34. When the accounts of the administrator or executor have been settled, and an order made for the payment of debts and distribution of the estate, no creditor whose claim was not included in the order for payment, has any right to call upon the creditors who have been paid, or upon the heirs, devisees, or legatees, to contribute to the payment of his claim; but if the executor or administrator has failed to give the notice to creditors as required in sections 1384 and 1385, such creditor may recover on the bond of the executor or administrator the amount of his claim, or such part thereof as he would have been entitled to had it been allowed. This section shall not apply to any creditor whose claim was not due ten months before the day of settlement, or whose claim was contingent and did not become absolute ten months before such day.

Extension of time for final settlement.

(1513) § 35. If the whole of the debts have been paid by the first distribution, the court must direct the payment of legacies and the distribution of the estate among the heirs, legatees, or other persons entitled as provided in the next article; but if there be debts remaining unpaid, or, if, for other reasons, the estate be not in a proper condition to be closed, the court must give such extension of time as may be reasonable for a final settlement of the estate.

Final account and settlement.

(1514) § 36. At the time designated in the last section, or sooner, if within that time all the property of the estate has been sold, or there are sufficient funds in his hand; for the payment of all debts due by the estate, and the estate be in a proper condition to be closed, the executor or administrator must render a final account, and pray a settlement of his administration.

Provisions applying to final settlement.

(1515) § 37. If he neglect to render his account, the same proceedings may be had as prescribed in this article in regard to the first account to be rendered by him; and all the provisions of this article relative to the last mentioned account, and the notice and settlement thereof, apply to his account presented for final settlement.

13. When real estate is in different counties.
14. What part has been conveyed by heirs.
15. Shares set apart.
16. Joint shares set out, when; difference paid.
17. Whole to one person; others paid.
18. Sale of whole estate.
19. Notice to all persons before partition.
20. Report by the commissioners.
21. Residue of estate assigned.
22. Advancements to heirs; final decree binding on all.

Agents for Absent Parties—Discharge of Executor or Administrator.

SECTION.
23. Agent to take possession for non-resident.
24. Bond given by agent.
25. Sale of property when unclaimed for a year.
26. Agent to render account.
27. Liability of agent on bond.
28. Claimant for property.
29. Decree discharging representative.
30. Property discovered after final settlement.

(1516) § 1. At any time after the lapse of four months from the issuing of letters testamentary or of administration, any heir, devisee or legatee may present his petition to the court for the legacy or share of the estate to which he is entitled, to be given to him upon his giving bond, with security, for the payment of his proportion of the debts of the estate. Petition for agency or share.

(1517) § 2. Notice of the application must be given to the executor or administrator, personally, and to all persons interested in the estate, in the same manner that notice is required to be given of the settlement of the account of an executor or administrator. Notice of application to representative.

(1518) § 3. The executor or administrator, or any person interested in the estate, may appear at the time named and resist the application, or any other heir, devisee or legatee may make a similar application for himself. Who may resist petition.

Petition allowed when.

(1519) § 4. If at the hearing it appears that the estate is but little indebted, and that the share of the party applying may be allowed to him without loss to the creditors of the estate, the court must make an order in conformity with the prayer of the applicant, requiring:

First. Each heir, legatee or devisee obtaining such order, before receiving his share or any portion thereof, to execute and deliver to the executor or administrator a bond, in such sum as shall be designated by the probate judge, with sureties to be approved by the judge, payable to the executor or administrator, and conditioned for the payment, whenever required, of his proportion of the debts due from the estate, not exceeding the value or amount of the legacy or portion of the estate to which he is entitled.

Second. The executor or administrator to deliver to the heir, legatee or devisee the whole portion of the estate to which he may be entitled, or only a part thereof, designating it.

If, in the execution of the order, a partition is necessary between two or more of the parties interested, it must be made in the manner hereinafter prescribed. The costs of these proceedings to be paid by the applicant, or if there be more than one, to be apportioned equally amongst them.

Assessment against legatee or devisee.

(1520) § 5. When any bond has been executed and delivered, under the provisions of the preceding section, and it is necessary for the settlement of the estate to require the payment of any part of the money thereby secured, the executor or administrator must petition the court for an order requiring the payment, and have a citation issued and served on the party bound, requiring him to appear and show cause why the order should not be made. At the hearing, the court, if satisfied of the necessity of such payment, must make an order accordingly, designating the amount and giving a time within which it must be paid. If the money be not paid within the time allowed, an action may be maintained by the executor or administrator on the bond.

Court distributes the estate; deceased heir.

(1521) § 6. Upon the final settlement of the accounts of the executor or administrator, or at any subsequent time, upon the application of the executor or administrator, or of any heir, legatee or devisee, the court must proceed to distribute the residue of the estate in the hands of the executor or administrator, if any, among the persons who by law are entitled thereto; and if the decedent has left a surviving child, and the issue of other children, and any of them, before the close of administration, have died while under age and not having been married, no administration on such deceased child's estate is necessary, but all the estate which such deceased child was entitled to by inheritance, must, without administration, be distributed to the other heirs at law. A statement of any receipts and disbursements of the executor or administrator, since the rendition of his final accounts, must be reported and filed at the time of making such distribution, and a settlement thereof, together with an estimate of the expenses of closing the estate, must be made by the court and included in the order or decree; or the court or judge may order notice of the settlement of such supplementary account, and refer the same as in other cases of the settlement of accounts.

Decree of distribution must show, what

(1522) § 7. In the order or decree, the court must name the persons and the proportions or parts to which each shall be entitled, and such persons may demand, sue for and recover their respective shares from the executor or administrator, or any person having the same in possession. Such order or decree is conclusive as to the rights of heirs, legatees or devisees, subject only to be reversed, set aside, or modified on appeal.

Delivery to executor of foreign will.

(1523) § 8. Upon application for distribution, after final settlement of the accounts of administration, if the decedent was a non-resident of this Territory, leaving a will which has been duly proved or allowed in the state, territory or district of his residence, and an authenticated copy thereof has been admitted to probate in this Territory, and it is necessary, in order that the estate or any part thereof may be distributed according to the will, that the estate in this Territory should be delivered to the executor or administrator in the state or place of his residence, the court may order such delivery to be made, and, if necessary, order a sale of the real estate, and a like delivery of the proceeds. The delivery, in accordance with the order of the court, is a full discharge of the executor or administrator with the will annexed in this Territory, in relation to all property embraced in such order, which, unless reversed on appeal, binds and concludes all parties in interest. Sales of real estate ordered by virtue of this section must be made in the same manner as other sales of real estate of decedents by order of the probate court.

Petition and notice for decree.

(1524) § 9. The order or decree may be made on the petition of the executor or administrator, or of any person interested in the estate. Notice of the application must be given by posting or publication, as the court may direct, and for such time as may be ordered. If partition be applied for, as provided in this chapter, the decree of distribution shall not divest the court of jurisdiction to order partition, unless the estate is finally closed.

Taxes paid before decree.

(1525) § 10. Before any decree of distribution of an estate is made, the probate court must be satisfied, by the oath of the executor or administrator, or otherwise, that all Territorial, county, school and municipal taxes, legally levied upon personal property of the estate, have been fully paid.

Partition of estate by three commissioners.

(1526) § 11. When the estate, real or personal, assigned by the decree of distribution to two or more heirs, devisees or legatees, is in common and undivided, and the respective shares are not separated and distinguished, partition or distribution may be made by three disinterested persons, to be appointed commissioners for that purpose by the probate court or judge, who must be duly sworn to the faithful discharge of their duties. A certified copy of the order of their appointment, and of the order or decree assigning and distributing the estate, must be issued to them as their warrant, and their oath must be endorsed thereon. Upon consent of the parties, or when the court deems it proper and just, it is sufficient to appoint one commissioner only, who has the same authority, and is governed by the same rules as if three were appointed.

Petition for partition and notice.

(1527) § 12. Such partition may be ordered and had in the probate court, on the petition of any person interested. But before commissioners are appointed, or a partition ordered by the probate court as directed in this chapter, notice thereof must be given to all persons interested, who reside in this Territory, or their guardians, and to the agents, attorneys, or guardians, if any in this Territory, of such as reside out of the Territory, either personally or by public notice, as the probate court may direct. The petition may be filed, attorneys, guardians, and agents appointed and notice given, at any time before the order or decree of distribution, but the commissioners must not be appointed until the order or decree is made distributing the estate.

When real estate is situated in different counties.

(1528) § 13. If the real estate is in different counties, the probate court may, if deemed proper, appoint commissioners for all, or different commissioners for each county. The whole estate, whether in one or more counties, shall be divided among the heirs, devisees, or legatees as if it were all in one county, and the commissioners must, unless otherwise directed by the probate court, make division of such real estate, wherever situated within this Territory.

When part has been conveyed by heir.

(1529) § 14. Partition or distribution of the real estate may be made as provided in this chapter, although some of the original heirs, legatees, or devisees may have conveyed their shares to other persons, and such shares must be assigned to the person holding the same, in the same manner as they otherwise would have been to such heirs, legatees, or devisees.

Shares set apart, how.

(1530) § 15. When both distribution and partition are made, the several shares in the real and personal estate must be set out to each individual in proportion to his right, by metes and bounds, or description, so that the same can be easily distinguished, unless two or more of the parties interested consent to have their shares set out so as to be held by them in common and undivided.

Joint shares set out when; difference to be paid.

(1531) § 16. When the real estate cannot be divided without prejudice or inconvenience to the owners, the probate court may assign the whole to one or more of the parties entitled to shares therein, who will accept it, always preferring the males to the females, and among children preferring the elder to the younger. The parties accepting the whole must pay to the other parties interested their just proportion of the true value thereof, or secure the same to their satisfaction; or, in case of the minority of such party then to the satisfaction of his guardian, and the true value of the estate must be ascertained and reported by the commissioners. When the commissioners appointed to make partition are of the opinion that the real estate cannot be divided without prejudice or inconvenience to the owners, they must so report to court, and recommend that the whole be assigned as herein provided, and must find and report the true value of such real estate. On filing the report of the commissioners, and on making or securing the payment as before provided, the court, if it appears just and proper, must confirm the report and thereupon the assignment is complete, and the title to the whole of such real estate vests in the person to whom the same is so assigned.

Whole to one person, others to be paid.

(1532) § 17. When any tract of rand or tenement is of greater value than any one's share in the estate to be divided, and cannot be divided without injury to the same, it may be set off by the commissioners appointed to make partition to any of the parties who will accept it, giving preference as prescribed in the preceding section. The party accepting must pay or secure to the others such sums as the commissioners shall award to make the partition equal, and the commissioners must make their award accordingly; but such partition must not be established by the court until the sums awarded are paid to the parties entitled to the same or secured to their satisfaction.

State of whole estate.

(1533) § 18. When it appears to the court, from the commissiner's report, that it cannot be otherwise fairly divided, and should be sold, the court may order the sale of the whole or any part of the estate, real or personal, by the executor or administrator, or by a commission appointed for that purpose, and the proceeds distributed. The sale must be conducted, reported and confirmed in the same manner and under the same requirements as provided in sections from 1418 to 1456, inclusive.

Notice to all persons before partition.

(1534) § 19. Before any partition is made, or any estate divided, as provided in this article, notice must be given to all persons interested in the partition, their guardians, agents or attorneys, by the commissioners, of the time and place when and where they shall proceed to make partition. The commissioners may take testimony, order surveys and take such other steps as may be necessary to enable them to form a judgment upon the matters before them.

Report by the commissioners.

(1535) § 20. The commissioners must report their proceedings, and the partition agreed upon by them, to the probate court, in writing, and the court may, for sufficient reasons, set aside the report and commit the same to the same commissioners, or appoint others; and when such report is finally confirmed, a certified copy of the judgment or decree of partition made thereon, attested by the judge, under the seal of the court, must be recorded in the office of register of deeds of the county where the lands lie.

Residue of estate assigned.

(1536) § 21. When the probate court makes a judgment or decree assigning the residue of any estate to one or more persons entitled to the same, it is not necessary to appoint commissioners to made partition or distribution thereof, unless the parties to whom the assignment is decreed, or some of them, request that such partition is made.

Advancements to heirs; final decree binding on all.

(1537) § 22. All questions as to advancements made or alleged to have been made, by the decedent to his heirs, may be heard and determined by the probate court, and must be specified in the decree assigning and distributing the estate; and the final judgment or decree of the probate court, or in case of an appeal, of the district court or Supreme Court, is binding on all parties interested in the estate.

Agent to take possession of property for non-resident.

(1538) § 23. When any estate is assigned or distributed by a judgment or decree of the probate court, to any person residing out of and having no agent in this Territory, and it is necessary that some person should be authorized to take possession and charge of the same for the benefit of such absent person, the court may appoint an agent for that purpose, and authorize him to take charge of such estate as well as to act for such absent person in the distribution.

Bond given by agent.

(1539) § 24. The agent must first give a bond to the probate judge, to be approved by him, conditioned that he shall faithfully manage and account for the estate. The court appointing such agent may allow a reasonable sum out of the profits of the estate for his services and expenses.

Sale of property when unclaimed for a year.

(1540) § 25. When personal property remains in the hands of the agent unclaimed for a year, and it appears to the court that it is for the benefit of those interested, it shall be sold under the order of the court, and the proceeds, after deducting the expenses of the sale allowed by the court, must be paid into the Territorial treasury. When the payment is made, the agent must take from the treasury duplicate receipts one of which he must file in the office of the Territorial Auditor, and the other in the probate court.

Agent to render account.

(1541) § 26. The agent must render to the probate court appointing him, annually, an account, showing:

First. The value and character of the property received by him, what portion thereof is still on hand, what sold, and for what.

Second. The income derived therefrom.

Third. The taxes and assessments imposed thereon, for what, and whether paid or unpaid.

Fourth. Expenses incurred in the care, protection and management thereof, and whether paid or unpaid.

When filed, the probate court may examine witnesses and take proofs in regard to the account; and if satisfied from such accounts and proofs that it will be for the benefit and advantage of the persons interested therein, the court may, by order, direct a sale to be made of the whole or such parts or the real or personal property as shall appear to be proper, and the purchase money to be deposited in the Territorial treasury, to be receipted for and the receipts filed as in like cases before provided.

Liability of agent on bond.

(1542) § 27. The agent is liable on his bond for the care and preservation of the estate while in his hands, and for the payment of the proceeds of the sale, as required in the preceding sections, and may be sued thereon by any person interested.

Claimant for property.

(1543) § 28. When any person appears and claims the money paid into the treasury, the probate court making the distribution must inquire into such claim, and, being first satisfied of his right thereto, must grant him a certificate to that effect, under its seal; and upon the presentation of the certificate to him, the Territorial Auditor must draw a warrant on the Treasurer for the amount.

Degree discharging representative.

(1544) § 29. When the estate has been fully administered, and it is shown by the executor and administrator, by the production of satisfactory vouchers, that he has paid all sums of money due from him, and delivered up under the order of the court, all the property of the estate to the parties entitled, and performed all the acts lawfully required of him, the court must make a judgment or decree discharging him from all liability to be incurred thereafter.

Property discovered after final settlement.

(1545) § 30. The final settlement of an estate, as hereinbefore provided, shall not prevent a subsequent issue of letters testamentary or of administration, or of administration with the will annexed if other property of the estate discovered, or if it become necessary or proper for any cause that letters should be again issued.

Order and decrees, requisites of (1546) § 1. Orders and decrees made by the probate court, or the judge thereof, need not recite the existence of facts, or the performance of acts upon which the jurisdiction of the court or judge may depend, but it shall only be necessary that they contain the matters ordered or adjudged, except as otherwise provided in this chapter. All orders and decrees of the court or judge must be entered at length in the minute book of the court, and upon the close of each regular or special term the judge must sign the same.

Publications; how made.

(1547) § 2. When any publication is ordered, such publication must be made daily or otherwise, as often during the prescribed period as the paper is regularly issued, unless otherwise provided

Chap. 19. in this chapter. The court or judge may, however, order a less number of publications during the period.

Recorded decree is notice to all persons.

(1548) § 3. When it is provided in this chapter that any order or decree of a probate court or judge, or a copy thereof, must be recorded in the office of the county register of deeds, from the time of filing the same for record, notice is imparted to all persons of the contents thereof.

Citation must contain what.

(1549) § 4. Citations must be directed to the person to be cited, signed by the judge; and issued under the seal of the court, and must contain:

First. The chapter of the proceeding.

Second. A brief statement of the nature of the proceeding.

Third. A direction that the person cited appear at a time and place specified.

Service of citation.

(1550) § 5. The citation must be served in the same manner as a summons in a civil action.

Personal notice, how given.

(1551) § 6. When a personal notice is required, and no mode giving it is prescribed in this chapter, it must be given by citation.

Time of service of citation.

(1552) § 7. When no other time is specially prescribed in this chapter, citations must be served at least five days before the return day thereof.

Description of real property.

(1553) § 8. When a complete description of the real property of an estate sought to be sold has been given and published in a newspaper, as required in the order to show cause why the sale should not be made, such description need not be published in any subsequent notice of sale, or notice of a petition for the confirmation thereof. It is sufficient to refer to the description contained in the publication of the first notice, as being proved and on file in the court.

Trials and findings, judgments and executions.

(1554) § 9. All issues of facts joined in the probate court must be tried by said court, and in all such proceedings, the party affirming is plaintiff, and the one denying or avoiding is defendant. After the hearing, the court shall give, in writing, the findings of fact and conclusions of law, judgments thereon, as well as for costs, may be entered and enforced by execution or otherwise, by the probate court, as in civil actions. If the issues are not sufficiently made up by the written pleadings on file, the court, on due notice to the opposite party, must settle and frame the issues to be tried, and upon which the court may render judgment.

Attorney appointed by the court.

(1555) § 10. At or before the hearing of petitions and contests for the probate of wills; for letters testamentary or of the administration; for sales of real estate and confirmation thereof; settlements, petitions and distributions of estates; and all other proceedings where all the parties interested in the estate are required to be notified thereof, the court may, in its discretion, appoint some competent attorney at law to represent in all such proceedings the devisees, legatees, heirs, or creditors of the decedent, who are minors and have no general guardian in the county, or who are non-residents of the Territory, and those interested, who, though they are neither such minors or non-residents, are unrepresented. The order must specify the names of the parties for whom the attorney is appointed, who is thereby authorized to represent such parties in all such proceedings had subsequent to his appointment. The attorney may receive a fee to be fixed by the court for his services, which must be paid out of the funds of the estate as necessary expenses of administration, and upon distribution may be charged to the party represented by the attorney. If for any cause it becomes necessary, the probate court may substitute another attorney attorney for the one first appointed, in which case the fee must be proportionately divided. The non-appointment of an attorney will not affect the validity of any of the proceedings.

Decree recorded in registers office.

(1556) § 11. When a judgment or decree is made, setting apart and defining the homestead, confirming a sale, making distribution of real property, or determining any other matter affecting the title to real property, a certified copy of the same must be recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which the real property is situated.

Revocation for contumacy.

(1557) § 12. Whenever an executor, administrator, or guardian is committed for contempt, in disobeying any lawful order of the probate court or the judge thereof, and has remained in custody for thirty days without obeying such order or purging himself otherwise of the contempt, the probate court may, by order reciting the facts, and without further showing or notice, revoke his letters and appoint some other person, entitled thereto, executor, administrator or guardian in his stead.

Service upon guardian.

(1558) § 13. Whenever an infant, insane or incompetent person, has a guardian of his estate residing in this Territory, personal service upon the guardian of any process, notice, or order of the probate court concerning the estate of the deceased person, in which the ward is interested, is equivalent to service upon the ward; and it is the duty of the guardian to attend to the interests of the ward in the matter. Such guardian may also appear for his ward, and waive any process, notice, or order to show cause which an adult or a person of sound mine might do.

Decisions from which appeals may be made.

(1559) § 14. An appeal may be taken to the district court from a judgment, decree or order of the probate court:

First. Granting, or refusing, or revoking letters testamentary or of administration, or of guardianship.

Second. Admitting, or refusing to admit, a will to probate.

Third. Against or in favor of the validity of a will or revoking the probate thereof.

Fourth. Against or in favor of setting apart property, or making an allowance for a widow or child.

Fifth. Against or in favor of directing the petition, sale or conveyance of real property.

Sixth. Settling an account of an executor, or administrator or guardian.

Seventh. Refusing, allowing or directing the distribution or partition of an estate, or any part thereof or the payment of a debt, claim, legacy or distributive share; or,

Eighth. From any other judgment, decree or order of the probate court, or of the judge thereof affecting a substantial right.

Who may appeal.

(1560) § 15. Any party aggrieved may appeal as aforesaid, except where the decree or order of which he complains, was rendered or made upon his default.

Same as to parties not in special proceedings.

(1561) § 16. A person interested in the estate or funds affected by the decree or order, who was not a party to the special proceeding in which it was made, but who was entitled by law to be heard therein, upon his application, or who has acquired, since the decree or order was made, a right or interest which would have entitled him to be heard, if it had been previously acquired, may also appeal as prescribed in this artice. The facts which entitle such a person to appeal, must be shown by an affidavit which must be filed with the notice of appeal.

Period in which appeal must be taken.

(1562) § 17. An appeal by a party, or by a person interested who was present at the hearing, must be taken within ten days, and an appeal by a person interested, who was not a party and not present at the hearing, within thirty days from the date of the judgment, decree or order appealed from.

Appeal, how taken.

(1563) § 18. The appeal must be made:

First. By filing a written notice thereof with the judge of the probate court, stating the judgment, decree, or order appealed from, or some specific part thereof, and whether the appeal is on a question of law, or of fact, or of both, and, if of law alone, the particular grounds upon which the party intends to rely on his appeal; and,

Second. By executing and filing within the time limited in the preceding section, such bond as is required in the following sections. It shall not be necessary to notify or summon the appellee or respondent to appear in the district court, but such respondent shall be taken and held to have notice of such appeal in the same manner as he had notice of the pendency of the proceedings in the probate court.

Appeal bond, requisites of.

(1564) § 19. The appeal bond shall be in such sum as the judge of the probate court shall require and deem sufficient, with at least two sufficient sureties to be approved by the judge, conditioned that the appellant will prosecute his appeal with due diligence to a determination, and will abide, fulfill and perform whatever judgment, decree or order may be rendered against him in that proceeding by the district court, and that he will pay all damages which the opposite party may sustain by reason of such appeal, together with all costs that may be adjudged against him.

Stay of execution, when.

(1565) § 20. If the judgment, decree or order appealed from be for, or direct, the payment of money, or the delivery of any property, or grant leave to issue an execution, the appeal shall not stay the execution thereof, unless the appeal bond be furthermore conditioned to the effect that if the judgment, decree or order, or any part thereof be affirmed, or the appeal be dismissed, the appellant shall pay the sum so directed to be paid or levied, or, as the case may require, shall deliver the property so directed to be delivered, or the part thereof as to which the judgment, decree or order shall be affirmed.

Stay of commitment.

(1566) § 21. An appeal from any judgment, decree or order directing the commitment of any person, does not stay the execution thereof, unless the appeal bond be also to the effect that if the judgment, decree or order appealed from be affirmed, or the appeal be dismissed, the appellant shall, within twenty days after such affirmance or dismissal, surrender himself in obedience to the judgment, decree or order, to the custody of the sheriff to whom he was committed. If the condition of such bond be violated, it may be prosecuted in the same manner and with the same effect as an administrator's official bond; and the proceeds of the action must be paid or distributed, as directed by the probate court, to or among the persons aggrieved, to the extent of the pecuniary injuries sustained by them, and the balance, if any, must be paid into the county treasury.

Justification of sureties.

(1567) § 22. The sureties in every appeal bond must justify in the manner required in sections from 1321 to 1340, inclusive; and the respondent may apply to the appellate court or the judge thereof, upon notice, for on order requiring the appellant to increase the sum fixed by the judge of the probate court, or to give additional security; and if the applicant make default in giving a new bond, pursuant to an order to increase the same, or to give additional security, the appeal may be dismissed.

Form of appeal bond; action upon.

(1568) § 23. Every appeal bond must be to the Territory of Oklahoma; must contain the name and residence of each of the sureties thereto, and must be filed in the probate court. The judge of the probate court may, at any time, in his discretion, make an order authorizing any person aggrieved to bring an action on the bond, in his own name or in the name of the Territory. When it is brought in the name of the Territory, the damages collected must be paid over to the probate court, and therein distributed as justice may require.

Letters of administration to issue in spite of appeal

(1569) § 24. An appeal from the decree or order admitting a will to probate, or granting letters testamentary, or letters of administration, does not stay the issuing of letters where, in the opinion of the probate judge, manifested by an entry upon the minutes of the court, the preservation of the estate requires that such letters should issue, But the letters so issued do not confer power to sell real property by virtue of any provision in the will, or to pay or satisfy legacies or to distribute the property of the decedent among the next of kin, until the final determination of the appeal.

Appeal does not stay proceedings.

(1570) § 25. An appeal from a decree or order revoking probate of a will, letters testamentary, letters of administration or letters of guardianship, or from a decree or order suspending or removing an executor, administrator or guardian, or removing or suspending a testamentary trustee or a person appointed by the probate court, or appointing an appraiser of personal property, does not stay the execution of the decree or order appealed from.

Transcript to go to district court on appeal.

(1571) § 26. The judge of the probate court must, within ten days from the filing of the notice of appeal and the giving of the required bond, cause a certified copy thereof and of the judgment decree or order, or specific part thereof appealed from, and of the

Chap. 19.

the minutes, records, papers and proceedings in the case, to be transmitted to the clerk of the district court of the county or judicial subdivision, to be filed in his office; and the appeal may be heard and determined at any day thereafter by said court, at any general special or adjourned term; and if the appellant make no appearance when the case is called for trial, or otherwise fail to prosecute his appeal, the respondent may, on motion, have the appeal dismissed, or may open the record and move for an affirmance.

Powers of the appellate court.

(1572) § 27. The plaintiff in the probate court shall be the plaintiff in the district court, and when the appeal is on questions of law alone the appellate court may reverse, affirm or modify the judgment, decree or order, or the part thereof appealed from, and every immediate order which it is authorized by law to review, in any respect mentioned in the notice of appeal, and as to any or all of the parties, and it may order a new hearing. Upon such appeal, so much of the evidence as may be necessary to explain the grounds, and no more, may be certified into the appellate court.

Question of fact tried de novo.

(1573) § 28. When the appeal is on questions of fact, or on questions of both law and fact, the trial in the district court must be de novo, and shall be conducted in the same manner as if the case and proceedings had lawfully originated in that court; and such appellate court has the same power to decide the questions of fact which the probate court or judge had, and it may, in its discretion, as in suits in chancery, and with like effect, make an order for the trial by jury of any or all the material questions of fact arising upon the issues between the parties, and such an order must state distinctly and plainly the questions of fact to be tried.

Neglect of probate judge to transmit record, penalty.

(1574) § 29. If the judge of the probate court neglect or refuse to make or transmit such certified copies as are hereinbefore required to be transmitted to the clerk of the district court in cases of appeal, he may be compelled by the district court by an order entered, upon motion, to do so; and he may be fined, as for contempt, for any such neglect or refusal. A certified copy of such order may be served upon the probate judge by the party or his attorney.

Dismissal of appeal affirms probate court.

(1575) § 30. The dismissal of an appeal by the district court is in effect an affirmance of the judgment, decree or order appealed from; and when an appellant shall have given, in good faith, notice of appeal, but omits, through mistake, to do any other act necessary to perfect the appeal or to stay proceedings, the appellate court may permit an amendment, on such terms as may be just.

Costs, payable how

(1576) § 31. Such appellate court may award to the successful party the costs of the appeal; or it may direct that such costs abide the event of a new hearing, or of the subsequent proceedings in the probate court. In either case the costs may be made payable out of the estate or fund, or personally by the unsuccessful party, as directed by the appellate court; or, if no such direction be given, as directed by the probate court.

(1577) § 32. When a judgment decree or order, from which an appeal has been taken, is wholly or partly affirmed, or is modified by the judgment rendered by the district court upon such appeal, it must be enforced, to the extent authorized by the latter judgment, by the probate court, in like manner as if no appeal therefrom had been taken; and the district court must direct the proceedings to be remitted for that purpose to the probate court or to the judge thereof. Enforcement of decree by probate court.

(1578) § 33. When an executor or administrator who has given an official bond appeals from a judgment, decree or order of the probate court or judge, made in the proceedings had upon the estate of which he is administrator or executor, his said bond stands in the place of an appeal bond, and the sureties therein are liable as on such appeal bond. Official bonds good on appeal.

(1579) § 34. When the order or decree appointing an executor, or administrator, or guardian, is reversed on appeal for error, and not for want of jurisdiction of the court, all lawful acts in administration upon the estate, performed by such executor, or administrator or guardian, if he have qualified, are as valid as if such order or decree had been affirmed. Reversal for error does not affect lawful acts.

Guardians of persons and estates.

(1580) § 1. The probate court of each county, when it appears necessary or convenient, may appoint guardians for the persons and estates, or either, or both of them, of minors who have no guardian legally appointed by will, or deed, and who are inhabitants or residents of the county, or who reside without the Territory and have estate within the county. Such appointment may be made on the petition of a relative or other person in behalf of such minor. Before making the appointment the judge must cause such notice as he deems reasonable to be given to the relatives of the minor residing in the county, and to any person having care of such minor.

When minor may nominate.

(1581) § 2. If the minor is under the age of fourteen years, the probate judge may nominate and appoint his guardian; if he is above the age of fourteen years, he may nominate his own guardian, who if approved by the judge must be appointed accordingly. And the probate court, in appointing a guardian is to be guided by the considerations named in the civil code.

Judge may appoint guardian, when.

(1582) § 3. If the guardian nominated by the minor be not approved by the judge, or if the minor resides out of the Territory, or if, after being duly cited by the judge, he neglects for ten days to nominate a suitable person, the judge may nominate and appoint the guardian, in the same manner as if the minor was under the age of fourteen years.

When minor may appoint.

(1583) § 4. When a guardian has been appointed by the court for a minor under the age of fourteen years, the minor, at any time after he has attained that age, may appoint his own guardian, subject to the approval of the probate judge.

Father or mother entitled to appointment

(1584) § 5. The father of the minor, if living, and in case of his decease, the mother, while she remains unmarried, being themselves respectively competent to transact their own business, and not otherwise unsuitable, must be entitled to the guardianship of the minor.

Guardian has custody of minor.

(1585) § 6. If the minor has no father or mother living competent to have the custody and care of his education, the guardian appointed shall have the same.

(1586) § 7. Every guardian appointed shall have the custody and care of the education of the minor, and the care and management of his estate, until such minor arrives at the age of majority, or marries, or until the guardian is legally discharged.

Guardian has charge until majority or marriage.

(1587) § 8. Before the order appointing any person guardian under this chapter takes effect, and before letters issue, the judge must require of such person a bond to the minor, with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the judge, and in such sum as he shall order, conditioned that the guardian will faithfully execute the duties of his trust according to law; and the following conditions shall form and constitute a part of every such bond, without being expressed therein:

Guardian to give bond to minor; conditions, letters of guardianship.

First. To make an inventory of all the estate, real and personal, of his ward that comes to his possession or knowledge, and to return the same within such time as the judge may order.

Second. To dispose of and manage the estate according to law and for the best interest of the ward, and faithfully to discharge his trust in relation thereto, and also in relation to the care, custody and education of the ward.

Third. To render an account on oath of the property, estate and moneys of the ward in his hands, and all proceeds or interests derived therefrom, and of the management and disposition of the same, within three months after his appointment, and at such other times as the court directs; and at the expiration of his trust to settle his accounts with the probate judge, or with the ward, if he be of full age, or his legal representatives, and to pay over and deliver all the estate, moneys and effects remaining in his hands, or due from him on such settlement, to the person who is lawfully entitled thereto.

Upon filing the bond, duly approved, letters of guardianship must issue to the person appointed. In form the letters of guardianship must be substantially the same as letters of administration; and the oath of the guardian must be indorsed thereon that he will perform the duties of his office, as such guardian, according to law.

(1588) § 9. When any person is appointed guardian of a minor, the probate judge may, with the consent of such person, insert in the order of appointment conditions not otherwise obligatory, providing for the care, treatment, education and welfare of the minor. The performance of such conditions is a part of the duties of the guardian, for the faithful performance of which he and the sureties on his bond are responsible.

Additional conditions as to care, treatment and education of minor.

(1589) § 10. All letters of guardianship issued, and all guardians' bonds executed under the provisions of this article, with the affidavits and certificates thereon, must be recorded by the judge of the probate court having jurisdiction of the persons and estates of the wards.

Record of letters and bond.

(1590) § 11. If any minor, having a father living, has property, the income of which is sufficient for his maintenance and education in a manner more expensive than his father can reasonably afford, regard being had to the situation of the father's family, and to all the circumstances of the case, the expenses of the education

Extra expenses of minor.

and maintenance of such minor may be defrayed out of the income of his own property, in whole or in part, as judged reasonable, and must be directed by the probate court; and the charges therefor may be allowed accordingly in the settlement of the accounts of his guardian.

Testamentary guardians.

(1591) § 12. Every testamentary guardian must give bond and qualify, and has the same powers and must perform the same duties with regard to the person and estate of his ward, as guardians appointed by the probate court, except so far as their powers and duties are legally modified, enlarged, or changed by the will by which such guardian was appointed.

Guardians ad litem.

(1592) § 13. Nothing contained in this chapter affects or impairs the power of any court to appoint a guardian to defend the interests of any minor interested in any suit or matter pending therein.

Petitions for guardians of insane or incompetent persons

(1593) § 14. When it is represented to the probate court upon verified petition of any relative or friend, that any person is insane, or from any cause mentally incompetent to manage his property, the judge must cause notice to be given to the supposed insane or incompetent person, of the time and place of hearing the case, not less than five days before the time so appointed, and such person if able to attend, must be produced before him on the hearing.

Hearing of petition and appointment.

(1494) § 15. If after a full hearing and examination upon such petition, it appears to the judge of the probate court that the person in question is incapable of taking care of himself and managing his property, he must appoint a guardian of his person and estate, with the powers and duties in this chapter specified.

Powers of guardian and bond

(1595) § 16. Every guardian appointed as provided in the preceding section, has the care and custody of the person of his ward, and the management of all his es tate, until such guardian is legally discharged; and he must give bond to such ward, in like manner and with like conditions, as before prescribed with respect to the guardian of a minor.

Proceedings to declare restoration of insane or incompetent persons

(1596) § 17. Any person who has been declared insane, or the guardian or any relative of such person, within the third degree, or any friend may apply by petition to the probate court of the county in which he was declared insane, to have the fact of his restoration to capacity judicially determined. The petition shall be verified, and shall state that such person is then sane. Upon receiving the petition, the judge must appoint a day for the hearing, and cause notice of the trial to be given to the guardian of the petitioner, if there be a guardian, and to his or her husband or wife, if there be one, and to his or her father or mother, if living in the county. On the trial, the guardian or relative of the petitioner, and in the discretion of the judge, any other person, may contest the right of the petitioner to the relief demanded. Witnesses may be required to appear and testify, as in other cases, and may be called and exanined by the judge on his own motion. If it be found that the petitioner be of sound mind and capable of taking care of himself and his property, his restoration to capacity shall be adjudged, and the guardianship of such person, if such person be not a minor, shall cease.

Payment of debts.

(1597) § 18. Every guardian appointed under the provisins of this chapter, whether for a minor or any other person, must pay all just debts due from the ward out of his personal estate and income of his real estate, if sufficient; if not, then out of his real estate, upon obtaining an order for the sale thereof, and disposing of the same in the manner provided by law for the sale of real estate of decedents.

May collect all accounts due to ward: appear in legal proceedings.

(1598) § 19. Every guardian must settle all accounts of the ward, and demand, sue for, and receive all debts due to him, or may, with the approbation of the probate judge, compound for the same and give discharges to the debtors on receiving a fair and just dividend of his estate and effects; and he must appear for and represent his ward in all legal suits and proceedings, unless another person is appointed for that purpose as guardian or next friend.

Rules for management of estate of ward.

(1599) § 20. Every guardian must manage the estate of his ward frugally and without waste, and apply the income and profits thereof, as far as may be necessary, for the comfortable and suitable maintenance and support of the ward, and his family, if there be any; and if such income and profits be insufficient for that purpose, the guardian may sell the real estate, upon obtaining an order of the probate court therefor, as provided, and must apply the proceeds of such sale, as far as may be necessary, for the maintenance and support of the ward and his family, if there be any.

Maintenance and support of ward.

(1600) § 21. When a guardian has advanced, for the necessary maintenance, support and education of his ward, an amount not disproportionate to the value of his estate or his condition of life, and the same is made to appear to the satisfaction of the court, by proper vouchers and proofs, the guardian must be allowed credit therefore in his settlement. Whenever a guardian fails, neglects, or refuses to furnish suitable and necessary maintenance, support or education, for his ward, the court may order him to do so, and enforce such order by proper process. Whenever any third person, at his request supplies a ward with such suitable and necessary maintenance, support or education, and it is shown to have been done after refusal or neglect of the guardian to supply the same, the court may direct the guardian to pay therefor out of the estate, and enforce such payment by due process.

Assent to partition of real estate.

(1601) § 22. The guardian may join in and assent to a partition of the real estate of the ward, whenever such assent may be given by any person.

Inventory and account of estate of ward.

(1602) § 23. Every guardian must return to the probate court an inventory of the estate of his ward within three months after his appointment, and annually thereafter. When the value of the estate exceeds the sum of twenty thousand dollars, semi-annual returns must be made to the probate court. The court may, upon application made for that purpose by any person, compel the guardian to render an account to the probate court of the estate or his ward. The inventories and accounts so to be returned or rendered, must be sworn to by the guardian. All the estate of the ward described in the first inventory must be appraised by appraisers appointed, sworn, and acting in the manner provided for regulating the settlement of the estate of decedents. Such inventory, with the appraisement of the property therein described, must be recorded by the judge of the probate court, in a proper book kept in his office for that purpose. Whenever any other property of the estate of any ward is discovered, not included in the inventory of the estate already returned, and whenever any other property has been succeeded to or acquired by any ward, or for his benefit, the like proceedings must be had for the return and appraisement thereof that are herein provided in relation to the first inventory and return.

Chap. 19.

Settlement at end of year

(1603) § 24. The guardian must, upon the expiration of a year from the time of his appointment, and as often thereafter as he may be required, present his accounts to the probate court for settlement and allowance.

Account by one of joint guardians.

(1604) § 25. When an account is rendered by two or more joint guardians, the probate judge may, in his discretion, allow the same upon oath of any of them.

Expenses and pay of guardians.

(1605) § 26. Every guardian must be allowed the amount of his reasonable expenses incurred in the execution of his trust, and he must also have such compensation for his services as the court in which his accounts are settled deems just and reasonable.

Sale of property may be made, when (1606) § 27. When the income of an estate under guardianship is sufficient to maintain the ward and his family, or to maintain and educate the ward when a minor, his guardian may sell his real or personal estate for that purpose, upon obtaining an order therefor.

Sale of property for investment.

(1607) § 28. When it appears to the satisfaction of the court, upon the petition of the guardian, that for the benefit of his ward his real estate, or some part thereof, should be sold, and the proceeds thereof put out at interest, or invested in some productive stock, or in the improvement or security of any other real estate of the ward, his guardian may sell the same for such purpose, upon obtaining an offer therefor.

Proceeds of sale, how applied.

(1608) § 29. If the estate is sold for the purposes mentioned in this article, the guardian must apply the proceeds of the sale to such purposes, as far as necessary, and put out the residue, if any, on interest, or invest it in the best manner in his power, until the capital is wanted for the maintenance of the ward and his family, or the education of his children, or for the education of the ward when a minor, in which case the capital may be used for that purpose, as far as may be necessary, in like manner as if it had been personal estate of the ward.

Investment, made how.

(1609) § 30. If the estate be sold for the purpose of putting out or investing the proceeds, the guardian must make the investment according to his best judgment, or in pursuance of any order that may be made by the probate court.

Petition for sale.

(1610) § 31. To obtain an order for such sale, the guardian must present to the probate court of the county in which he was appointed guardian, a verified petition therefor, setting forth the condition of the estate of his ward, and the facts and circumstances on which the petition is founded, tending to show the necessity or expediency of a sale.

Hearing and order.

(1611) § 32. If it appear to the court or judge, from the petition, that it is necessary or would be beneficial to the ward that the real estate, or some part of it, should be sold, or that the real and personal estate should be sold, the court or judge must thereupon make an order directing the next of kin of the ward, and all persons interested in the estate, to appear before the court, at a time and place therein specified, not less than four nor more than eight weeks from the time of making such order, to show cause why an order should not be granted for the sale of such estate. If it appear that it is necessary or would be beneficial to the ward to sell the personal estate or some part of it, the court must order the sale to be made.

Order served on whom

(1612) § 33. A copy of the order must be personally served on the next of kin of the ward, and on all persons interested in the estate, at least fourteen days before the hearing of the petition, or must be published at least three successive weeks in a newspaper printed in the county, or if there be none printed in the county, then in such newspaper as may be specified by the court or judge in the order. If written consent to making the order of sale is subscribed by all persons interested therein, and the next of kin, notice need not be served personally or by publication.

Hearing upon the order.

(1613) § 34. The probate court, at the time and place appointed in the order, or such other time to which the hearing is postponed, upon proof of the service or publication of the order, must hear and examine the proofs and allegations of the petitioner and of the next of kin, and of all other persons interested in the estate who oppose the application.

Attendance of witnesses.

(1614) § 35. On the hearing the guardian may be examined on oath, and witnesses may be produced and examined by either party, and process to compel their attendance and testimony may be issued by the probate court or judge, in the same manner and with like effect as in cases provided for in the settlement of the estate of decedents.

Costs awarded when order objected to.

(1615) § 36. If any person appears and objects to the granting of any order prayed for under the provisions of this article, and it appears to the court that either the petition or the objection thereto is sustained, the court may, in granting or refusing the order, award costs to the party prevailing, and enforce the payment thereof.

Order for sale shall state what.

(1616) § 37. If, after a full examination, it appears necessary, or for the benefit of the ward, that his real estate, or some part thereof, should be sold, the court may grant an order therefor, specifying therein the causes or reasons why the sale is necessary or beneficial, and may, if the same has been prayed for in the petition, order such sale to be made either at public or private sale.

Bond to be given by guardian.

(1617) § 38. Every guardian authorized to sell real estate, must, before the sale, give bond to the probate judge, with sufficient surety, to be approved by him, with condition to sell the same in the manner and to account for the proceeds of the sale as provided for in this article and article 7 of this chapter.

Chap. 19.

Law regulating estates of decedents governs unless otherwise declared.

(1618) § 39. All the proceedings under petition of guardians for sales of property of their wards, giving notice and the hearing of such petitions, granting and refusing an order of sale, directing the sale to be made at public or private sale, reselling the same property, return of sale and application for confirmation thereof, notice and hearing of such application, making orders, rejecting or confirming sales and reports of sales, ordering and making conveyances of property sold, accounting and the settlement of accounts must be had and made as provided and required by the provisions of law concerning the estates of decedents unless otherwise specially provided in this chapter.

Order in force for one year.

(1619) § 40. No order of sale granted in pursuance of this article continues in force more than one year after granting the same, without a sale being had.

Terms of sale security

(1620) § 41. All sales of real estate of wards must be for cash, or for part cash and part deferred payments, not to exceed three years, bearing date from date of sale, as, in the discretion of the probate judge is most beneficial to the ward. Guardians making sales must demand and receive from the purchaser's bond and mortgage on the real estate sold, with such additional security as the judge deems necessary and sufficient to secure the faithful payment of the deferred payments and the interest thereon.

Order to invest proceeds.

(1621) § 42. The probate court, on the application of a guardian or any person interested in the estate of any ward, after such notice to persons interested therein as the judge shall direct, may authorize and require the guardian to invest the proceeds of sales, and any other of his ward's money in his hands, in real estate, or in any other manner most to the interest of all concerned therein; and the probate court may make such other orders and give such directions as are needful for the management, investment and disposition of the estate and effects, as circumstances require.

Guardian for non-resident ward

(1622) § 43. When a person liable to be put under guardianship, according to the provisions of this chapter, resides without this Territory, and has estate therein, any friend of such person, or any one interested in his estate, in expectancy or otherwise, may apply to the probate judge of any county in which there is any estate of such absent person, for the appointment of a guardian; and if, after notice given to all interested, in such manner as the judge orders, and a full hearing and examination, it appears proper, a guardian for such absent person may be appointed.

Powers same as in other cases.

(1623) § 44. Every guardian appointed under the preceding section has the same powers and performs the same duties, with respect to the estate of the ward found within the Territory, and with respect to the person of the ward, if he shall cease to reside therein, as are prescribed with respect to any other guardian appointed under this article.

Guardian must give bond.

(1624) § 45. Every such guardian must give bond to the ward, in the manner and with like conditions as hereinbefore provided for other guardians, except that the provisions respecting the inventory, the disposal of the estate and effects, and the account to be rendered by the guardian, must be confined to such estate and effects as come to his hands in this Territory.

First appointment is exclusive.

(1625) § 46. The guardianship which is first lawfully granted, of any person residing without this Territory, extends to all the estate of the ward within the same, and excludes the jurisdiction of the probate court of every other county.

Removal o property.

(1626) § 47. When the guardian and ward are both non-residents, and the ward is entitled to property in this Territory which may be removed to another territory, state or foreign country without conflict with any restriction or limitation thereupon, or impairing the right of the ward thereto, such property may be removed to the territory, state or foreign country of the residence of the ward, upon the application of the guardian to the judge of the probate court of the county in which the estate of the ward, or the principal part thereof, is situated.

Application for removal.

(1627) § 48. The application must be made upon ten days notice to the resident executor, administrator or guardian, if there be such, and upon such application the non-resident guardian must produce and file a certificate, under the hand of the clerk, judge, surrogate or other authorized officer, and the seal of the court from which his appointment was derived, showing:

First. A transcript of the record of his appointment.

Second. That he has entered upon the discharge of his duties.

Third. That he is entitled by the laws of the territory, state or country of his appointment to the possession of the estate of the ward; or must produce and file a certificate under the hand and seal of the clerk, judge, surrogate or other authorized officer of the court having jurisdiction in the country of his residence, of the estates of persons under guardianship, or of the highest court in such territory, state or country, that by the laws of such country the applicant is entitled to the custody of the estate of his ward without the appointment of any court.

Upon such application, unless good cause to the contrary be shown, the judge of the probate court must make an order granting to such guardian leave to take and remove the property of his ward to the territory, state or place of his residence, which is authority to him to sue for and receive the same in his own name, for the use and benefit of his ward.

Effect of order for removal.

(1628) § 49. Such order is a discharge of the executor, administrator, local guardian, or other person in whose possession the property may be at the time the order is made, on filing with the probate court the receipt therefor of the foreign guardian of such absent ward.

Concealment or embezzlement of property of ward.

(1629) § 50. Upon complaint made to him by any guardian, ward, creditor, or other person interested in the estate, or having a prospective interest therein as heir or otherwise, against any one suspected of having concealed, or conveyed away any of the money, goods or effects, or an instrument in writing, belonging to the ward or to his estate, the judge of the probate court may cite such suspected person to appear before him, and may examine and proceed with him on such charge in the manner provided by law with respect to persons suspected of, and charged with, concealing or embezzling the effects of a decedent.

Cause for removal of guardian.

(1630) § 51. When a guardian appointed either by the testator or the probate court or judge, becomes insane or otherwise incapable of discharging his trust, or unsuitable therefor, or has wasted or mismanaged the estate, or failed for thirty days to render an account or make a return, the probate court may, upon such notice to the guardian as the court may require, remove him and compel him to surrender the estate of the ward to the person found to be lawfully entitled thereto. Every guardian may resign when it appears proper to allow the same; and upon the resignation or removal of a guardian, as herein provided, the probate court may appoint another in the place of the guardian who has resigned or has been removed.

Marriage of minor terminates guardianship.

(1631) § 52. The marriage of a minor ward terminates the guardianship; and the guardian of an insane or other person may be discharged by the judge of the probate court when it appears to him, on the application of the ward or otherwise, that the guardianship is no longer necessary.

New bonds may be required.

(1632) § 53. The judge of the probate court may require a new bond to be given by a guardian whenever he deems it necessary, and may discharge the existing sureties from further liability, after due notice given as he may direct, when it shall appear that no injury can result therefrom to those interested in the estate.

Bonds must be preserved.

(1633) § 54. Every bond given by a guardian must be filed and preserved in the office of the probate judge of the county; and in case of a breach of a condition thereof, may be prosecuted for the use and benefit of the ward or of any person interested in the estate.

Limitation to three years for beginning action.

(1634) § 55. No action can be maintained against the sureties on any bond given by a guardian, unless it be commenced within three years from the discharge or removal of the guardian; but if at the time of such discharge the person entitled to bring such action is under any legal disability to sue, the action may be commenced at any time within three years after such disability is removed.

Action for recovery of estate sold.

(1635) § 56. No action for the recovery of any estate, sold by a guardian, can be maintained by the ward, or by any person claiming under him, unless it is commenced within three years next after the termination of the guardianship, or when a legal disability to sue exists by reason of minority or otherwise, at the time when the cause of action accrues, within three years next after the removal thereof.

More than one guardian, when.

(1636) § 57. The court in its discretion, whenever necessary, may appoint more than one guardian of any person subject to guardianship, who must give bond and be governed and liable in all respects as a sole guardian.

Powers of probate judge exercised either as judge of court

(1637) § 58. The power conferred upon the probate judge in relation to guardians and wards may be exercised by him at chambers or as the acts of the probate court, when holding such; and any order appointing a guardian must be entered as and become a decree of the court. The provisions of this chapter relative to the estates of decedents, so far as they relate to the practice in the probate or district courts, apply to proceedings under this article.

AN ACT extending the jurisdiction of the probate court in civil and criminal cases and prescribing the procedure therein and providign for appeals therefrom.

[Took effect December 25, 1890.]

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklama:

Jurisdiction of probate courts.

(1638) § 1. Probate courts in their respective counties shall in addition to the powers conferred upon them by the probate chapter of the Territory, have and exercise the ordinary powers and jurisdiction of justices of the peace and shall in civil cases have concurrent jurisdiction with the district court in all civil cases in any sum not exceeding one thousand dollars exclusive of costs and in action of replevin where the appraised value of the property does not exceeds that sum and the provisions of the chapter on civil procedure relative to justices of the peace and to practice and proceedings in the district court shall apply to the proceedings in all civil actions, prosecuted before said probate courts: Provided, That probate courts shall not have jurisdiction:

First. In any action for malicious prosecution.

Second. In any action against officers for misconduct in office except where like proceedings can be had before justices of the peace.

Third. In actions for slander and libel.

Fourth. In actions upon contracts for sale of real estate.

Fifth. In any matter wherein the title or boundaries of land may be in dispute nor to order or decree the sale or partition of real estate.

Practice and proceedings in certain cases.

(1639) § 2. In all cases commenced in said probate courts wherein the sum exceeds the jurisdiction of justices of the peace the pleadings and practice and proceedings in said court both before and after judgment shall be governed by the chapter on civil procedure of the Territory governing pleading and practice and proceedings in the district court. In all cases commenced in said probate courts that are within the jurisdiction of justices courts the practice and proceedings and pleadings both before and after judgment provided for in the justice,s procedure of the Territory shall be applicable to the practice pleadings and proceedings of said probate courts.

Chap. 19.

Judge to prepare calendar.

(1640) § 3. The probate judge shall on the first day of each term prepare a calendar of the cases standing for trial at said term placing the causes on said calendar in the order in which the same are numbered on the docket and setting the cases for trial in such order upon convenient days during said term; and the provisions of the chapter on civil procedure of the Territory relative to the docket in district courts shall so far as they are applicable apply to said calendar.

When open.

(1641) § 4. The probate courts of the Territory shall be deemed to be always open for the filing of papers and the issuance of processes in civil actions and for the purpose of taking and entering judgments by confession and for the purpose of trying all actions commenced therein that are triable under the justice's procedure of the Territory and for all probate business of their respective counties.

Appeals to supreme court.

(1642) § 5. Appeals from the final judgment of said probate courts shall be allowed and taken to the supreme court of this Territory in the same manner as (from) the district court and with like effect when only questions of law are involved in the appeal. If questions of fact are to be re-tried in the appellate court the appeals shall be taken to the district court of the county in manner and form as appeals are taken from judgments of justices of the peace.

May grant injunctions and allow writs of habeas corpus.

(1643) § 6. In all cases pending or to be brought in the probate court the probate judge shall have power and jurisdiction to allow injunctions, mandates, writs of prohibition and to make all other and further orders as may be necessary in cases pending in said court and to hear and determine motions made to vacate or modify the same, and generally to do as to actions pending in said courts any and all acts which the judges of the district courts are by law authorized to do. He may also in case of the absence of the district judge from his county allow injunctions in matters about to be brought or pending in the district court, but he shall not have power to vacate or modify the same. He shall have power to allow writs of habeas corpus in all cases provided by law and to hear and determine the same.

Practice in criminal cases.

(1644) § 7. All criminal actions prosecuted in the probate court shall be brought in the same manner as similar actions in the justices courts; or shall be upon information of the county attorney based upon a sworn complaint and shall be under his direction and control; and warrants shall issue the same as in the justices courts: Provided, If the complaint or information be adjudged defective or insufficient it may be amended to any extent and sworn to until it is sufficient, and if the evidence fails to prove the crime charged, but tends to prove any other crime the information may be amended to charge the crime which the evidence tends to prove; and if that be a felony the trial shall be suspended and the accused shall be proceeded against by preliminary examination and bound over or discharged as the court shall deem just under the evidence. If the information or complaint be amended, the court shall see that the defendant is not prejudiced thereby and if justice requires it shall grant to the accused time to prepare his defense to the information or complaint as amended.

Probate judges fees in certain cases.

(1645) § 8. The probate judges for any services performed by or in any matter within the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace shall be allowed the same fees as are allowed by law to justices of the peace for like services and in all civil actions triable in a probate court of which a justice of the peace has no jurisdiction the probate judge shall be entitled to receive the same fees as are allowed to a clerk of the district court for like services and shall be allowed further fees as follows: For each days attendance upon trial of a case after the first day, two dollars; taking and approving bail bond, twenty-five cents; for entering voluntary appearance of defendant, twenty-five cents; commission on money collected on judgments without execution one per cent on the amount.

This act shall be in force and take effect from and after its adoption and legalization by act of Congress.

AN ACT to transfer all actions and proceedings pending in the several county courts to the district courts.

[Took effect December 25, 1890.]

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

Action transferred from county to district court.

(1646) § 1. That upon the adjournment of the present session of the Legislative Assembly, all actions both civil and criminal and all other matters and proceedings, then pending in such county courts, shall be immediately transferred to the district court of the county where such county court has heretofore existed.

Duty of county judge.

(1647) § 2. It shall be the duty of the judge of the county court immediately upon the adjournment of the present session of the Legislative Assembly, to certify all actions and proceedings then pending in the county court of his county to the district court of such county, and file the record thereof in the office of the clerk of that court.

Jurisdiction of district court.

(1648) § 3. The district court shall upon the filing of such transcript and record, take jurisdiction of such actions and proceedings, and proceed therein in the same manner as though originally commenced in that court.

Transfer of records, books, files and papers.

(1649) § 4. All records, books, files and papers heretofore filed in the county court, are hereby transferred to the district court and all such papers books, files and records shall have the same force and effect in all courts and places as other records of the district court.

Chap. 19.

Enforcement of judgment in district court.

(1650) § 5. All judgments remaining in the county courts and unsatisfied at the time the records are transferred to the district court shall be enforced as judgments of the district courts in the same manner as though such judgments had been rendered in that court.

Duties of county clerk enforced in district court.

(1651) § 6. All orders remaining unperformed shall be by the district court enforced, modified or revoked in the same manner as though originally made and entered in such court.

Not to include probate court.

(1652) § 7. The provisions of this act shall not be construed to extend to any matter of probate jurisdiction pending in such county court nor the record thereof; but all such probate matter and record shall be, and they are hereby transferred to the probate court established by the Organic Act of this Territory.

This act shall take effect from and after the final adjournment of the first session of the first Legislature.

3. Transcript for court, fees; appeal.
4. Transcript for parties, fees.
5. To report for several counties; mileage.
6. Tenure of office; oath.
7. Notes, where filed, when testimony.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

(1657) § 1. The judge of the district in each judicial district, shall appoint whenever in his judgment it will expedite public business, and tend to the more economical administration of justice, a short-hand reporter who shall be well skilled in the art of stenography, and competent to perform the duties required of him, which competency shall be ascertained by the applicant writing correctly one hundred and twenty-five words per minute, for ten consecutive minutes in open court, the matter written not being previously known to him. Appointments, requirements.

(1658) § 2. It shall be the duty of such reporter under the direction of the court, to take down in short-hand the oral testimony of witnesses, the rulings of the court, the objections made and exceptions taken during the trial in all criminal cases, and in civil actions, when either of the parties so request and the judge directs it, and also such other matters as the court shall order. That in each civil action hereafter commenced, wherein an issue of fact is joined in any district court of this Territory, the sum of two dollars shall be taxed as costs and collected from the unsuccesful party in said action as stenographer's costs, and by the clerk of the court paid over to said stenographer when collected and shall be received by such stenographer as full compensation for his services as court stenographer in all civil cases: Provided, That in criminal cases the stenographer shall be paid out of the county treasury for the time actually employed in taking down testimony, the sum of five dollars per day, said fees to be paid by the county wherein such services shall be rendered upon the order of the judge. Duties and fees

(1659) § 3. The judge may upon the application of either party in a criminal case, direct such reporter to make out and file Transcript for court, fees, appeal.

Chap. 20.

with the clerk of the court a transcript of his short-hand notes in long-hand, when the same is needed in such case, and he shall receive as compensation therefor, such sum as may be fixed by the judge, not exceeding six cents for each one hundred words, to be audited and paid as provided in section two of this act: Provided, however, That if before a transcript of the notes is ordered on application of the defendant or his attorney, the defendant shall present to the judge his affidavit that he intends in good faith, to take an appeal in the case and that such transcript is necessary to enable him to prosecute the appeal, and that the defendant has not the means to pay for the same, the court may, at its discretion, order the transcript made at the expense of the county.

Transcript for parties, fees.

(1660) § 4. Such reporter shall on the request of either party, in a civil or criminal case, make out such transcript and deliver the same to the party desiring it, on payment of his fees therefor by such party at the rate of six cents per folio which shall be allowed, as taxable cost.

Report for several counties; mileage.

(1661) § 5. Such reporter shall proceed from county to county where the district courts are held, when required by the judge, and be in attendance upon such court to perform such duties as shall be required of him, and shall receive as travelling expenses for each mile actually and necessarily travelled in going to and returning from such district courts, to be paid by the county to which he travels, the sum of five cents per mile. But no mileage shall be allowed where the distance travelled in each direction is less than fifty miles.

Tenure of office; oath.

(1662) § 6. Such reporters shall hold their offices at the pleasure of the judges appointing them and shall take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and the Organic Act of this Territory, and to honestly, faithfully and impartially perform the duties of their respective offices as provided in this act, whieh oath shall be filed in the office of the clerk of such court.

Notes, where filed, when testimony

(1663) § 7. The short-hand reporter shall file his notes taken in any case with the clerk of the court in which the cause was tried, and the same shall be a part of the record in the cause. Any long-hand transcript of notes so filed, duly certified by the reporter of the court who took the evidence as correct, shall be admissible as evidence in all cases of like force and effect, as testimony taken in the cause by deposition, and subject to the same objections; said notes, or a transcript thereof, may be incorporated into any bill of exceptions by unmistakable reference thereto, and may be duly inserted therein. On appeal it shall be the duty of the reporter to furnish such transcript when demanded, as required by law. If any reporter ceases to be the official reporter of the court, and thereafter makes a transcript of the notes taken by him while acting as official reporter, he shall swear to the transcript as true and correct and when so verified, the transcript shall have the same force and effect as if certified while he was official reporter.

This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and approval.

AN ACT to give force and effect to notices and commissions to take depositions and providing for appointment of commissioners of depositions

[Took effect December 2, 1890.]

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma.

Notice to take deposition.

(1669) § 1. In all cases where notice that depositions will be taken in this Territory before a district judge or a commissioner of depositions in the district court, or before the judge of the county or probate court in this Territory, has been given in any state or territory in accordance with the laws thereof; and in cases where commissions have issued from a court of record of the United States or from a court of record of any state or territory or from any United States Land Office, within or without this Territory, or from a board of United States Townsite commissioners, duly signed by the clerk of the court, Register or Receiver of the United States land office or by some member of the townsite commission, as the case may be, and directed to a district judge or commissioner of depositions in the district court, or to the judge of a county or probate court, within this Territory, commanding such officer to take the depositions of witnesses, such notice shall give and commissions so issued when received shall confer upon the officers named and their respective courts the powers in this act provided.

Commissioner of depositions, testimony.

(1670) § 2. The judge of each judicial district shall appoint some suitable person in each organized county of his district, as a court commissioner of depositions who shall hold his office during the pleasure of the judge. Such commissioner shall, before entering upon the discharge of his duties of such office, give a bond, and take an oath of office as required by law to be given and taken by the county judges; and shall receive the same fees for like services; he shall perform such duties and exercise such powers as are imposed or conferred upon him by the laws of the Territory and by the provisions of this act, and for the purpose of this act, shall be known as the commissioner of depositions, and shall act under the control of the judge of the district court. When acting as commissioner of depositions, he shall have power to administer oaths, to order the clerk of the district court to issue process, and to order the same to be served; to compel witnesses to appear and testify fully; to cause the testimony given to be reduced to writing and signed by the witnesses, and to minute objections, and to rule on questions of evidence as in this act allowed; to regulate and control attorneys and parties before him; to punish for contempts, and to certify and return depositions as fully as could be done by the district court, or district judge, if that court or judge was personally acting in the matter: Provided, That no testimony so given by any witness shall ever be used as testimony against said witness in any criminal or civil action whatever in this Territory.

Power conferred by notice of deposition.

(1671) § 3. When the notice or commission named in section one of this act is received by the judge of the district court, or commissioner of depositions, or by a judge of a county or probate court, such notice or commission shall confer upon the district court and its said commissioner, or on the probate or county judge, power to docket a case in the court. If the notice or commission shall run to the district judge or the commissioner of depositions, it shall [be] the duty of the clerk of the district court to docket in that court a case naming the parfies as plaintiffs and defendants, or contestants and contestees in the case, as in the notice or commission stated. If the notice or commission shall run to the judge of the county or probate court, then the judge of that court shall in like manner, docket a case as before provided. If the parties, plaintiffs or defendants, contestant, contestee, be residents of the county or of an unorganized part of the Territory attached to the county for judicial purposes, the clerk of the district court, or the judge of the county or probate court, if the matter be in his court, shall issue notice to the parties, stating that the notice or commission has been received, and stating the time when, and the place where the court will proceed to take the depositions. If the case be in the distrtct court, or before the commissioner of depositions, the clerk of the court shall issue subpœnas for witnesses, commanding them to appear before the court or commissioner and submit to an examination at the time and place and in the matter named. If the notice or commission be to the judge of the county or probate court, he shall issue the subpœnas and cause them to be served.

Subpœnas.

(1672) § 4. Subpœnas shall be in the form used in civil cases, and served in the same manner.

Distance; mileage; fees.

(1673) § 5. No witnesses shall be compelled to attend at a greater distance than one hundred miles, computing distance by the usually travelled route, nor unless his mileage at ten cents per mile one way and each day's attendance at two dollars per day is tendered to him daily in advance, when demanded by such witness at the time he is served with the subpœna.

Witness, contempt.

(1674) § 6. When subpœnaed, and mileage and fees are tendered, as in the last section provided, if the witness be well and able to travel, he or she shall be bound to appear before the district court or commissioner thereof, or before the county or probate court as the case may be, and testify fully in regard to the matter wherein the deposition is desired, and on failure so to do, shall be guilty of contempt, and, unless excused by the court or commissioner for good cause shown, shall be imprisoned in the county jail until he or she will appear and testify fully, and also be liable for all costs incurred in compelling his attendance. No excuse for disobedience to a subpœna, other than inability to travel to the court, shall be considered unless the party shall appear aud testify fully.

Notice, how served, testimony, when taken.

(1675) § 7. In cases where notice is issued to a person, a resident of the county, such notice must be served on the party, or his attorney of record, in the district court or in the county or probate court, or of record in the matter in which the deposition is being taken at least five days before the examination of the witness is begun. This notice may be served in manner and form as summons are served for the commencement of an action in the district court. At the time so set, the party so notified may appear and show cause, if any he has, why such deposition should not be taken, and if it be shown that no such matter is pending, or that the matter sought to be elicited from the witness is privileged, then the testimony shall not be heard, if it be not so shown, then the court or commissioner of depositions, shall proceed to take the depositions, and for that purpose, is empowered to administer to such witness an oath as required by law, and shall then propound to them the written interrogatories accompanying the commission, and the witness may be orally examined and cross-examined as in cases triable before the court. There shall be no restraint as to examination, except that the matter sought to be drawn out is obviously irrelevant, or that the examination is being unreasonably protracted.

Resident witnesses, no notice.

(1676) § 8. If the parties are none of them residents of the county where the depositions are to be taken and have not appeared in such action or procedure by attorney, then no notice need be issued by the court or commissioner, and the court or commissioner shall proceed to compel the attendance of the witness and take the depositions as in this act provided.

Continuances.

(1677) § 9. Continuances to complete or take depositions, may be had under like circumstances as in cases on trial in the court, in case the witness be unable to appear before the court, or commissioner of depositions, the court or commissioner may adjourn to a place where the witness may be examined.

Depositions, certified to and forwarded.

(1678) § 10. When depositions are to be taken, they shall be certified and sent to the court or land office or townsite commission where the matter is pending in which the evidence is taken or from which the commission issued.

Same, costs.

(1679) § 11. The party taking depositions shall pay all the costs thereof, which shall be the same as are allowed for similar services in courts of record. Chap. 22.

Same voluntary, before whom.

(1680) § 12. Depositions may be taken before any clerk of the court, justice of the peace, or notary public, when the witness appear and testify voluntarily, but such officers shall not compel the attendance of witnesses or punish for contempt.

This act shall be in force from and after its passage and approval.

CHAPTER XXII.—COUNTY SEATS.

AN ACT providing the manner and means of locating and re-locating county seats.

[Took effect December 25, 1890.]

SECTION.
1. County commissioners petitioned.
2. Petition; county lines, time.
3. Voters in county.
4. Petitioners tested, number necessary.
5. Order for election.
6. Ballots; second election.
7. Fraud prevented.
8. Election officer's duties; canvass.
9. County seat removed.
10. Removal not enjoined.
11. Elections legally tested.
12. Trial, method, result.
13. Frequency of removal.
14. Commissioners refuse to act.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

County commissioner's petitioned.

(1681) § 1. It shall be lawful for any voters within the Territory of Oklahoma to petition the board of county commissioners of their county to call an election whereby to determine the location or change of location of the county seat of their county as herein provided, and said petitioners shall give the number of township, range and quarter section on which they reside.

Petition; county lines, times.

(1682) § 2. If at any call, or special or regular session of the county commissioners, there are presented to them petitions, asking that the question of locating or changing the location of the county seat be submitted to the voters thereof, and signed by six tenth of the legal voters of the county, the commissioners shall make the order as hereinafter provided; Provided, That in any county the boundaries shall be fixed at this session of the Legislative Assembly and which shall include therein any territory which has not been settled, or opened to settlement by the United States, no election for changing the county seat shall be held until six months after all the lands in such county, except school lands, shall have been opened up for settlement.

Voters in county.

(1683) § 3. When the petitions are so presented, the county commissioners shall determine from the poll books of the election last held in their county, the number of voters in the county, if the poll book be lost or destroyed, then by the record in the county clerk's office showing such vote.

Petitioners tested, number necessary.

(1684) § 4. For the purpose of enabling the county commissioners to determine whether or not the persons' names signed to the petitions are legal voters in the couny, the petition presented to them shall, each one, contain the names of resident legal voters in one congressional township only, and shall be verified by the affidavit of one or more resident voters of that township or town, to the effect that they know the signers thereof, to be each and all them resident voters of that township, or that they know parts of them so to be, naming the ones so known to them. Different persons, resident voters of the township, may swear that different persons who have signed the petition, naming them, are resident voters of the township and the names so sworn to on the various petitions presented from the several townships shall be added together. and if the total number so signing and sworn to are equal to three-fifths of the number of legal voters in the county as shown by the poll-books or records in the clerk's office, it shall be sufficient evidence to the county board and they shall be bound to make the order submitting the question.

Chap. 22.

Order for election.

(1685) § 5. The order for the election shall plainly state that the proposition to locate the county seat shall be submitted to the voters of the county at the next general election, or at a special election called for that purpose. If the petitioners prayed for a special election, it shall be granted: Provided, however, If there be not more than sixty days between the time of the making of the order and the date fixed for any general election, the vote shall be had at that general election. If the question be submitted at a special election, at least twenty days notice of the time and places for holding the election shall be given by publication as in other elections.

Ballots; second election.

(1686) § 6. At the election there shall be written or printed on the ballots to be voted in that county, the words "For county seat," naming the town desired to be voted, as the voter may wish to vote, and if a majority of the votes cast at the first election be for any one point named, then that shall be the county seat of that county, and within ninety days after the day of election, the offices, furniture, books and records of the county shall be removed to the point so chosen, and the county seat there established. If, however, at such election no one town in the county receive a majority of all the votes cast, the county commissioners shall, when the election returns are canvassed, be bound to call another election within the county, to determine the location of the county seat at such election, and shall at such election give notice for twenty days before the time of voting, as before provided, and shall state the names of the two towns receiving the greatest number of votes at the last election, and at such second election the voters shall cast their ballot for one or the other of the two towns so named, and the town receiving the highest number of votes at the second election shall be the point chosen as the county seat, and the county seat shall be there established within ninety days after the vote is canvassed.

Fraud prevented.

(1687) § 7. For the purpose of preventing the perpetration of frauds in such election, the person favorable to the points to be voted for, shall have the right to designate two persons to sit with the judges at the polling places in the county, from the time the polls are opened for that election until the ballots are counted and the poll-book completed and sealed, and shall have the right to interrogate voters under oath as to their residence and right to vote and to make and keep a list of the voters who voted at the election, copies of all the tally sheets, if so desired, and it shall be the duty of the judges and the clerks of election to certify such copies as being correct and deliver them to the parties so designated to be present, and in all controversies or litigation arising with relation thereto, these copies shall be evidence equal with the originals. The persons in the county opposed to the choice of the place named as a county seat, shall in like manner and with like power and rights, have the right to have persons present at the various polling places.

Election officer's duties; canvass.

(1688) § 8. It shall be the duty of the various officers holding the elections in the various precincts of the county, to open the polls, receive the votes, canvass and make returns of the results of the election, in the same manner as provided by law for so doing in general elections, and the board of county commissioners shall meet and canvass the vote returned, and declare the result as in other elections, and all officers shall perform their duties in like manner as provided by law shall be done in other elections.

County seat removed.

(1689) § 9. If on such canvass the majority of the votes be for any one place as the county seat, it shall be the duty of the board of county commissioners to at once so declare and make a record thereof, and order the county seat to be established at the point so chosen.

Removal not enjoined.

(1690) § 10. If the majority of the votes so cast be in favor of any point for the county seat of that county, then the removal thereof shall not be enjoined in any court or in any manner interfered with, but it shall take place within the time named.

Election legally tested.

(1691) § 11. If any legal voter in the county desires to test the legality of the election so held, and the removal of or the right to retain the county seat at the point to which it may have been so voted and established, they shall have the right so to do by proper proceeding in court, but such proceedings, shall in no manner interfere with the removal or location of the county seat. If it finally be decided that such was wrongful, then the county seat shall be returned to the place from whence it was removed.

Trial, method, result.

(1692) § 12. In all such trials the court shall disregard all informalities in the petition or order calling the election, and shall investigate the question as to whether or not the majority of the votes cast at the election were without fraud. If it be made to appear on the trial that the majority of the votes honestly cast within the county, were not for the point named, as the county seat, then the court shall order the county seat returned as before provided, if a removal has been had-

Frequency of removal.

(1693) § 13. The question of the location of the county seat or the removal thereof, when so determined by a first or second election as before provided, shall not again be voted upon within that county for a period of five years, unless the board of county commissioners be petitioned to resubmit the question by not less than three-fourths of the voters of the county in question in manner as before provided for presenting petitions.

Commissioners refuse to act.

(1694) § 14. If the county commissioners refuse in any way to act in any matter as they are in this act directed to do, or shall

Chap. 23. be guilty of any fraud in connection therewith, they shall be deemed guilty of a felony and upon conviction, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than five years, and when tried for felony the venue of the cause shall be removed te some other county in the Territory. And in addition thereto, such commissioners shall be civilly liable to the county in a sum of one thousand dollars each, liquidated damages and suit therefor may be brought by any legal voter of the county against any one or all of said commissioners for the use and benefit of the county, and the plaintiff or defendants shall be entitled on demand to change the place of trial to any other adjoining county. The costs of elections held under this act shall be paid by the county as in other elections.

This act shall be in force from and after the date of its passage and approval.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

Realty, holding, transfer.

(1695) § 1. All persons twenty-one years of age or over, or bodies politic or corporate, to the extent authorized by law shall be entitled to hold real estate and to convey the same by deed; but no conveyance of real estate or interest therein, for the term of more than one year, shall be valid unless declared by an instrument in writing subscribed and delivered to the party disposing of the same, or by his agent thereunto authorized by writing.

Form of deeds.

(1696) § 2. Deeds of conveyance of real property, shall be substantially in the following form;

Know all men by these presents, that I (or we)————, for and in consideration of.....dollars, in hand paid, do hereby sell and convey to.....the following real property situated in.....county, Territory of Oklahoma, to-wit:.....

.....
.....
with all its appurtenances, and warrant the title to the same.
.....
Signed and delivered this.....day of.....18....
.....
.....

Grantor's covenants.

(1697) § 3. Every deed in substance in the above form, when otherwise properly executed, shall be deemed and held a conveyance in fee simple to the grantee, his heirs or assigns, with covenants on the part of the grantor, as follows:

First. That at the time of making and delivery of such deed, he was legally seized of the indefeasible estate in fee simple, in and to the premises therein described, and had good right and full power to convey the same.

Second. That the same were then free from all incumbrances and that he warrants to the grantee, his heirs and assigns, a quiet and peaceable possession of such premises, and will defend the title thereto against all persons who may lawfully claim the same, and covenants shall be obligatory upon any grantor, his heirs and personal representatives, as full and with like effect as if written at length in such deeds.

Title in fee subsequently required, how passed.

(1698) § 4. Where a grantor by the terms of his deed undertakes to convey to the grantee an indefeasible estate in fee simple absolute, and shall not at the time of such conveyance have the legal title to the estate sought to be be conveyed, but shall afterwards acquire it, the legal estate subsequently acquired by him shall immediately pass to the grantee, and such conveyance shall be as effective as though such legal estate had been in the grantor at the time of the conveyance.

Deed, quit-claim, effect of.

(1699) § 5. A deed executed according to the form in section 2, of this act, with the words "quit claim" substituted for "convey" and the words "warrant the title to the same," omitted therefrom, shall be a deed of quit claim and shall have the effect to convey to the grantee all interest the grantor then held in the land, but the grantee shall hold the land conveyed subject to all outstanding rights or equities thereto, then existing in the hands of others.

Mortgage, form of.

(1700) § 6. Know all men by these presents, that I,..... hereby mortgage to..... to secure the payment of.....dollars due as follows:.....
.....
the following described real property situated in..... County, Territory of Oklahoma, to-wit:
.....
with all the appurtenances, and warrant the title to the same.
Signed and delivered this.....day of.....18....
.....
.....

Chap. 23.

Same, effect of.

(1701) § 7. Every mortgage in substance in the above form, provided in the preceding section, when otherwise properly executed, shall be deemed and held a good and sufficient mortgage in fee simple to secure the payment of the money therein specified, and if the same contain the words "and warrant the title to the same," it shall be construed the same as if full covenants of seizure, good right to convey against incumbrances of quiet enjoyment, and general warranty, as expressed in section 3, were fully written therein, or if the words "and warrant the title to the same" are omitted, no such covenant shall be implied.

Notice to defend warranty.

(1702) § 8. In all cases where there is a recovery of the land or any interest therein, adverse to any warranty deed thereto, the judgment by which such recovery is had shall be effective only against previous grantors who are parties thereto, or who had thirty days notice in writing of the pendency of such action previous to the trial thereof. Any grantee holding an interest in realty, adverse to the plaintiff, may cause notice of the pendency of such action to be served on any grantor who has made a warranty deed to the realty, the conveyance of which would be broken if there be a recovery in the action and demanding that he appear and defend the same, and if after thirty days notice thereof, such grantor fails to appear and defend, if there be a recovery in that action, each warrantor so notified who fails to appear and defend shall be found by the judgment rendered and shall be liable to the property granted under him for the purchase price of the land by him received, together with ten per cent annual interest thereon, and for a reasonable attorney's fee, and for all costs incurred in defending the action: Provided, however, That any warrantor not so notified, shall not thereby be released from his covenants, but may be liable therein in a separate action.

Power of attorney to convey real estate.

(1703) § 9. The power of attorney in fact, for the conveyance of real estate, shall be executed and acknowledged in manner and form as required for the acknowledgment of other conveyances of real estate, shall be recorded in the same office: Provided, however, That no deed executed by virtue of such power of attorney, shall be received for record unless the power of attorney under which it is executed is or has been filed for record in the same office.

Form of acknowledgment.

(1704) § 10. Acknowledgments of all instruments affecting real estate shall be in the following form:

TERRITORY OF OKLAHOMA, } S.S.
COUNTY OF ..... }

.....Before me, ...
.....a.....in and for the above named county and Territory, on this..... day of.....18...., personally appeared.....

(1709) § 15. Deeds, bonds, agreements in writing, and power of attorney for the conveyance of lands or any interest therein, executed in any foreign country, and the acknowledgment or proof of the execution thereof, may be executed, heard, taken and certified in the language of such foreign country, and the translation thereof in the English language and thereto attached, by any person learned in the language of such foreign country and by such person sworn to be a true and correct translation thereof, before any officer or court authorized to take an acknowledgment of deeds, shall entitle such deed, bond, agreement or power of attorney and the certificate of acknowledgment or proof thereof, to be read in evidence, and recorded with like effect as if written in the English language, but such translation shall not be conclusive upon any party desiring to question the correctness thereof. No such deed or other writing shall be entitled to record unless accompanied by such sworn translation. Chap. 23.

Commissioners to convey real estate.

(1710) § 16. The board of county commissioners of any county, or the trustees or council of any city, or the board of trustees of any town, may by order to be entered on record among the proceedings of such board, or council, appoint a commissioner, to sell and convey any real estate belonging to any such county, city, or town, and to affix to any conveyance thereof, the seal of such county, city, or town; and such conveyance executed in accordance with such order, and acknowledged as herein before provided, shall have the effect to transfer to the grantee named, all the interest of such county, city, or town in the real estate so conveyed.

Private corporations may convey, how.

(1711) § 17. Private corporations authorized by law, to convey their real estate, may convey the same in the manner authorized in this act, or by deed under their common seal subscribed and acknowledged by their president or other head officer.

Corporations may convey by attorney.

(1712) § 18. Such private corporations, domestic or foreign, may by writing executed in the manner provided for the conveyance of real estate, by corporations, agents, attorneys in fact to convey real estate and all conveyances executed by such attorneys in fact, in the name of the corporation, shall pass the legal title of such corporation to the real estate thereby conveyed, as effectually as if conveyance had been executed by the corporation in the manner provided by law for the conveyance of real estate by corporation. And it shall not be necessary to affix the seal of the corporation to conveyance so executed by such authority in fact.

Sheriff's deed.

(1713) § 19. Deeds executed by any sheriff or other officer, for real estate sold under execution, or pursuant to the decree or order of any court, shall be acknowledged or proved, and admitted to record in like manner and with like effect as other deeds.

Conveyances void, when.

(1714) § 20. All instruments conveying or affecting the title to the homestead exempted by law to the head of a family, shall be void unless the husband and wife sign and acknowledge one and the same joint instrument conveying the same.

Instruments void, when.

(1715) § 21. All instruments, other than leases for a period of one year, affecting the title of realty occupied as the homestead of a family shall be void unless the husband and wife join in the execution and acknowledge the instrument conveying the same.

Married persons may convey under certain conditions.

(1716) § 22. Married persons may convey real estate other than the homestead without the concurrence of the husband or wife, as the case may be, but the title thereby conveyed, shall be subject to the inchoate right of inheritance, held by the husband or wife, not joining in the deed, if he or she survive the one executing the deed: Provided, That where the wife or husband do so join, he, or she, shall be deemed to have conveyed his, or her, right of inheritance only, and not to have joined in the covenant of warrants.

Land, real estate and deed defined.

(1717) § 23. The terms "land" and "real estate," as used in this act, shall be construed as co-extensive in the meaning with the terms "land," tenants and hereditaments. The term "deed" as used in this act, includes mortgages, leases, and re-leases. and other conveyances and incumbrances purporting to affect the interest in or title to real estate.

Chap. 23.

Certified copy of will may be recorded, effect of.

(1718) § 24. A certified copy of any will in writing for the devisee of real estate in this Territory, that shall have been executed heretofore, or shall be executed hereafter, together with a certified copy of the probate thereof, may be recorded in the office of the chief [county] clerk or recorder of deeds in each and every county wherein any of such real estate so devised may be situated, and all other decrees in probate in such probate courts, determining the descent of real estate, may in like manner be recorded. In case any decree or order, or certified copy or otherwise of any appellate court, shall be filed in any such probate court for the government thereof, in the premises, a copy of the same shall be attached to any such will, and probate thereof; or to such decree, as the case may be, and certified with the other papers to be recorded as aforesaid, and thereafter the devisee therein named shall be deemed the owner of such real estate for all purposes including that of assessment and taxation.

Clerk to furnish copy.

(1719) § 25. The clerk of any court, upon demand, shall furnish to any party in interest, copies of any such papers and records, properly attested and certified by him under the seal to the court, and the same shall thereupon be admitted to record accordingly.

Certified copies of record, evidence.

(1720) § 26. Such records of any such certified will and probate thereof, and of any such decree, and of said accompanying papers and records in relation to any such will or decree, shall be received in all courts of the Territory as evidence of the title to any real estate so devised by will or determined by decrees, to the same extent as the record of deeds to real estate in such office.

Fees of county clerk

(1721) § 27. Any such county clerk shall be entitled to the same fee as in other cases of certification of copies of records in his office, and any such recorder shall be entitled to the same fee as in cases of deeds to real estate.

Satisfaction of mortgage.

(1722) § 28. That when the mortgagee of any property within this Territory, shall receive payment of the money due to him, he shall enter saisfaction thereof on the margin of the record where such mortgage is recorded, and such satisfaction so entered, shall operate and be taken to release the said mortgage to whoever may be entitled to the release, and shall convey the title of the property described in such mortgage recorded to whomsoever may be entitled to receive the same as a released deed, executed under the formalities regulating conveyances would have done.

Clerks to leave space for satisfaction.

(1723) § 29. That the clerk and recorder of each county, when recording a mortgage, shall leave space on the margin of the record for the entry of satisfaction, and by the direction of the mortgagee shall record therein the satisfaction made on said mortgage, or permit the mortgagee to enter therein the satisfaction of said mortgage, which record shall have the same force and effect as the record of a released deed of said mortgage.

Estate in joint tenancy.

(1724) § 30. No estate in joint tenancy, in any lands, tenements or hereditaments, shall be held or claimed under any grant, devise or conveyance whatsoever, unless the premises therein mentioned shall be therein so expressly declared to pass, except in case of executors and trustees. And every estate in lands, tenements or hereditaments held by two or more, other than executors or trustees, shall be deemed to be tenancy in common, unless otherwise expressly declared.

Estates in fee tail.

(1725) § 31. In case where by common law any person may become seized in fee tail of any lands, tenements or hereditaments by any means, whatsoever, such person, instead of becoming seized in fee tail thereof, shall be seized of such lands, tenements or hereditaments, for his or her natural life only. And the remainder shall pass in fee simple absolute to the person or persons to whom the estate would first pass on the death of such first grantee, devisee or donee, according to the law of descent of this Territory, by virtue of such devise or conveyance.

Estate in fee simple.

(1726) § 32. Every estate in land which shall be granted, conveyed or devised to one shall be deemed a fee simple estate of inheritance, unless limited by express words.

Remainder.

(1727) § 33. When any estate shall be by any conveyance limited in remainder to the child or children of any person to be begotten, such child or children born after the decease of his or her parent shall take the estate in the same manner as if born in the life time of the parent, though no estate shall have been conveyed to support the contingent remainder after his death.

Possession.

(1728) § 34. All conveyances of real estate and interest therein, duly executed and delivered, shall be held to carry with them the right to immediate possession of the premises or interest conveyed, unless otherwise specified.

Conveyances of commissioner, sheriff or other officer.

(1729) § 35. Every conveyance of real estate by a commissioner, sheriff or other officer legally authorized to sell, under, or by virtue of a decree or judgment of any court within this Territory, shall be good and effectual to pass the absolute title to such real estate to the purchaser thereof, but nothing herein shall be construed to affect the rights, title or interest of any person or persons other than the parties to such conveyance, decree or judgment, and those claiming under them.

Estate of inheritance.

(1730) § 36. An estate of freehold or inheritance may be made to commence in the future by deed or conveyance, in like manner as by will.

This act shall be in force and effect on and after the adjournment of the present session of the Legislative Assembly.

[Took effect December 25, 1890.]

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

County surveyor's duties.

(1731) § 1. The county surveyor shall make in a good and professional manner all surveys of land within his county which he may be called upon by the owner thereof, or his representative, or directed by the district or probate courts, or the board of county commissioners, to make; and also all lands, tracts or lots owned by the county, and public roads when so directed by said board, and his surveys shall be held as presumptively correct.

Same.

(1732) § 2. He shall transcribe the field notes and plats of such surveys into convenient and substantial record books to be furnished by the county, when the board of county commissioners shall deem it advisable, and said records shall be entered in an orderly manner, easy of reference, and shall be delivered to his successor in office, they may be kept in the office of the county clerk, and said record shall be competent evidence in all courts of the facts therein set forth.

Re-survey and sub-division.

(1733) § 3. The re-survey and sub-divisions of lands by all surveyors shall be according to the laws of the United States, and the instructions issued by the officers thereof in charge of the public land surveys, in all respects; and in the sub-divisions of fractional sections, bounded on any side by a meandered lake or river, or the boundary of any reservation or irregular survey, the subdivision lines running toward and closing upon the same shall be run at courses in all points intermediate and equidistant, as near as may be, between the like section lines established by the original survey.

Boundary in dispute.

(1734) § 4. Whenever the survey made is of lines and monuments in dispute between parties, or by order of the district or probate courts, the chainmen must be of disinterested persons, approved and sworn by the surveyor, to measure justly and impartially to the best of their skill and ability.

(1735) § 5. The record of the field notes and the plats shall show distinctly of what piece of land it is a survey, at whose request it was made, what owners were notified and present at the date of survey, the names of the chainmen, and that they were approved and sworn to by the surveyor when so required by law. The courses shall be taken according to the true meridian, and the variations of the magnetic needle therefrom shall be noted, and also when any material change therein shall occur.

Field notes.

(1736) § 6. In retracing lines or making any survey, he shall take care to observe and follow the boundaries and monuments as run and marked by the original survey, but shall not give weight to partial and doubtful evidences or appearances of monuments, the recognition of which shall require the presumption of marked errors in the original survey, and he shall note an exact description of such apparent monuments.

Retracing lines; evidence of original survey.

(1737) § 7. All necessary chainmen and other assistants must be paid for their services by the person for whom the survey is made, unless otherwise specially agreed.

Who to pay assistants.

This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the date of the adjournment of this session of the Legislative Assembly.

books that the amounts received and paid on account of each separate and distinct fund or appropriation shall be exhibited in separate and distinct columns or accounts, and so as to show whether the same was received or paid in cash, or warrants or orders, and if either of the latter, their designation and other particulars as above required; and the county treasurer shall at all times exhibit such accounts when desired, to the Territorial, county or school officers entitled to examine the same and shall at any time pay over the balance in his hands to them, upon receiving proper vouchers.

Settlement with county commissioners.

(1740) § 3. The books, accounts, and vouchers of the county treasurer, and all moneys, warrants or orders remaining in the treasury, shall at all times be subject to the inspection and examination of the board of county commissioners, and at the regular meetings of the board in January and July of each year, and at such other times as they may direct, he shall settle with them his accounts as treasurer, and for that purpose he shall exhibit to them all his books, accounts and moneys, and all vouchers relating to the same, to be audited and allowed, which vouchers shall be retained by them for evidence of his settlement; and if found correct the accounts shall be so certified; if not he shall be liable on his bond.

May insure county buildings

(1741) § 4. When directed by the board of county commissioners he shall cause to be insured at the charge of the county, any or all of the public buildings and property belonging to the same, in the name of himself as treasurer and successors in office, or otherwise as said board may direct; and in case of the destruction or damage of the buildings or property so insured such treasurer shall demand and receive the moneys due on account of such insurance, and pay the same into the county treasury, and such money shall be applied to the fund for rebuilding or restoring such buildings or property under the direction of the county commissioners.

Treasurer to certify to abstract.

(1742) § 5. It is hereby made the duty of each county treasurer of the county where the property is situated to attach his certificate to each and all abstracts of title to real estate that may be presented to him for that purpose, which certificate shall show the amount of due and unpaid taxes against, or tax title affecting the land described in such abstract, as the same shall appear from the records in his office; and for compensation therefor, he shall receive the sum of twenty-five cents for each abstract so certified and for each failure or refusal to comply with the provisions of this act he shall be liable to a fine not to exceed the sum of fifty dollars.

Oath, bond.

(1743 § 6. The county treasurers shall before they enter upon the duties of their office take the usual oath of office and shall enter into a bond to be provided by their respective county commissioners in the sums as follows: In counties of ten thousand inhabitants or over, not less than seventy-five thousand dollars: In counties of under ten thousand and not less than five thousand inhabitants in the sum of fifty thousand dollars: In counties of five thousand inhabitants or less, not less than twenty-five thousand dollars; the conditions of such bond shall be as follows in substance: Whereas, The above bounden..... was elected to the office of county treasurer of the county of..... on the.....day of....., Now Therefore, The condition of this obligation is such that if the said..... or his deputy or deputies and all persons employed in his office shall faithfully and promptly perform the duties of his office and if the said.....and his deputies shall pay according to law all moneys which shall come to his hand as treasurer and will render a just and true account thereof whenever required by said board of county commissioners or by any provision of law and shall deliver over to his successor in office or to any other person authorized by law to receive the same, all moneys, books, papers, and other things appertaining thereto, or belonging to said office then the above obligation to be void, otherwise to be in full force and effect. Said bond shall run to the Territory of Oklahoma, and action may be brought thereon in the name of the Territory for the use and benefit of person or persons injured by violation thereof. Chap. 24.

(1744) § 7. No county treasurer shall hold his office for a longer period than two terms in succession. Not eligible to "third term."

This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the final adjournment of the first session of the Legislative Assembly.

AN ACT relating to the office of sheriff and defining the duties thereof.

[Took effect December 25, 1890.]

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

(1745) § 1. A sheriff shall be elected in each organized county, for the term of two years, and until his successor is elected and qualified, and who shall, before he enters upon the duties of his office, execute to the Territory of Oklahoma, a bond with at least three sufficient sureties, in such penal sum not less than three thousand dollars nor more than twenty thousand dollars, as the board of county commissioners shall specify and approve; said bond when thus approved, to be filed in the office of the county clerk: Provided, That the sheriff elected at the first election for the election of county officers, shall hold his office until his suc- Election; bond.

cessor is elected at a general election in one thousand eight hundred and ninety-two, and qualified.

Conditions of bond.

(1746) § 2. The conditions of such bond shall be in substance as follows: WHEREAS, the above bounden..... was elected to the office of sheriff of the county of..... on the.....day of.....; now the condition of this obligation is such that if the said.....shall well and faithfully perform and execute the office of sheriff of said county of.....during his continuance in office, by virtue of said election, without fraud, deceit, or oppression, and shall pay over all moneys that may come into his hands as such sheriff, and shall deliver to his successor all writs, papers and other things pertaining to his office, which may be so required by law, then the above obligation shall be void; otherwise to be and remain in full force and effect.

Vacancy, under-sheriff.

(1747) § 3. The sheriff of each county may, as soon as may be, after entering upon the duties of his office, appoint some proper person under-sheriff of said county, who shall also be a general deputy, to hold during the pleasure of the sheriff; and as often as a vacancy shall occur in the office of such under-sheriff, or he become incapable of executing the same, another shall in like manner be appointed in his place.

Coroner as sheriff

(1748) § 4. Whenever a vacancy occurs in the office of sheriff of any county, the under-sheriff of said county, if there be one, if not, the coroner shall in all things execute the office of sheriff until a sheriff shall be appointed by the board of county commissioners, who shall hold his office until his successor is elected and qualified; and any default or misfeasance in office of such under-sheriff in the meantime, as well as before such vacancy, shall be deemed to be a breach of the condition of the bond given by the sheriff who appointed him, and also a breach of the condition of the bond executed by such under-sheriff to the sheriff by whom he was appointed.

Under-sheriffs and their duties.

(1749) § 5. Each sheriff may appoint such number of under-sheriffs as the business of his office may require, but shall appoint only such persons as the board of county commissioners approve. For the official acts of his under-sheriff, he shall be responsible, and may revoke such appointments at his pleasure. He, or the under-sheriff, may in writing depute certain persons to do particular acts. The sheriff and his sureties shall be responsible on his official bond for the acts and omissions of his under-sheriff, and also for the acts and omissions of the persons deputed to do particular acts.

Appointments and revocations.

(1750) § 6. Every appointment for an under-sheriff or of a deputy-sheriff, and every revocation of such appointments, shall be in writing, under the hand of the sheriff, and shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county; but this section shall not extend to any person who may be deputized by any sheriff or under-sheriff to do any particular act only.

Custody of jail.

(1751) § 7. The sheriff shall have the charge and custody of the jail of his county, and all the prisoners in the same, and shall keep such jail himself, or by his deputy, or jailer for whose acts he and his sureties shall be liable.

Service of writs, etc.

(1752) § 8. The sheriff, in person or by his under-sheriff or deputy, shall serve and execute according to law, all process, writs, precepts and orders issued or made by lawful authorities, and to him directed, and shall attend upon the several courts of record held in his county, and shall receive such fees for his services as are allowed by law.

Peace preserved, how.

(1753) § 9. It shall be the duty of the sheriff, under-sheriffs and deputies, to keep and preserve the peace of their respective counties, and to quiet and suppress all affrays, riots and unlawful assemblies and insurrections, for which purpose and for the service of process in civil and criminal cases, and in apprehending or securing any person for felony or breach of the peace, they and every constable may call to their aid such person or persons of their county as they may deem necessary.

New sheriff takes possession.

(1754) § 10. Whenever a new sheriff shall be elected, and shall have been qualified as required by law, the former sheriff, upon demand, shall deliver to him the jail and other property of the county, and all prisoners in such jail, and all writs, processes, orders and other papers belonging to such office, and in his possession, or that of his under sheriff or deputies, except as provided in the next succeeding section; and upon delivery thereof, such new sheriff shall execute to the former sheriff his receipt therefor.

Writs unexecuted, when returned.

(1755) § 11. Sheriffs, and under-sheriffs and deputies may execute and return all such writs and processes as shall be in their hands at the expiration of their office, or at the time of their removal from office, which they shall have begun to execute by service, levy or collection of money thereon.

Deputy's misconduct.

(1756) § 12. Any default or misconduct in the office of deputy sheriff or jailor, after the death, resignation or removal of any sheriff by whom he was appointed, shall be adjudged a breach of the bond of such sheriff.

Sheriff's administrators liable.

(1757) § 13. Any action for default or misconduct of any sheriff, his under-sheriff, jailor, or any of his deputies, may be prosecuted against the executors or administrators of such sheriff.

Writs, how served on sheriff.

(1758) § 14. Every paper required by law to be served on the sheriff, may be served on him in person, or left at his office during his business hours.

Giving attorney prefere nce.

(1759) § 15. No sheriff, under-sheriff, deputy-sheriff, or person by either of them deputed to do any special act, shall, directly or indirectly, by himself or through others in any way suggest or indicate to, or advise any person having any proceeding or about to have any proceeding in any court, or other matter, that any attorney or firm of attorneys are desirable, or successful practitioners, or in any way do any act liable to influence or direct such person in his, her, or their choice of attorneys. Nor shall any such sheriff, under-sheriff, or deputy-sheriff, appear, or advise as attorney or counsellor in the case, or in any court. Any sheriff, under-sheriff. deputy-sheriff or person so specially deputed, who shall violate any one of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and for the first offense shall be fined ten dollars, aud on the second conviction shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars. And for the third offense, he shall be removed from office. The sheriff shall keep posted in each cell of the jail a list of the attorneys practicing in his county.

Failure to make return.

(1760) § 16. Whenever any sheriff shall neglect to make due return of any writ or process delivered to him to be executed, or shall be guilty of any default or misconduct in relation thereto, he shall be liable to fine or attachment, or both at the discretion of the court, subject to appeal; such fine, however not to exceed two hundred dollars; and also an action for damages to the party so aggrieved.

Receiving unlawful fees.

(1761) § 17. No sheriff shall, directly or indirectly, ask, demand or receive for any service to be by him performed in the discharge of any of his official duties any greater fees than are allowed by law, on pain of forfeiting treble damages to the party aggrieved, and in being fined in a sum not less than twenty-five dollars, nor more than two thousand dollars.

This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the date af the final adjournment of the Legislature.

[Took effect December 25, 1890.]

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly, of the Territory of Oklahoma.

County attorney.

(1762) § 1. A county attorney shall be elected in each county in this Territory organized for judicial purposes, at the first election for the election of county officers after the passage of this act, and at every biennial election thereafter, who shall hold his office for the term of two years and until his successor shall be elected and qualified; and shall, before he enters upon the duties of his office, take and subscribe the oath of office prescribed by law, and shall execute a bond to his county in the penal sum of one thousand dollars, with two or more sureties to be approved by the county clerk of such county, which bond shall be conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties as such county attorney, and that he will pay over to the treasurer of his county, in the manner prescribed by law, all moneys which come to his hand by virtue of his office, and shall deposit such oath and bond in the county clerk's office: Provided, That no person shall be eligible to the office of county attorney who is not duly admitted to practice as an attorney in some court of record in this Territory.

Residence.

(1763) § 2. The county attorney shall be a resident of the county in which he is elected or appointed.

Vacancy.

(1764) § 3. In case of a vacancy in the office of county attorney from any cause, the board of county commissioners of the county where such vacancy occurs, shall appoint a county attorney to fill such office until the next general election, who shall qualify under the provisions of this act.

Duties in court.

(1765) § 4. It shall be the duty of the county attorney of the several counties to appear in the district courts of their respective counties and prosecute and defend, on behalf of the Territory, or his county, all actions or proceedings, civil or criminal, in which the Territory or county is interested or a party; and whenever the venue is changed in any criminal case, or in any civil action or proceeding in which his county of the Territory is interested or a party, it shall be the duty of the county attorney of the county where such indictment is found, or the county interested in such civil action or proceeding, to appear and prosecute such indictment, and to prosecute or defend such civil action or proceeding in the county to which the same may be changed.

Same.

(1766) § 5. Each county attorney shall when requested by any magistrate of his connty, appear on behalf of the Territory, before any such magistrate, other than those exercising police jurisdiction of incorporated cities and villages, and prosecute all complaints made in behalf of the Territory, except for common assault and battery, of which such magistrate shall have jurisdiction.

Legal opinion to civil officers.

(1767) § 6. The county attorney shall, without fee, give opinions and advice to the board of county commissioners and other civil officers of their respective counties, when requested by such board or officers, upon all matters in which the county is interested, or relating to the duties of such board or officers in which the Territory or county may have an interest.

Salary.

(1768) § 7. The salary of the county attorney shall be fixed by the board of county commissioners at their January meeting in eighteen hundred and ninety-one, and at their July meeting in each even numbered year thereafter: Provided, That the salary of the county attorney shall not be changed during the term for which such officer was elected: Provided further, That in counties having a population of not more than five thousand inhabitants, the salary shall not exceed five hundred dollars. In counties having a population of over five thousand and not more than ten thousand inhabitants, the salary shall nct exceed seven hundred and fifty dollars. In counties having a population of over ten thousand and not more than twelve thousand five hundred inhabitants, the salary shall not exceed one thousand dollars. In counties having a population of over twelve thousand five hundred inhabitants the salary shall not exceed twelve hundred dollars. The population of the counties shall be determined by the last national or Territortorial census: And provided further, That the salary of the county attorney shall be paid quarterly.

cessor in office; with the amount of taxes uncollected on the tax-roll, delivered over to his successor in office.

Same, items kept separately.

(1788) § 13. The county clerk in making the above charges, credits and entries, shall state each different fund and each item of each different fund separately.

When to assess property.

(1789) § 14. It shall be the duty of the county clerk to assess at a fair value the property of any person liable to pay taxes which the township assessor has failed to assess, and place the same on the tax roll; and the county treasurer shall collect the taxes on the same as in other cases; and it shall further be the duty of the county treasurer to notify the county clerk of any such property which may come to his knowledge and the county clerk, for the purpose of assessing the same, is authorized to administer oaths to the owner of such property, or to any other person, touching the value of the same, but the county clerk is not required to see such property in person.

Countersign treasurer's receipt, when.

(1790) § 15. In all cases when any person shall pay any money into the county treasury, he shall take a receipt therefor from the county treasurer, but said receipt shall be of no validity until it is countersigned by the county clerk, except it be a tax receipt.

Report to auditor.

(1791) § 16. That it shall be the duty of the county clerks of the several counties in this Territory; on or before the third Monday of July in each year, to make out and forward to the Auditor of the Territory, a financial exhibit of their respective counties for the preceding year ending June thirtieth. The said exhibits shall comprise a clear and concise statement of the financial condition of each county, including the amounts expended for county purposes; the amount of county warrants outstanding; the aggregate indebtedness of the county; the total amount of taxable property; the rate of tax levied; the amount of floating and bonded indebtedness, city and school districts in the county; the date of issue and date of maturity of all outstanding funds; the amount of sinking fund on hand; if any, for redeeming the same, and such other information as may be required by the Auditor of the Territory concerning the financial condition of their respective counties.

Draw orders on county treasurer.

(1792) § 17. It shall be the duty of the county clerk to draw orders on the county treasurer of the proper county from time to time for any money that may have been collected for, or that may be due to any city, town, township, school district or other municipal organization in his county, in favor of the proper person or organization, and shall keep a record of the date and amount of all such orders, and the name of the person to whom given, and for what purpose, and in a settlement with the county treasurer, he shall give him credit for all such orders that have been paid by such treasurer and filed in his office.

Duty at close of treasurer's term.

(1793) § 18. The county clerk at the close of any person's term of office as county treasurer, whether by resignation or otherwise, and at the time or before said treasurer's successor's term of office shall commence, shall place on the tax roll of his county, in a separate column, and opposite each description of property upon which the taxes then remain unpaid, the aggregate amount of such unpaid taxes; and for such purpose, said tax roll shall be delivered to the county clerk, and no taxes shall be received in the mean time.

Warrant when cancelled.

(1794) § 19. Whenever any county warrant issued to any person, remain in the office of the county clerk unclaimed for a period of three years from the date thereof, such warrant shall be returned by him to the board of county commissioners and cancelled.

List of officer's furnished Secretary.

(1795) § 20. The county clerks of the several counties of this Territory, shall annually on the fourth Monday of January, prepare and file in the office of the Secretary of the Territory, a list of the officers of their respective counties, elected at the next [last] preceding general election, which list shall contain the genuine signatures of all county officers, and imprint of the official seal of such as are by law required to keep them, and the county clerk shall certify under the seal of his office, that such signatures and the imprints of such seals are the genuine signatures and seals of the respective officers, and that they were attached in his presence: Provided, That in case of any vacancy in any county office, the county clerk shall immediately transmit to the Secretary of the Territory the genuine signature of the person elected or appointed to fill such vacancy: And provided further, That any county clerk failing or refusing to comply with the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by a fine of not less than ten or more than fifty dollars.

Office hours.

(1796) § 21. The county clerk shall keep his office open from eight o'clock a. m. to six o'clock p. m. of each secular day.

This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the final adjournment of the first session of the Legislative Assembly.

AN ACT providing for county commissioners and defining the duties thereof.

[Took effect December 25, 1890]

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

County commissioners, election, vacancy.

(1797) § 1. At the first election held after the passage of this act for choice of county officers, there shall be chosen by the voters of the whole county, three county commissioners, who shall hold their offices as follows: the member having the highest number of votes shall hold his office until the first Tuesday in January one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five, and the other two until the first Tuesday in January one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three, and all of them shall hold until their successors are elected and qualified. When the county shall be divided into districts as provided by section two of this act, the district in which the member holding until January one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five resides shall be designated as the first commissioner's district, and the others numbered as second and third districts. At the general election in November one thousand eight hundred and ninety-two the voters in the second district shall elect a county commissioner who shall hold his office for four years from the first Tuesday in January following his election, and the voters in the third district shall at the same election elect one member, who shall hold his office for two years from January, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three. At the general election in November, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four the third district shall elect one member for four years, and the voters of the first district shall elect one member for two years. At the general election held in November, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-six, the voters of the first district shall choose a member for four years and the legal voters of the second district shall choose one member for two years, and so on in rotation among the districts at each biennial election. If there be a vacancy a successor shall be chosen for the unexpired portion of the term made vacant.

County divided into election districts.

(1798) § 2. Each county shall be divided by the board of county commissioners elected under this act into three compact districts as equal in population as possible, numbered respectively one, two and three, and subject to alteration at least once in three years, and one commissioner shall be elected from each of said districts by the voters of the district, as heretofore provided; but if in any county the afore mentioned board of county commissioners shall fail to make such division before any election for county commissioners such failure shall in no case prevent the election of said commissioners, and no person holding any state, county, township, or city office, any employe, officer or stock-holder in any railroad in which the county owns stock shall be eligible to the office of county commissioner.

Commissioners bond.

(1799) § 3. Every county commissioner before entering upon the duties of his office shall execute a bond in the penal sum of not less than one or more than five thousand dollars, the amount and sufficiency of such bond to be determined by the judge having probate jurisdiction in the county, and said bond shall be filed and kept in the office of said court.

County seal.

(1800) § 4. The board of county commissions shall procure and keep a seal with such emblems and devices as they may think proper, which shall be the seal of the county, and no other seal shall be used by the county clerk; and the impression of the seal hereby required to be kept by the stamp shall be sufficient sealing in all cases where sealing is required.

Meetings, general and special, no tice of (1801)§ 5. The county commissioners shall meet and hold sessions for the transaction of business at the court houses in their respective counties, or at the usual places of holding court, on the first Mondays in January, April, July and October of each year, and may adjourn from time to time; and the county clerk shall have power to call special sessions when the interest of the county demands it, upon giving five days notice of the time and object of calling the commissioners together, by posting up notices in three public places in the county or by publication in one newspaper in the county: Provided, That in case of vacancy in the office of register of deeds, the chairman of the board shall have power to call a special session for the purpose of filling the same until an election shall be held to fill such vacancy.

Chairman, how elected.

(1802) § 6. At the first meeting of the county commissioners in each and every year they shall elect one of their number chairman, who shall act as chairman of the board of said commissioners

Chap. 24.

during the year in which he is elected, or until his successor is elected, and in case of a vacancy from any cause whatever the board of county commissioners shall elect another chairman.

Accounts, manner and form of presenting, when allowed.

(1803) § 7. No account shall be allowed by the board of county commissioners unless the same be made out in separate items, and the nature of each item stated, and when no specific fees are allowed by law, the time actually and necessarily devoted to the performance of any service charged in such accounts shall be specified which account so made out shall be verified by affidavit setting forth that the same is just and correct and remains due and unpaid: Provided, That nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent any such board from disallowing any account in whole or in part when so rendered and verified, nor from requiring any other or further evidences of the truth and propriety thereof as they may think proper, and it shall be unlawful for any board of county commissioners to allow any claim or account against the county at any special or adjourned meeting of the board except for election expenses and jury fees, and all other claims or accounts against the county shall be allowed only at the regular meeting of the board in January, April, July and October of each year.

Chairman, powers and duties.

(1804) § 8. It shall be the duty of the chairman of the board of county commissioners to preside at the meetings of said board, and he shall have the power to administer oaths to any person concerning any matter submitted to the board or connected with their powers and duties; and all orders made by the board of county commissioners, and all warrants drawn on the county treasurer, shall be signed by the chairman and attested by the clerk.

Equally divided on vote.

(1805) § 9. When the board of county commissioners are equally divided on any question they shall defer a decision until the next meeting of the board, and then the matter shall be decided by a majority of the board.

Copies of proceedings.

(1806) § 10. Copies of the proceedings of the board of county commissioners, duly certified and attested by the county clerk under seal shall be received as evidence in all courts in this Territory.

Certain jurisdiction.

(1807) § 11. The board of county commissioners shall have power to preserve order when sitting as a board, and may punish contempts by fines not exceeding five dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding twenty-four hours; they may force obedience to all orders made by attachment or other compulsory process, and when fines are aseessed by them the same may be collected before any justice of the peace having jurisdiction, and shall be paid over as other fines within ten days after they are collected.

Account with county treasurer.

(1808) § 12. The said commissioners shall keep a distinct account with the treasurer of the county, iu a book provided for that purpose, commencing from the day on which the treasurer became qualified and ccntinuing until the same or another person is qualified as treasurer, in which account they shall charge the treasurer with all sums paid him and for all sums for whfch the treasurer is accountable to the county, and they shall credit him with all warrants returned and cancelled, with all moneys paid and with all vouchers presented by him and with all matters with which the treasurer is to be credited on account; and the said board in their settlement with the treasurer shall keep the general, special and road tax separate, that any citizen of the county may see how the same is expended.

Record of orders and decisions.

(1809) § 13. They shall keep a book in which all orders and decisions made by them shall be recorded, except those relating to roads and bridges; and all orders for the allowance of money from the county treasury shall state on what account and to whom the allowance is made, dating the same and numbering them consecutively as follows: From the first day of January to the thirty-first day of December, inclusive in each year.

Records relating to bridges and roads.

(1810) § 14. They shall keep a book for the entry of all proceedings and adjudications relating to bridges, and the establishment, change or discontinuance of roads.

Record of warrants on county treasurer.

(1811) § 15. They shall keep a book for the entry of warrants on the county treasurer, showing number, date, amount and name of the payee of each warrant drawn on the treasury, which book may be known as the "Warrant Book", and the warrants shall be numbered in relation to the order and decision allowing the amount for which the same was drawn.

Warrants cancelled, when.

(1812) § 16. The board of commissioners of the several counties of this Territory are hereby authorized and required at each regular meeting to cancel and destroy all warrants drawn on any fund of the county that may have remained uncalled for and on file for a period of three years and upwards next preceding the regular meeting at which the cancellation takes place.

Record of cancelled warrants.

(1813) § 17. Said commissioners before cancelling and destroying any such warrants shall cause to be entered in the minutes of their proceedings a brief description thereof, containing the name of the payee, the number, date and amount of each warrant destroyed.

Civil actions on behalf of county.

(1814) § 18. They shall have power to institute and prosecute civil actions in the name of the county, for and on behalf of the county.

Commissioner's powers.

(1815) § 19. First. They shall have power to make all orders respecting the property of the county, to sell the public grounds of the county, and to purchase other grounds in lieu thereof; and for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this section it shall be sufficient to convey all the interest of the county in such grounds when an order made for the sale and a deed is executed in the name of the county by the chairman of the board of commissioners, reciting the order, and signed and acknowledged by him for and on behalf of the county: Provided, however, That the question of the sale of such public grounds or lands, if the value thereof exceed the sum of two thousand dollars, shall be first submitted to a vote of the people of the county as hereinafter provided, and sanctioned by a majority vote thereof.

Second. They shall have power to levy a tax not exceeding the amount now authorized by law, and to liquidate indebtedness.

Third. To audit the accounts of all officers having the care management, collection or disbursement of auy money belonging to the county or appropriated for its benefit.

Fourth. To contract and repair bridges, and to open, lay out, vacate and change highways, to establish one or more election precincts in each municipal township in their county; and to equalize the assessment rolls of their county, in the manner provided by law.

Fifth. To furnish necessary blank books, plats, blanks and stationery for clerks of the district court, county clerk, register of deeds, county treasurer and probate judge, county surveyor and county attorney of their respective counties, to be paid out of the county treasury; also a fire proof safe or vault when in their judgment the same shall be deemed advisable, in which to keep all the books, records, vouchers, and papers pertaining to the business of the county.

Sixth. To set off, organize and change the boundaries and townships in their respective counties, to designate and give names therefor, and to fix the time and place for holding the first election therein.

Seventh. To do and perform such other duties and acts that boards of county commissioners are now or may hereafter be required by law to do and perform.

Eighth. To locate lands in lieu of section sixteen and thirty-six in their respective counties as provided for by law.

Same, fiscal measures.

(1816) § 20. They shall superintend the fiscal concerns of the county and secure their management in the best manner; they shall keep an account of the receipts and expenditures of the county, and on the first Monday of July annually, they shall cause a full and accurate statement of the assessments, receipts and expenditures of the preceding year, to be made out in detail under separate heads, with an account of all the debts payable to and by the county treasurer, and they shall have the same printed in at least one newspaper in their county, and if there be no paper in the county the same shall be posted up at the usual place of holding their sessions, and at a public place in each precinct in the county.

Same, copy of field notes, maps.

(1817) § 21. Said board is authorized to procure for their county a copy of field notes, as soon as practicable, of the original survey of their county by the United States, and cause a map of the county to be constructed therefrom on a scale of not less than one inch to a mile, and laid off in Congressional townships and sections, to be kept open in the office of the county clerk, and the field notes to be deposited in the same office.

Expenditures, when submitted to popular vote.

(1818) § 22. They shall submit to the people of the county at any regular or special election any question involving any extraordinary outlay of money by the county or any expenditures greater in amount than can be provided for by the annual tax, or whether the county will construct any court house, jail or other public buildings, or aid or construct any road or bridge, and may aid any enterprise designed for the county, whenever a majority of the people thereof shall authorize the same as hereinafter provided.

Higher tax voted on; special tax paid in money.

(1819) § 23. When county warrants are at a depreciated value, the said commissioners may in a like manner submit the question whether a tax of a higher rate than that provided for shall be levied; and in all cases when an additional tax is laid in pursuance of a vote of the people of the county, or for constructing or ordering to be constructed any road or bridge, or for aiding in any enterprise contemplated by the preceding section, such special tax shall be paid in money and in no other manner.

Mode of submitting questions to votes.

(1820) § 24. The mode of submitting questions to the people contemplated by the last two sections shall be the following: The whole question, including the sum desired to be raised, the amount of tax desired to be levied, the rate per annum, and the whole regulation, including the time of its taking effect or having operation, if it be of a nature which can be set forth, and the penalty of its violation if there be one, is to be published at least four weeks in some newspaper published in the county. If there be no such newspaper, the publication is to be made by posting up in at least one of the most public places in each election precinct in the county; and in all cases the notices shall name the time when such question will be voted upon, and the form in which the question shall be taken, and a copy of the question submitted shall be posted up at each place of voting during the day of election.

Same, tax levy embraced.

(1821) § 25. When the question submitted involves the borrowing or expenditure of money the proposition of the question must be accompanied by a proposition to levy a tax for the payment thereof in addition to the usual taxes provided for by law; and no vote adopting the question proposed shall be valid unless it likewise adopts the amount of tax to be levied to meet the liability incurred.

Rate of tax levied, how regulated.

(1822) § 26. The rate of tax levied in pursuance of the last four sections shall in no case exceed five mills on the dollar of the county valuation in one year. When the object is to borrow money to aid in the erection of public buildings, the rates shall be such as to pay the debt in ten years; when the object is to construct or aid in constructing any road or bridge, the annual rate shall not exceed two mills on the dollar of the valuation; and any special tax or taxes levied in pursuance of this chapter becoming delinquent shall draw the same rate of interest as ordinary taxes levied in pursuance of the revenue laws of this Territory.

Bond proposition carried; tax, levy and collect.

(1823) § 27. The said commissioners being satisfied that the above requirements have been substantially complied with, and that a majority of votes were cast in favor of the proposition submitted, shall cause the same to be entered at large upon the book containing the record of their proceedings, and they shall then have power to levy and collect the special tax in the same manner that the other county taxes are collected. Propositions thus acted upon cannot be rescinded by the board of county commissioners.

Fund distinct from all others.

(1824) § 28. Money raised by the county commissioners in pursuance of the last five sections is specially appropriated and constitutes a fund distinct from all others, in the hands of the county treasurer until the obligations assumed are discharged.

Unexpended balance of special fund.

(1825) § 29. Whenever there remains in the treasury of any county an unexpended balance of any special fund, and all claims against such funds have been fully paid, and the purpose for which it was created has been fully observed, and there remains no further use for such balance for the purpose for which it was created, it shall be lawful for the board of county commissioners of such county to transfer such balance to any other fund of the county or subdivisions to which such balance belonged.

Warrants on county treasurer.

(1826) § 30. All warrants upon the county treasurer shall be issued upon the order of the board of county commissioners, signed by the chairman thereof and attested by the signature of the county clerk with the county seal attached, and shall designate the fund upon which they are drawn.

Place and manner of holding sessions.

(1827) § 31. They shall hold their sessions with open doors, and transact all business in the most public manner, and where the county has no court house or the court house shall be unfit or inconvenient, they may hold their sessions for the transaction of business at any other suitable place at the county seat. All matters pertaining to the interest of the county shall be heard by the board of county commissioners in session only, but they may continue any business from any regular session to an intermediate day.

Commissioners to provide court house, jail, fuel, etc, sheriff's duties.

(1828) § 32. In any county where there is no court house or jail erected by the county, or where those erected have not sufficient capacity, it shall be the duty of the board of county commissioners to provide for court room, jail, and offices for the following named officers: Sheriff, treasurer, register of deeds, county clerk, county attorney, superintendent of public schools and judge of probate, to be furnished by the county in a suitable building or buildings, for the lowest rent to be obtained at the county seat, or to secure and occupy suitable rooms at a free rent within the limits of the county seat or any of the additions thereto, until such county builds a court house. They shall also provide the courts appointed to be held therein, with attendants, fuel, lights and stationery, suitable and sufficient for the transaction of their business. If the commissioners neglect, the court may order the sheriff to do so, and the expenses incurred by him in carrying the order into effect when certified by the court, shall be a county charge.

What court rooms to be rented.

(1829) § 33. The power to rent court rooms shall only extend to such rooms as the courts using the same may approve.

Commissioner's power to erect buildings, and contract.

(1830) § 34. Said board shall have authority and power, under the provisions of this act, to provide for the erection and repairing of court houses, jails and other necessary buildings within and for the county, and to make contracts on behalf of the county for the building or repairing of the same, but no expenditure for the purpose herein named greater than can be paid out of the annual revenue of the county for the current year, shall be made, unless the question of such expenditure shall have first been submitted to a vote of the qualified voters of such county, and shall have been approved by a majority of the votes so cast, and the board shall determine the amount and rate of taxes to be submitted to a vote for such purpose.

Building fund.

(1831) § 35. After a building fund has been accumulated, either from the proceeds of the sale of town lots or from any other source, it shall be the duty of the board of county commissioners within one year from the time such fund becomes available, to proceed to the erection of the necessary county buildings including a jail; if such fund shall in the judgment of the board be sufficient for that purpose.

Advertisement for bids; bids accepted, specifications.

(1832) § 36. The board shall cause an advertisement for bids for the erection of such buildings to be printed in some newspaper published in the county for at least three months prior to the opening of the bids, and in such other newspaper in the Territory and for such period as the board may deem advisable. Such advertisement shall state where the plans and specifications may be examined, and the time allowed for the completion of such buildings, and when the bids will be opened and passed upon by the board, which must be at one of the regular sessions and must be public. The lowest responsible bid must in all cases be accepted, unless all bids are rejected, and the contracts for such buildings shall be so conditioned that not more than one-half of the payment for the same shall be made until the contract shall be executed and the buildings completed to the satisfaction and acceptance of the board. Said board may further require a bond to accompany each bid, conditioned that the bidder will enter into a contract with approved security, for the performance of the work in accordance with the plans and specifications, in case his bid is accepted.

Appeal from commissioner's decision.

(1833) § 37. From all decisions of the board of commissioners upon matters properly before them, there shall be allowed an appeal to the district court by any persons aggrieved including the county by its county attorney upon filing a bond with sufficient penalty, and one or more sureties to be approved by the county clerk, conditioned that the appellant will prosecute his or her appeal without delay, and pay all costs that he or she may be adjudged to pay in the said district court; said bond shall be executed to the county, and may be sued in the name of the county upon breach of any condition therein: Provided, That any county attorney, upon the written demand of at least seven tax payers of the county, shall take an appeal from any action of the board of county commissioners of any county within his district when said action relates to the interests or affairs of the county at large or any portion thereof, in the name of the proper county, when he deems it to the interest of the county so to do; and in such case no bond shall be required or given and upon serving the notice provided for in the next section of this act the county clerk shall proceed the same as if a bond had been filed, and his fees for making the transcript shall be paid as other claims by the county.

Time and manner of appeal.

(1834) § 38. Said appeal shall be taken within twenty days after the decision of said board, by serving a written notice on one of the board of county commissioners, and the clerk shall, upon the filing of the bond as hereinbefore provided, make out a complete transcript of the proceedings of said board relating to the matter of their decision thereon, and shall deliver the same to the clerk of the district court.

Appeal, when filed

(1835) § 39. Said appeal shall be filed by the first day of the district court next after such appeal and said cause shall stand for trial at such term.

Same, how docketed.

(1836) § 40. All appeals thus taken to the district court shall be docketed as other causes pending therein, and the same shall be heard and determined de novo.

District courts disposal of appeals.

(1837) § 41. The district court may make a final judgment and cause the same to be executed, or may send the same back to the board with an order how to proceed, and require said board of county commissioners to comply therewith by a mandamus or attachment as for contempt.

Officers to account to commissioners.

(1838) § 42. All treasurers, sheriffs, clerks, constables and other officers chargeable with money belonging to the county shall render their accounts to and settle with the county commissioners at the time required by law, and pay into the county treasury any balance which may be due the county, take duplicate receipts therefor, and deposit one of the same with the clerk of the county within five days thereafter.

Redemption money in the treasury, commissioner's examination.

(1839) § 43. It shall be the duty of the board of county commissioners in the several counties in this Territory at each annual meeting of said board, to examine the county treasurer's "tax-sale book" and "stub receipts" and ascertain the amount of redemption money in the treasury and compel the said treasurer to account for the same.

Commissioners to adjust delinquent officer's accounts.

(1840) § 44. If any person thus chargeable shall neglect or refuse to render true accounts or settle as aforesaid, the county commissioners shall adjust the accounts of such delinquent according to the best information they can obtain, and ascertain the balance due the county, and order suit to be brought in the name of the county therefor; and such delinquent shall not be entitled to any commission, and shall forfeit and pay to the county a penalty of twenty per cent on the amount of funds due the county.

County orders to draw interest,

(1841) § 45. All county orders hereafter drawn by the proper authorities of any county shall ninety days after having been presented to the county treasurer of the respective counties and by him endorsed "not paid for want of funds in the treasury" from said date draw interest at the rate of six per cent per annum.

Publication of commissioner's proceedings.

(1842) § 46. It shall be the duty of the board of county commissioners of the several counties of this Territory to cause to be published in a newspaper printed in their respective counties, a full and complete report of all their official proceedings at each regular and special meeting, such proceedings to be so published as soon after any meeting of the commissioners as practicable, and the board of county commissioners shall pay for the same as may be provided for.

County clerk's duties, compensation.

(1843) § 47. It is hereby made the duty of the county clerk to make out a full and complete report of the proceedings of each regular and special meeting of the board, and to transmit the same to the publishers of the newspaper selected by such board to publish such proceedings, said report to be made out and transmitted by such clerk within one week from the time such proceedings were had. Such clerk shall be allowed by the board a reasonable compensation for such services.

Commissioners proceedings, time of publication.

(1844) § 48. It shall be the duty of the publisher of any newspaper selected to publish any proceedings of the board of commissioners of the several counties, to cause any proceedings as aforesaid received by him from any county clerk, to be published in the issue of his paper next succeeding the time of their reception.

Organization of new townships.

(1845) § 49. The board of county commissioners shall not set off, or organize any new township unless it shall contain territory equal to at least thirty-six square miles and at least three hundred inhabitants within the limits thereof, and whenever any new township shall be organized or the boundaries of any township changed, they shall cause a plat and record thereof to be made by the clerk specifying the name and boundaries of such township, which plat and record shall be kept in the office of the county clerk, and a copy thereof under the seal of said board shall be made by said clerk and filed with the proper officer of said township.

Blanks, sales, etc., for officers.

(1846) § 50. The board of commissioners of their respective counties shall, at the expense of the county, furnish, annually and in due season to the assessors of the county suitable blank assessment rolls, for the several townships prepared in accordance with the provisions of law, and shall also provide suitable cases and other furniture for the safe and convenient keeping of all the books, documents and papers belonging to each county officer, and also official seals for each of said officers, where the same are required by law.

Officers violating this act.

(1847) § 51. That every person who is either elected or appointed to the office of county commissioner of any county in the Territory of Oklahoma who shall wilfully violate any provision of law, or fail to perform any duty required of him by law, shall be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not less than fifty nor more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the date of the final adjournment of the first session of the Legislative Assembly.

ARTICLE 1.—PRELIMINARY PROVISIONS.

SECTION.
1. Title of code.
2. What acts are criminal.
3. Crime defined.
4. Crimes divided.
5. Felony defined.
6. Misdemeanor defined.
7. Objects of penal code.
8. Conviction must precede punishment.
9. Jury must find degree of crime.
10. Rules of construction.
11. Punishment determined by the court.
12. Punishments.
13. Punishment of felony.
14. Punishment of misdemeanor.

Title of code.

(1848) § 1. This act shall be known as the penal code of the Territory of Oklahoma.

What acts are criminal.

(1849) § 2. No act or omission shall be deemed criminal or punishable except as prescribed or authorized by this code. The words "This Code" as used in the "Penal Code" shall be construed to mean "Statutes of this Territory.

Crime defined.

(1850) § 3. A crime or public offense is an act or omission forbidden by law, and to which is annexed, upon conviction, either of the following punishments:

First. Death.

Second. Imprisonment.

Third. Fine.

Fourth. Removal from office; or,

Fifth. Disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust, or profit, under this Territory.

Crimes divided.

(1851) § 4. Crimes are divided into:

First. Felonies.

Second. Misdemeanors.

Felony defined.

(1852) § 5. A felony is a crime which is, or may be, punishable with death, or by imprisonment in the Territorial prison.

Misdemeanor defined.

(1853) § 6. Every other crime is a misdemeanor.

Objects of penal code.

(1854) § 7. This code specifies the classes of persons who are deemed capable of crimes, and liable to punishment therefor; and defines the nature of the various crimes; and prescribes the kind and measure of punishment to be inflicted for each. The manner of prosecuting and convicting criminals is regulated by the code of criminal procedure.

Conviction must precede punishment.

(1855) § 8. The punishments prescribed by this code can be inflicted only upon a legal conviction in a court having jurisdiction.

Jury must find degree of crime.

(1856) § 9. Whenever a crime is distinguished into degrees, the jury, if they convict the prisoner, shall find the degree of the crime of which he is guilty.

Rule of construction.

(1857) § 10. The rule of the common law that penal statutes are to be strictly construed, has no application to this code. All its provisions are to be construed according to the fair import of their terms, with a view to effect its objects and to promote justice.

Punishment determined by the court.

(1858) § 11. The several sections of this code which declare certain crimes to be punishable as therein mentioned, devolve a duty upon the court authorized to pass sentence, to determine and impose the punishment prescribed.

Punishments.

(1859) § 12. Whenever in this code the punishment for a crime is left undetermined between certain limits, the punishment to be inflicted in a particular case shall be determined by the court authorized to pass sentence, within such limits as may be prescribed by this code.

Punishment of felonies

(1860) § 13. Except in cases where a different punishment is prescribed by this code, or by some existing provision of law, every offense declared to be felony is punishable by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not exceeding two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Punishment of misdemeanor.

(1861) § 14. Except in cases where a different punishment is prescribed by this code or by some existing provisions of law, every offense declared to be a misdemeanor is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year or by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or both such fine and imprisonment; Provided, however, That if there be in any act, chapter or section of the laws of this Territory a provision making any specific act criminal and providing the punishment therefor, and there be in this Penal Code any provision or section making the same act a criminal offense or prescribing the punishment therefor, that offense and the punishment thereof, shall be governed by the special provisions made in relation thereto, and not by the provisions of this Penal Code: Provided, further, In all cases wherein the offering, giving or receiving bribes are made criminal by the provisions of the Penal Code, the party to such crime who shall first furnish information in relation thereto, as against the other parties and in any prosecution therefor, shall testify to the same truthfully and fully, shall not thereafter be criminally liable therefor, but in such case no conviction shall be had on the uncorroborated testimony of one such witness.

Chap. 25.

ARTICLE 2.—OF PERSONS LIABLE TO PUNISHMENT FOR CRIME.

SECTION.
1. Who are liable to punishment.
2. Who are capable of committing crime.
3. Intoxication as an element of crime.
4. Morbid propensity no defense.
5. Insanity; court may commit for.
6. Involuntary acts.
7. Duress excuses what.
8. Subjection when inferred from coverture.
9. Subjection not inferred.
10. Inference of subjection may be rebutted.
11. Public foreign ministers exempt.

Who are liable to punishment.

(1862) § 1. The following persons are liable to punishment under the laws of this Territory:

First. All persons who commit, in whole or in part, any crime within this Territory.

Second. All who commit theft out of this Territory, and bring, or are found with the property stolen, in this Territory.

Third. All who, being out of this Territory, abduct or kidnap, by force or fraud, any person contrary to the laws of the place where such act is committed, and bring, send, or convey such person within the limits of this Territory, and are afterward found therein.

Fourth. And all who, being out of this Territory. cause or aid, advise or encourage, another person, causing an injury to any person or property within this Territory by means of any act or neglect which is declared criminal by this code, and who are afterward found within this Territory.

Who are capable of committing crimes.

(1863) § 2. All persons are capable of committing crimes, except those belonging to the following classes:

First. Children under the age of seven years.

Second. Children of the age of seven years, but under the age of fourteen years, in the absence of proof that at the time of committing the act or neglect charged against them, they knew it wrongfulness.

Third. Idiots.

Fourth. Lunatics, insane persons, and all persons of unsound mind, including persons temporarily or partially deprived of reason, upon proof that at the time of committing the act charged against them they were incapable of knowing its wrongfulness.

Fifth. Persons who committed the act, or made the omission charged, under an ignorance or mistake of fact which disproves any criminal intent. But ignorance of the law does not excuse from punishment for its violation.

Sixth. Persons who committed the act charged without being conscious thereof.

Seventh. Persons who committed the act, or made the omission charged, while under involuntary subjection to the power of superiors.

Intoxication as an element of crime.

(1864) § 3. No act committed by a person while in the state of voluntary intoxication shall be deemed less criminal by reason of his having been in such condition.

Morbid propensity no defense.

(1865) § 4. A morbid propensity to commit prohibited acts, existing in the mind of a person who is not shown to have been incapable of knowing the wrongfulness of such acts, forms no defense to a prosecution therefor.

Insanity; court may commit for.

(1866) § 5. When a jury have returned a verdict acquitting a defendant upon the ground of insanity, the court may thereupon, if the defendant be in custody, and they deem his discharge dangerous to the public safety, order him to be committed to the Territorial lunatic asylum, or to the care of such person or persons as the court may direct, till he become sane.

Involuntary acts.

(1867) § 6. The involuntary subjection to the power of a superior which exonerates a person charged with a criminal act or omission fram punishment therefor, arises either from:

First. Duress: or,

Second. Coverture.

Duress excuses, what.

(1868) § 7. The duress which excuses a person from punishment who has committed a prohibited act or omission must be an actual compulsion by use of force or fear.

Subjection, when inferred from coverture.

(1869) § 8. A subjection sufficient to excuse from punishment may be inferred in favor of a wife from the fact of coverture whenever she committed the act charged in the presence and with the assent of her husband, except where such act is a participation in:

First. Treason.

Second. Murder.

Third. Manslaughter.

Fourth. Maiming.

Fifth. An attempt to kill.

Sixth. Rape.

Seventh. Abduction.

Eighth. Abuse of children.

Ninth. Seduction.

Tenth. Abortion, either upon herself or upon another female.

Eleventh. Concealing the death of an infant, whether her own or that of another.

Thirteenth. Bigamy.

Fourteenth. Incest.

Fifteenth. The crime against Nature.

Sixteenth. Indecent exposure.

Seventh. Obscene exhibition of books and prints.

Eighteenth. Keeping a bawdy or other disorderly house.

Subjection not inferred.

(1870) § 9. In case of the crimes enumerated in the last section the wife is not excused from punishment by reason of her subjection to the power of her husband unless the facts proved show a case of duress as defined in the second preceding section.

Inference of subjection may be rebutted.

(1871) § 10. The inference of subjection arising from the fact of coverture may be rebutted by any facts showing that in committing the act charged the wife acted freely.

Public foreign ministers exempt.

(1872) § 11, Ambassadors and other public ministers from foreign governments accredited to the President or the government of the United States, and recognized by it according to the laws of the United States, with their secretaries, messengers, families and servants are not liable to punishment in this Territory, but are to be returned to their own country for trial and punishment.

(1914) § 12. Every person who procures or counsels another to enter any town, ward, or election district for the purpose of giving his vote at an election, knowing that such person is not entitled so to vote, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Voting out of precinct.

(1915) § 13. Every person who, at any election, knowingly votes or offers to vote in any election district in which he does not reside, or in which he is not authorized by law to vote, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Voting unlawfully at town meetings.

(1916) § 14. Every person who votes at any annual township meeting, in a township in which he does not reside, or who offers to vote at any annual township meeting after having voted at an annual township meeting held in another township within the same year, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Convicted elon.

(1917) § 15, Every person who, having been convicted of any bribery or felony, thereafter offers to vote at any election without having been pardoned and restored to all the rights of a citizen, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Name registered improperly

(1918) § 16. Every person who causes his name to be registered as that of an elector upon any registry of voters authorized by law to be kept in any town, city or election district of this Territory, knowing that he is not a qualified voter within the Territorial limits covered by such registry, is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison, not less than one year.

Personating a registered voter.

(1919) § 17. Every person who, within any city, town, or election district in this Territory in which a registry of qualified voters is by law authorized to be kept, falsely personates a registered voter, and in such personating offers to vote at any election, is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not less than one year.

False statements upon registration.

(1920) § 18. Every person who, at the time of requesting his name to be registered as that of a qualified voter, upon any regis- tyr ofvoters authorized by law to be kept in any city, town, or election district of this Territory, or at the time of offering his vote at any election, knowingly makes any false statement or employs any false representation or false pretense or token, to procure his name to be registered, or his vote to be received, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

What constitutes a false statement.

(1921) § 19. A false statement, representation or token, made or used in the presence and to the knowledge of a person requesting his name to be registered, or offering his vote, is to be deemed made by himself, if it appears that it was made or used in support of his claim to be registered or to vote, that he knew it to be false, and suffered it to pass uncontradicted.

Disturbance of public meeting.

(1922) § 20. Every person who wilfully disturbs or breaks up any public meeting of electors and others, lawfully being held for the purpose of considering public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Preventing public meeting.

(1923) § 21. Every person who, by threats, intimidations or unlawful violence, wilfully hinders or prevents electors from assembling in public meeting for the consideration of public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Preventing attendance at public meeting.

(1924) § 22. Every person who makes use of any force or violence, or of any threat to do any unlawful act, as a means of preventing an elector from attending any public meeting lawfully held for the purpose of considering any public questions, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Intimidating voter.

(1925) § 23. Every person who wilfully, by unlawful arrest, by force and violence, or by threats or intimidation, prevents or endeavors to prevent an elector from freely giving his vote at any election, or employs either of such means to hinder him from voting, or to cause him to vote for any person or candidate, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars and not less than fifty dollars.

Violence or intimidation to procure votes.

(1926) § 24. Every person who procures or endeavors to procure the vote of any elector, or the influence of any person or other electors, at any election, for himself, or for or against any candidate, by means of violence, threats of violence, or threats of withdrawing custom or dealings in business or trade, or enforcing the payment of debts, or bringing a suit or criminal prosecution, or any other threat of injury, to be inflicted by him or by his means or procurement, shall be punished by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, and by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months.

Disobedience to judges of election.

(1927) § 25. Every person who wilfully disobeys a lawful command of a judge or board of judges of any election, given in the execution of their duty as such, at an election, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Violence which impedes an election.

(1928) § 26. Every person who is guilty of any riotous conduct or who causes any disturbance or breach of the peace, or uses any disorderly violence, or threats of violence, whereby any election is impeded or hindered, or whereby the lawful proceedings of the judges or canvassers at such election, in the discharge of their duty, are interfered with, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Summary arrest.

(1929) § 27. Whenever at an election any person refuses to obey the lawful command of the board of judges, or by any disorderly conduct in their presence interrupts or disturbs their proceedings, they may make an order directing the sheriff, or any constable of the county, or one or more special constables to be appointed by them, to take the person so offending into custody, and detain him until the final canvass of the votes shall be completed. But such order shall not prohibit the person taken into custody from voting at the election.

Arrest is no defense to prosecution.

(1930) § 28. The fact that any person offending against the provisions of the preceding section, was taken into custody and detained, as therein authorized, forms no defense to a prosecution for the offense committed, under any provisions of this code.

Destroying ballots or boxes.

(1931) § 29. Every person who wilfully breaks or destroys, on the day of any election, or before the canvass is completed, any ballot box used, or intended to be used at such election, or defaces, injures, destroys or conceals any ballot which has been deposited in any ballot box at an election, and has not already been counted or canvassed, or any poll list used, or intended to be used at such election, is guilty of a felony.

False poll list.

(1932) § 30. Every clerk of the poll at any election who wilfully keeps a false poll list, or knowingly inserts in his poll list any false statement, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Misconduct of judges.

(1933) § 31. Every judge of an election who wilfully excludes any vote duly tendered, knowing that the person offering the same is lawfully entitled to vote at such election, or who wilfully receives a vote from any person who has been duly challenged in relation to his right to vote at such election, without exacting from such person such oath or other proof of qualification as may be required by law, or who wilfully omits to challenge any person offering to vote whom he knows or suspects not to be duly entitled to vote, and who has not been challenged by any other person, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Falsely canvassing or certifying votes.

(1934) § 32. Every judge of any election, member of any board of canvassers, messenger or other officer authorized to take part in or perform any duty in relation to any canvass or official statement of the votes cast at any election, who wilfully makes any false canvass of such votes, or makes, signs, publishes or delivers any false return of such election, knowing the same to be false, or wilfully defaces, destroys or conceals any statement or certificate entrusted to his care, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Bribing officer of election.

(1935) § 33. Every person who gives or offers a bribe to any judge, clerk, canvasser, or other officer of an election, as a consideration for some act done or admitted to be done contrary to his official duty in relation to such election, shall be punished by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, and imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months.

Disfranchisement

(1936) § 34. Any person guilty of either of the offenses mentioned in the first and second sections of this chapter, shall thereafter be forever disfranchised and rendered ineligible to any office of trust or profit within this Territory, including that of delegate to Congress.

Witness not excused from testifying.

(1937) § 35. No person shall be excused from testifying upon a prosecution for any offense mentioned in this chapter upon the ground that his testimony might tend to criminate himself, but any person testifying against the other party shall thereafter be exempt from punishment for such offense mentioned in said section.

Election defined.

(1938) § 36. The word "election," as used in this chapter, designates only elections had within this Territory for the purpose of enabling electors, as such, to choose some public officer or officers under the laws of this Territory, or of the United States.

Irregularites in election no defense.

(1939) § 37. Irregularities or defects in the mode of noticing, convening, holding or conducting an election authorized by law, form no defense to a prosecution for a violation of the provisions of this article.

Not apply to legal interference.

(1940) § 38. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to authorize the punishment of any person who, by authority of law, may interfere to prevent or regulate an election which has been unlawfully noticed or convened, or is being, or is about to be unlawfully conducted.

Election for determination of questions.

(1941) § 39. Every act which by the provisions of this article is made criminal when committed with reference to the election of a candidate, is equally criminal when committed with reference to the determination of a question submitted to electors to be decided by votes cast at an election.

Good faith a defense.

(1942) § 40. Upon any prosecution for procuring, offering, or casting an illegal vote, the accused may give in evidence any facts tending to show that he honestly believed upon good reason that the vote complained of was a lawful one; and the jury may take such facts into consideration in determining whether the acts complained of were knowingly done or not.

Selling liquor on election day.

(1943) § 41. Every person who sells, gives away or disposes of any intoxicating liquors as a beverage, on the day of any general election, or special or local election, in the town, city or county where held, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed twenty days, and by fine not exceeding one hundred and not less than fifty dollars, such fine to go to the county general fund.

Usurping office.

(1944) § 1. Every person who executes any of the functions of a public office without having taken and duly filed the required oath of office, or without having executed and duly filed the required security, is guilty of a misdemeanor; and in addition to the punishment prescribed therefor, he forfeits his right to the office.

Act of officer de facto.

(1945) § 2. The last section shall not be construed to affect the validity of acts done by a person exercising the functions of a public office in fact, where other persons than himself are interested in maintaining the validity of such acts.

Falsely assuming office.

(1946) § 3. Every person who shall falsely assume or pretend to be any Territorial, county or township, city or town officer, or who shall knowingly take upon himself to act as such or to require any person to act as such, or assist him in any matter pertaining to such office, shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not more than two years nor less than three months, and by fine not exceeding five hundred nor less than fifty dollars.

Giving or offering bribes to executive officer.

(1947) § 4. Every person who gives or offers any bribe to any executive officer of this Territory, with intent to influence him in respect to any act, decision, vote, opinion, or other proceedings of such officer, is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison, not exceeding ten years, or by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars; or both.

Asking or receiving bribes.

(1948) § 5. Every executive officer or person elected or appointed to executive office who asks, receives or agrees to receive any bribe upon any agreement or understanding that his vote, opinion or action upon any matter then pending, or which may by law be brought before him in his official capacity, shall be influenced thereby, is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not exceeding ten years, or by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or both; and in addition thereto, forfeits his office and is forever disqualified from holding any public office under this Territory.

Preventing officer's duty.

(1949) § 6. Every person who attempts, by means of any threat or violence, to deter or prevent any executive officer from performing any duty imposed upon such officer by law, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Resisting executive officer.

(1950) § 7. Every person who knowingly resists, by the use of force or violence, any executive officer in the performance of his duty, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Taking excessive fees.

(1951) § 8. Every executive officer who asks or receives any emolument, gratuity or reward, or any promise of any emolument, gratuity or reward, excepting such as may be authorized by law, for doing any official act, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Taking reward for omitting or delaying official acts.

(1952) § 9. Every executive officer who asks or receives any emolument, gratuity or reward, or any promise of any emolument, gratuity or reward, for omitting or deferring the performance of any official duty, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Fees for service not rendered

(1953) § 10. Every executive officer who asks or receives any fee or compensation for any official service which has not been actually rendered, except in cases of charges for prospective costs, or of fees demandable in advance in the cases allowed by law, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Taking unlawful reward.

(1954) § 11. Every officer of this Territory who asks or receives any compensation, fee or reward of any kind for any service rendered or expense incurred in procuring from the governor of this Territory a demand upon the executive authority of a state or territory of the United States, or of a foreign government, for the surrender of a fugitive from justice, or of any service rendered or expense incurred in procuring the surrender of such fugitive, or of conveying him to this Territory or for detaining him therein, except upon an employment by the governor of this Territory, and upon an account duly audited and paid out of the Territorial treasury, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Buying appointments to office.

(1955) § 12. Every person who gives or agrees, or offers to give any gratuity or reward in consideration that himself or any other person shall be appointed to any public office, or shall be permitted to, or to exercise, perform or discharge the prerogatives or duties of any office, is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail not less than six months nor more than two years, or by a fine of not less than two hundred dollars or more than one thousand dollars, or both.

Selling appointments to office.

(1956) § 13. Every person who, directly or indirectly, asks or receives or promises to receive any gratuity or reward, or any promise of a gratuity or reward for appointing another person or procuring for another person an appointment to any public office or any clerkship, deputation or other subordinate position in any public office, is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail not less than six months nor more than two years, or by a fine not less than two hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or both.

Reward for deputation.

(1957) § 14. Every public officer who, for any gratuity or reward, appoints another person to a public office, or permits another person to exercise, perform or discharge any of the prerogatives or duties of his office, is punishable by imprisonment in the county jail not less than six months nor more than two years, and by a fine of not less than two hundred dollars or more than one thousand dollars; and in addition thereto he forfeits his office.

Unlawful deputation is void.

(1958) § 15. Every grant or deputation made contrary to the provisions of the two preceding sections is void; but official acts done before a conviction for any offense prohibited by those sections, shall not be deemed invalid in consequence of the invalidity of such grant or deputation.

Exercising functions of office after term expires.

(1959) § 16. Every person who having been an executive officer wilfully exercises any of the functions of his office after his term of office has expired and a successor has been duly elected or appointed, and has qualified in his place, and he has notice thereof, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Refusal to surrender books

(1960) § 17. Every person who having been an executive officer of this Territory, wrongfully refuses to surrender the official seal or any of the books and papers appertaining to his office, to his successor, who has been duly elected or appointed, and has duly qualified, and has demanded the surrender of the books and papers of such office is guilty of a misdemeanor.

(1961) § 18. The various provisions of this chapter which relate to executive officers apply in relation to administrative officers in the same manner as if administrative aud executive officer were both mentioned together. Administrative officers.

Disturbing the legislature.

(1963) § 2. Every person who wilfully disturbs the legislature of this Territory, or either of the houses composing it, while in session, or who commits any disorderly conduct in the immediate view and presence of either house of the legislature, tending to interrupt its proceedings or impair the respect due to its authority, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Compelling adjournment of legislature.

(1964) § 3. Every person who wilfully and by force or fraud compels or attempts to compel the Legislature of this Territory, or either of the houses composing it, to adjourn or disperse, is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not less than five nor more than ten years, or by fine of not less than five hundred dollars, nor more than two thousand dollars, or both.

Intimidating member of legislature.

(1965) § 4. Every person who wilfully, by intimidation or otherwise, prevents any member of the Legislature of this Territory from attending any session of the house of which he is a member, or of any committee thereof, or from giving his vote upon any question which may come before such house or from performing any other official act, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Compelling house to perform or omit act.

(1966) § 5. Every person who wilfully compels or attempts to compel either of the houses composing the Legislature of this Territory to pass, amend or reject any bill or resolution, or to grant or refuse any petition, or to perform or omit to perform any other official act, is punishable by imprisonment in the territorial prison not less than five nor more than ten years, or by a fine of not less than five hundred dollars nor more than two thousand dollars, or both.

Altering draft of bill

(1967) § 6. Every person who fraudulently alters the draft of any bill or resolution which has been presented to either of the houses composing the legislature, to be passed or adopted, with intent to procure it to be passed or adopted by either house, or certified by the presiding officer of either house, in language different from that intended by such house, is guilty of a felony.

Altering engrossed copy of bill.

(1968) § 7. Every person who fraudulently alters the engrossed copy or enrollment of any bill which has been passed by the Legislature of this Territory, with intent to procure it to be approved by the Governor or certified by the Secretary of the Territory, or printed or published by the printer of the statutes in language different from that in which it was passed by the legislature, is guilty of felony.

Giving bribes to members.

(1969) § 8. Every person who gives or offers to give a bribe to any member of the Legislature, or attempts directly or indirectly, by menace, deceit, suppression of truth or any other corrupt means, to influence a member in giving or withholding his vote, or in not attending the house of which he is a member, or any committee thereof, is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not exceeding ten years, or by fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or both.

Receiving bribes by members.

(1970) § 9. Every member of either of the houses composing the Legislature of this Territory, who asks, receives or agrees to receive any bribe upon any understanding that his official vote, opinion, judgment or action shall be influenced thereby, or shall be given in any manner or upon any particular side of any question or matter upon which he may be required to act in his official capacity, or who gives, or offers or promises to give any official vote in consideration that another member of the legislature shall give any such vote, either upon the same or another question, is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not exceeding ten years, or by fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or both.

Witness refusing to attend.

(1971) § 10. Every person who, being duly summoned to attend as a witness before either house of the legislature or any committee thereof authorized to summon witnesses, refuses or neglects without lawful excuse to attend pursuant to such summons, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Witness refusing to testify.

(1972) § 11. Every person who, being present before either house of the legislature or any committee thereof authorized to summons witnesses, wilfully refuses to be sworn or affirmed, or to answer any material and proper question, or to produce upon reasonable notice any material and proper books, papers, or documents in his possession or under his control, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Members forfeiture of office.

(1973) § 12. The conviction of a member of the legislature of either of the crimes defined in this chapter, involves as a consequence, in addition to the punishment prescribed by this code, a forfeiture of his office, and disqualifies him from ever afterwards holding any office under this Territory.

ARTICLE 8.—OF CRIMES AGAINST PUBLIC JUSTICE, BRIBERY AND CORRUPTION.

(1976) § 3. Every juror, referee, arbitrator, umpire or assessor, and every person authorized by law to hear or determine any question or controversy, who asks, receives, or agrees to receive any bribe upon any agreement or understanding that his vote, opinion or decision upon any matter or question which is or may be brought before him for decision. shall be thereby influenced, is guilty of felony.

Misconduct by jurors.

(1977) § 4. Every juror or person drawn or summoned as a juror, or chosen arbitrator, or umpire, or appointed referee, who either:

First. Makes any promise or agreement to give a verdict for or against any party; or,

Second. Wilfully permits any communication to be made to him, or receives any book, paper, instrument, or information relative to any cause pending before him, except according to the regular course of proceeding upon the trial of such cause, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Accepting gifts from parties.

(1978) § 5. Every judicial officer, juror, referee, arbitrator or umpire, who accepts any gift from any person, knowing him to be a party in interest or the attorney or counsel of any party in interest to any action or proceeding then pending or about to be brought before him, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Gifts defined.

(1979) § 6. The word "gift" in the foregoing section shall not be taken to include property received by inheritance, by will or by gift in view of death.

Attempts to influence jurors.

(1980) § 7. Every person who attempts to influence a juror, or any person summoned or drawn as a juror, or chosen an arbitrator or appointed a referee, in respect to his verdict, or decision of any cause or matter pending, or about to be brought before him, either:

First. By means of any communication oral or written had with him, except in the regular course of proceedings upon the trial of the cause;

Second. By means of any book, paper, or instrument exhibited otherwise than in the regular course of proceedings upon the trial of cause:

Third. By means of any threat or intimidation;

Fourth. By means of any assurance or promise of any pecuniary or other advantage; or,

Fifth. By publishing any statement, argument or observation relating to the cause,

Is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Drawing jurors fraudulently

(1981) § 8. Every person authorized by law to assist at the drawing of any jurors to attend any court, who wilfully puts or consents to the putting upon any list of jurors as having been drawn, any name which shall not have been drawn for that purpose in the manner prescribed by law; or, who omits to place on such list any name that shall have been drawn in the manner prescribed by law; or, who signs or certifies any list of jurors as having been drawn which was not drawn according to law; or, who is guilty of any other unfair, partial or improper conduct in the drawing of any such list of jurors, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Misconduct by officers of jury.

(1982) § 9. Every officer to whose charge any juror is committed by any court or magistrate, who negligently or wilfully permits them, or any one of them, either:

First. To receive any communication from any person;

Second. To make any communication to any person.

Third. To obtain or receive any book or paper or refreshment; or,

Fourth. To leave the jury room without the leave of such court or magistrate first obtained,

Is guilty of a misdemeanor.

ARTICLE 9.—OF RESCUES.

SECTION.
1. Rescuing prisoners.
SECTION.
2. Retaking goods from custody.

Rescuing prisoners.

(1983) § 1. Every person who by force or fraud rescues or attempts to rescue, or aids another person in rescuing or in attempting to rescue any prisoner from any officer or other person having him in lawful custody, is punishable as follows:

First. If such prisoner was in custody upon a charge of conviction of felony, by imprisonment in the Territorial prison for not less than ten years.

Second. If such prisoner was in custody otherwise than upon a charge or conviction of felony, by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Retaking goods from custody.

(1984) § 2. Every person who wilfully injures or destroys, takes or attempts to take, or assists any other person in taking or attempting to take from the custody of any officer or person, any personal property which such officer or person has in charge under any process of law, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

ARTICLE 10.—OF ESCAPES, AND AIDING THEREIN. Chap. 25.

SECTION.
1. Re-arrest of escaped prisoners.
2. Escape from territorial prison.
3. Attempt to escape.
4. Escape from other prison.
5. Attempt to escape from other prison.
6. Assisting prisoners to escape.
7. Conveying into prison things to aid escape.
8. Concealing escaped prisoner.
9. Assisting escape from officer.
10. Territorial prison defined.
11. Prisoner defined.

Re-arrest of escaped prisoners.

(1985) § 1. Every prisoner confined upon conviction for a criminal offense, who escapes from prison, may be pursued, re-taken and imprisoned again, notwithstanding the term for which he was sentenced to be imprisoned may have expired at the time when he is re-taken, and he shall remain so imprisoned until tried for such escape, or discharged on a failure to prosecute therefor.

Escape from territorial prison.

(1986) § 2. Every prisoner confined in the Territorial prison, for a term less than for life, who by force or fraud escapes therefrom, is punishable by imprisonment in such prison for a term not exceeding five years, to commence from the expiration of the original term of his imprisonment.

Attempt to escape.

(1987) § 3. Every prisoner confined in the Territorial prison for a term less than for life, who attempts by force or fraud, although unsuccessfully, to escape from such prison, is guilty of felony.

Escape from other prison.

(1988) § 4. Every prisoner confined in any other than the Territorial prison, who by force or fraud escapes therefrom, is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not exceeding two years, or in a county jail not exceeding one year, to commence from the expiration of the original term of his imprisonment.

Attempt to escape from prison.

(1989) § 5. Every prisoner confined in any other prison than the Territorial prison, who attempts by force or fraud, although unsuccessfully, to escape therefrom, is punishable by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding one year, to commence from the expiration of the original term of his imprisonment.

Assisting prisoner to escape.

(1990) § 6. Every person who wilfully by any means whatever, assists any prisoner confined in any prison to escape therefrom, is punishable as follows:

First. If such prisoner was confined upon a charge or conviction of felony, by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not exceeding ten years.

Second. If such prisoner was confined otherwise than upon a charge or conviction of felony, by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or both.

Carrying into prison things to aid escape.

(1991) § 7. Every person who carries or sends into any prison anything useful to aid any prisoner in making his escape, with intent thereby to facilitate the escape of any prisoner confined therein, is punishable as follows:

First. If such prisoner was confined upon any charge or conviction of felony, by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not exceeding ten years.

Second. If such prisoner was confined otherwise than upon a charge or conviction of felony, by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by a fine of five hundred dollars, or both.

Concealing escaped prisoner.

(1992) § 8. Every person who wilfully and knowingly conceals any prisoner, who having been confined in prison upon a charge or conviction of misdemeanor, has escaped therefrom, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Assisting escape from officer.

(1993) § 9. Every person who wilfully assists any prisoner in escaping or attempting to escape from the custody of any officer or person having the lawful charge of such prisoner under any process of law or under any lawful arrest, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

"Territorial prison" defined.

(1994) § 10. The term "Territorial Prison" or prison as used in the penal code includes Territorial prisons, also any other prison in any other territory or state in which this Territory has the right by contract or otherwise, to incarcerate persons convicted of crime in this Territory, also county jails and every place designated by law for the keeping of persons held in custody under process of law or under any lawful arrest. In cases where incarceration in the penitentiary or in the Territorial prison is provided as a penalty for any offense it shall be held to mean incarceration in either the Territorial prison or in any prison in any other state or territory in which this Territory has the right by contract or otherwise to incarcerate persons so convicted.

Prisoner defined.

(1995) § 11. The term prisoner in this chapter includes every person held in custody under process of law issued from a court of competent jurisdiction, whether civil or criminal, or under any lawful arrest.

12. Documents may be retained.
13. Subornation of perjury defined.
14. Punishment for subornation of perjury.
15. Person convicted of perjury incompetent as witness.

(1999) § 1. Every person who, having taken an oath that he will testify, declare, depose or certify truly before any competent tribunal, officer, or person, in any of the cases in which such an oath may by law be administered, wilfully and contrary to such oath, states any material matter which he knows to be false, is guilty of perjury. Perjury defined.

(2000) § 2. The term "oath", as used in the last section, includes an affirmation, and every other mode of attesting the truth of that which is stated, which is authorized by law. Oath defined.

(2001) § 3. So much of an oath of office as relates to the future performance of official duties is not such an oath as is intended by the previous sections. Oath of office.

(2002) § 4. It is no defence to a prosecution for perjury that the oath was administered or taken in an irregular manner. Irregularities in administration of oath.

(2003) § 5. It is no defense to a prosecution for perjury that the accused was not competent to give the testimony, deposition or certificate of which falsehood is alleged. It is sufficient that he actually was required to give such testimony or made such deposition or certificate. Incompetency of witness no defense.

(2004) § 6. It is no defense to a prosecution for perjury that the accused did not know the materiality of the false statement made by him; or that it did not in fact affect the proceeding in or for which it was made. It is sufficient that it was material, and might have been used to affect such proceeding. Materiality of testimony not necessary.

(2005) § 7. The making of a deposition or certificate is deemed to be complete, within the provisions of this article, from the time when it is delivered by the accused to any other person with the intent that it be uttered or published as true. Making depositions.

(2006) § 8. An unqualified statement of that which one does not know to be true is equivolent to a statement of that which one knows to be false. False statement.

(2007) § 9. Perjury is punishable by imprisonment in the Terrial prison as follows: Punishment for perjury.

First. When committed on the trial of an indictment for felony, by imprisonment not less than ten years nor more than twenty years.

Chap. 25.

(2084) § 2. Homicide is either: Homicide classified.

First. Murder.

Second. Manslaughter.

Third. Excusable homicide; or,

Fourth. Justifiable homicide.

(2085) § 3. No person can be convicted of murder or manslaughter, or of aiding suicide, unless the death of the person alleged to have been killed, and the fact of killing by the accused, are each established as independent facts beyond a reasonable doubt. What necessary to conviction.

(2086) § 4. The rules of the common law, distinguishing the killing of a master by his servant, and of a husband by his wife, as petit treason, are abolished, and these offenses are deemed homicides, punishable in the manner prescribed by this article. Petit treason abolished.

(2087) 5. § Whenever th grade or punishment of homicide is made to depend upon its having been committed under circumstances evincing a depraved mind or unusual cruelty, or in a cruel manner, the jury may take into consideration the fact that any domestic or confidential relation existed between the accused and the person killed, in determining the moral quality of the acts proved. Confidential or domestic relation.

(2088) § 6. Homicide is murder in the following cases. Murder defined.

First. When perpetrated without authority of law, and with a premeditated design to effect the death of the person killed, or of any other human being.

Second. When perpetrated by any act imminently dangerous to others and evincing a depraved mind, regardless of human life, although without any premeditated design to effect the death of any particular individual.

Third. When perpetrated without any design to effect death by a person engaged in the commission of any felony.

(2089) § 7. A design to effect death is inferred from the fact of killing, unless the circumstances raise a reasonable doubt whether such design existed. Design to effect death inferred.

(2090) § 8. A design to effect death sufficient to constitute Premeditation murder, may be formed instantly before committing the act by which it is carried into execution.

Chap. 25.

(2091) § 9. Homicide committed with a design to effect death is not the less murder because the perpetrator was in a state of anger or voluntary intoxication at the time.

Act eminently dangerous.

(2092) § 10. Homicide perpetrated by an act eminently dangerous to others and evincing a depraved mind, regardless of human life, is not the less murder because there was no actual intent to injure others.

Duel without the territory

(2093) § 11. Every person who, by previous appointment within this Territory, fights a duel without this Territory, and in so doing, inflicts a wound upon his antagonist, or any other person, whereof the person injured dies, and every second engaged in such duel, is guilty of murder, and may be indicted, tried and convicted in any county of the Territory.

Forcible taking of a mine resulting in killing.

(2094) § 12. If any person or persons shall associate and agree to enter or attempt to enter by force of numbers, and the terror such numbers is calculated to inspire, or by force and violence, or by threats of violence against any person or persons in the actual possession of any lode, gulch, or placer claim, and upon such entry or attempted entry, any person or persons shall be killed, said persons and all and each of them so entering or attempting to enter, shall be deemed guilty of murder, and punished accordingly. Upon the trial of such cases, any person cognizant of such entry or attempted entry, who shall be present, and aiding, assisting, or in anywise encouraging such entry or attempted entry. shall be deemed a principal in the commission of said offense.

Punishment of murder.

(2095) § 13. Every person convicted of murder shall suffer death, or imprisonment at hard labor in the Territorial penitentiary for life, at the discretion of the jury. Upon trial of an indictment for murder, the jury, if they find the defendant guilty. must designate in their verdict whether he shall be punished by death or imprisonment for life at hard labor, and the judgment of the court shall be in accordance therewith. But upon a plea of guilty the court shall determine the same.

Manslaughter. in the first degree defined

(2096) § 14. Homicide is manslaughter in the first degree in the following cases:

First. When perpetrated without a design to effect death by a person while engaged in the commission of a misdemeanor.

Second. When perpetrated without a design to effect death, and in a heat of passion, but in a cruel and unusual manner, or by means of a dangerous weapon; unless it is committed under such circumstances as constitute excusable or justifiable homicide.

Third. When perpetrated unnecessarily either while resisting an attempt by the person killed to commit a crime, or after such attempt shall have failed.

Killing an unborn quick child

(2097) § 15. The wilful killing of an unborn quick child by any injury committed upon the person of the mother of such child, and not prohibited in the next following section, is manslaughter in the first degree.

Procuring destruction of unborn child.

(2098) § 16. Every person who administers to any woman pregnant with a quick child, or who prescribes for such woman, or advises or procures any such woman to take any medicine, drug or substance whatever, or who uses or employs any instrument or other means with intent thereby to destroy such child, unless the same shall have been necessary to preserve the life of such mother, is guilty in case the death of the child or of the mother is thereby produced, of manslaughter in the first degree.

Punishment for manslaughter in first degree.

(2099) § 17. Every person guilty of manslaughter in the first degree is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison for not less than four years.

Manslaughter in the second degree.

(2100) § 18. Every killing of one human being by the act, procurement or culpable negligence of another, which, under the provisions of this chapter, is not murder, nor manslaughter in the first degree, nor excusable nor justifiable homicide, is manslaughter in the second degree.

Owner of mischievous animal.

(2101) § 19. If the owner of a mischievous animal, knowing its propensities, wilfully suffers it to go at large, or keeps it without ordinary care, and such animal, while so at large or not confined, kills any human being who has taken all the precautions which the circumstances permitted, to avoid such animal, the owner is deemed guilty of manslaughter in the second degree.

Navigating vessels

(2102) § 20. Every person navigating any vessel for gain who wilfully or negligently receives so many passengers or such a quantity of other lading on board such vessel that by means thereof such vessel sinks, or is overset or injured; and thereby any human being is drowned or otherwise killed, is guilty of manslaughter in the second degree.

Persons having charge of steamboats.

(2103) § 21. Every captain or other person having charge of any steamboat used for the conveyance of passengers, or of the boilers or engines thereof, who, from ignorance or gross neglect, or for the purpose of excelling any other boat in speed, creates or allows to be created, such an undue quantity of steam as to burst or break the boiler or other apparatus in which it shall be generated, or any apparatus or machinery connected therewith, by which bursting or breaking any person is killed, is deemed guilty of manslanghter in the second degree.

Person having charge of steam engine.

(2104) § 22. Every engineer, or other person having charge of any steam boiler, steam engine or other apparatus for generating or employing steam, employed in any manufactory, railway or other mechanical works, who wilfully or from ignorance or gross neglect creates, or allows to be created, such an undue quantity of steam as to burst or break the boiler, engine or apparatus, or to cause any other accident whereby the death of a human being is produced, is guilty of manslaughter in the second degree.

Liabilities of physicians.

(2105) § 23. Every physician who being in a state of intoxication without a design to effect death, administers any poison, drug or medicine, or does any other act as such physician to another person, which produces the death of such other person, is guilty of manslaughter in the second degree.

Person keeping gunpowder.

(2106) § 24. Every person guilty of making or keeping gunpowder or saltpeter within any city or village, in any quantity or manner such as is prohibited by law or by any ordinance of said city or village, in consequence whereof any explosion occurs whereby any human being is killed, is guilty of manslaughter in the second degree.

Punishment for manslaughter in the second degree.

(2107) § 25. Every person guilty of manslaughter in the second degree is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not more than four years and not less than two years, or by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding one year, or by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or by both fine and imprisonment.

Excusable homicide, what is.

(2108) § 26. Homicide is excusable in the following cases:

First. When committed by accident and misfortune, in lawfully correcting a child or servant, or in doing any other lawful act, by lawful means, with usual and ordinary caution, and without any unlawful intent.

Second. When committed by accident and misfortune in the heat of passion, upon any sudden and sufficient provocation, or upon a sudden combat provided that no undue advantage is taken, nor any dangerous weapon used, and that the killing is not done in a cruel or unusual manner.

Justifiable homicide by officers.

(2109) § 27. Homicide is justifiable when committed by public officers and those acting by their command in their aid and assistance, either:

First. In obedience to any judgment of a competent court; or,

Second. When necessarily committed in overcoming actual resistance to the execution of some legal process, or to the discharge of any other legal duty; or,

Third. When necessarily committed in re-taking felons who have been rescued, or who have escaped, or when necessarily committed in arresting felons fleeing from justice.

Justifiable homicide by other persons

(2110) § 28. Homicide is also justifiable when committed by any person in either of the following cases:

First. When resisting any attempt to murder such person, or to commit any felony upon him or her, or upon or in any dwelling house in which such person is; or,

Second. When committed in the lawful defense of such person, or of his or her husband, wife, parent, child, master, mistress, or servant, when there is a reasonable ground to apprehend a design to commit a felony, or to do some great personal injury, and imminent danger of such design being accomplished; or,

Third. When necessarily committed in attempting, by lawful ways and means, to apprehend any person for any felony committed; or in lawfully suppressing any riot; or in lawfully keeping and preserving the peace.

ARTICLE 18.—MAIMING.

7. Premeditated reward.
8. Subsequent recovery.
9. Punishment for maiming.

(2111) § 1. Every person who, with premeditated design to injure another, inflicts upon his person any injury which disfigures his personal appearance, or disables any member or organ of his body, or seriously diminishes his physical vigor, is guilty of maiming. Maiming defined.

(2112) § 2. Every person who will design to disable himself from performing any legal duty, existing or anticipated, inflicts upon himself any injury whereby he is so disabled, is guilty of maiming. Maiming one's self.

(2113) § 3. Every person who inflicts upon himself any injury such as if inflicted upon another would constitute maiming, with intent to avail himself of such injury, to excite sympathy, or to obtain alms, or any charitable relief is guilty of maiming. Same.

(2114) § 4. To constitute maiming it is immaterial by what means or instrument, or in what manner the injury was inflicted. What injury is maiming.

(2115) § 5. To constitute maiming by disfigurement the injury must be such as is calculated; after healing, to attract observation. A disfigurement which can only be discovered by close inspection does not constitute maiming. What constitutes disfigurement.

(2116) § 6. A design to injure, disfigure or disable, is inferred from the fact of inflicting an injury which is calculated to disfigure or disable, unless the circumstances raise a reasonable doubt whether such design existed. Design to maim inferred.

(2117) § 7. A premeditated design to injure, disfigure or disable, sufficient to constitute maiming, may be formed instantly before inflicting the wound. Premeditated design.

(2118) § 8. Where it appears, upon a trial for maiming another person, that the person injured has, before the time of trial, so far recovered from the wound that he is no longer by it disfigured in personal appearance, or disabled in any member or organ of his body, or affected in physical vigor, no conviction for maiming shall be had; but the accused may be convicted of assault and battery, with or without a special intent, according to proof. Subsequent recovery

(2119) § 9. Every person guilty of maiming is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not exceeding seven years, or by imprisonment in a county jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or both such fine and imprisonment. Punishment for maiming.

14. Repeal of conflicting enactments.

Libel defined.

(2156) § 1. A libel is the malicious defamation of a person made public by printing, writing, sign picture, representation or effigy tending to provoke him to wrath or subject him to public hatred, contempt or ridicule, or to deprive him of the benefit of public confidence and social intercourse, or injure him in his business, or any malicious defamation made public as aforesaid designed to blacken or vilify the memory of one who is dead, and tending to scandalize or provoke his surviving relatives or friends.

Slander defined.

(2157) § 2. Slander is a false and unprivileged publication, other than libel, which: First, Charges any person with crime or having been indicted, convicted or punished for crime: Second, Imputes in him the present existence of an infectious, contagious, or loathsome desease: Third, Tends directly to injure him in respect to his office, profession, trade or business, either by imputing to him general disqualification in those respects which his office or other occupation peculiarly requires, or by imputing something with reference to his office, profession, trade or business that has a natural tendency to lessen its profits: Fourth, Imputes to him impotence or want of chastity: Fifth, Which by natural consequence causes actual damage.

Privileged communications.

(2158) § 3. A privileged communication is one made: First, In any legislative or judicial proceedings, or in any other proceeding authorized by law: Second, In the proper discharge of an official duty: Third, By a fair and true report without malice of a judicial, legislative, official or other proceeding, or of anything said in the course thereof: Fourth, In all cases of such communications made to a person other than a near relative, or ward, or between persons related in business, malice shall be presumed from the communication unless the facts and circumstances and the testimony rebut the same.

Civil action, proof.

(2159) § 4. In all civil actions to recover damages for libel or slander, it shall be sufficient to state generally what the defamatory matter was, and that it was published or spoken of the plaintiff, and to allege any general or special damage caused thereby, and the plaintiff to recover shall only be held to prove that the matter was published or spoken by the defendant concerning the plaintiff. As a defense thereto, the defendant may deny and offer evidence to disprove the charges made, or he may prove that the matter charged as defamatory was true, and in addition thereto, that it was published or spoken under such circumstances as to render it a privileged communication.

Malice.

(2160) § 5. An injurious publication is presumed to have been malicious if no justifiable motive for making it is shown.

Minimum judgment.

(2161) § 6. If there be a verdict by a a jury or finding by the court in favor of the plaintiff, the verdict and judgment shall in no case be less than one hundred dollars and costs, and may be for a greater sum if the proof justifies the same. And if there be a verdict in favor of the defendant, and the jury find that the action was malicious or without reasonable provocation, judgment shall be rendered against the plaintiff and in favor of the defendant for his costs, including an attorney's fee of one hundred dollars.

Chap. 25.

Who punishable.

(2162) § 7. Every person who makes, composes, dictates or procures the same to be done; or who wilfully publishes or circulates such libel; or in any way knowingly or wilfully aids or assists in making, publishing, or circulating the same, shall be punishable by imprisonment in the county jail not more than one year or by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or both at the discretion of the judge; and moreover, be civilly liable to the party injured: Provided, however, That if said libel is published in a newspaper or periodical having a general circulation, the person so offending shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than one year or more than three years.

Criminal action, proof.

(2163) § 8. In all criminal prosecutions or indictments for libel the truth thereof may be given in evidence to the jury, and if it be made to appear by the defendant that the matter charged as libelous was true, and in addition thereto was published with good motives, and for justifiable ends, or was a privileged communication, the defendant shall be acquitted.

Indictment, requirments.

(2164) § 9. In criminal prosecutions for libel, the indictment or information need not set forth any extrinsic facts for the purpose of showing the application to the party libelled of the defamatory matter upon which the indictment is founded, but it is sufficient to state generally that the same was published concerning the party named and the fact that it was published must be established on the trial.

What constitutes publicity.

(2165) § 10. To sustain the charge of publishing liable it is not needful that the words complained of should have been read by any person; it is enough and sufficient evidence that the accused knowingly parted with the immediate custody of the libel under circumstances which exposed it to be read by any person other than himself.

Newspapers.

(2166) § 11. No editor or proprietor of any newspaper shall be liable to prosecution for a fair and true report of any judicial, legislative or other public officicial proceedings, except upon proof of malice in making such report, and in making such report or public official proceedings, malice shall not be implied from publication; but libellous remarks connected with matter privileged under the last section, shall not be privileged by reason of their being connected therewith.

Threats.

(2167) § 12. Every person who threatens to publish a libel concerning any other person, or concerning any relative, wife or child, or dead relative of such person, or member of his family, shall be liable civilly and criminally to have the same intent as though the publication had been made. But if the thought be not in writing, the threat and character of the libellous matter must be proven by at least two witnesses, or by one witness and corroborating circumstances.

Action, how conducted.

(2168) § 13. Civil and criminal actions for libel or slander shall be conducted as other actions and under the direction and charge of the court.

(2169) § 14. All acts and parts of acts and laws inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.

14. Removal to another burial place.
15. Arresting or attaching dead body.
16. Disturbing funerals.
17. Injury to cemetery or tomb.
18. Violation of provisions of this article.

Disposal of one's own body

(2198) § 1. Every person has the right to direct the manner in which his body shall be disposed of after his death, and to direct the manner in which any part of his body which becomes separated therefrom during his life time shall be disposed of. The provisions of this article do not apply where such person has given directions for the disposal of his body or any part thereof inconsistent with these provisions.

Duty of burial.

(2199) § 2. Except in the cases in which a right to dissect a dead body is expressly conferred by law, every dead body of a human being lying within this Territory must be decently buried within a reasonable time after the death.

Burial in other states.

(2200) § 3. The last section does not affect the right to carry the dead body of a human being through this Territory, or to remove from this Territory the body of a person dying within it, for the purpose of burying the same in another state or territory.

Dissection allowed, when.

(2201) § 4. The right to dissect the dead body of a human being exists in the following cases:

First. In the cases authorized by positive enactment of the Legislative assembly of this Territory.

Second. Whenever the death occurs under circumstances in which a coroner is authorized by law to hold an inquest upon the body, and a coroner authorizes such dissection for the purposes of the inquest.

Third. Whenever any husband or next kin of a deceased person, being charged by law with the duty of burial, authorizes such dissection for the purpose of ascertaining the cause of death.

Unlawful dissection is a misdemeanor.

(2202) § 5. Every person who makes or procures to be made any dissection of the body of a human being, except by authority of law, or in pursuance of a permission given by the deceased, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Remains after dissection.

(2203) § 6. In all cases in which a dissection has been made, the provisions of this article requiring the burial of a dead body, and punishing interference with or injuries to a dead body, apply equally to the remains of the body dissected, as soon as the lawful purposes of such dissection have been accomplished.

Dead limb or member of body

(2204) § 7. All provisions of this article requiring the burial of a dead body, or punishing interference with or injuries to a dead body, applying equally to any dead limb or member of a human body, separated therefrom during life time.

Duty of burial devolves upon whom.

(2205) § 8. The duty of burying the body of a deceased person devolves upon the persons hereinafter specified:

First. If the deceased were a married woman, the duty of burial devolves upon her husband.

Second. If the deceased were not a married woman, but left any kindred, the duty of burial devolves upon any person or persons in the same degree nearest of kin to the deceased, being of adult age, and within this Territory, and possessed of sufficient means to defray the necessary expenses.

Third. If the deceased left no husband, nor kindred, answering to the foregoing description, the duty of burial devolves upon the coroner conducting an inquest upon the body of the deceased, if any such inquest is held; if none, then upon the persons charged with the support of the poor in the locality in which the death occurs.

Fourth. In case the person upon whom the duty of burial if cast by the foregoing provisions omits to make such burial within a reasonable time, the duty devolves upon the person next specified; and if all omit to act, it devolves upon the tenant, or, if there be no tenant, upon the owner of the premises, or master, or, is there is no master, upon the owner of the vessel in which the death occurs or the body is found.

Neglect of burial.

(2206) § 9. Every person upon whom the duty of making burial of the remains of a deceased person is imposed by law, who omits to perform that duty within a reasonable time, is guilty of a misdemeanor; and, in addition to the punishment prescribed therefor, is liable to pay to the person performing the duty in his stead, treble the expenses incurred by the latter in making the burial, to be recovered in a civil action.

Who is entitled to custody of body.

(2207) § 10. The person charged by law with the duty of burying the body of a deceased person is entitled to the custody of such body for the purpose of burying it; except that in the cases in which an inquest is required by law to be held upon a dead body, by a coroner, such coroner is entitled to its custody until such inquest has been completed.

Unlawful removal of the dead.

(2208) § 11. Every person who removes any part of the dead body of a human being from any grave or other place where the same has been buried, or from any place where the same is deposited while awaiting burial, with intent to sell the same, or to dissect it without authority of law, or from malice or wantonness, is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not exceeding five years, or in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Purchasing dead body.

(2209) § 12. Every person who purchases, or who receives, except for the purpose of burial, any dead body of a human being, knowing that the same has been removed contrary to the last section, is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not exceeding five years, or in a county jail not exceeding one year, or by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Unlawful interference with places of burial.

(2210) § 13. Every person who opens any grave or any place of burial, temporary or otherwise, or who breaks open any building wherein any dead body of a human being is deposited while awaiting burial, with intent either:

First. To remove any dead body of a human being for the purpose of selling the same, or for the purpose of dissection; or,

Second. To steal the coffin, or any part thereof or any thing attached thereto, or connected therewith, or the vestments or other articles buried with the same, is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not exceeding two, or in a county jail not exceeding six months, or by a fine not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Removal to another burial place.

(2211) § 14. Whenever a cemetery or other place of burial is lawfully authorized to be removed from one place to another, the right and duty to disinter, remove and rebury the remains of bodies there lying buried devolves upon the same persons required to bury the deceased in the order in which they there are named, and if they all fail to act, then upon the lawful custodians of the place of burial so removed. Every omission of such duty is punishable in the same manner as other omissions to perform the duty of making burial.

Arresting or attaching dead body.

(2212) § 15. Every person who arrests or attaches any dead body of a human being upon any debt or demand whatever, or detains or claims to detain it for any debt or demand, or upon any pretended lien or charge, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Disturbing funerals.

(2213) § 16. Every person who wilfully disturbs, interrupts or disquiets any assemblage of people met for the purpose of any funeral, or who, without authority of law, obstructs or detains any persons engaged in carrying or accompanying any dead body of a human being to a place of burial, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Injury to cemetery or tomb.

(2214) § 17. Every person who shall wilfully destroy, mutilate, deface, injure or remove any tomb, monument or gravestone, or other structure placed in any cemetery or private burying ground, or any fence, railing, or other work for the protection or ornament of any such cemetery or place of burial of any human being, or tomb, monument or gravestone, memento, or memorial, or other structure aforesaid, or of any lot within a cemetery, or shall wilfully destroy, cut, break, or injure any tree, shrub or plant, within the limits thereof, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by fine of not less than five dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a term not to exceed six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Violation of provisions of this article.

(2215) § 18. Every person who violates any provision of any enactment of the Legislative Assembly of this Territory, now in force, or that hereafter may be enacted, not provided for in this article relative to dissection, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

ARTICLE 41.—ARSON.

SECTION.		SECTION.
1.	Arson defined.	8.	Malice inferred.
2.	Building defined.	9.	No intent to destroy.
3.	Inhabited building defined.	10.	Contiguous buildings.
4.	Night defined.	11.	Degrees of arson.
5.	Burning defined.	12.	Arson in the first degree.
6.	Ownership not necessary.	13.	Same, punishment.
7.	Variance in the proof.	14.	Arson in second degree.

Arson defined

(2343) § 1. Arson is the wilful and malicious burning of a building, with intent to destroy it.

Building defined.

(2344) § 2. Any bridge, edifice, vessel, structure, house or other erection with walls or roof in whole or in part is a building within the meaning of the last section.

Inhabited building defined.

(2345) § 3. Any building is deemed an "inhabited building," within the meaning of this article, any part of which has usually been occupied by any person lodging therein at night.

Night time defined.

(2346) § 4. The words "night time," in this article include the period between sunset and sunrise.

Building defined.

(2347) § 5. To constitute a burning within the meaning of the first section of this article it is not necessary that the building set on fire should be destroyed. It is sufficient that the fire is applied so as to take effect upon the substance of the building.

Ownership not necessary.

(2348) § 6. To constitute arson it is not necessary that another person than the accused should have had ownership in the building set on fire. It is sufficent that at the time of burning another person was rightfully in the possession of, or was actually occupying, such building, or any part thereof.

Variance in proof.

(2349) § 7. An omission to designate, or error in designating in indictment for arson, the owner or occupant of a building, shall not prejudice the proceedings thereupon, if it appears that upon the whole description given of the building, it is sufficiently identified to enable the prisoner to prepare his defense.

Malice defined.

(2350) § 8. Malice sufficent to constitute arson is inferred from proof that the prisoner committed an act of burning a building, and that some other person was rightfully in possession of, or actually occupying any part thereof. It is not necessary that the accused should have had actual knowledge of such possession or occupany or should have intended to injure any person.

(2351) § 9. But the burning of a building under circumstances which show beyond a reasonable doubt that there was no intent to destroy it is not arson. No intent to destroy.

(2352) § 10. Where any appurtenance to any building is so situated with reference to such building, or where any building is so situated with reference to another building that the burning of one will manifestly endanger the other, a burning of the one is deemed the burning of the other, within the foregoing definition of arson, and as against any person actually participating in the original setting fire, as of the moment when the fire from the one shall communicate to and burn the other. Contiguous buildings.

(2353) § 11. Arson is divided in two degrees. Degrees of arson.

(2354) § 12. Arson in the first degree is: Arson in the first degree.

First. Maliciously burning in the night time an inhabited building in which there is at the time some human being, or,

Second. Maliciously burning in the night time a structure adjoining to or within the curtilage of an inhabited building in which there is at the time some human being, and in such a way that such inhabited building is endangered; or,

Third. Maliciously burning in the day time any inhabited building or structure in which merchandising is carried on; or,

Fourth. Maliciously burning in the night time any uninhabited building in which merchandising is carried on, or in which there is at the time any cattle, horses, hogs or sheep. Arson committed in any other way is arson in the second degree.

(2355) § 13. Arson in the first degree is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison as follows: Same, punishment

First. If committed as designated in the first paragraph of the foregoing section, for a term of not less than twenty years, nor more than thirty years.

Second. If committed as designated in the second, third or fourth paragraph of said section, not less than ten nor more than twenty years.

(2356) § 14. Arson in the second degree is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison as follows: Arson in second degree.

First. If committed in the night time not less than five nor more than ten years.

Second. If committed in the day time not less than two nor more than seven years.

(2418) § 6. If any clerk or servant of any private person or co-partnership or corporation, except apprentices and persons within the age of eighteen years, fraudulently appropriates to his own use, or secretes with a fraudulent intent to appropriate to his own use, any property of any other person which has come into his control or care by virtue of his employment as such clerk or servant, he is guilty of embezzlement. Clerk or servant guilty of embezzlement.

(2419) § 7. A distinct act of taking is not necessary to constitute embezzlement, but any fraudulent appropriation, conversion or use of property, coming within the above prohibitions is sufficient. Distinct taking not necessary.

(2420) § 8. Any evidence of debt, negotiable by delivery only, and actually executed, is equally the subject of embezzlement whether it has been delivered or issued as a valid instrument or not. Evidence of debt subject of embezzlementr (2421) § 9. Upon any indictment for embezzlement it is a sufficient defense that the property was appropriated openly and avowedly, and under a claim of title preferred in good faith even though such claim is untenable. But this provision shall not excuse the retention of the property of another, to offset or pay demand held against him. Property taken under claim of title.

(2422) § 10. The fact that the accused intended to restore Intent to restore no defense.

the property embezzled, is no ground of defense, or of mitigation of punishment, if it has not been restored before an information has been laid before a magistrate, charging the commission of the offense.

Mitigation of punishment

(2423) § 11. Whenever it is made to appear that prior to any information laid before a magistrate charging the commission of embezzlement, the person accused voluntarily and actually restored or tendered restoration of the property alleged to have been embezzled, or any part thereof, such is not a ground of defense to the indictment, but it authorizes the court to mitigate punishment in its discretion.

Punishment for embezzlement

(2424) § 12. Every person guilty of embezzlement is punishable in the manner prescribed for feloniously stealing property of the value of that embezzled. And where the property embezzled is an evidence of debt or right in action, the sum due upon it, or secured to be paid by it, shall be taken as its value.

Acts punishable in different ways.

(2559) § 1. An act or omission which is made punishable in different ways by different provisions of this article, or other penal statute, may be punished under either of such provisions, except that in cases specified in the twelfth and fifteenth sections of this article inclusive, the punishments therein prescribed are substituted for those prescribed for a first offense, but in no case can it be punished under more than one; and an acquittal or conviction and sentence under either one, bars the prosecution for the same act or omission under any other.

Acts punishable under foreign laws.

(2560) § 2. An act or omission declared punishable by this chapter, is not less so because it is also punishable under the laws of another state, government or country, unless the contrary is expressly declared in this article.

Foreign conviction or acquittal.

(2561) § 3. But whenever it appears upon the trial of an indictment that the accused has already been acquitted or convicted upon any criminal prosecution under the laws of another state, government or country, founded upon the act or omission in respect to which he is upon trial, this is a sufficient defense.

Contempts punishable as crimes.

(2562) § 4. A criminal act is not the less punishable as a crime because it is also declared to be punishable as a contempt.

Mitigation of punishment.

(2563) § 5. But where it is made to appear at the time of passing sentence upon a person convicted upon indictment, that such person has already paid a fine or suffered an imprisonment for the act which he stands convicted, under an order adjudging it a contempt, the court authorized to pass sentence may mitigate the punishment to be imposed, in its discretion.

Aiding in a misdemeanor.

(2564) § 6. Whenever an act is declared a misdemeanor, and no punishment for counselling or aiding in the commission of such act is expressly prescribed by law, every person who counsels or aids another in the commission of such act, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sending letter, when complete.

(2565) § 7. In the various cases in which the sending of a letter is made criminal by this chapter, the offense is deemed complete from the time when such letter is deposited in any postoffice or any other place, or delivered to any person with intent that it shall be forwarded. And the party may be indicted and tried in any county wherein such letter is so deposited or delivered, or in which it shall be received by the person to whom it is addressed.

Failure to perform duty.

(2566) § 8. No person is punishable for an omission to perform an act, where such act has been performed by another person acting in his behalf, and competent by law to perform it.

Attempts to commit crimes.

(2567) § 9. No person can be convicted of an attempt to commit a crime when it appears that the crime intended or attempted was perpetrated by such person in pursuance of such attempt.

Failures to commit crimes punishable, how.

(2568) § 10. Every person who attempts to commit any crime, and in such attempt does any act toward the commission of such crime, but fails, or is prevented or intercepted in the perpetration thereof, is punishable, where no provision is made by law for the punishment of such attempt, as follows:

First. If the offense so attempted be punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison for four years or more, or by imprisonment in a county jail, the person guilty of such attempt is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison, or in a county jail, as the case may be, for a term not exceeding one-half the longest term of imprisonment prescribed upon a conviction for the offense so attempted.

Second. If the offense so attempted be punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison for any time less than four years, the person guilty of such attempt is punishable by imprisonment in a county jail for not more than one year.

Third. If the offense so attempted be punishable by a fine, the offender convicted of such attempt is punishable by a fine not exceeding one-half the largest fine which may be imposed upon a conviction of the offense so attempted.

Fourth. If the offense so attempted be punishable by imprisonment and by a fine, the offender convicted of such attempt may be punished by both imprisonment and fine, not exceeding one-half the longest term of imprisonment, and one-half the largest fine which may be imposed upon a conviction for the offense so attempted.

Restriction.

(2569) § 11. The last two sections do not protect a person who in attempting unsuccessfully to commit a crime, accomplishes the commission of another and different crime, whether greater or less in guilt, from suffering the punishment prescribed by law for the crime committed.

Second offenses when first was five years or less, how punished.

(2570) § 12. Every person who, having been convicted of any offense punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison, commits any crime after such conviction, is punishable therefor as follows:

First. If the offense of which such person is subsequently convicted is such that upon a first conviction an offender would be punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison for any term exceeding five years, such person is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison for a term not less than ten years.

Second. If such subsequent offense is such that, upon a first conviction the offender would be punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison for five years, or any less term, then the person convicted of such subsequent offense is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison for a term not exceeding ten years.

Third. If such subsequent conviction is for petit larceny, or for any attempt to commit an offense which, if committed, would be punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison, then the person convicted of such subsequent offense is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison for a term not exceeding five years.

Attempt to conceal death of child.

(2571) § 13. Every woman who, having been convicted of endeavoring to conceal the birth of an issue of her body, which, if born alive, would be a bastard, or the death of any such issue under the age of two years, subsequently to such conviction endeavors to conceal any such birth or death of issue of her body, is punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison not exceeding five years and not less than two.

Second offenses when first punishable for more than five years or for petit larceny

(2572) § 14. Every person who, having been convicted of petit larceny, or of an attempt to commit an offence which if perpetrated, would be punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison, commits any crime after such conviction, is punishable as follows:

First. If such subsequent offense is such that upon a first conviction the offender would be punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison for life, at the discretion of the court, such person is punishable by imprisonment in such prison during life.

Second. If such subsequent offense is such that upon a first conviction the offender would be punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison for any term less than for life, such person is punishable by imprisonment in such prison for the longest term prescribed upon a conviction for such first offense.

Third. If such subsequent conviction is for petit larceny, or for any attempt to commit an offense, which, if perpetrated, would be punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison, then such person is punishable by imprisonment in such prison for a term not exceeding five years.

Foreign conviction.

(2573) § 15. Every person who has been convicted in any other state, government or country of an offense which, if committed within this Territory, would be punishable by the laws of this Territory by imprisonment in the Territorial prison, is punishable by any subsequent crime committed within this Territory, in the manner prescribed in the last three sections, and to the same extent as if such first conviction had taken place in a court of this Territory.

Two or more terms of imprisonment

(2574) § 16. When any person is convicted of two or more crimes before sentence has been pronounced upon him for either, the imprisonment to which he is sentenced upon the second or other subsequent conviction, must commence at the termination of the first term of imprisonment to which he shall be adjudged, or at the termination of the second or other subsequent term of imprisonment, as the case may be.

Imprisonment for life.

(2575) § 17. Whenever any person is declared punishable for a crime by imprisonment in the Territorial prison for a term not less than any specified number of years, and no limit to the duration of such imprisonment is declared, the court authorized to pronounce judgment upon such conviction may, in its discretion, sentence such offender to imprisonment during his natural life, or for any number of years not less than such as are prescribed.

Sentence, how to be limited.

(2576) § 18. In cases where convicts sentenced to be imprisoned in the Territorial prison for a longer period than one year, it is the duty of the court before which the conviction is had to limit the time of sentence, so that it will expire between the month of March and the month of November, unless the exact period of the sentence is fixed by law.

Juvenile offenders.

(2577) § 19. Whenever any person under the age of sixteen years is convicted of an offiense punishable by imprisonment in the Territorial prison, the court before whom such conviction was had, may, in its discretion, sentence the person so convicted to imprisonment in the county jail of the county, or until there may be a reformatory, after which time [he] may be sentenced to the reformatory in which such conviction was had.

Fine may be added to imprisonment.

(2578) § 20. Upon a conviction for any crime punishable by imprisonment in any jail or prison, in relation to which no fine is herein prescribed, the court may impose a fine on the offender not exceeding two hundred dollars in addition to the imprisonment prescribed.

Civil rights suspended.

(2579) § 21. A sentence of imprisonment in the Territorial prison for any term less than for life, suspends all the civil rights of the person so sentenced, and forfeits all public offices, and all private trusts, authority or power, during the term of such imprisonment.

Civil death.

(2580) § 22. A person sentenced to imprisonment in the Territorial prison for life. is thereby deemed civilly dead.

Person of convict prohibited.

(2581) § 23. The person of a convict sentenced to imprisonment in the Territorial prison is under the protection of the law, and any injury to his person, not authorized by law, is punishable in the same manner as if he was not convicted or sentenced.

Conviction does not work forfeiture.

(2582) § 24. No conviction of any person for crime works any forfeiture of any property, except in the cases of any outlawry for treason, and other cases in which a forfeiture is expressly imposed by law.

Testimony; privilege of witnesses and perjury.

(2583) § 25. The various section of this chapter which declare that evidence obtained upon the examination of a person as a witness shall not be received against him in any criminal proceeding, do not forbid such evidence being proved against such person upon any proceedings founded upon a charge of perjury committed in such examination.

Definition of terms.

(2584) § 26. Wherever the terms mentioned in the following sections are employed in this chapter, they are deemed to be employed in the senses hereafter affixed to them, except where a different sense plainly appears.

Wilfully defined.

(2585) § 27. The term "wilfully" when applied to the intent which an act is done or omitted, implies simply a purpose or willingness to commit the act or the omission referred to. It does not require any intent to violate law, or to injure another, or to acquire any advantage.

Negligent; negligence.

(2586) § 28. The terms "neglect," "negligence," "negligent" and "negligently," when so employed, import a want of such attention to the nature or probable consequences of the act or omission as a prudent man ordinarily bestows in acting in his own concerns.

Corruptly.

(2587) § 29. The term "corruptly" when so employed, imports a wrongful design to acquire some pecuniary or other advantage to the person guilty of the act or omission referred to.

Malice; maliciously.

(2588) § 30. The terms "malice" and "maliciously," when so employed, import a wish to vex, annoy or injure another person, established either by proof or presumption of law,

Knowingly.

(2589) § 31. The term "knowingly," when so applied, imports only a knowledge that the facts exist which bring the act or omission within the provisions of this chapter. It does not require any knowledge of the unlawfulness of such act or omission.

Bribe.

(2590) § 32. The term "bribe" signifies any money, goods right in action, property, thing of value or advantage, present or prospective, or any promise or undertaking to give any, asked, given or accepted, with a corrupt intent to influence unlawfully the person to whom it is given, in his action, vote or opinion, in any public or official capacity.

Vessel.

(2591) § 33. The word "vessel," when used with reference to shipping, includes ships of all kinds, steamboats, and steamships, canal boats, and every structure adapted to be navigated from place to place.

Peace officer.

(2592) § 34. The term "peace officer" signifies any sheriff, coroner, constable, policeman, watchman of an incorporation, city or town, and such other officer or officers whose duty it is made to enforce and preserve the public peace.

Magistrate.

(2593) § 35. The term "magistrate," signifies any justice of the peace, judge of probate court, mayor of an incorporated city or town, and such other officer or officers whose duty it is made by law to examine and punish violations of the public peace.

Signature.

(2594) § 36. The term "signature" includes any name, mark or sign, written with the intent to authenticate any instrument or writing.

Writing includes printing.

(2595) § 37. The term "writing" includes printing.

Real property.

(2596) § 38. The term "real property" includes every estate, interest and right in lands, tenements and hereditaments.

Personal property

(2597) § 39. The term "personal property" includes every description of money, goods, chattels, effects, evidences of right in action, and written instruments by which any pecuniary obligation, right or title to property, real or personal, is created or acknowledged, transferred, increased, defeated, discharged or diminished.

Property defined.

(2598) § 40. The term "property" includes both real and personal property.

Person defined.

(2599) § 41. The word "person" includes corporations, as well as natural persons.

Same.

(2600) § 42. Where the term "person" is used in this chapter to designate the party whose property may be the subject of any offense, it includes this Territory, any other state, government or country which may lawfully own any property within this Territory, and all public and private corporations or joint associations, as well as individuals.

Singular includes plural.

(2601) § 43. The singular number includes the plural, and the plural the singular.

Gender.

(2602) § 44. Words used in the masculine gender, comprehend as well the feminine and neuter.

Present tense

(2603) § 45. Words used in the present tense include the future, but exclude the past.

Intent to defraud.

(2604) § 46. Whenever, by any of the provisions of this chapter an intent to defraud is required in order to constitute any offense, it is sufficient if an intent appears to defraud any person, association or body politic or corporate whatever.

Civil remedies not affected.

(2605) § 47. The omission to specify or affirm in this chapter, any liability to any damages, penalty, forfeiture or other remedy, imposed by law, and allowed to be recovered or enforced in any civil action or proceeding, for any act or omission declared punishable herein, does not effect any right to recover or enforce the same.

Proceeding to impeach or remove.

(2606) § 48. The omission to specify or affirm in thisc hapter any ground or forfeiture of a public office or other trust or special authority conferred by law, to impeach, remove, depose or suspend any public officer or other person holding any trust, appointment or other special authority conferred by law, does not affect such forfeiture or power, or any proceeding authorized by law to carry into effect such impeachment, removal, deposition or suspension.

Military punishment.

(2607) § 49. This chapter does not affect any power conferred by law upon any court martial or other military authority or officer to impose or inflict punishment upon offenders; nor any power conferred by law upon any public body, tribunal, or officer, to impose or inflict punishment for a contempt; nor any provisions of the laws relating to apprentices, bastards, disorderly persons, Indians and vagrants.

Fines to go to county general fund.

(2608) § 50. All fines, forfeitures and pecuniary penalties, prescribed as a punishment, by any of the provisions of this chapter when collected, shall be paid into the treasury of the proper county, to be added to the county general fund.

Cost taxed against defendant.

(2609) § 51. In all cases of conviction, the costs of the prosecution shall be taxed against the defendant, and enforced as other judgments in criminal causes.

Construction of "district attorney."

(2610) § 52. The words "district attorney," as used in this chapter shall be construed to include and mean the same as the words "county attorney," prosecuting attorney or any other attorney authorized to appear for and in behalf of the Territory.

CHAPTER XXVI.—DAMAGES.

ARTICLE.
1. Damages in general.
2. Measure of damages.

ARTICLE 1.—DAMAGES IN GENERAL.

SECTION.
1. Species of relief.
2. Relief from forfeiture.
3. Damages from any injury.
4. Detriment defined.
5. Future detriment.
6. Interest upon damages.
7. Jury may allow without damages.
8. Waiver of interest.
9. Jury may give exemplary damages, when.

Species of relief.

(2611) § 1. As a general rule, compensation is the relief or remedy provided by the law of this Territory for the violation of private rights, and the means of securing their observance; and specific and preventive relief may be given in no other cases than those specified in this part of the civil law.

Relief from forfeiture.

(2612) § 2. Whenever, by the terms of an obligation, a party thereto incurs a forfeiture, or a loss in the nature of a forfeiture, by reason of his failure to comply with its provisions, he may be relieved therefrom, upon making full compensation to the other party, except in case of a grossly negligent, wilful or fraudulent breach of duty.

Damages for any injury.

(2613) § 3. Every person who suffers detriment from the unlawful act or omission of another, may recover from the person in fault a compensation therefor in money, which is called damages.

Detriment defined.

(2614) § 4. Detriment is a loss or harm suffered in person or property.

Future detriment.

(2615) § 5. Damages may be awarded in a judicial proceeding for detriment resulting after the commencement thereof, or certain to result in the future.

Interest upon damages

(2616) § 6. Every person who is entitled to recover damages certain, or capable of being made certain by calculation, and the right to recover which is vested in him upon a particular day, is entitled also to recover interest thereon from that day, except during such time as the debtor is prevented by law, or by the act of the creditor from paying the debt.

Jury may allow without damages.

(2617) § 7. In an action for the breach of an obligation not arising from contract, and in every case of oppression, fraud or malice, interest may be given in the discretion of the jury.

Waiver of interest.

(2618) § 8. Accepting payment of the whole principal, as such, waives all claim to interest.

Jury may give exemplary damages, when.

(2619) § 9. In any action for the breach of an obligation not arising from contract, where the defendant has been guilty of oppression, fraud or malice, actual or presumed, the jury, in addition to the actual damages, may give damages for the sake of example, and by way of punishing the defendant.

General Provisions.

SECTION.
32. Value of property as to the seller.
33. Value as to the buyer.
34 Peculiar value.
35. Value of title papers.
36. Exclusion of exemplary damages.
37. Limitation of amount.
38. Damages must be reasonable.
39. Nominal damages.

(2620) § 1. For the breach of an obligation arising from contract, the measure of damages, except where otherwise expressly provided by this chapter, is the amount which will compensate the party aggrieved for all the detriment proximately caused thereby, or which, in the ordinary course of things, would be likely to result therefrom. No damages can be recovered for a breach of contract, which are not clearly ascertainable in both their nature and origin. Proximate results determine measure, damages must be certain.

(2621) § 2. The detriment caused by the breach of an obligation to pay money only is deemed to be the amount due by the terms of the obligation, with interest thereon. Principal and interest.

(2622) § 3. For the dishonor of foreign bills of exchange the damages are prescribed by sections 4560 and 4561 of the Dakota code as follows: Foreign bills.

[SECTION 4560. Damages are allowed under ths last section upon bills drawn upon any person:

First. If drawn upon any person in this Territory, two dollars upon each one hundred dollars of the principal sum specified in the bill.

Second. If drawn upon any person out of this Territory, but in the states of Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Missouri, or in the Territory of Montana, three dollars upon each hundred dollars of the principal sum specified in the bill.

Third. If drawn upon any person in any of the United States or territories other than those above named, five dollars upon each hundred dollars of the principal sum specified in the bill.

Fourth. If drawn upon any person in any place in a foreign country, ten dollars upon each hundred dollars of the principal sum specified in the bill.

And from the time of notice of dishonor and demand of payment, lawful interest must be allowed upon the aggregate amount of the principal sum specified in the bill, and the damages mentioned as above.

SECTION 4561. If the amount of a protested bill of exchange is expressed in money of the United States, damages are estimated upon such amount without regard to the rate of exchange. If the amount of a protested bill of exchange is expressed in foreign money, damages are estimated upon the value of a similar bill at the time of protest, in the place nearest to the place where the bill was negotiated, and where such bills are currently sold.—Dakota code.]

For breach of covenants in grants.

(2623). § 4. The detriment caused by the breach of a covenant of seizin, of right to convey, of warranty, or of quiet enjoyment, in a grant of an estate in real property, is deemed to be:

First. The price paid to the grantor, or if the breach is partial only, such proportion of the price as the value of the property affected by the breach bore, at the time of the grant, to the value of the whole property.

Second. Interest thereon for the time during which the grantee derived no benefit from the property, not exceeding six years; and,

Third. Any expenses properly incurred by the covenantee in defending his possession.

For breach of covenants against incumbrances

(2624) § 5. The detriment caused by the breach of a covenant against incumbrances in a grant of an estate in real property, is deemed to be the amount which has been actually expended by the covenantee in extinguishment either the principal or interest thereof; not exceeding in the former case a proportion of the price paid to the grantor, equivalent to the relative value, at the time of the grant, of the property affected by the breach, as compared with the whole; or, in the latter case interest on a like amount.

For breach of agreement to convey.

(2625) § 6. The detriment caused by the breach of an agreement to convey an estate in real property, is deemed to be the price paid, and the expenses properly incurred in examining the title and preparing the necessary papers, with interest thereon; but adding thereto, in case of bad faith, the difference between the price agreed to be paid, and the value of the estate agreed to be conveyed, at the time of the breach, and the expenses properly incurred in preparing to enter upon the land.

For breach of agreement to buy.

(2626) § 7. The detriment caused by the breach of an agreement to purchase an estate in real property, is deemed to be the excess if any, of the amount which would have been due to the seller under the contract, over the value of the property to him.

For breach of agreement to deliver personalty.

(2627) § 8. The detriment caused by the breach of a seller's agreement to deliver personal property, the price of which has not been fully paid in advance, is deemed to be the excess, if any, of the value of the property to the buyer, over the amount which would have been due to the seller under the contract, if it had been fulfilled.

Same; when wrongful conversion.

(2628) § 9. The detriment caused by the breach of a seller's agreement to deliver personal property, the price of which has been fully paid to him in advance, is deemed to be the same as in case of a wrongful conversion.

Breach of agreement to accept and pay.

(2629) § 10. The detriment caused by the breach of a buyer's agreement to accept and pay for personal property, the title to which is verted in him, is deemed to be the contract price.

Same; when title not vested in buyer.

(2630) § 11. The detriment caused by the breach of a buyer's agreement to accept and pay for personal property, the title to which is not vested in him, is deemed to be:

First. If the property has been resold, pursuant to section 4439, the excess, if any, of the amount due from the buyer, under the contract, over the net proceeds of the resale; or,

Second. If the property has not been resold in the manner prescribed by section 4439, the excess, if any, of the amount due from the buyer, under the contract over the value to the seller, together with the excess, if any, of the expenses properly incurred in carrying the property to market, over those which would have been incurred for the carriage thereof, if the buyer had accepted it.

[SECTION 4439. One who sells personal property has a special lien thereon, dependent on possession for its price, if it is in his possession when the price becomes payable; and may enforce his lien in like manner as if the property was pledged to him for the price.—Dakota Code.]

For breach of warranty to title.

(2631) § 12. The detriment caused by the breach of a warranty of the title of personal property sold, is deemed to be the value thereof to the buyer, when he is deprived of its possession, together with any costs which he has become liable to pay, in an action brought for the property by the true owner.

For breach of warranty of quality.

(2632) § 13. The detriment caused by the breach of a warranty of the quality of personal property, is deemed to be the excess, if any, of the value which the property would have had, at the time to which the warranty referred, if it had been complied with, over its actual value at that time.

For breach of warranty of fitness

(2633) § 14. The detriment caused by the breach of a warranty of the fitness of an article of personal property for a particular purpose, is deemed to be that which is defined in the last section, together with a fair compensation for the loss incurred by an effort in good faith to use it for such purpose.

For breach of carrier's obligation to accept.

(2634) § 15. The detriment caused by the breach of a carrier's obligation to accept freight, messages, or passengers, is deemed to be the difference between the amount which he had a right to charge for the carriage, and the amount it would be necessary to pay for the same service when it ought to be performed.

For breach of carrier's obligation to deliver.

(2635) § 16. The detriment caused by the breach of a carrier's obligation to deliver freight, where he has not converted it to its own use, is deemed to be the value thereof at the place and on the day at which it should have been delivered, deducting the freightage to which he would have been entitled if he had completed the delivery.

For detriment caused by carrier s delay.

(2636) § 17. The detriment caused by a carrier's delay in the delivery of freight, is deemed to be the depreciation in the intrinsic value of the freight during the delay, and also the depreciation, if any, in the market value thereof, otherwise than by reason of a depreciation in its intrinsic value, at the place where it ought to have been delivered, and between the day at which it ought to have been delivered and the day of its actual delivery.

For breach of warranty of agent's authority.

(2637) § 18. The detriment caused by the breach of a warranty of an agent's authority, is deemed to be the amount which could have been recovered and collected from his principal if the warranty had been complied with, and the reasonable expenses of legal proceedings taken, in good faith, to enforce the act of the agent against his principal.

For breach of promise to marry.

(2638) § 19. The damages for the breach of a promise of marriage rest in the sound discretion of the jury.

When obligation does not arise from contract, measure of damages, what.

(2639) § 20. For the breach of an obligation not arising from contract, the measure of damages, except where otherwise expressly provided by this chapter, is the amount which will compensate for all the detiment proximately caused thereby, whether it could have been anticipated or not.

Caused by wrongful occupation.

(2640) § 21. The detriment caused by the wrongful occupation of real property, in cases not embraced in sections 2641, 2647, 2648, and 2649, is deemed to be the value of the use of the property for the time of such occupation, not exceeding six years next preceding the commencement of the action or proceeding to enforce the right to damages, and the costs, if any, of recovering the possession.

For detainer by trustee.

(2641) § 22. For wilfully holding over real property by a person who entered upon the same as guardian or trustee for an infant, or by right of an estate terminable with any life or lives, after the termination of the trust or particular estate, without the consent of the party immediately entitled after such termination, the measure of damages is the value of the profits received during such holding over.

Conversion of personalty.

(2642) § 23. The detriment caused by the wrongful conversion of personal property is presumed to be:

First. The value of the property at the time of the conversion, with the interest from that time; or,

Second. Where the action has been prosecuted with reasonable diligence, the highest market value of the property at any time between the conversion and the verdict, without interest, at the option of the injured party; and,

Third. A fair compensation for the time and money properly expended in pursuit of the property.

Presumption cannot be repelled.

(2643) § 24. The presumption declared by the last section cannot be repelled in favor of one whose possession was wrongful from the beginning, by his subsequent application of the property to the benefit of the owner, without his consent.

Damages to one having lien on personal property.

(2644) § 25. One having a mere lien on personal property, cannot recover greater damages for its conversion, from one having a right thereto superior to his, after his lien is discharged, than the amount secured by the lien, and the compensation allowed by section 2642 for loss of time and expenses.

For seduction.

(2645) § 26. The damages for seduction rest in the sound discretion of the jury.

Exemplary damages for injuries to animals.

(2646) § 27. For wrongful injuries to animals, being subjects of property, committed wilfully or by gross negligence, in disregard of humanity, exemplary damages may be given.

Double rent as damages.

(2647) § 28. For the failure of a tenant to give up the premises held by him, when he has given notice of his intention to do so, the measure of damages is double the rent which he ought otherwise to pay.

For wilful holding over real property

(2648) § 29. For wilfully holding over real property, by a tenant after the end of his term, and after notice to quit has been duly given, and demand of possession made, the measure of damages is double the yearly value of the property, for the time of withholding, in addition to compensation for the detriment occasioned thereby.

For forcible exclusion from real property.

(2649) § 30. For forcibly ejecting or excluding a person from the possession of real property, the measure of damages is three times such a sum as would compensate for the detriment caused to him by the act complained of.

For wrongful injuries to timber.

(2650) § 31. For wrongful injuries to timber, trees or underwood upon the land of another, or removal thereof, the measure of damages is three times such a sum as would compensate for the actual detriment, except where the trespass was casual and involuntary, or committed under the belief that the land belonged to the trespasser, or where the the wood was taken by the authority of highway officers for the purposes of a highway in which case the damages are a sum equal to the actual detriment.

Value of property as to the seller.

(2651) § 32. In estimating damages, the value of property, to a seller thereof, is deemed to be the price which he could have obtained therefor in the market nearest to the place at which it should have been accepted by the buyer, and at such time after the breach of the contract as would have sufficed, with reasonable diligence, for the seller to effect a resale.

Value as to buyer or owner.

(2652) § 33. In estimating damages, except as provided by sections 2653 and 2654, the value of property to a buyer or owner thereof, deprived of its possession, is deemed to be the price at which he might have bought an equivalent thing, in the market nearest to the place where the property ought to have been put into his possession, and at such time after the breach of duty upon which his right to damages is founded as would suffice, with reasonable diligence, for him to make such a purchase.

Chap. 27.

Peculiar value.

(2653) § 34. Where certain property has a peculiar value to a person recovering damages for deprivation thereof, or injury thereto, that may be deemed to be its value against one who had notice thereof before incurring a liability to damages in respect thereof, or against a wilful wrong-doer.

Value of title papers.

(2654) § 35. For the purpose of estimating damages the value of an instrument in writing is presumed to be equal to that of the property to which it entitles its owner.

Exclusive of exemplary damages.

(2655) § 36. The damages prescribed by this article are exclusive of exemplary damages and interest, except where those are expressly mentioned.

Limitation of amount of damages.

(2656) § 37. Notwithstanding the provisions of this chapter, no person can recover a greater amount in damages for the breach of an obligation, than he could have gained by the full performance thereof on both sides, except in the cases specified in the articles on exemplary damages and penal damages, and in sections 2638, 2645 and 2646.

Damage must be reasonable.

(2657) § 38. Damages must, in all cases, be reasonable, and where an obligation of any kind appears to create a right to unconscionable and grossly oppressive damages, contrary to substantial justice, no more than reasonable damages can be recovered.

Nominal damages.

(2658) § 39. When a breach of duty has caused no appreciable detriment to the party affected, he may yet recover nominal damages.

CHAPTER XXVII.—DEBTOR AND CREDITOR.

SECTION.
1. Debtor defined.
2. Creditor defined.
3. Fraud invalidates contracts of debtors.
4. Creditors may be preferred.
5. Alternative rights to several funds.
6. Transfer with intent to defraud creditors.
7. Transfer of personal property without change of possession.
8. Fraud avoided, how.
9. Question of fraudulent intent is one of fact.

Debtor defined.

(2659) § 1. A debtor, within the meaning of this chapter, is one who, by reason of an existing obligation, is, or may become, liable to pay money to another, whether such liability is certain or contingent.

Creditor defined.

(2660) § 2. A creditor, within the meaning of this chapter, is one in whose favor an obligation exists, by reason of which he is, or may become, entitled to the payment of money.

Fraud only invalidates contracts of debtor.

(2661) § 3. In the absence of fraud, every contract of a debtor is valid against all his creditors, existing or subsequent, who have not acquired a lien on the property affected by such contract.

Creditors may be preferred.

(2662) § 4. A debtor may pay one creditor in preference to another, or may give to one creditor security for the payment of his demand, in preference to another.

Alternative right to several funds.

(2663) § 5. Where a creditor is entitled to resort to each of several funds for the satisfaction of his claim, and another person has an interest in or is entitled as a creditor to resort to some but not all of them, the latter may require the former to seek satisfaction from those funds to which the latter has no such claim, so far as it can be done without impairing the right of the former to complete satisfaction, and without doing injustice to third persons.

Transfers with intent to defraud creditors are void.

(2664) § 6. Every transfer of property or charge thereon made, every obligation incurred, and every judicial proceeding taken, with intent to delay or defraud any creditor or other person of his demands, is void against all creditors of the debtor, and their successors in interest, and against any persons upon whom the estate of the debtor devolves in trust for the benefit of others than the debtor.

Transfer of personal property without change of possession is deemed fraudulent.

(2665) § 7. Every transfer of personal property other than a thing in action, or a ship or cargo at sea, or in a foreign port, and every lien thereon, other than a mortgage, when allowed by law, and a contract of bottomry or respondentia is conclusively presumed, if made by a person having at the time the posession or control of the property, and not accompanied by an immediate delivery, and followed by an actual and continued change of possession of the things transferred, to be frauduleut and therefore void, against those who are his creditors while he remains in possession, and the successors in interest of such creditors, and against any person on whom his estate devolves in trust for the benefit of others than himself, and against purchasers or incumbrancers in good faith subsequent to the transfer.

Fraud avoided, how.

(2666) § 8. A creditor can avoid the act or obligation of his debtor for fraud only where the fraud obstructs the enforcement, by legal process, of his right to take the property affected by the transfer or obligation.

Question of fraudulent interest is one of fact.

(2667) § 9. In all cases arising under section 3298, or under the provisions of this chapter, except as otherwise provided in section 2655, the question of fraudulent intent is one of fact and not of law; nor can any transfer or charge be adjudged fraudulent solely on the ground that it was not made for a valuable consideration.

[SECTION 3298. Every instrument other than a will, affecting an estate in real property, including every charge upon real property, or upon its rents or profits, made with intent to defraud prior or subsequent purchasers thereof, or incumbrancers thereon, is void as against every purchaser or incumbrancer, for value of the same property, or the rents or profits thereof.—Dakota code.]

CHAPTER XXVIII.—DENTISTRY.

AN ACT to regulate the practice of dentistry within the Territory of Oklahoma.

[Took effect December 25, 1890.]

SECTION.
1. Unlawful to practice without license.
2. Board of dental examiners created.
3. Same, organization, meetings and duties.
4. Former practitioner to register and receive license.
5. New practitioner, diploma or examination.
6. Fees allowed for issuing licenses.
7. Examiners allowed compensation.
8. Violation of this act.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly, of the Territory of Oklahoma:

Unlawful to practice without license.

(2668) § 1. That it shall be unlawful for any person to practice or attempt to practice dentistry or dental surgery in the Territory of Oklahoma without having first received a license from the board of dental examiners, as hereinafter provided.

Board of dental examiners created.

(2669) § 2. A board of dental examiners is hereby created whose duty it shall be to carry out the purpose and enforce the provisions of this act. The members of such board shall be appointed by the Governor, and shall consist of five practicing dentists, residents of Oklahoma Territory, who shall have been engaged in the continuous practice of dentistry or dental surgery for at least two years prior to the passage of this act. In case of a vacancy occuring in said board such vacancy shall be filled by the Governor.

Same, organization, meetings and duties.

(2670) § 3. Said board shall keep a record, in which shall be registered the names and residence and place of business of all persons authorized under this act to practice dentistry, or dental surgery in this Territory. It shall elect one of its members as president, one as secretary, and one as treasurer thereof, which election shall hold during the term for which the incumbent was appointed or during his or her residence in the Territory. It shall meet at least once in each year, and as much oftener and at such times and places as it may deem necessary. A majority of such board shall at all times constitute a quorum, and the proceedings thereof shall at all reasonable times be open for public inspection.

Former practitioners to register and receive license.

(2671) § 4. Every person who holds a diploma from a recognized college of denistry, or who was engaged in the practice of dental surgery in the Territory, three months previous to the passage of this act and who has been regularly engaged in the practice of dentistry for three years next preceding the passage of this act, shall within six months thereafter cause his or her name, residence and place of business to be registered with the board of dental examiners and pay the fee hereinafter provided, whereupon the board shall issue a license duly signed by a majority of said board, and such license shall be prima facie evidence of the right of the holder thereof to practice dentistry or dental surgery in the Territory of Oklahoma.

(2672) § 5. Any person desiring to commence the practice of dentistry or dental surgery in the Territory of Oklahoma after the passage of this act, shall before commencing such practice, file for record in a book kept for that purpose, with said board of dental examiners, his or her diploma or a duly authenticated copy thereof and pay the fee as hereinafter provided, whereupon the said board shall issue to such person a license, the same as provided in section four of this act: Provided, however, That any person who shall pass a satisfactory examination before the said board regarding his or her qualifications to practice dentistry or dental surgery, and pay the fee as hereinafter provided, shall also be granted a license as provided in section four of this act.

New practitioner, diploma or examination.

(2673) § 6. To provide for the proper and effective enforcement of this act, said board of dental examiners shall be entitled to the following fees, to-wit: For each license issued to persons engaged in the practice of dentistry or dental surgery in this Territory three months previous to the passage of this act, the sum of three dollars, for each license issued to persons not engaged in such practice three months previous to such passage, the sum of ten dollars.

Fees allowed for issuing licenses.

(2674) § 7. The members of said board shall each receive the compensation of three dollars per day for each and every day actually engaged in the duties of their office, which together with all other legitimate expenses incurred in the performance of such duties, shall be paid from fees received by the board under the provisions of this act, and no parts of the expenses of said board shall at any time be paid out of the Territorial treasury. All moneys in excess of said per diem allowances and other expenses shall be held by the treasurer of said board as a special fund for meeting the expenses of said board, he giving such bond as the board shall from time to time direct, and such board shall make an annual report of its proceedings to the Governor by the fifteenth day of December of each year, together with an account of all moneys received and disbursed by them in pursuance of this act.

Examiners allowed compensation.

(2675) § 8. Any person who shall violate this act by practicing or attempting to practice dentistry or dental surgery in this Territory without first complying with the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not less than twenty-five dollars, nor more than two hundred dollars, or by confinement in the county jail for not more than six month, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to prevent physicians and surgeons or other persons from extracting teeth, and all fines collected under this act shall belong to the common school fund of the county where the offense was committed.

Violation of this act.

This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the final adjournment of this Legislative Assembly.

Title of act.

(2676) § 1. This act shall be known as [a portion of] the civil law of the Territory of Oklahoma.

Origin of law.

(2677) § 2. Law is a rule of property and of conduct prescribed by the sovereign power.

Law is expressed, how.

(2678) § 3. The will of the sovereign power is expressed:

First. By the Organic Act passed by Congress, creating a temporary government for this Territory, and vesting the legislative power in the Governor and a Legislative Assembly, and extending it to all rightful subjects of legislation consistent with the constitution of the United States and that act.

Second. By other statutes enacted by Congress, or by the Legislative Assembly.

Third. By the ordinances of other and subordinate legislative bodies.

Common law divided.

(2679) § 4. The common law is divided into:

First. Public law, or the law of nations.

Second. Domestic or municipal law.

Evidence of same.

(2680) § 5. The evidence of the common law is found in the decisions of the tribunals.

Statutes exclude common law.

(2681) § 6. In this Territory there is no common law in any case where the law is declared by the statute.

Civil rights are what.

(2682) § 7. All original civil rights are either:

First. Rights of person; or,

Second. Rights of property.

Rights how waived.

(2683) § 8. Rights of property and of person may be waived, surrendered, or lost by neglect, in the cases provided by law.

Divisions of the civil law.

(2684) § 9. Under civil law there are four general divisions:

First. The first relates to persons.

Second. The second to property.

Third. The third to obligations.

Fourth. The fourth contains general provisions relating to persons, property and obligations.

Maxims of jurisprudence.

(2685) § 10. The maxims of jurisprudence hereinafter set forth, are intended not to qualify any of the foregoing provisions of law, but to aid in their just application.

First. When the reason of a rule ceases, so should the rule itself.

Second. Where the reason is the same, the rule should be the same.

Third. One must not change his purpose to the injury of another.

Fourth. Any one may waive the advantage of a law intended solely for his benefit. But a law established for a public reason cannot be contravened by a private agreement.

Fifth. One must so use his own rights as not to infringe upon the rights of another.

Sixth. He who consents to an act is not wronged by it.

Seventh. Acquiescence in error takes away the right of objecting to it.

Eighth. No one can take advantage of his own wrong.

Ninth. He who has fraudulently dispossessed himself of a thing may be treated as if he still had possession.

Tenth. He who can and does not forbid that which is done on his behalf, is deemed to have bidden it.

Eleventh. No one should suffer by the act of another.

Twelfth. He who takes the benefit must bear the burden.

Thirteenth. One who grants a thing is presumed to grant also whatever is essential to its use.

Fourtheenth. For every wrong there is a remedy.

Fifteenth. Between those who are equally in the right, or equally in the wrong, the law does not interpose.

Sixteenth. Between rights otherwise equal, the earliest is preferred.

Seventeenth. No man is responsible for that which no man can control.

Eighteenth. The law helps the vigilant before those who sleep ontheir rights.

Nineteenth. The law respects form less than substance.

Twentieth. That which ought to have been done is to be regarded as done in favor of him to whom, and against him from whom, performance is due.

Twenty-first. That which does not appear to exist is to be regarded as if it did not exist.

Twenty-second. The law never requires impossibilities.

Twenty-third. The law neither does nor requires idle acts.

Twenty-fourth. The law disregards trifles.

Twenty-fifth. Particular expressions qualify those which are general.

Twenty-sixth. Contemporaneous exposition is in general the best.

Twenty-seventh. The greater contains the less.

Twenty-eighth. Superfluity does not vitiate.

Twenty-ninth. That is certain which can be made certain.

Thirtieth. Time does not confirm a void act.

Thirty-first. The incident follows the principal, not the principal the incident.

Thirty-second. An interpretation which gives effect is preferred to one which makes void.

Thirty-third. Interpretation must be reasonable.

Thirty-fourth. Where one of two innocent persons must suffer by the act of a third, he by whose negligence it happened must be the sufferer.

Meaning of words.

(2686) § 1. Words used in any statute are to be understood in their ordinary sense, except when a contrary intention plainly appears, and except also that the words hereinafter explained are to be understood as thus explained.

Statutory meaning

(2687) § 2. Whenever the meaning of a word or phrase is defined in any statute, such definition is applicable to the same word or phrase wherever it occurrs, except where a contrary intention plainly appears.

Degrees of care.

(2688) § 3. There are three degrees of care and of diligence mentioned in this statute, namely, slight, ordinary and great. The latter include the former.

Degrees of care defined.

(2689) § 4. Slight care or diligence is such as persons of ordinary prudence usually exercise about their own affairs of slight importance; ordinary care or diligence is such as they usually exercise about their own affairs of ordinary importance; and great care or diligence is such as they usually exercise about their own affairs of great importance.

Degrees of negligence.

(2690) § 5. There are three degrees of negligence, namely, slight, ordinary, and gross. The latter includes the former.

Degrees of negligence defined.

(2691) § 6. Slight negligence consists in the want of great care and diligence; ordinary negligence in the want of ordinary care and diligence; and gross negligence in the want of slight care and diligence.

Children.

(2692) § 7. The term children includes children by birth and by adoption.

Debtor and creditor.

(2693) § 8. Except as defined and used in sections 2659 and 2660, every one who owes to another the performance of an obligation is called a debtor, and the one to whom he owes it, is called a creditor.

Good faith

(2694) § 9. Good faith consists in an honest intention to abstain from taking any unconscientious advantage of another, even through the forms or technicalities of law, together with an absence of all information or belief of facts which would render the transaction unconscientious.

Notice classes.

(2695) § 10. Notice is either actual or constructive.

Actual notice.

(2696) § 11. Actual notice consists in express information of a fact.

Constructive notice.

(2697) § 12. Constructive notice is notice imputed by the law to a person not having actual notice.

Presumption of constructive notice.

(2698) § 13. Every person who has actual notice of circumstances sufficient to put a prudent man upon inquiry as to a particular fact, and who omits to make such inquiry with reasonable diligence, is deemed to have constructive notice of the fact itself.

False notice.

(2699) § 14. A notice which is false when given is not valid by the subsequent happening of the event.

Paper.

(2700) § 15. The word "paper," means any flexible material upon which it is usual to write.

Person includes corporation.

(2601) § 16. The word "person," except when used by way of contrast, includes not only human beings, but bodies politic or corporate.

Several.

(2702) § 17. The word "several," in relation to number, means two or more.

Third persons.

(2703) § 18. The words "third person" include all who are not parties to the obligation or transaction concerning which the phrase is used.

Holidays.

(2704) § 19. Holidays are, every Sunday, the first day of January, the twenty-second day of February, the fourth day of July, the twenty-fifth day of December, the thirtieth day of May, every day on which an election is held throughout the Territory, and every day appointed by the President of the United States, or by the Governor of this Territory, for a public fast, thanksgiving, or holiday.

Additional day

(2795) § 20. If the first day of January, the twenty-second day of February, the fourth day of July, or the twenty-fifth of December, falls upon a Sunday, the Monday following is a holiday.

Business days.

(2706) § 21. All other days than those mentioned in the last two sections, are to be deemed business days, for all purposes.

Next business day.

(2707) § 22. Whenever any act of a secular nature, other than a work of necessity, or mercy, is appointed by law or contract to be performed upon a particular day, which day falls upon a holiday, such act may be performed upon the next business day, with the same effect as if it had been performed upon the day appointed.

Usage.

(2708) § 23. Usage is a reasonable and lawful public custom concerning transactions of the same nature as those which are to be affected thereby, existing at the place where the obligation is to be performed, and either known to the parties, or so well established, general and uniform, that they must be presumed to have acted with reference thereto.

Customary.

(2709) § 24. The words "usual," and "customary," mean "according to usage."

Value.

(2710) § 25. A valuable consideration is a thing of value parted with, or a new obligation assumed, at the time of obtaining a thing, which is a substantial compensation for that which is obtained thereby. It is also called simply "value."

Verdict.

(2711) § 26. The word "verdict" includes not only the verdict of a jury, but also the finding upon the facts, of a judge, or of a referee appointed to determine the issues in a cause.

Time.

(2712) § 27. The word "year" means a calendar year, and "month," a calendar month. Fractions of a year are to be computed by the number of months, thus: half a year is six months. Fractions of a day are to be disregarded in computations which include more than one day, and involve no question of priority.

Gender.

(2713) § 28. Words used in the masculine gender include the feminine and neuter.

Number.

(2714) § 29. Words used in the singular number include the plural, and the plural the singular, except where a contrary intention plainly appears.

Other definitions

(2715) § 30. Words used in the present tense include future as well as the present; the word "oath" includes "affirmation;" and every mode of oral statement under oath or affirmation is embraced by the term "testify," and every written one in the term "depose;" "signature" or "subscription" includes mark, when the person cannot write, his name being written near it, and written by a person who writes his own name as a witness. The following words also have the signification attached to them in this section unless otherwise apparent from the context:

First. The word "property" includes property, real and personal.

Second. The words "real property" are co-extensive with lands, tenements and hereditaments.

Third. The words "personal property" include money, goods, chattels, things in action and evidences of debt.

Fourth. The word "will" includes codicils.

Interest.

(2716 § 31. The words "compound interest" mean interest added to the principal as the former becomes due, and thereafter made to bear interest.

Writing and printing.

(2717) § 32. The words "writing" and "written" include "printing" and "printed," except in the case of signatures, and where the words are used by way of contrast to printing. Writing may be made in any manner, except that when a person entitled to require the execution of a writing demands that it be made with ink it must be so made.

Statute excludes common law.

(2718) § 33. The rule of the common law, that statutes in derogation thereof are to be strictly construed, has no application to this statute which establishes the law of this Territory respecting the subjects to which it relates; and its provisions are to be liberally construed with a view to effect its objects and to promote justice.

Impression of seal.

(2719) § 34. When the seal of a court, public officer or person is required by law to be affixed to any process, commission, paper or instrument, the word "seal" includes an impression of such seal upon the paper alone, as well as upon wax, or a waifer affixed thereto. Chap. 30.

Majority power.

(2720) § 35. Words giving a joint authority to three or more public officers or other persons, are construed as giving such authority to a majority of them, unless it is otherwise expressed in the act giving the authority.

Repeal does not revive.

(2721) § 36. Whenever any act of the Legislative Assembly is repealed, which repealed a former act, such former act shall not thereby be revived, unless if shall be expressly so provided.

[See section 12 revised statutes United States.]

Effect of repeal.

(2722) § 37. The repeal of any statute by the Legislative Assembly shall not have the effect to release or extinguish any penalty, forfeiture or liability incurred under such statute, unless the repealing act shall so expressly provide, and such statute shall be treated as still remaining in force for the purpose of sustaining any proper action or prosecution for the enforcement of such penalty, forfeiture or liability.

[See section 13, revised statutes of United States]

CHAPTER XXX.—DEPOSITS.

ARTICLE.
1. Deposit in general.
2. Deposit for keeping and exchange.
3. Deposit in form of a loan.

ARTICLE 1.—DEPOSIT IN GENERAL.

Nature and Creation of Deposit.

SECTION.
1. Classes of deposit.
2. Voluntary deposit.
3. Involuntary deposit.
4. Must take charge.
5. Deposit for keeping.
6. Deposit for exchange.

Obligations of the Depositary.

SECTION.

8 Demand necessary.
9 Place of delivery.
10. Notice to owner of adverse claim.
11. Notice of wrongful detention.
12. Delivery to disagreeing owners.

Classes of deposit.

(2723) § 1. A deposit may be voluntary or involuntary; and for safe-keeping or for exchange.

Voluntary deposit.

(2724) § 2. A voluntary deposit is made by one giving to another, with his consent, the possession of personal property to keep for the benefit of the former, or of a third party, the person giving is called the despositor and the person receiving the depositary.

Involuntary deposit

(2725) § 3. An involuntary deposit is made:

First. By the accidental leaving or placing of personal property in the possession of any person, without negligence on the part of its owner; or,

Second. In cases of fire, shipwreck, inundation, insurrection, riot, or like extraordinary emergencies, by the owner of personal property committing it, out of necessity, to the care of any person.

Must take charge.

(2726) § 4. The person with whom a thing is deposited, in the manner described in the last section, is bound to take charge of it if able to do so.

Deposit for keeping.

(2727) § 5. A deposit for keeping is one in which the depositary is bound to return the identical thing deposited.

Deposit for exchange.

(2728) § 6. A deposit for exchange is one in which the depositary is only bound to return a thing corresponding in kind to that which is deposited.

Delivery on demand.

(2729) § 7. A depositary must deliver the thing to the person for whose benefit it was deposited, on demand, whether the deposit was made for a specified time or not, unless he has a lien upon the thing deposited, or has been forbidden or prevented from doing so by the real owner thereof, or by the act of the law and has given the notice required by section 2732.

Demand necessary.

(2730) § 8. A depositary is not bound to deliver a thing deposited without demand, even where the deposit is made for a specifed time.

Place of delivery.

(2731) § 9. A depositary must deliver the thing deposited at his residence or place of business, as may be most convenient for him.

Notice to owner of adverse claim.

(2732) § 10. A depositary must give prompt notice to the person for whose benefit the deposit was made, of any proceedings taken adversely to his interest in the thing deposited which may tend to excuse the depositary from delivering the thing to him.

Notice of wrongful detention.

(2733) § 11. A depositary, who believes that a thing deposited with him is wrongfully detained from its true owner, may give him notice of the deposit; and if, within a reasonable time afterwards he does not claim it, and sufficiently establish his right thereto, and indemnify the depositary against the claim of the depositor, the depositary is exonerated from liability to the person to whom he gave the notice, upon returning the thing to the depositor, or assuming, in good faith, a new obligation changing his position in respect to the thing, to his prejudice.

Delivery to disagreeing owners.

(2734) § 12. If a thing deposited is owned jointly or in common by persons who cannot agree upon the manner of its delivery, the depositary may deliver to each his proper share thereof, if it can be done without injury to the thing.

27. Surrender of thing.
28. Intentionally abendoned.

Deposit for Exchange.

SECTION.
29. Transfer of title of deposit for exchange.

(2735) § 1. A depositor must indemnify the depositary: Depositary must be indemnified for damages.

First. For all damage caused to him by the defects or vices of the thing deposited; and,

Second. For all expenses necessarily incurred by him about the thing, other than such as are involved in the nature of the undertaking.

(2736) § 2. A depositary of living animals must provide them with suitable food and shelter, and treat them kindly. Care of animals.

(2737) § 3. A depositary may not use the thing deposited, or permit it to be used, for any purpose, without the consent of the pepositor. He may not, if it is purposely fastened by the depositor, open it without the consent of the latter, except in case of necessity. Use of deposit forbidden

(2738) § 4. A depositary is liable for any damage happening to the thing deposited during his wrongful use thereof, unless such Damages for wrongful use.

Chap. 30.

damage must inevitably have happened, though the property had not been thus used.

Sale of perishing thing.

(2739) § 5. If a thing deposited is in actual danger of perishing before instructions can be obtained from the depositor, the depositary may sell it for the best price obtainable, and retain the proceeds as a deposit, giving immediate notice of his proceedings to the depositor.

Presumed negligence for injury.

(2740) § 6. If a thing is lost or injured during its deposit, and the depositary refuses to inform the depositor of the circumstances under which the loss or injury occurred, so far as he has information concerning them, or wilfully misrepresents the circumstances to him, the depositary is presumed to have wilfully, or by gross negligence, permitted the loss or injury to occur.

Services by depositary.

(2741) § 7. So far as any service is rendered by a depositary, or required from him, his duties and liabilities are prescribed by the law on employment and service.

Measure of damages.

(2742) § 8. The liabilities of a depositary for negligence cannot exceed the amount which he is informed by the depositor, or has reason to suppose, the thing deposited to be worth.

Gratuitous deposit.

(2743) § 9. Gratuitous deposit is a deposit for which the depositary receives no consideration beyond the mere possession of the thing deposited.

Involuntary deposit

(2744) § 10. An involuntary deposit is gratuitous, the depositary being entitled to no reward.

Slight care must be used.

(2745) § 11. A gratuitous depositary must use at least slight care for the preservation of the thing deposited.

When duties cease.

(2746) § 12. The duties of a gratuitous depositary cease:

First. Upon his restoring the thing deposited to its owner; or,

Second. Upon his giving reasonable notice to the owner to remove it, and the owner failing to do so within a reasonable time. But an involuntary depositary, under subdivision 2 of section 2725, cannot give such notice until the emergency that gave rise to the deposit is past.

Depositary for hire.

(2747) § 13. A deposit not gratuitous is called storage. The depositary in such case is called a depositary for hire.

Ordinary care.

(2748) § 14. A depositary for hire must use at least ordinary care for the preservation of the thing deposited.

Rate of compensation.

(2749) § 15. In the absence of a different agreement or usage, a depositary for hire is entitled to one week's hire for the sustenance and shelter of living animals during any fraction of a week, and to half a month's hire for the storage of any other property during any fraction of a half month.

Termination of deposit.

(2750) § 16. In the absence of an agreement as to the length of time during which a deposit is to continue, it may be terminated by the depositor at any time, and by the depositary upon reasonable notice.

Same, full time paid.

(2751) § 17. Notwithstanding an agreement respecting the length of time during which a deposit is to continue, it may be terminated by the depositor on paying all that would become due to the depositary in case of the deposit so continuing.

Liability of keeper of an inn or boarding house.

(2752) § 18. An inn-keeper or keeper of a boarding house is liable for all losses of, or injuries to, personal property placed by his guests or boarders under his care, unless occasioned by an irresistible superhuman cause, by a public enemy, by the negligence of the owner, or by the act of some one whom he brought into the inn or boarding house, and upon such property the inn-keeper or keeper of a boarding house has a lien and a right of detention for the payment of such amount as may be due him for lodging, fare, boarding, or other necessaries by such guest or boarder; and the said lien may be enforced by a sale of the property in the manner prescribed for the sale of pledged property.

How exempted from liability.

(2753) § 19. If any inn-keeper or boarding house keeper keeps a fire-proof safe, and gives notice to a guest or boarder either personally or by putting up a printed notice in a prominent place in the room occupied by the guest or boarder, that he keeps such a safe, and will not be liable for money, jewelry, documents or other artices of unusual value and small compass, unless placed therein, he is not liable except so far as his own acts contrbute thereto, for any loss of, or injury to, such article, if not deposited with him, and not required by the guest or boarder for present use.

Finder a depositary, when.

(2754) § 20. One who finds a thing lost is not bound to take charge of it; but if he does so, he is thenceforward a depositary for the owner, with the rights and obligations of a depositary for hire.

Must notify owner.

(2755) § 21. If the finder of a thing knows or suspects who is the owner, he must, with reasonable diligence, give him notice of the finding; and if he fails to do so, he is liable in damages to the owner, and has no claim to any reward offered by him for the recovery of the thing, or to any compensation for his trouble or expenses.

Claimant must prove.

(2756) § 22. The finder of a thing may, in good faith, before giving it up, require reasonable proof of ownership from any person claiming it.

Reward for service

(2757) § 23. The finder of a thing is entitled to compensation for all expenses necessarily incurred by him in its preservation, and for any other service necessarily performed by him about it, and to a reasonable reward for keeping it.

Exoneration from liability by storage.

(2758) § 24. The finder of a thing may exonerate himself from liability at any time, by placing it on storage with any responsible person of good character, at a reasonable expense.

Finder may sell, when.

(2759) § 25. The finder of a thing may sell it, if it is a thing which is commonly the subject of sale, when the owner cannot with reasonable diligence be found; or, being found, refuses upon demand to pay the lawful charges of the finder, in the following cases:

First. When the thing is in danger of perishing, or losing the greater part of its value; or,

Second. When the lawful charges of the finder amount to two-thirds of its value.

Manner of sale.

(2760) § 26. A sale under the provisions of the last section must be made in the same manner as the sale of a thing pledged.

Surrender of thing to finder.

(2761) § 27. The owner of a thing found may exonerate himself from the claims of the finder by surrendering it to him in satisfaction thereof.

Intentionally abandoned

(2762) § 28. The provisions of this article have no application to things which have been intentionally abandoned by their owners.

Transfer of title of deposit for exchange.

(2763) § 29. A deposit for exchange transfers to the depositary the title to the thing deposited, and creates between him and the depositor the relation of debtor and creditor merely.

ARTICLE 3.—DEPOSIT IN FORM OF A LOAN.

14. Same, how applied.
15. Title in borrower.
16. Lender cannot modify contract.
17. Sections applicable.

Loan for use defined.

(2764) § 1. A loan for use is a contract by which one gives to another the temporary possession and use of personal property, and the latter agrees to return the same thing to him at a future time without reward for its use.

Title and increase belong to lender.

(2765) § 2. A loan for use does not transfer the title to the thing; and all its increase during the period of the loan belongs to the lender.

Care by borrower.

(2766) § 3. A borrower for use must use great care for the preservation in safety in good condition of the thing lent.

Borrower of living animal.

(2767) § 4. One who borrows a living animal for use must treat it with great kindness, and provide everything necessary and suitable for it.

Degree of skill.

(2768) § 5. A borrower for use is bound to have and to exercise such skill in the care of the thing lent, as he causes the lender to believe him to possess.

Repair of injuries.

(2769) § 6. A borrower for use must repair all deteriorations or injuries to the thing lent, which are occasioned by his negligence, however slight.

Uses limited.

(2770) § 7. The borrower of a thing for use may use it for such purposes only as the lender might reasonably anticipate at the time of lending.

Relending forbidden.

(2771) § 8. The borrower of a thing for use must not part with it to a third person without the consent of the lender.

Expenses during loan.

(2772) § 9. The borrower of a thing for use must bear all its expenses during the loan, except such as are necessarily incurred by him to preserve it from unexpected and unusual injury. For such expense he is entitled to compensation from the lender, who may, however, exonerate himself by surrendering the thing to the borrower.

Lender liable for defects.

(2773) § 10. The lender of a thing for use must indemnify the borrower for damages caused by defects or vices in it, which he knew at the time of lending, and concealed from the borrower.

Lender may require return.

(2774) § 11. The lender of a thing for use may at any time require its return, even though he lent it for a specified time or purpose. But if, on the faith of such an agreement, the borrower has made such arrangements that a return of the thing before the period agreed upon would cause him loss, exceeding the benefit derived by him from the loan, the lender must indemnify him for such loss, if he compels such return, the borrower not having in any manner violated his duty.

Returnable without demand.

(2775) § 12. If a thing is lent for use for a specified time or purpose, it must be returned to the lender without demand, as soon as the time has expired, or the purpose has been accomplished. In other cases it need not be returned until demanded. The borrower of a thing for use must return it to the lender, at the place contemplated by the parties at the time of lending; or if no particular place was so contemplated by them, then at the place where it was at that time.

Loan for exchange.

(2776) § 13. A loan for exchange is a contract by which one delivers personal property to another, and the latter agrees to return to the lender a similar thing at a future time, without reward for its use.

Same.

(2777) § 14. A loan which the borrower is allowed by the lender to treat as a loan for use, or for exchange, at his option, is subject to all the provisions of this chapter.

Title in borrower; rights.

(2778) § 15. By a loan for exchange the title to the thing lent is transferred to the borrower, and he must bear all its expenses, and is entitled to all its increase.

Lender can not modify contract.

(2779) § 16. A lender for exchange cannot require the borrower to fulfill his obligations at a time, or in a manner, different from that which was originally agreed upon.

Sections applicable.

(2780) § 17. Sections 2773 and 2775 apply to a loan for exchange.

CHAPTER XXXII.—ELECTIONS—SPECIAL.

AN ACT to provide for the election of county, township and road officers for the several counties in the Territory of Oklahoma.

[Took effect December 20, 1890.]

SECTION.
1. Time of holding special election.
2. Division of counties into townships.
3. Establishing polling places.
4. Judges of elections.
5. Judges shall qualify.
6. Clerks chosen.
7. Failure to act.
8. Poll books.
9. Incumbents; tenure of office.
10. Canvass of votes.
11. Publication.
12. Validity and authority.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

Time of holding special election.

(2784) § 1. That on the first Tuesday in February A. D., 1891, the same being the third day of said month, there shall be held an election at which there shall be elected or chosen the county, township and road officers provided for by the laws of this Territory who shall hold their respective offices until their successors are elected and qualified under the general election laws of this Territory.

Division of counties into townships.

(2785) § 2. Within fifteen days after the passage and approval of this act, the county commissioners of the several counties of Oklahoma Territory shall divide their respective counties into suitable municipal townships.

Establishing polling places

(2786) § 3. The county commissioners of each of the several counties shall establish the necessary voting places in the several townships created under the provisions of section two of this act, one for each township: Provided, That in townships containing incorporated cities or towns of one thousand people, or more, the commissioners may also establish a voting place for each ward of such city.

Judges of elections.

(2787) § 4. The county commissioners of the several counties shall appoint for each of such towhships or other voting place, three judges of election, one from the republican, one from the democratic and one from the peoples' party, who shall act as judges of election for the election called under the provisions of this act.

Judges shall qualify.

(2788) § 5. The judges of election shall qualify by prescribing to an oath of the usual form before some officer authorized to administer oaths, or before each other and they shall open the polls at their designated voting place at the hour of eight o'clock A. M., of the day fixed by section one of this act, and keep the same open until the hour of five o'clock P. M., of the same day.

Clerks chosen.

(2789) § 6. From and by the electors present at the hour for opening as provided in section five of this act, shall be chosen two poll clerks, who shall qualify by subscribing to an oath of the usual form before one of the judges of election, and perform the duties of poll clerks for such election.

Failure to act.

(2790) § 7. In case any judge or judges of election appointed under the provisions of this act, fail to appear at his or their designated voting place, such vacancy shall be filled from and by the electors present at the opening of the polls; Provided: Such selection shall be made, if possible, from the political party to which such absent judge belongs.

Poll books.

(2791) § 8. It shall be the duty of the county clerks to furnish poll books for the use of the officers holding said election, and the election shall be conducted, notices issued, the vote counted, returns made and the vote finally canvassed and the final result declared as provided by the laws of Nebraska now in force in this Territory, which are hereby adopted for the purpose of the special election provided for by this act, and for no other purpose.

Incumbents, tenure of.

(2792) § 9. The persons now filling the county offices, in the respective counties, shall continue to perform the duties of their respective offices until their successors are elected and qualified: Provided, That prior to December 25th, 1890, they each qualify anew and in accordance with the laws to take effect and be in force upon the adjournment of this session of the Legislative Assembly: Provided also, That in case any such of officers fail to so qualify, the Governor shall, and he is hereby authorized to, at once fill such vacancy by appointment; such appointees to qualify as herein provided and serve until their successors are elected and qualified.

Canvass of vote

(2793) § 10. The board of county commissioners, shall meet on the second Monday of February, 1891, and canvass the returns and declare the result of the election held under the provisions of this act, and cause certificates of election to issue to the parties elected. The board of county commissioners shall meet again on the third Monday in February, 1891, to approve the bonds of the officers elected at such election. The officers so elected shall enter upon the duties of their respective offices on the fourth Monday of February, 1891.

Chap. 32.

Publication.

(2794) § 11. There shall be five hundred copies of this act printed and distributed by the Secretary of the Territory to the respective county clerks of this Territory for immediate use.

Validity and authority.

(2795) § 12. This act shall be held as controlling the special election herein provided for and inducting the officers elected thereunder into office and shall not apply to any other election or effect any other act relating to that subject, passed by this Legislative Assembly.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

Qualified electors; division of townships aud precincts, number of votes; inspector's reports.

(2796) § 1. The term "qualified electors" within the meaning of this act, shall include all male persons of the age of twenty-

Chap. 33.

one years or upwards belonging to either of the following classes who have resided in the Territory for the period of six months next preceding any election, shall be deemed qualified electors at such election:

First. Citizens of the United States.

Second. Persons of foreign birth who shall have complied with the provisions of the laws of the United Staies on the subject of naturalization.

Third. Civilized persons of Indian descent not members of any tribe.

That the county commissioners of each county in this Territory shall, at their first session after the taking effect of this act, divide the townships of their respective counties into election precincts, and establish the boundaries of the same. Each board of commissioners shall designate at least one place of holding elections in each township and every township in which only one place of holding elections is designated shall constitute a precinct. There shall be but one voting place in a precinct. Each precinct shall contain as nearly as practicable two hundred electors, based on the number of votes cast at the last election; but no precinct shall contain more than two hundred and fifty electors. If at any election hereafter, two hundred and fifty or more votes shall be cast at any voting place, it shall be the duty of the inspector in such precinct to report the same to the board of county commissioners, who shall at their regular meeting divide such precinct as equally as possible so that the new precincts formed thereof, shall each contain two hundred electors as nearly as practicable; but no precinct shall contain more than two hundred and fifty electors, and shall report such division to the county clerk of such county, and to the Governor of the Territory, together with the estimated number of votes in each of the new precincts. If such board shall fail to act as herein directed, any qualified voter of the county may apply for a writ of mandamus to compel a performance of this duty.

Boundaries of precinct, how changed, notice; number of electors.

(2797) § 2. The board of commissioners of any county may change the boundaries of any precinct within such county, or divide any precinct into two or more precincts, or consolidate two or more precincts into one, or change any place of holding elections when public convenience or public good may require it: Provided, That no such change, division or consolidation shall be made after the July term of such commissioners' court next preceding an election: And provided further, That no change, division or consolidation shall be valid without giving due notice at least one month before any election, by publication in two newspapers published in said county, representing the two political parties which cast the highest number of votes in the Territory at the last general election, or by posters put up in four of the most public places in each precinct: And provided further, That no precinct shall be enlarged so as to contain more than two hundred and fifty electors.

Inspectors; judges, county chairmen to select, when; eligibility.

(2798) § 3. Township trustees shall by virtue of their office, be inspectors of elections in the precincts in which they respectively reside, and shall prior to opening the polls in such precinct appoint as judges of elections two qualified electors of such precinct, who shall have been citizens and resident householders therein for at least one year next preceding such election, and who are members of different political parties and of the parties which cast the highest number of votes in the Territory at the preceding general election: Provided, That if at least one week or more prior to such election the chairman of the county central committee of either of the two parties that cast the largest number of votes in the Territory at the last general election shall designate a member of such party as judge, having the same qualification as above described, he shall be appointed, and such judges, together with the inspector, shall constitute a board of election. No person shall be eligible as a member of the board of election who has anything of value bet or wagered on the result of such election, or who is a candidate to be voted for at such election, or who is father, father-in-law, son, son-in-law, grandfather, grandson, or brother of any candidate at such election. If at any time before or during an election, it shall be made to appear to any inspector by affidavit of two or more qualified electors of the precinct that either of the judges is disqualified under the provisions of this act, he shall at once remove such judge and fill the place with a qualified person of the same political party as the judge removed; and in case such disqualified judge shall have taken the oath of office hereinafter prescribed, the inspector shall place such oath and affidavit before the next grand jury of the county.

County commissioners to appoint inspectors; vacancies; judges, how appointed; election board.

(2799) § 4. Whenever any board of county commissioners shall designate more than one precinct in any township, it shall at the July term of said board next preceding any election appoint in each precinct in which no township trustee resides, as inspector of such election, some qualified voter of such precinct, who shall have been a citizen and resident house-holder in such precinct for at least one year next preceeding such election. Such board of county commissioners shall hold a special session one week before each election, shall fill all vacancies that may have occurred in the office of inspector, and shall fill any vacancy occurring thereafter at any regular or called session of the board previous to the election. Such appointed inspector shall, before the time of opening the election in his precinct, appoint two election judges, if the same have not been already appointed, as hereinbefore provided, in the same manner and under the same requirements as provided for township trustees acting as inspectors; and such judges and inspectors shall constitute the board of election for such precinct. If any member of an election board shall fail to appear at the hour appointed for the opening of the polls, the remainder of the board shall select a member of his political party to serve in his stead: Provided, That if the qualified electors of his party present at the polls shall nominate a qualified person for such vacancy, such nominee shall be appointed. If none of the members of an election board shall appear at the hour appointed for opening the polls, the qualified electors present shall elect a board viva voce, as Chap. 33. nearly as possible in conformity with the provisions hereof, one of whom shall act as inspector.

Poll clerks

(2800) § 5. Such board of election shall appoint as poll clerks two qualified electors of such precinct, one from each of the two parties that cast the largest vote in the Territory at the last general election: Provided, That if four days or more prior to such election the chairman of the county central committees of either of the two parties that cast the largest number of votes in the Territory at the last general election shall designate a member of such party as poll clerk, such nominee shall be appointed.

Poll books, blank forms, etc

(2801) § 6. The county clerk of each county in this Territory shall make out and cause to be delivered to the inspector of the several precincts in their respective counties, at least ten days previous to any election, a suitable number of blank forms of poll books, containing one column headed "names of voters" and an additional column headed "number of voters," and also forms of election returns, with proper captions, forms of oaths and forms of certificates and tally papers necesssry to be used in all elections hereafter held in this Territory.

Oath of judges and inspectors, form of oath.

(2802) § 7. Before any election shall be opened the inspector and judges shall each make oath to support the constitution of the United states and Organic Act of this Territory, to faithfully and impartially discharge the duties assigned by law, that they will not knowingly permit any person to vote who is not qualified, and not knowingly refuse the qualified vote of any elector, or cause any delay to persons offering to vote, further than is necessary to procure satisfactory information of the qualification of such person as an elector, that they will not disclose or communicate to any person how an elector voted or how any ballot was folded, marked or stamped; and that they are now and for one year next preceding have continued to be bona fide resident citizens of the township in which such precinct is situated; and that they have nothing of value bet or wagered upon the result of said election, and they are not related to any person to be voted for at said election within the degrees named in section three of this act; which oath shall be in writing or printed, and shall be subscribed and executed before some person authorized by law to administer oaths, which officer shall attach thereto his jurat; and such oath shall then be attached to the poll book and with it returned to the clerk's office of his county, as hereinbefore provided. Which oath shall be in the following form:

TERRITORY OF OKLAHOMA, } SS.
.....COUNTY. }

I do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be) that I will support the constitution of the United States, and the Organic Act of this Territory; that I will faithfully and impartially perform the duties as inspector or judge of elections assigned by law; that I will not knowingly permit any person to vote who is not qualified; and will not refuse the oath [vote] of any qualified elector or cause any delay to persons offering to vote further than is necessary to procure the satisfactory information of the qualification of such person as an elector; that I am now and have been continuously for one year next preceding this date a citizen and bona fide resident of the township in which the precinct in which I am to act as a member of the election board is situated, and that I will not disclose or communicate to any person how an elector has voted at such election, or how any ballot has been folded, marked or stamped; that I have nothing of value bet or wagered upon the result of said election and am not a candidate at this election, and am not related to any person to be voted for at this election within the degrees named in section three of the election law.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this.....day of.....

Oath, how administered.

(2803) § 8. If no person present be authorized by law to administer the oath of office, the inspector shall administer the same to the judges and one of such judges shall then administer said oath to the inspector.

Chairman of board; form of oath for clerks,

(2804) § 9. The inspector shall be chairman of such board, and before the reception of any vote, shall administer an oath to the clerks of election, that they will faithfully discharge their duties as such. After the organization of the board of elections, the inspector may administer all necessary oaths which may be required in the discharge of its duties, and all oaths shall be written or printed and shall be signed by the persons making such oaths in the presence of such board of elections, and the person administering such oaths shall affix his jurat thereto, and said affidavit shall be attached to and returned with the poll lists to the office of the county clerk. The oaths herein prescribed for the clerk of elections shall be in the following form, namely:

TERRITORY OF OKLAHOMA } ss.
.....COUNTY. }

I do solemnly swear (or affirm as the case may be) that I will faithfully and honestly discharge my duties as clerk of the election in.....precinct and.....ward (.....or.....township) in .....county, Oklahoma Territory, and that I will not disclose or communicate to any person how any elector voted, or how any ballot was folded, marked or stamped.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this..... day of.....

Ballot boxes; how painted, locks

(2805) § 10. The board of county commissioners of each county shall provide, at the expense of the county, two ballot boxes, one painted red for the reception of the ballots prepared by the Territorial board of election commissioners, and one painted white for the reception of the ballots prepared by the county board of election commissioners for each precinct; each ballot box shall have at least two locks of different kinds, and combinations, so that the key of one will not unlock the other, and be otherwise so constructed as to contribute toward the prevention of fraud.

Opening in box; keys.

(2806) § 11. An opening shall be made in the lid of each box sufficient only for a single ballot; and at the time the election is opened, the inspector and judges shall see that there are no

Chap. 33.

ballots in the boxes before the voting begins, and shall thereupon securely lock the box and give one key to each box to one of the judges who is in politics opposed to the inspector, the inspector retaining the other key; and the same shall not be again opened until the polls are closed, and the board is ready to immediately proceed with the counting.

Opening and closing of polls.

(2807) § 12. The election shall be opened in the forenoon at the hour of eight o'clock and continue open until four o'clock in the afternoon, after which the board may close the election at any time, when all the electors have voted, or when fifteen minutes have passed without a vote being tendered; but the polls shall in no case be kept open after six o'clock of the afternoon; and the polls shall not be closed before six o'clock, except by the unanimous consent of all the members of the election board; but whenever the polls are closed, proclamation must be made of the fact of such closing by the inspector, to the people outside, in a loud and audible tone of voice, and a minute of such proclamation, and of the time when the same was made, must be entered on the tally sheets by the clerks, and after such minute has been made no more votes shall be received: Provided, That upon the petition of twenty legal voters and house-holders of any precinct in the Territory, presented to the board of county commissioners at their July session next preceding any election in the county in which such precinct or precincts are situated, petitioning said board for the opening of the election at the hour of six o'clock in the forenoon, it is made the duty of the board of commissioners to grant and enter of record the prayer of such precinct petitioners; and it is made the further duty of the board to direct the auditor of the county to publish in two newspapers of general circulation published in said county, representing the leading national political parties opposed to each other, for three successive weeks, a notice setting out fully the name of the precinct or precincts and the township, town or city in which such precinct or precincts are situated, so petitioning for the opening of the polls at six o'clock in the forenoon, and the board shall enter upon the record an order requiring the polls of every such precinct to be opened accordingly: Provided, further, That in all cities and incorporated towns having a population of one thousand or more, as shown by the last United States census, the polls shall be opened at six o'clock in the forenoon on the day of such election and closed at six o'clock in the afternoon of said day.

Notice of intent, absence from territory, notice and copy, violation, clerk's fees

(2808) § 13. Each elector shall vote, by ballot, in the precinct wherein he resides. Any person, who having been a resident of Oklahoma Territory, shall have absented himself from the Territory for a period of six months or more, or who shall have gone to any other state or sovereignty with the intention of voting therein, or during any absence in another state or sovereignty shall have voted therein, and also, any person who shall not have been a bona fide resident of this Territory, and of the county in which he resides, at least six months before any election, shall before being entitled to vote at any election in the Territory register a notice of his intention to become a qualified elector therein, in the office of the county clerk of the county in which he resides. Whoever shall be absent from the Territory for a period of six months or more, on business of the Territory or the United States, shall at the time he offers to vote, produce a certificate from the county clerk that his name has continuously, since his departure from the Territory on such business, been upon the tax duplicate of said county for the purpose of taxation, during his absence from the Territory, and that he is still a tax payer in said county; and failing to produce such certificate, such person shall not be permitted to vote. Such registration shall be made at least three months prior to any such election, and the notice shall state such person's name, age and place of residence (by which shall be understood his lodging place), and the notice shall be in the form following, and sworn to before such clerk:

TERRITORY OF OKLAHOMA } SS.
.....COUNTY. }

I,....., the subscriber hereto, hereby declare my intention to become a qualified elector under the laws of the Territory of Oklahoma; that I was.....years of age on my last birthday; that my lodging place is now..... .....(here insert exact location); and I was a bona fide resident of the precinct in which I lodge: Provided, that the provisions of this section respecting such registration and notice shall not apply to any voter who, six months or more previous to any election shall have registered with said clerk a notice declaring his intention to hold his residence in this Territory during a contemplated absence, and that during such absence he will not exercise the right of suffrage elsewhere and which notice shall be as follows, and shall be sworn to before said clerk:

TERRITORY OF OKLAHOMA, } SS.
..... COUNTY. }

I....., the subscriber hereto, a qualified voter of.....(here insert the name of his precinct, ward, township, town and city,) in said county, intending to absent myself, do hereby declare my purpose to hold my residence as a voter in said Territory, and that I will not exercise the right fo suffrage elsewhere during my absence.

On the filing of any notice, as provided for in this section, it shall be the duty of such clerk to enter the name and residence of said elector and date of the filing of said notice in a book furnished for said purpose, to be open at all times to the inspection of the public, and safely preserve said original notice and deliver a certified copy of the same to the elector so registering, and on demand of any challenger or member of the election board such elector shall be requested to produce the same before being allowed to vote. No person shall register for any other person, or in the name of any other person, or present the copy of the register for any other person at a polling place, or induce, hire, or advise any other person not to register who may be required to register as above. Any person violating the provisions of this section, or who shall vote or attempt to vote, without having been registered when required to do so as above, shall be guilty of felony and upon conviction, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for not less than one or more than five years, and be disfranchised for any determinate period. The clerk shall be allowed ten cents and no more, for each registration and certificate thereof, to be paid by the elector in full for all services connected therewith.

Chap. 33.

Territorial election board.

(2809) § 14. The Governor of the Territory and two qualified electors by him appointed, one from each of the two political parties that cast the largest number of votes in the Territory at the last preceding general election, shall constitute a Territorial board of election commissioners. Such appointment shall be made at least thirty days previous to each general election, and if, prior to that time, the chairman of the Territorial central committee of either of such parties shall nominate in writing, a member of his own party for such appointment, the Governor of the Territory shall appoint such nominee. In case of death or disability of either appointee, the Governor of the Territory shall notify the chairman of the said central committee of such appointee's political party, and such chairman may, within three days thereafter, recommend a successor, who shall thereupon be appointed: Provided, That if such chairman shall fail to make recommendations of appointment within the time specified, the Governor of the Territory shall make such appointment of his own selection from such political party. It shall be the duty of said board to prepare and distribute ballots and stamps for election of all officers for whom all the electors of the Territory are entitled to vote, in compliance with the provisions of the election law. The members of such board shall serve without compensation.

County board of election commissioners, how appointed; duties of.

(2810) § 15. In each county in the Territory, the county clerk and two persons by him appointed, one from each of the two political parties that cast the largest number of votes in the Territory at the last general election, shall constitute a county board of election commissioners. Said appointment shall be made in all respects as appointments as the Territorial board of election commissioners are required to be made by the Governor of the Territory, except that the privilege of nomination shall belong to the chairman of the county central committees of the two parties aforesaid. It shall be the duty of such board to prepare and distribute ballots for election of all officers to be voted for in such counties other than those who are to be voted for by all the electors of the Territory in compliance with the provisions of this act. The members of such board shall serve without compensation.

Ballots, how printed, device; certificate of nomination, etc.

(2811) § 16. The said board of election commissioners shall cause to be printed on the respective ballots the names of the candidates nominated by the convention of any party that cast one per cent of the total vote of the Territory at the last preceding general election, as certified to said board by the presiding officer and secretary of said convention, or in case of primary election by the chairman and secretary of any county or township committee; and also the names of any candidates for office when petitioned so to do by electors qualified to vote for such candidate, as follows: For a Territorial officer, or any officer for whom all the electors of the Territory are entitled to vote, five hundred petitioners; for a representative in congress from any Congressional district, two hundred petitioners; for a county officer, member of the general assembly, or prosecuting attorney, twenty-five petitioners; for an officer of a township, ward or other division less than a county, twenty petitioners. The signatures of such petition need not be appended to one paper, but no petitioner shall be counted except his residence and post office address be designated. Such petition shall state the names and residence of each of such candidates, that he is legally qualified to hold such office; that the subscribers desire and are legally qualified to vote for such candidate; and may designate a brief name or title of the party or which candidate, together with any simple figure or device by which they may be designated on the ballots. The certificate of nomination by a convention or primary election shall be in writing and shall contain the name of each person nominated, his residence and the office for which he is nominated, and shall designate a title for the party of principle which such convention or primary election represents, together with any simple figure or device by which its list of candidates may be designated on the ballots; said certificate shall be designated by the presiding officer and secretary of such convention, or by the chairman and secretary of the county, city or township committee, who shall add to their signatures their respective places of residence and acknowledge the same before an officer duly authorized to take acknowledgments of deeds. If the certificate of nomination of any Territorial convention, shall request that the figure or device selected by such convention to be used to designate the candidates of such party on the ballots for all the elections throughout the Territory, such figure or device shall be so used until changed by request of a subsequent Territorial convention of the same party. Such device may be the figure of a star, an eagle, a plow or some such appropriate symbol, but the coat of arms or seal of the Territory or the United States, the national flag, or any other emblem common to the people at large shall not be used as such device. A certificate of such acknowledgment shall be appended to such instrument. In case of death, resignation or removal of any candidate subsequent to nomination, unless a supplemental certificate or petition of nomination be filed, the chairman of the Territory, county, city or township committee shall fill such vacancy. In case of division in any party, and claimed by two or more factions to the same party, name or title, or figure or device, the board of election commissioners shall give the preference of name to the convention held at the time and place designated in the call of the regularly constituted party authorized, and if the other faction shall present no other party name, title or device, the board of election commissioners shall select a name or title, and place the same upon the list of candidates on said faction on the ballot, and select some suitable device to designate its candidates. If two or more conventions be called by authorities claimed to be the rightful authorities of any party, the proper board of election commissioners shall select some suitable devices to distinguish one faction from the other, and print the balance accordingly: Provided, however, That if any political party entitled to nominate by convention shall in any case fail to do so, the name of all the nominees by petition for any office who shall be designated in their petitions as members of and candidates of such party shall be printed under the device and title of such party on the ballots, as if nominated by convention. Certificates and petitions of nomination of candidates of offices to be voted for by the electors of the entire Territory shall be filed with the Governor of the Territory. Certificates and petitions of nominations of candidates for offices to be voted for by electors of any district or division of the Territory exclusively shall be filed with the county clerks of the counties or county included in or including such district or division.

Name of candidate, when not printed.

(2812) § 17. If any certificate or petition of nomination shall contain the name of more than one candidate for any office to be filled, neither name shall be printed as a candidate for such office. If any person shall join in nominating by petition more than one nominee for the same office to be filled, such person shall not be counted as a petitioner for either nomination.

Governor and clerks to preserve certificates, etc.

(2813) § 18. The Governor of the Territory and county clerks shall cause to be preserved in their respective offices all certificates and petitions of nominations filed therein under the provisions of this act for six months after the election for which such nominations were made.

Certificates, when filed.

(2814) § 19. Certificates and petitions of nominations filed with the Governor of the Territory, shall be filed not more that sixty days, and not less than twenty days, before the day fixed be law for the election of the persons in nomination. Certificates and petitions of nomination herein directed to be filed with the clerk of the county, shall be filed not more than sixty days and not less than fifteen days before election.

Governor to certify to clerk.

(2815) § 20. Not less than eighteen days before an election of the Territory to fill any public office for which all the electors are entitled to a vote, the Governor of the Territory shall certify to the county clerk of each county the name and place of residence of each person nominated for such office, as specified in the certificate and petition of nominations filed with the Governor of the Territory, and shall designate therein the device under which the group or list of candidates of each party will be printed and the order in which they will be arranged.

County clerk to publish nominations to office, etc.

(2816) § 21. At least seven days before an election to fill any public office at which the electors of any county are entitled to vote, the county clerk of such county shall cause to be published in the weekly newspapers within the county, the nominations to office certified to him by the Governor of the Territory, and also those filed with the county clerk. He shall make no less than two publications in each of such newspapers before election; one of such publications in each newspaper shall be upon the last day upon which such newspaper is issued before election. Such publication shall be made in two newspapers representing the political parties that at the last preceding general election cast the largest number of votes in the Territory, if such papers there be: Provided, That in all cities where a daily paper is published, such notice shall also be published in two daily papers representing such political parties, if such there be; the lists of nominations published by the county clerks shall be arranged as far as practicable, in the order and form in which they will be printed upon the ballots and shall designate the devices under which the group or list of candidates of each party will be printed.

Duties of Governor and clerk.

(2817) § 22. That the Governor of the Territory shall not certify the name of a candidate whose certificate of nomination shall have been filed in his office who shall have notified him in a writing signed and executed with the formalities prescribed for the execution of an instrument to entitle it to record that he will not accept the nomination contained in the certificate or petition of nomination. The county clerk shall not include in the publication to be made according to section twenty-three hereof, the name of any candidate whose petition or nomination shall have been filed in his office who shall have notified him in like manner that he will not accept the nomination. The names of such candidates shall not be included in the names of the candidates to be printed in the ballots as hereinafter provided.

Questions to be submitted to popular vote.

(2818) § 23. Whenever a question is to be submitted to the people of the Territory for popular vote, the Secretary of the Territory shall duly and not less than thirty days before election, certify the same to the clerk of each county in the Territory, and the clerk of each county shall include the same in the publication provided for in section twenty-one in this act.

Size, color and form of ballots, candidates, names; device.

(2819) § 24. The board of election commissioners shall cause the names of all candidates of their respective jurisdictions to be printed on one ballot, all nominations of any party or group of petitioners being placed under the title and device of such party or petitioners, as designated by them in their certificate or petition, or, if none be designated, under some suitable title or device. The ballots shall be of uniform size and of the same quality and color of paper, and sufficiently thick that the printing cannot be distinguished from the back. All ballots prepared by the Territorial board of election commissioners shall be printed on red tinted paper, and put up in blocks of one hundred each. All ballots prepared by the county board of election commissioners shall be printed on white paper, of the same device for designating candidates be selected by two parties or groups of petitions, it shall be given to the one which first selected it, and a suitable device shall be selected for the other. The arrangement of the ballot shall, in general, conform as nearly as possible to the plan hereinafter given, and the device named and list of candidates of the democratic party shall be placed in the first column on the left hand side of said ballot, of the republican party in the second column, of the peoples' party in the third column, and of any other party in such order as the board of election commissioners shall decide.

Vacancy, how and by whom filled; pasters

(2820) § 25. In case of death, removal or resignation of any candidate after the printing of such ballots and before such election, it shall be lawful for the chairman of the Territory, district, or county political organization of which such candidate was a member to make a nomination to fill such vacancy, and to provide the election board of each precinct in which such candidate is to be voted for, and a number of pasters containing only the name of such candidate at least equal to the number of ballots provided each precinct, but no pasters shall be given to or received by any one except such election board and such chairman, and it shall be the duty of the polling clerks to put one of such pasters in a careful and proper manner and in the proper place, on each ticket before they shall sign their initials thereon.

Printer of tickets guilty of felony, when.

(2821) § 26. If the printer of such ballots, or any person employed in printing the same, shall give or deliver or knowingly permit to be taken, any of said ballots by any person other than a member of the board of election commissioners, for which such ballots are being printed, or shall print or cause or permit to be printed, any ballot in any other form than the one prescribed by this act, or with any other name thereon, or with the names spelled, or the names or devices thereon arranged in any other way than that authorized and directed by said board of election commissioners, he shall be guilty of felony, and on conviction thereof, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than two years, and be disfranchised for any determinate period not less than ten years.

County clerks duties; number of ballots, ballots sealed; stamps; expenses.

(2822) § 27. It shall be the duty of each county clerk to appear in person, or by specially authorized deputy, bearing credentials given under the seal of the district court, at the office of the Governor of the Territory, not more than fourteen nor less than ten days prior to each general election, and the Territorial board of election commissioners shall thereupon deliver to said clerk fifteen ballots to every five voters and fraction thereof in each precinct of his county at the last general election, or if a new precinct has been established in such county, ten ballots for every five voters of the estimated vote as reported by the board of county commissioners: Provided however, That if it shall be made to appear by the affidavit of such clerk that any precinct has so increased in population as to have fifty per cent more voters than at the last election, or at the time of estimate by the board of county commissioners, the Territorial board of election commissioners shall deliver to him three ballots for every voter so declared by him under oath, to be resident in such precinct. The ballots shall, in the presence of the clerk, be wrapped and tied in packages plainly marked, one for each precinct, and securely sealed with wax, and the clerk shall give his receipt for the same, and for the safe sealing of such ballots such board shall provide itself with a seal of such design as it may deem proper, but the same design shall not be used for two consecutive elections. The Territorial board of election commissioners shall also provide and enclose in each of said sealed packages, three stamps bearing a cross (X) or such other design as they may select, together with ink pads or other necessary apparatus ready for use. The Territorial board of election commissioners shall from time to time certify to the Auditor of the Territory the necessary expenses of the preparation any distribution of the territorial ballots and stamps, and the Auditor shall audit and issue his warrants for the same, which shall be paid out of any funds in the Territorial treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Clerk's allowance, when ballots sent by special messenger.

(2823) § 28. An allowance shall be made to the clerk by the board of county commissioners of five cents per mile for the distance necessarily travelled in going to and returning from the office of Governor of the Territory; but in case said clerk of any county shall fail to appear at the office of the Governor of the Territory by the close of the tenth day prior to election, the Territorial board of election commissioners shall forthwith dispatch a special messenger to such county with the ballots for the county; which messenger, before receiving such ballots, shall take and subscribe to an oath to be administered to him by the Secretary of the Territory which oath shall be filed with said board of election commissioners and shall be in the words following:

TERRITORY OF OKLAHOMA, } ss.
.....COUNTY.

I, ..., swear (or affirm as the case may be) that I will take charge of the election ballots delivered to me by the Territorial board of election commissioners for the county of....., and will safely deliver said ballots in sealed packages and in the same condition as received by me, the clerk of said county at the earliest time that I can reach the county seat of said county. So help me God.

.....

Subscribed and sworn before me this..... day of.....18....

.....

And in such case said messenger shall be allowed three dollars per day for the time necessarily employed and three cents per mile for the distance necessarily travelled by him, which allowance shall be certified to the treasurer of such county, and deducted from the first moneys thereafter accruing to such clerk, payable by the treasurer. The amount so deducted shall be remitted, by the county treasurer to the Treasurer of the Territory.

Board of election commissioners to be guilty of felony, when,

(2824) § 29. If any member of the board of election commissioners, shall give or deliver to any other person any of said ballots, or shall permit any of them to be taken away, except as herein provided, he or they shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than one nor more than two years.

Chap. 33.

Taking away ballots a felony, when; penalty.

(2825) § 30. If any person shall take or remove in any manner, feloniously or with the consent or permission of the custodian for the time, from any place where they may lawfully be under this act, any of such ballots or stamps, or be found in custody or possession of such ballots or stamps (except as an officer or custodian, under this act, or while within the polling place for the purpose of voting); or if any such custodian or official shall consent to, or permit any of such ballots or stamps to be removed or carried away from the place where they may lawfully be by any person, except an official or custodian under this act, whose duty it is to receive the same, such person, custodian or official shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and on conviction shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary at hard labor for not less than one nor more than two years.

Duty of inspector, local ballot, seal.

(2826) § 31. It shall be the duty of each election inspector, or in case he can not attend, some other member of the election board, authorized in writing by the inspector, to appear at the office of the county clerk of his county not more than six nor less than two days before each election, and the county board of election commission shall deliver to him the seal package of ballots and the stamps provided for his precinct by the Territorial board of election commissioners, and also fifteen of the local ballots printed under the direction of the county board of election commissioners for each five or fraction thereof of the number of votes cast at such precinct at the last general election, or if a new precinct, for each five or fraction of five voters as estimated by the county commissioners: Provided However, That in case it be made to appear by affidavit of such inspector that the number of voters in his precinct has increased more than fifty per cent since the last general election or estimate by the board of county commissioners, there shall be delivered to him three ballots for each voter so declared under oath by him to reside in the precinct. The local ballot shall be wrapped and tied in packages and securely sealed with wax in the presence of the inspector or his represntative, who shall receipt for the same;and for the safe sealing of such ballots the county board of election commissioners shall provide themselves with a seal of such design as they may deem proper, and said packages shall not be opened until delivered to the election board of the respective voting precincts to which they are directed and said board shall be fully organized and ready for the reception of votes as in this act provided.

Opening of packages of ballots, poll clerk's duties.

(2827) § 32. At the opening of the polls, after the organization of and in the presence of the election board, the inspector shall open the package of ballots in such a manner as to preserve the seals intact. He shall then deliver to the poll clerk of the opposite political party from his own, twenty-five each of the Territorial and local ballots, and to the other poll clerk the stamps for marking the ballots. The poll clerks shall at once proceed to write their initials in ink on the lower left hand corner of the back of each of said ballots, in their ordinary hand-writing and without any distinguishing mark of any kind. As each successive elector calls for a ballot the poll clerk shall deliver to him the first signed of the twenty-five ballots of each kind and the inspector shall immediately deliver to the poll clerks another ballot of each kind which the poll clerk shall at once countersign, as before, and add to the ballots already countersigned, so it shall be delivered for voting after all of those heretofore countersigned.

Cards what to contain, different languages, posting up of ballots and cards

(2828) § 33. The county board of election commissioners of each county shall cause to be printed in large type on cards, in English and such other language as they deem necessary, instructions for the guidance of electors in preparing their ballots. They shall furnish twelve of such cards in each of the languages determined upon by them to each of the election inspectors at the same time they deliver to him the ballots for his precinct. Each inspector shall cause to be posted one of each of said cards in each place or compartment provided for the preparation of ballots, and one of each kind of such cards at or near the outer end of the chute leading to the polling place, and not nearer than fifty feet of the polling place, and not less than three of each of said cards and three samples of each of the Territorial and local ballots in and about the polling place at the opening of the polls on the day of election, which sample ballots shall be printed on different colored paper than the genuine ballots. Said cards shall contain full instructions to the voters as to what must be done:

First. To obtain ballots for voting; second, to prepare the ballots for voting; third, to obtain a new ballot in place of one accidently defaced, mutilated or spoiled; also copies of sections 43, 50, 55, 56, 57 and 58 of this act.

Special messenger dispatched with ballots, when; compensation.

(2829) § 34. In case any inspector or his representative shall fail to appear at the office of the county clerk by the close of second day prior to any election. the county board of election commissioners shall forthwith dispatch a special messenger to his precinct with the ballots and stamps for such precinct. Such messenger shall be allowed two dollars per day for his time and shall promptly report to such clerk and file with him the receipt of the person to whom he delivered such ballots and stamps and his affidavit stating when and to whom he delivered such ballots and stamps, and such inspector shall receive no compensation for his services at such election.

Neglect of duty; misdemeanor and fine, loss of ballots; new supply.

(2830) § 35. Any inspector who shall wilfully or negligently fail to appear at the clerk's office, in person or by representative, as herein provided, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundread dollars, and shall thereafter be incompetent to serve as inspector. If by any accident or casualty the ballots delivered to any clerk, inspector or other messenger shall be lost or destroyed, it shall be the duty of such person in custody to report the loss at once to the board of election commissioners, from which the same were obtained, and make affidavit of the circumstances of the loss, whereupon such board shall at once re-supply such person. In case such person in custody fails or refuses to report and make proof of loss, any qualified elector may do so, and thereupon such board shall at once send a new supply by special messenger, as provided in other cases. In case, for any reason, there shall be found no ballots or other necessary means or contrivance for voting at the opening of the polls, it shall be the duty of the election board to secure the same as speedily as possible, and, if necessary, such board may have ballots printed: Provided, however, That such ballots shall conform as nearly as possible to the genuine ballots, and the printing and the care of the same shall be under the same provision and penalties as the printing and care of the other ballots prescribed in this act.

Chap. 33.

Ballots preserved or burned; records.

(2831) § 36. The various boards of county commissioners shall preserve the ballots that are left over in their hands after supplying the precincts as hereinbefore provided, until six o'clock p. m., of the day of election, and shall then count and destroy, by totally consuming by fire, all such ballots but one, which shall be securely pasted in the election record immediately preceding the place where the vote is to be recorded. They shall also cause to be entered below such ballot the number of ballots printed by them, the number delivered to each messenger and the number destroyed by them.

Room provided, booths, window, chute, expenses.

(2832) 37. It shall be the duty of the county commissioners in each county, before each election, to provide for and secure in each precinct of the county a suitable room in which to hold the election, and to have placed therein a railing separating the part of the room to be occupied by the election board from the remainder of the room and also two booths or compartments in which electors shall mark their ballots, screened from observation, each containing a counter or shelf. Booths shall be so constructed and arranged that all the members of the election boards can see whether more than one voter enters any one of such booths at one time. The portion of the room set apart for the election board shall include a window at which the voters shall appear for challenge, and such voter shall immediately announce his full and true name to the challengers. The board of county commissioners shall also provide for each precinct a chute or passage with a railing, rope or wire on each side, commencing fifty feet away from and leading to such polling place; passing such window for challenge and thence to the the entrance of the room in which the election is held. The expenses of such preparation shall be defrayed as other expenses of the county by the board of county commissioners. No election shall be held in a room in which spiritous, vinous or malt liquors are kept or sold.

Challenges and poll book holder; challenge.

(2833) § 38. One challenger and one poll book holder appointed and designated by each party organization, shall be entitled to stand at the sides of the chute near the challenge window. No other person shall remain within fifty feet of the same, except for the purpose of offering his vote; and voters shall approach and enter the chute in the order in which they appear for the purpose of voting. If any person offering to vote shall be challenged by one of such challengers or by any member of the election board, he shall stand aside and not be entitled to vote unless he makes an affidavit in writing that he is a qualified and legal voter of the precinct, and if such affidavit sets forth his name, residence, occupation, place or places of residence during the six months prior to the election with the date of any removal within that time, and the names of two persons who have personal knowledge of his residence in the precinct thirty days and the township six days, and shall, in case he be a person required by this act to be registered, also produce the necessary certificate of registration provided for in this act. He shall then be allowed to vote, unless the challenger or some qualified voter of the precinct makes affidavit in writing that he knows or is informed and verily believes that the person offering to vote is not a legal voter of the precinct; and if the affidavit be on information and belief, he shall set forth the names of the person or persons from whom such information was obtained, and the person offering to vote shall not thereafter be allowed to vote, unless one qualified voter of the precinct, who has been a freeholder and householder in the precinct for at least one year or a resident householder for two years next preceding such election shall make affidavit or affirmation in writing that of his personal knowledge such person offering to vote is a legal voter at the precinct: Provided, that if such person so offering to vote be challenged solely or for the additional reason that he is not a citizen of the United States, then such person so challenged for such reason shall take and subscribe the following oath:

I do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be) that I have resided in the United States one year and have declared my intention of becoming a citizen thereof, in conformity with the laws thereof.

The other affidavits herein referred to shall be in the following form:

I do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be), that I am a citizen of the United States; that I am now over the age of twenty-one years, to the best of my information and belief; and that I have been a bona fide resident of this Territory for six months immediately preceding this election; that I have resided in the township sixty days and in the precinct thirty days, and that I am now a bona fide resident of this precinct; that I am generally known by the name in which I now desire to vote, which is.....; that I have not voted and will not vote in any other precinct in this election; that my occupation is.....; that my present residence is.....; (if in the city or town give the street and number,) and that during the last six months prior to this election I have resided at..... I have removed from.....to..... of the following date.....; and that..... and.....have personal knowledge of my residence in the precinct thirty days and in the township sixty days. I swear that I am informed and believe that....., now offering to vote, is not a legal voter in this precinct, and that I obtained such information from.....and....., I do solemnly swear (or affirm as the case may be) that I am a qualified voter in this precinct; that

Chap. 33.

I have been a freeholder or resident householder in this precinct for one year, or a resident householder for two years next preceding this election; that....., who now desires to vote, has resided in this Territory for six months immediately preceding this election; that he has resided in this township sixty days, and in this precinct thirty days, at.....; that he is now a bona fide resident of this precinct and a legal voter therein. These facts I know of my own personal knowledge.

Affidavit as to illegal voter; arrest.

(2834) § 39. If at any time during the election any qualified elector shall make affidavit before the inspector that any person who has voted is an illegal voter in such precinct, the person accused shall at once be arrested by the election constable. Immediately after the close of the election the inspector shall deliver such affidavit to some justice of the peace in the township who shall proceed thereon as if the affidavit had been made before him.

Perjury.

(2835) § 40. Whoever shall knowingly or wilfully make a false affidavit under the provisions of this act, shall be deemed guilty of perjury.

Voter, employment of, misdemeanor

(2836) § 41. No person entitled to vote at any general, national, Territorial or county election shall be employed upon the day on which such election shall be held, in any manufacturing, mining, mechanical or mercantile establishment or any railroad or corporation in this Territory during the period of four hours after the opening of any election in the county in which such person is entitled to vote, except as to works of necessity, in which works of necessity every employee shall be given some period of four hours between the opening and closing of the polls on said day; and any district court may enforce the provisions of this section in term time, or in vacation by mandate or otherwise, upon the application of any voter. Every officer of any corporation, owner, superintendent, overseer, or foreman, who employs or permits to be employed any person in violation of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars.

Admission to room; ballots, how folded and deposited interpreter, duties of voter.

(2837) § 42. When a voter shall have been passed by the challengers, or shall have been sworn in, he shall be admitted to the election room: Provided however, That not more than three voters shall be allowed in the room at one time. On entering the room, the voter shall announce his name to the poll clerks, who shall register it. The clerk holding the ballots shall deliver to him one Territorial and one local ballot, and the other clerk shall thereupon deliver to him a stamp and both poll clerks, on request, shall give explanation of the manner of voting; if deemed necessary, by unanimous consent of the board an interpreter may be called. The voter shall then, and without leaving the room, go into any of the booths which may be unoccupied and indicate the candidates for whom he desires to vote by stamping the square immediately preceding their names, and indicate his preference on any question or constitutional amendment or other special matter by stamping in front of the words "yes" or "no" under such questions: Provided however, That if he shall desire to vote for all the candidates of one party or group of petitioners, and none other, he may place the stamp on the square preceding the title under which the candidates of said party or group of petitioners are printed, and the vote shall then be counted for all the candidates under that title, unless the name of one or more candidates under another shall also be stamped, in which case the names of the candidates so stamped shall be counted. Before leaving the booth or compartment the voter shall fold his ballots separately, so that no part of the faces thereof shall be exposed, and so that the initials of the poll clerks shall be exposed, and on leaving the booth or compartment shall return the stamp to the poll clerk and deliver the ballots to the inspector, or to the judge who may temporarily be authorized to act for him, who shall forthwith, in the presence of the voter, and of the election board, deposit the same in the respective ballot boxes, the Territorial ballot in the red ballot box and the local ballot in the white ballot box; and the ballot clerks shall write the word "voted" after the name of the voter on the poll list: Provided, however, That if any elector shall show his ballot, or any part thereof, to any other person, after the same has been marked, so as to disclose any of the candidates voted for, such ballot shall not be deposited in the ballot box. A minute of such occurrence shall be made on the poll list, and such person shall not be allowed to vote thereafter. The voter shall then leave the room, but no voter to whom a ballot and stamp, or either, have been delivered shall be permitted to leave the room without voting the ballots or returning them to the poll clerk or without returning the stamp to the poll clerk from whom he received it. Any voter who shall attempt to leave the room with a ballot or stamp in his possession, shall be at once arrested on demand of any member of the election board.

Number of persons admitted to booths and room.

(2838) § 43. Not more than one person shall be permitted to occupy any booth at one time; and no person shall remain in or occupy a booth longer than may be necessary to prepare his ballot, and in no event longer than five minutes. Not more than three persons other than the election officers shall be permitted to enter or be in the election room at any one time, and no voter, or person offering to vote, shall hold any conversation or communication with any other person than a member of the election board while in the election room,

Mutilated ballots.

(2839) § 44. Any person who shall, by accident or mistake, spoil, deface or mutilate his ballot, may, on returning the same to the poll clerks and satisfying them that such spoiling, defacing, or mutilation was not intentional, receive another in place thereof, and such clerks shall make a minute of the fact on the poll lists at the time, and the mutilated ballot shall then be destroyed by the inspector in the presence of the board.

Poll clerks, when may prepare ballots, when guilty of felony.

(2840) § 45. Any elector who declares that by reason of physical disability or inability to read the English language, he is unable to mark his ballot, may declare his choice of candidates to the poll clerks, who in the presence of the elector and in the presence of each other, shall prepare the ballots in the manner hereinbefore provided, and on request shall read over to such elector the names

(2846) § 51. Any clerk, inspector or messenger entrusted with the custody of the ballots who shall open any of the packages in which the ballots are contained, or permit any of them to be opened or destroy any of such ballots, or permit them to be destroyed; or give or deliver any such packages or ballots to any person not lawfully entitled to receive them, as hereinbefore provided, or conspire to procure, or in any way aid, abet or connive at any robbery, loss or destruction of any such ballots or packages, shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction shall be punished by imprisonment iu the penitentiary not less than one nor more than two years, and be disfranchised for any determinate period not less than ten years.

Who guilty of misdemeanor, fine.

(2847) § 52. If any person not herein authorized so to do, shall enter or attempt to enter the election room, or enter or attempt to enter within the railing leading from the challenge window to the entrance of the election room without first having been passed by the challengers, or having been sworn in as hereinbefore provided, or shall remain within fifty feet of the polling place, contrary to the provisions hereinbefore made, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof, be fined not more than five hundred dollars.

Further penalty.

(2848) § 53. If any person shall induce, or attempt to induce, any elector to write, paste or otherwise place on his ballot the name of any person or any sign or device of any kind as a distinguishing mark by which to indicate to any other person how such elector has voted, or shall enter into or attempt to form any agreement or conspiracy with any other person to induce or attempt to induce electors, or any elector, to so place any distinguishing name or mark on his bailot, whether or not said act be committed or attempted to be committed, such person so offending shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction be imprisoned not more than two nor less than one year in the penitentiary.

Election board, guilty of felony, when, penalty.

(2849) § 54. If any person being a member of an election board or otherwise entitled to the inspection of the ballots, shall reveal to any other person how any elector has voted, or what other candidates were voted for on any ballot bearing a name not printed thereon by the board of election commissioners, or give any information concerning the appearance of any ballot voted, such person so offending shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction shall be imprisoned not less than one year nor more than two years in the penitentiary, and be disfranchised for any determinate period not less than ten years.

Attempt to induce violation, felony.

(2850) § 55. If any person shall induce or attempt to induce any member of an election board to violate any of the provisions of section fifty-six, whether or not such member of the election board shall violate or attempt to violate any of the provisions of this act, such person so offending shall be guilty of a felony, and on conviction shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than two years, and be disfranchised for any determinate period not less than ten years. It shall be the duty of each inspector to distinctly read this and the preceding section to the election board at the opening of the polls, and each member thereof shall thereupon take an oath that he has not violated and will not violate the provisious of said section.

Removal or destruction of cards, etc.

(2851) § 56. Any person who shall during the election remove or destroy any of the supplies or other conveniences placed in the booths as aforesaid, or deliver to the voter for the purpose of enabling the voter to prepare his ballot, or shall during an election, remove, tear down or deface the cards printed for the instruction of the voters, or shall, during an election, destroy or remove any booth, railing or other convenience provided for such election, or shall induce or attempt to induce any person to commit any of such acts, whether or not any of such acts are committed or attempted to be committed, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than six months nor more than one year and be disfranchised for any determinate period not less than ten years.

Electioneering, duties of voters.

(2852) § 57. No officer of election shall disclose to any person the name of any candidate for whom any elector has voted. No officer shall do any electioneering on election day. No person whatever shall do any electioneering on election day within any polling place, or within fifty feet of any polling place. No person shall apply for or receive any ballot in any polling place other than that in which he is entitled to vote. No person shall show his ballot after it is marked to any person in such a way as to reveal the contents thereof or the name of any candidate or candidates for whom he has marked his vote; nor shall any person examine a ballot which any elector has prepared for voting or solicit the elector to show the same. No person, except an inspector, of election, or judge who may be temporarily acting for him, shall receive from any voter a ballot prepared by him for voting. No voter shall receive a ballot from any person other than one of the poll clerks; nor shall any person other than a poll clerk deliver a ballot to an inspector to be voted. No voter shall deliver any ballot to an inspector to be voted, except the one he received from the poll clerk. No voter shall place any mark upon his ballot or suffer or permit any other person to do so by which it may be afterwards identified as the one voted by him. Whoever shall violate any provision of this section shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and on conviction shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than six months nor more than one year, and by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, and be disfranchised for any determinate period not less than ten years.

Officer guilty of felony, when.

(2853) § 58. Any public officer, upon whom any duty is imposed by this act, who shall wilfully neglect or omit to perform such duties or do any act prohibited herein, for which punishment is not otherwise provided, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and on conviction shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than six months nor more than three years, or by a fine of not more than three thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and be disfranchised for any determinate period not less than ten years.

Submission of constitution to popular vote; ballots, when void.

(2854) § 59. Whenever a constitution or constitutional amendment or other question is required by law to be submitted to the popular vote, if all the electors of the Territory are entitled to a vote on such question, the Territorial board of election commissioners shall cause a brief statement of the same to be printed on the Territorial ballots, and the words "yes" and "no" under the same so that the elector may indicate his preference by stamping at the place designated in front of either word. If the question is required by law to be voted on by the electors of any district or division of the Territory, the board or boards of election commissioners of the county or counties, including or included in such division or district, shall cause similar provision to be made on the local ballots. In case any elector shall not indicate his preference by stamping in front of either word, the ballot as to such question, shall be void and shall not be counted.

Affidavits, disposition of (2855) § 60. All affidavits provided in this act to be used on the day of election at the several polling places, shall at the close of the count, be placed in a strong paper bag, or envelope, by the election board and securely sealed by them, each member endorsing his name on the back of such bag or envelope. Such bag or envelope shall be delivered within three days after the election, by the inspector, to the clerk of the district court of the county, whose duty it shall be to carefully preserve the same, and deliver it, with the seal unbroken, to the foreman of the grand jury when next in session. It shall be the duty of such grand jury to inquire into the truth or falsity of such affidavits.

Township and county elections.

(2856) § 61. When any township or county holds an election at a time other than the time of a general election, such election shall be held in conformity with the provisions of this act, and all county and local officers who are required to perform any duties in connection with the general election shall perform the same duties in connection with such special or local election, subject to the same provisions and penalties herein prescribed in case of general elections.

Chap. 34.

Town or city elections; officers duties.

(2857) § 62. When any town or city shall hold an election at any time other than a time of a general election, such election shall be held in conformity with the provisions of this act, except the duties herein required of the county clerk shall be performed by the village or city clerk, the duties herein required of the board of county commissioners shall be performed by the village trustees or city council; the duties of the county sheriff shall be performed by the city marshal or chief of police, and the rights of nomination of election officers by political parties shall be exercised by the chairman of the village or city committees of such parties, if any such there be. Village and city officers are hereby required to perform the various duties herein prescribed for the county officers in whose stead they act, subject to the same penalties and provisions herein prescribed as to such county officers.

Holidays

(2858) § 63. All election days shall be legal holidays throughout the district or municipality in which the election is held.

Laws repealed.

(2859) § 64. All laws and parts of laws inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed, pro tanto: Provided, however, That nothing in this act contained shall impair the effect of any such act as to an offense heretofore committed under the existing laws.

This act shall take effect and be in force on the first day of March, one thousand, eight hundred and ninety-one.

CHAPTER XXXV.—EXHIBITS.

AN ACT to Provide for the Exhibition of the Oklahoma Products at the World's Columbian Exposition.

[Took effect December 25, 1890.]

SECTION.		SECTION.
1.	Commissioners to "Columbian Exposition."	3.	Powers, limitation of
2.	Compensation of.	4.	Expenses, limitation of.
		5.	Funds for "National Committee."

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

Whereas: The act of Congress creating the World's Columbian Commission, provides for the International exhibition of arts, industries, manufactures and the products of the soil, mines and sea, in the city of Chicago, in the State of Illinois, in the years one thousand eight hundred and ninety-two and one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three; Therefore be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma: Chap. 35.

Commissioners to "Columbian Exposition"

(2867) § 1. That in order to a proper exhibition of the arts, industries, manufactures and the products of the soil, mines etc. of the Territory of Oklahoma at the World's Columbian Exposition in the years 1892 and 1893, the various boards of county commissioners within the Territory of Oklahoma, are hereby authorized to appoint one commissioner and one lady to assist him for their respective counties, whose duty it shall be to assist and co-operate with the United States Commissioners for the Territory of Oklahoma, in the collection and care of articles for the exposition under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the commissioners on behalf of the United States for the Territory of Oklahoma.

Compensation of.

(2868) § 2. The several county commissioners shall be authorized and empowered to make uniform provisions from the county funds for such uniform compensation as they may deem just for said services of the commissioner and assistant commissioner mentioned in this act: Provided, That such commissioner and lady assistant shall not be made before March first. one thoussnd eight hundrd and ninety-one; and provided, that such compensation shall extend only to the time that such persons are actually engaged in the performance of their respective duties; such payment to be made upon vouchers properly made out and sworn to by said commissioners.

Power, limitation of.

(2869) § 3. The commissioner and lady assistant shall not have power to purchase the products of this Territory to be placed on exhibition, but shall only have power to receive such products as may voluntarily be contributed or furnished by the citizens of said Territory for exhibition without expense to the Territory. The commissioners so appointed in the various counties shall have the power, however, to make contracts for the freight and carriage of such products to and from the city of Chicago, and shall also have power to sell or otherwise dispose of such perishable products as may be placed on exhibition with the consent of the exhibitors, and also to dispose of the products on exhibition of a perishable nature at the close of said exhibition. And all the money thus derived from such sale, shall be paid into the county treasury from which the products so sold were received, to be used for the payment of transportation or other necessary expenses of the exhibition herein provided for.

Expenses, limitation of.

(2870) § 4. In no event shall the county commissioners of any one county expend more than the sum of one thousand dollars for the purposes provided in this act. And provided further, that at the special election to be held on February third, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one, there shall be submitted to the voters of the various counties in this Territory the question as to whether or not the board of county commissioners of their county shall incur the indebtedness of not to exceed one thousand dollars in aid of the Columbian Exposition, and if a majority of the votes cast at that election be for the incurring of such indebtedness, then the amount so incurred shall be estimated as contigent expenses of the county in determining the amount for which bonds may be issued for the purpose of paying the contigent expenses of the county. If the votes cast in favor of incurring such indebtedness be not a majority of all the votes cast in that election in that county, then no such indebtedness shall be incurred and no such commissioners or lady assistant can be appointed to be paid by the county.

Chap. 36.

Fund for National committee.

(2871) § 5. From the one thousand dollars authorized to be expended, as provided in this act, the county commissioners of each county may forward to the national commission at Chicago the sum of three hundred dollars, to be by each commission expended in the erection of a suitable building for the use of the Territory and its products at such exposition. At the close of the exposition such building or the marerial of which it is composed shall be sold and the proceeds of the sale returned to the various county treasurers in proportion to the amount contributed by the county for the erection thereof: Provided, however, That if the Government of the United States shall furnish the place suitable for the exhibition of the products of the Territory, then such building shall not be erected at the cost of the counties.

This act shall be in force and effect from and after the final adjournment of the present session of the Legislative Assembly.

CHAPTER XXXVII.—FIRES.

AN ACT to regulate prairie fires.

[Took effect December 11, 1890.]

SECTION.
1. Misdemeanor, punishment.
2. Notice and protection prior to burning.
3. Liability under preceding section.
4. Control of fire set out.
5. Liability under preceding section.
6. Destruction of woods, marsh, or prairie.
7. Destruction of improvements, etc.
8. Title not necessary to a recovery.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

(2920) § 1. If any person shall set or cause to be set on fire any woods, marsh or prairie, or any grass or stubble lands except as hereinafter provided, such person or persons shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, be fined a sum not more than five hundred dollars nor less than ten dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail for a period not longer than six months, one or both at the discretion of the court, and shall also be liable in a civil action to any person or persons damaged by such fire to the amount of such damages. Misdemeanor, punishment.

(2921) § 2. For the purpose of destroying any grass or stubble that may be on any piece of land at the time any person or persons commence to break or plow the same, it shall be lawful for such person or persons to set the same on fire, after having first given at least twelve hours notice to all persons living on adjacent lands of his [their] intention to set out such fire, giving time when and the place where the first is to be set: Provided, That at the time of setting such grass or stubble on fire there shall be a strip of land well plowed or burned over at least twenty feet in width, completely encompassing the place where such fire is set. Notice of burning.

(2922) § 3. If any fire, set as provided in section two, should by accident and without any fault or neglect of the person or persons setting the same, get beyond his or their control, such person or persons shall be liable as in section one for all damages done by said fire, but not otherwise. But if such fire should by negligence, carelessness or be intentionally permitted to spread beyond the bounds of such strip of land mentioned in section two, then the person or persons setting such fire shall be liable both civilly and criminally as provided in section one. Same, violation

Chap. 37.

Control of fire.

(2923) § 4. Fire set under the provisions of section two, shall not be allowed to spread beyond the control of such person or persons setting the same and shall be subdued and extinguished the same day on which it is set.

Liability under preceding section.

(2924) § 5. Any person or persons violating the provisions of section four shall be liable in a civil action to any person or persons damaged by such fire, to the amount of such damage; and in case any person or persons shall negligently, carelessly, wilfully, maliciously or intentionally violate any of the provisions of section four, such person or persons shall be liable both civilly and criminally the same as though they had violated the provisions of section one of this act.

Destruction of plant life.

(2925) § 6. If any person or persons shall wilfully, negligently or carelessly set or cause to be set on fire any woods, marsh or prairie in the Territory, or if any person or persons having made any camp or other fire, shall leave the said fire without having thoroughly extinguished the same, so that the fire shall spread and burn any wood, marsh or prairie, the person or persons guilty of setting or causing to be set such fire, or leaving such camp or other fire without having thoroughly extinguished the same, so that the fire shall spread therefrom, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanar, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined in any sum not to exceed two hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court, and shall also be liable in a civil action to any person, [or] persons or corporation damaged by such fire to the amount of such damage.

Destruction of improvements.

(2926) § 7. If the ranch, buildings, improvements, fencings, timber, marsh or other property of any person, persons, or corporation shall be injured or destroyed by any such fire as described in section six, the person or persons who shall cause or allow the same as therein provided, shall be responsible to the person, persons, or corporation injured thereby for all damage or injury caused or sustained by reason of such fire, If the cattle ranch or improvements of any person, persons or corporation shall be injured or destroyed by any such fire as described in section six, or if the hay upon any such ranch, or the grass growing thereon, shall be injured by any such fire as aforesaid, the person or persons who shall cause or allow the same as herein provided, shall be responsible to the person, person or corporation owning or claiming the same and injured thereby, for all damage or injury caused or sustained by reason of any such fire.

Title and recovery.

(2927) § 8. In any action instituted in any court to recover damages under the provisions of this act, it shall not be necessary for any person, persons or corporation injured by any such fire to allege in their pleadings, or prove on trial of such action, title to the real property over which such fire has spread, but it shall be sufficient in any such action to allege and prove that the person, persons or corporation so injured was or were in the occupancy or possession of any such ranch, buildings, improvements, fencing, timber, marsh or other property, claiming the right to and occupying with cattle any such cattle range, it being the purpose and intention of this act to protect the possession as aforesaid of any person, persons or corporation whether such person, persons or corporation have title to the land claimed or occupied by such person, persons or corporation or not. Any railroad company operating any line in this Territory shall be liable for all damages sustained by fire originating from operating their road.

This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the date of its approval.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.—GAME.

AN ACT for the protection of game and fish.

[Took effect October 28, 1890.]

SECTION.
1. Protected and unprotected birds.
2. Deer and antelope, when lawful to kill, sell, etc.
3. Immediate use as food.
4. Hunting and fishing without land owner's consent penalty.
5. Officers and others required to prefer charges.
6. Exporting prohibited.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

Protected and unprotected birds.

(2928) § 1. No person shall kill, ensnare, net or trap within this Territory any prairie chicken, quail, wild turkey, plover, dove, wren, martin, swallow, robin, turkey-buzzard, or other insectivorous birds, except that wild turkey, quail, partridge prairie chicken, or grouse may be shot from September 1st to December 31st of each year; and if at any time any person shall be found in possession of any quail, partridge, prairie chicken or grouse, other than within the date above mentioned, or any other fowls or birds mentioned in this section, it shall be prima facie evidence that the same was killed, netted, snared or trapped by such person in violation of this act. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars, with costs of suit, and shall be prosecuted, and said fines shall be collected as provided in the criminal law of the Territory of Oklahoma in cases of misdemeanor. Such fines shall be paid to the school fund of the county in which the said fine was imposed: Provided, That this bill shall not apply to the shooting and killing of hawks and birds of the falcon family that live by preying on other fowls.

Deer and antelope.

(2929) § 2. No person shall kill, wound, shoot or hunt any deer, fawn or antelope within his Territory between the first day of February and the first day of November in each and every year, and during such time no person or persons shall offer for sale or expose and sell, any meat or parts of any antelope, deer, fawn, doe or buck, and any person or persons found in possession of any meat or any parts of any of the game above mentioned during said time shall be deemed guilty of the violation of the provisions of this section, and such possession shall be evidence of his having wantonly killed and destroyed said animal. Any person or persons found guilty of violating the provisions of this section, and upon conviction of such violation shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than ten days nor more than one hundred days for the first offense, and for each subsequent offense shall be both fined and imprisoned to the full extent provided in this section. Any person violating this section may be arrested and tried before any or the nearest justice of the peace in the township, the same as for any other misdemeanor, and in case the fine and costs be not paid, the same shall be collected in the manner provided by the criminal law of the Territory of Oklahoma in cases of misdemeanor. The fine collected under the provisions of this section shall go to the school fund of the county in which such fines were imposed.

Chap. 38.

Immediate use as food.

(2930) § 3. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons, at any other time than that specified in the preceding sections to kill, destroy or have in possession any game named in the foregoing sections, for any purpose or under any pretext whatsoever, except for food, and then only when actually necessary for immediate use and for the reasonble necessities of the person killing the same.

Owner's consent.

(2931) § 4. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to kill, ensnare, net or trap on the premises of any other person or persons, any deer, fawn, doe or antelope or any game or fish whatsoever, of any kind, at any time without the consent of the proprietor or owner of said premises or lands, or enter said premises or lands with a gun, net, snare, trap or fishing tackles for the purpose of hunting, ensnaring, fishing or entrapping without the consent of tbe owner or manager of said premises. Any one violating the provisions of this section shall be subject to a fine not to exceed fifty dollars for each and every such violation, said fine shall be collected and applied (and distributed) as provided in section two of this act.

Who to prefer charges.

(2932) § 5. For the more certain detection and punishment of violators of this act, it is made the duty of all county and township officers and any other persons, whenever a violation of the provisions of this act is brought to their knowledge, to file an affidavit before a justice of the peace, charging the person or persons with the offense committed, and said justice of the peace being first satisfied on examination of the affidavit, that the person or persons accused had committed said offense, shall issue a warrant for the arrest of said person to be tried for misdemeanor as provided by the criminal law of the Territory of Oklahoma.

Exporting prohibited

(2933) § 6. No person shall kill, ensnare, net or trap any quail, prairie chicken, turkey or any deer, fawn, antelope or other game within this Territory to export to any state or territory. And any person or persons who shall export or ship any game killed or taken in Oklahoma Territory, out of the Territory shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished as provided in section two of this act.

This act shall be in force from and after the date of its approval.

(2934) § 1. A guaranty is a promise to answer for the debt, default or miscarriage of another person. Guaranty defined.

(2935) § 2. A person may become guarantor even without the knowledge or consent of the principal. May become guarantor without consent of principal.

(2936) § 3. Where a guaranty in entered into at the same time with the original obligation, or with the acceptance of the latter by the guarantee, and forms, with that obligation, a part of the consideration to him, no other consideration need exist. In all other cases there must be a consideration distinct from that of the original obligation. Consideration of the guaranty.

(2937) § 4. Except as prescribed by the next section, a guaranty must be in writing, and signed by the guarantor; but the writing need not express a consideration, A guaranty must be in writing.

(2938) § 5. A promise to answer for the obligation of another, in any of the following cases, is deemed an original obligation of the promisor, and need not be in writing: A guaranty need not be in writing in certain cases.

First. Where the promise is made by one who has received property of another upon an undertaking to apply it pursuant to such promise; or by one who has received a discharge from an obligation in whole or in part, in consideration of such promise.

Second. Where the creditor parts with value, or enters into an obligation, in consideration of the obligation in respect to which the promise is made, in terms or under circumstances such as to render the party making the promise the principal debtor, and the person in whose behalf it is made his surety.

Third. Where the promise, being for an antecedent obligation of another, is made upon the consideration that the party receiving it cancels the antecedent obligation, accepting the new promise as a substitute therefor; or upon the consideration that the party receiving it releases the property of another from a levy, or his person from imprisonment under an execution on a judgment obtained upon the antecedent obligation; or upon a consideration beneficial to the promisor, whether moving from either party to the antecedent obligation, or from another person.

Fourth. Where a factor undertakes, for a commission, to sell merchandise and guaranty the sale.

Fifth. Where the holder of an instrument for the payment of money, upon which a third person is or may become liable to him, transfers it in payment of a precedent debt of his, or for a new consideration, and in connection with such transfer enters into a promise respecting such instrument.

Acceptance of guaranty necessary.

(2939) § 6. A mere offer to guaranty is not binding, until notice of its acceptance is commnicated by the guarantee to the guarantor: but an absolute guaranty is binding upon the guarantor without notice of acceptance.

Implied guaranty.

(2940) § 7. In a guaranty of a contract, the terms of which are not then settled, it is implied that its terms shall be such as will not expose the guarantor to greater risks than he would incur under those terms which are most common, in similar contracts, at the place where the principal contract is to be performed.

Guaranty of solvency.

(2941) § 8. A guaranty to the effect that an obligation is good, or collectable, imports that the debtor is solvent, and that the demand is collectable by the usual legal proceedings, if taken with reasonable diligence.

Guaranty not discharged by failure to take proceedings on principal debt.

(2942) § 9. A guaranty, such as is mentioned in the last section, is not discharged by an omission to take proceedings upon the principal debt, or upon any collateral security for its payment, if no part of the debt could have been collected thereby.

Insolvency will be presumed, when.

(2943) § 10. In the cases mentioned in section 2941 the removal of the principal from the Territory leaving no property therein from which the obligation might be satisfied, is equivalent to the insolvency of the principal, in its effect upon the rights and obligations of the guarantor.

Guaranty construed, how.

(2944) § 11. A guaranty is to be deemed unconditional, unless its terms import some condition precedent to the liability of the guarantor.

Guarantor liable in default of principal

(2945) § 12. A guarantor of payment or performance is liable to the guarantee immediatly upon the default of the principal, and without demand or notice,

Guaranty of conditional obligation.

(2946) § 13. Where one guarantys a conditional obligation, his liability is commensurate with that of the principal, and he is not entitled to notice of the default of the principal, unless he is unable, by the exercise of reasonable diligence, to acquire information of such default, and the creditor has actual notice thereof.

Limitation of obligation.

(2947) § 14. The obligation of a guarantor must be neither larger in amount, nor inother respects more burden some than that of the principal; and if, in its terms, it exceeds it, it is reducible in proportion to the principal obligation.

Guarantor not liable in unlawful contract.

(2948) § 15. A guarantor is not liable if the contract of the principal is unlawful; but he is liable notwithstanding any mere personal disability of the principal, though the disability be such as to make the contract void against the principal.

Continuing guaranty.

(2949) § 16. A guaranty relating to a future liability of the principal, under successive transactions, which either continue his liability or from time to time renew it after it has been satisfied, is called a continuing guaranty.

Revocation of continuing guaranty.

(2950) § 17. A continuing guaranty may be revoked at any time by the guarantor, in respect to future transactions, unless there is a continuing consideration as to such transaction which he does not renounce.

Exoneration of guarantor.

(2951) § 18. A guarantor is exonerated, except so far as he may be indemnified by the principal, if by any act of the creditor, without the consent of the guarantor, the original obligation of the principal is altered in any respect, or the remedies or rights of the creditor against the principal, in respect thereto, in any way impaired or suspended.

Void promise of creditor.

(2952) § 19. A promise by a creditor, which for any cause is void, or voidable by him at his option, does not alter the obligation or suspend or impair the remedy, within the meaning of the last section.

Rescission of alteration of agreement does not revive guaranty

(2953) § 20. The recission of an agreement altering the original obligation of a debtor, or impairing the remedy of a creditor, does not restore the liability of a guarantor who has been exonorated by such agreement.

Part performance releases guarantor proportionately.

(2954) § 21. The acceptance, by a creditor, of any thing in partial satisfaction of an obligation, reduces the obligation of a guarantor thereof, in the same measure as that of a principal, but does not otherwise affect it.

Delay does not discharge guarantor.

(2955) § 22. Mere delay on the part of a creditor to proceed against the principal, or to enforce any other remedy, does not exonerate a guarantor.

Where guarantor has been indemnified.

(2956) § 23. A guarantor, who has been indemnified by the principal, is liable to the creditor to the extent of the indemnity, notwithstanding that the creditor, without the assent of the guarantor, may have modified the contract or released the principal.

Discharge of principal by act af law does not release guarantor.

(2957) § 24. A guarantor is not exonerated by the discharge of his principal by operation of law, without the intervention or omission of the creditor.

Chap. 39.

Suretv defined.

(2958) § 1. A surety is one who, at the request of another, and for the purpose of securing to him a benefit, becomes responsible for the performance by the latter of some act in favor of a third person, or hypothecates property as security therefor.

Surety, who appears as principal.

(2959) § 2. One who appears to be a principal, whether by the terms of a written instrument, or otherwise, may show that he is in fact a surety, except as against persons who have acted on the faith of his apparent character of principal.

Liability of surety.

(2960) § 3. A surety cannot be held beyond the express terms of his contract, and if such contract prescribes a penalty for its breach, he cannot in any case be liable for more than the penalty.

Rules of interpretation.

(2961) § 4. In interpreting the terms of a contract of suretyship, the same rules are to be observed as in the case of other contracts.

Judgment does not release surety.

(2962) § 5. Notwithstanding the recovery of judgment by a creditor against a surety, the latter still occupies the relation of surety.

Exoneration of surety.

(2963) § 6. Performance of the principal obligation, or an offer of such performance duly made as provided in this chapter exonerates a surety.

What exonerates surety.

(2964) § 7. A surety is exonerated:

First. In like manner with a guarantor.

Second. To the extent to which he is prejudiced by any act of the creditor which would naturally prove injurious to the remedies of the surety or inconsistent with his rights, or which lessens his security; or,

Third. To the extent to which he is prejudiced by an omission of the creditor to do anything, when required by the surety, which it is his duty to do.

Surety has right of guarantor.

(2965) § 8. A surety has all the rights of a guarantor, whether he becomes personally responsible or not.

May require proceedings against principal.

(2966) § 9. A surety may require his creditor to proceed against the principal, or to pursue any other remedy in his power which the surety cannot himself pursue, aud which would lighten his burden; and if in such case the creditor neglects to do so, the surety is exonerated to the extent to which he is thereby prejudiced.

May compel principal to perform obligation.

(2967) § 10. A surety may compel his principal to perform the obligations when due.

Principal bound to reimburse surety.

(2968) § 11. If a surety satisfies the principal obligation, or any part thereof, whether with or without legal proceedings, the principal is bound to reimburse what he has disbursed, including necessary costs and expenses; but the surety has no claim for reimbursement against other persons, though they may have been benefitted by this act, except as prescribed by the next section.

Surety's right against principal.

(2969) § 12. A surety, upon satisfying the obligations of the principal, is entitled to enforce every remedy which the creditor then has against the principal, to the extent of reimbursing what he has expended; and also to require all his co-sureties to contribute thereto, without regard to the order of time in which they became such.

Surety may enforce against principal every remedy that creditor had.

(2970) § 13. A surety is entitled to the benefit of every security for the performance of the principal obligation, held by the creditor; or by a co-surety, at the time of entering into the contract of suretyship, or acquired by him afterwards, whether the surety was aware of the security or not.

Property of principal first applied.

(2971) § 14. Whenever property of a surety is hypothecated with the property of the principal, the surety is entitled to have the property of the principal first applied to the discharge of the obligation.

Creditor entitled to all securities.

(2972) § 15. A creditor is entitled to the benefit of everything which a surety has received from the debtor by way of security for the performance of the obligation, and may, upon the maturity of the obligation, compel the application of such security to its satisfaction.

Letter of credit defined.

(2973) § 16. A letter of credit is a written instrument, addressed by one person to another, requesting the latter to give credit to the person in whose favor it is drawn.

May be addressed to several.

(2974) § 17. A letter of credit may be addressed to several persons in succession.

Writer liable, when.

(2975) § 18. The writer of a letter of credit is, upon the default of the debtor, liable to those who gave credit in compliance with its terms.

Classes of letters of credit.

(2976) § 19. A letter of credit is either general or special. When the request for credit, in a letter, is addressed to specified persons by name or description, the letter is special. All other letters of credit are general.

General letters of credit.

(2977) § 20. A general letter of credit gives any person to whom it may be shown, authority to comply with its request, and by his so doing it becomes, as to him, of the same effect as if addressed to him by name.

Successive credits.

(2978) § 21. Several persons may successively give credit upon a general letter.

Letter of credit is a continuing guaranty.

(2979) § 22. If the parties to a letter of credit appear by its terms to contemplate a course of future dealing with between the parties, it is not exhausted by giving a credit, even to the amount limited by the letter, which is subsequently reduced or satisfied by payments made by the debtor, but is to be deemed a continuing guaranty.

Notice not necessary unless provided.

(2980) § 23. The writer of a letter of credit is liable for credit given upon it without notice to him, unless its terms express or imply the necessity of giving notice.

Credit given must agree with letter.

(2981) § 24. If a letter of credit prescribes the persons by whom, or the mode in which, the credit is to be given, or the term of credit, or limits the amount thereof, the writer is not bound except for transactions which, in these respects, conform strictly to the terms of the letter.

CHAPTER XL.—HUSBAND AND WIFE.

SECTION.
1. Relations of husband and wife.
2. Husband is head of the family.
3. Duty to support.
4. Separate property.
5. Contracts.
6. Relations cannot be altered by contract.
7. Separation.
8. Real property; conveyance by wife; wife's title to personal property.
9. Separate and mutual rights of husband and wife.
10. Husband bound for necessaries.
11. Abandonment and separation.
12. Sale and incumbrance of property.
13. Contracts binding on both.
14. Order of court may be set aside, when.
15. Rights of married women.

Relations of husband and wife

(2982) § 1. Husband and wife contract towards each other obligations of mutual respect, fidelity and support.

Huband head of family.

(2983) § 2. The husband is the head of the family. He may choose any reasonable place or mode of living and the wife must conform thereto.

Duty to support.

(2984) § 3. The husband must support himself and his wife out of his property or by his labor. The wife must support the husband, when he has not deserted her, out of her separate property when he has no separate property and he is unable from infirmity to support himself.

Separate property.

(2985) § 4. Except as mentioned in section 2984 neither husband nor wife has any interest in the property of the other, but neither can be excluded from the other's dwelling.

Contracts.

(2986) § 5. Either husband or wife may enter into any engagement or transaction with the other, or with any other person, respecting property, which either might, if unmarried, subject, in transactions between themselves, to the general rules which control the actions of persons occupying confidential relations with each other as defined by the title on trusts.

Relations cannot be altered by contract.

(2987) § 6. A husband and wife cannot, by any contract with each other, alter their legal relations, except as to property, and except that they may agree in writing to an immediate separation, and may make provision for the support of either of them and of their children during such separation.

Separation.

(2988) § 7. The mutual consent of the parties is a sufficient consideration for such an agreement as is mentioned in the last section.

Real property held by husband and wife, wife's conveyance; wife's title to personal property.

(2989) § 8. A husband and wife may hold real or personal property together, as joint tenants, or tenants in common. The wife may, without the consent of her husband, convey her separate property. A full and complete inventory of the separate personal property of the wife may be made out and signed by her, acknowledged or proved in the manner provided by law for the acknowledgment or proof of a grant of real property by an unmarried woman, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the county or subdivision in which the parties reside. The filing of the inventory in the register's office is notice and prima facie evidence of the title of the wife.

(2990) § 9. Neither husband nor wife, as such, is answerable for the acts of the other.

Separate and mutual rights of husband and wife.

Second. The earnings of the wife are not liable for the debts of the husband, and the earnings and accumulations of the wife, and of her minor children living with her or in her custody, while she is living separate from her husband, are the separate property of the wife.

Third. The separate property of the husband is not liable for the debts of the wife contracted before the marriage.

Fourth. The separate property of the wife is not liable for the debts of her husband, but is liable for her own debts, contracted before or after marriage.

Fifth. No estate is allowed the husband as tenant by courtesy, upon the death of his wife, nor is any estate in dower allotted to the wife upon the death of her husband.

Husband bound for necessaries.

(2991) § 10. If the husband neglect to make adequate provision for the support of his wife, except in the cases mentioned in the next section, any other person may, in good faith, supply her with articles necessary for her support and recover the reasonable value thereof from the husband.

Abandonment; separation.

(2992) § 11. A husband abandoned by his wife is not liable for her support until she offers to return, unless she was justified by his misconduct, in abandoning him; nor is he liable for her support when she is living separate from him, by agreement, unless such support is stipulated in the agreement.

Sale and incumbrance of property.

(2993) § 12. In case the husband or wife abandons the other and removes from the Territory, and is absent therefrom for one year, without providing for the maintenance and support of his or her family, or is sentenced to imprisonment either in the county jail or Territorial penitentiary for the period of one year or more, the district court of the county or judicial subdivision where the husband or wife so abandoned or not imprisoned resides, may, on application by affidavit of such husband or wife, setting forth fully the facts, supported by such other testimony as the court may deem necessary, authorize him or her to manage, control, sell or incumber the property of the said husband or wife for the support and maintenance of the family, and for the purpose of paying debts contracted prior to such abandonment or imprisonment. Notice of such proceedings shall be given the opposite party, and shall be served as summons are served in ordinary actions.

Contracts made binding on both.

(2994) § 13. All contracts, sales or incumbrances made by either husband or wife by virtue of the power contemplated and granted by order of the court as provided in the preceding section, shall be binding on both, and during such absence or imprisonment the person acting under such power may sue and be sued thereon, and for all acts done the property of both shall be liable, and execution may be levied or attachment issued thereon according to statute. No suit or proceedings shall abate or be in any wise affected by the return or release of the person confined, but he or she may be permitted to prosecute or defend jointly with the other.

Chap. 41.

Order of court may be set aside, when

(2995) § 14. The husband or wife affected by the proceedings contemplated in the two preceding sections, may have the order or decree of the court set aside or annulled by affidavit of such party, setting forth fully the facts and supported by such other testimony as the court shall deem proper. Notice of such proceedings to set aside and annul such order must be given the person in whose favor the same was granted, and shall be served as summons are served in ordinary actions. The setting aside of such decree or order shall in no wise affect any act done thereunder.

Rights of married women.

(2996) § 15. From and after the passage of this act, woman shall retain the same legal existence and legal personality after marriage as before marriage, and shall receive the same protection of all her rights as a woman, which her husband does as a man; and for any injury sustained to her reputation, person, property, character or any natural right, she shall have the same right to appeal in her own name alone to the courts of law or equity for redress and protection that her husband has to appeal in his own name alone: Provided, That this act shall not confer upon the wife a right to vote or hold office, except as is otherwise provided by law.

CHAPTER XLI.—ILLEGITIMATE CHILDREN.

AN ACT to Provide for the Care and Custody of Illegitimate Children.

[Took effect December. 25 1890]

SECTION.
1. Bastardy, jurisdiction.
2. Arrest of person charged.
3. Filing of complaint a lien on property of defendant.
4. Attachment on complaint may issue.
5. Duty of county attorney.
6. Trial of issue.
7. When jury demanded.
8. Penalty.
9. Powers of judge.
10. Appeals taken, how.
11. Duties of county commissioners.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

Bastardy, jurisdiction.

(2997) § 1. Whenever any woman residing in any county of this Territory is delivered of a bastard child, or is pregnant with a child which if born alive will be a bastard, complaint may be made in writing duly verified, by any person to the probate court of the county where such woman resides, stating that fact and charging the proper person with being the father thereof. The proceeding shall be entitled in the name of the Territory against the accused as defendant.

Arrest of party charged.

(2998) § 2. Upon the filing of such complaint the probate judge shall issue his warrant for the arrest of the accused, requiring that he be forthwith brought before such court for trial.

Filing charge, lien.

(2999) § 3. From the time of the filing of such complaint a lien shall be created upon the real property of the accused in the county where the action is pending, for the payment of any money and the performance of any order adjudged by the proper court.

Attachments on complaint may issue.

(3000) § 4. The judge may also issue an attachment on such complaint without bond, which attachment shall specify the amount in value of property to be seized under the attachment. Such attachment may be revoked at any time by the court on such terms as the court may prescribe.

County attorney, duties.

(3001) § 5. It is hereby made the duty of the county attorney of the proper county to appear and prosecute all actions brought under this act.

Trial of issue.

(3002) § 6. Upon the defendant being brought before the court if he deny the truth of the complaint, the issue to be tried shall be "guilty" or "not guilty" and shall be tried summarily before the court, unless the defendant demand a trial by jury.

When jury demanded.

(3003) § 7. If a jury be demanded the case shall be set for trial at the next term of court, and in the meantime the defendant may be admitted to bail for his appearance at that time, upon his executing a recognizance in a sum fixed by the court, conditioned that he will appear at the time to which such action may be continued and pay any sum which may be adjudged against him and in all respects abide and perform the orders of the court. Upon the execution and approval of such recognizance the defendant shall be discharged.

Penalty.

(3004) § 8. If the accused be found guilty, he shall be charged with the maintenance of the child in such sum or sums, and in such manner as the court shall direct, and with the costs of suit and execution may issue, immediately, and afterwards from time to time for the collection of any sum or sums ordered to be paid, and in addition thereto the court shall require the defendant to secure the performance of the order of the court, in such manner as the court shall direct.

Powers of judge

(3005) § 9. The court may at any time, enlarge, diminish or vacate any order or judgment in proceedings under this act on such notice to the defendant and county attorney as the court may prescribe.

Appeals, how taken.

(3006) § 10. Appeals may be taken in cases brought under the provisions of this act in the same manner and with like effect as in other actions in the probate court.

Duties of county commissioners.

(3007) § 11. The boards of county commissioners of the several counties of this Territory are hereby required to cause proceedings under this act to be brought in all cases where any bastard child or its mother is liable to become a charge upon the county.

This act shall take effect and be in force upon the adjournment of the present session of this Legislative Assembly.

11. Investigation by the commissioners.
12. How patient sent to hospital.
13. Asylum insufficient; disposition of patients.
14. Insane persons cared for by the county.
SECTION.
15. Proper care provided by commissioners.
16. Insane persons not restrained of liberty, except how.
17. Cruelty to insane, penalty.
18. Transfer to hospital.
19. Questions answered on application for admission to hospital.
20. Proceedings for release of patients alleged to be insane.
21. Same, not repeated oftener than once in six months.
22. Insane persons entitled to habeas corpus.
23. Salaries and fees, how and by whom paid.
24. Neglect of duty by officer or other person, penalty.
25. Terms "insane" and "idiotic" defined.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma.

Contract for care.

(3008) § 1. The Governor of the Territory of Oklahoma be and he is hereby authorized to contract with any territory or state in the United States, or with the proper officials thereof, for the care of persons who become insane within this Territory and who are citizens thereof. Such care to be had in the insane asylums of the territory or state with which such contract may be made.

Same.

(3009) § 2. Such contracts shall be in writing and when executed shall authorize persons entitled to treatment in any insane asylum, to be carried to that asylum and there held with like force and effect as though such asylum was within this Territory.

Patient, examination and confinement.

(3010) § 3. Until an asylum for the insane be erected in this Territory, all patients shall be examined, held and their sanity determined as in this act provided. When adjudged insane as herein provided, the patient shall be carried to the hospital in accordance with the contract so made by the Governor.

Governor and Auditor, examiners.

(3011) § 4. In cases of extreme necessity, the Governor and Territorial Auditor may hear the proof, and if satisfied that the patient is insane, shall make the order for him or her to be transported to the asylum.

Expenses, how met.

(3012) § 5. To carry out the provisions of this act, there is appropriated out of the Territorial treasury three thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary to be paid out on claims proven before, and filed with the Territorial Auditor and warrants drawn therefor on the Territorial Treasurer.

(3013) § 6. In each organized county in this Territory there shall be a board of commissioners, consisting of three persons, to be styled commissioners of insanity, two of whom shall constitute a quorum. The judge of probate shall be a member of said board and its chairman. The other two members shall be appointed by the board of county commissioners, one of whom shall be a respectable practicing physician, and the other a respectable practicing attorney; and appointments shall be made of persons residing as near as may be to the county seat. Immediately on the taking effect of this act these appointments shall be made as provided in this section. One of these commissioners shall be appointed for one year, the other for two years. The appointment of successors may be made at any time within three months prior to the expiration of the term of the incumbent, who shall hold his office until his successor shall be appointed and qualified. In case of the temporary absence or inability to act of two of the commissioners, the judge of probate shall call to his aid a respectable practicing physician or lawyer, who, after qualifying as in other cases, may act in the same capacity. The record in such cases must show the fact of such absence.

Appointment of commissioners of insanity.

(3014) § 7. Before entering upon the duties of their office the persons so appointed shall take and subscribe an oath or affirmation to support the Constitution of the United States and the Organic Act of the Territory of Oklahoma, and to faithfully discharge their duties according to law as such commissioners, which obligation shall be filed with the clerk of said board, who shall enter a memorandum thereof on the records. On organizing they shall choose one of their number clerk of said board. They shall hold their meetings for business at the office of the judge of probate, unless for good reasons they shall fix on some other place. If they deem it necessary or advisable, they may hold sessions at such regular times as they may fix. They shall also meet on notice from the chairman of the board.

Oath of commissioners, organization and meetings.

(3015) § 8. The chairman of the board shall sign and give or issue all notices, appointments, warrants, subpœnas or other process required to be given or issued by the commissioners, affixing thereto his official seal as judge of probate. He shall file and carefully preserve in his office all papers connected with any inquest by the commissioners, and properly belonging to his office, with all notices, reports and other communications. He shall keep separate books in which to minute the proceedings of the board, and his entries shall be sufficiently full to show, with the papers filed, a complete record of their findings, orders and transactions. The notices, reports and communications herein required to be given or made, may be sent by mail, unless otherwise expressed or implied, and the fact and date of such sending and of their reception must be noted on the proper record.

Duties of chairman, books to be kept; notices.

(3016) § 9. The said commissioners shall have cognizance of all applications for admission to the hospital or for the safe keeping otherwise of insane persons within their respective counties, except in cases otherwise specially provided for. For the purpose of discharging the duties required of them they shall have

Duties of the commissioners and their powers.

Chap. 42.

power to issue subpœnas and compel obedience thereto, to administer oaths and do any act of court necessary and proper in the premises.

Application for admission to the hospital

(3017) § 10. Application for admission to the hospital must be made in writing in the nature of an information verified by affidavit. Such information must allege that the person on whose behalf the application is made is believed by the informant to be insane and a fit subject for custody and treatment in the hospital; that such person is found in the county and has a legal settlement therein, if such is known to be the fact; and if such settlement is not in the county, where it is, if known, or where it is believed to be, if the informant is advised on the subject.

Investigation by the commissioner as to the alleged insanity.

(3018) § 11. On the filing of an information as above provided, the commissioners shall at once take steps to investigate the grounds of the information. For this purpose they may require that the person for whom such admission is sought be brought before them, and that the examination be had in his or her presence, and they may issue their warrant therefor and provide for the suitable custody of such person until their investigation shall be concluded. Such warrant may be executed by the sheriff or any constable in the county, or if they shall be of opinion from such preliminary inquiries as they shall make, and in making which they shall take the testimony of the informant if they deem necessary or desirable, and of other witnesses if offered, that such course would probably be injurious to such person, or attended with no advantages, they may dispense with such presence. In their examination they shall hear testimony for and against such application, if any is offered. Any citizen of the county, or any relative of the person alleged to be insane, may appear and resist the application, and the parties may appear by counsel if they elect. The commissioners, whether they decide to dispense with the presence before them of such person or not, shall appoint some regular practicing physician of the county to visit or see such person and make a personal examination touching the truth of the allegation in the information, and touching the actual condition of such person, and forthwith report to them thereon. Such physician may or may not be of their own number, and the physician so appointed and acting shall certify under his own hand that he has, in pursuance of his appointment, made a careful personal examination as required, and that on such examination he finds the person in question insane, if such be the fact, and if otherwise, not insane; and in connection with his examination the said physician shall endeavor to obtain from the relative of the person in question, or from others who know the facts, correct answers, so far as may be, to the interrogatories hereinafter required to be propounded in such cases, which interrogations and answers shall be attached to his certificate.

How patient shall be sent to hospital.

(3019) § 12. On the return of the physician's certificate the commissioners shall as soon as practicable conclude their investigations, and having done so they shall find whether the person alleged to be insane is insane; whether, if insane, a fit subject for treatment and custody in the hospital; whether the legal settlement of such person is in their county, and if not in their county, where it is, if ascertained. If they find such person is not insane, they shall order his or her discharge if in custody. If they find such person insane, and a fit subject for treatment and custody in the hospital, they shall forthwith issue their warrant and a duplicate thereof, stating such finding with the settlment of the person, if found, and if not found, their information, if any, in regard thereto, authorizing the superintendent of the hospital to receive and keep such person as a patient therein. Such warrant and duplicate, with the finding and certificate of the physician, shall be delivered to the sheriff of the county, who shall execute the same by conveying such person to the hospital, and delivering him or her, with such duplicate and physician's certificate and finding, to the superintendent thereof. The superintendent, over his official signature, shall acknowledge such delivery on the original warrant, which the sheriff shall return to the clerk of the commissioners with his costs and expenses indorsed thereon. If neither the sheriff nor his deputy is at hand, or if both are otherwise engaged, the commissioners may appoint some other suitable person to execute the warrant in his stead, who shall take and subscribe an oath or affirmation faithfully to discharge his duty, and shall be entitled to the same fees as the sheriff. The sheriff or any other person so appointed may take to his aid such assistance as he may need to execute such warrant; but no female person shall thus be taken to the hospital without the attendance of some other female, or some relative of such person. The superintendent in his acknowledgement of delivery must state whether there was any such person in attendance, and give the name or names if any. It is, however, hereby provided that if any relative or intimate friend of the patient, who is a suitable person, shall so request, he shall have the privilege of taking and executing such warrant, in preference to the sheriff or any other person, and without taking such oath or affirmation, and for so doing he shall be entitled to his necessary expenses, but no fees.

Disposition of insane person when accommodations of asylum are insufficient (3020) § 13. If in the case of any persons found to be insane and fit subjects for custody and treatment in the hospital as above provided, it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the commissioners that they cannot at once be admitted therein, and they cannot with safety be allowed to go at liberty, the commissioners shall require that such patient shall be suitably provided for otherwise until such admission can be had, or until the occasion therefor no longer exists. Such patients may be cared for either as public or private patients. Those shall be treated as private patients whose relatives or friends will obligate themselves to take care of and provide for them without public charge. In the case of any one treated as a private patient, the commisioners shall appoint some suitable person a special custodian, who shall have authority and whose duty it shall be in all suitable ways to restrain, protect and care for such patient in such manner as to best secure his or her safety and comfort, and in such manner as to best protect the persons and property of others.

Chap. 42.

In the case of public patients the commissioners shall require that they be in like manner restrained, protected and cared for by the commissioners of the county or overseers of the poor, at the expense of the county, and they may accordingly issue their warrants to such commissioners of the county or overseers of the poor, who shall forthwith comply with the same. If there is no poor house for the reception of such patients, or if no more suitable place can be found, they may be confined in the county jail in charge of the sheriff. Or said commissioners in their discretion may require that such patients be taken to the asylum of any state that may be designated by the Governor, who is hereby authorized and empowered to make the best terms he can with the authorities of any asylum in any state for the admission of such patient or patients.

Insane persons cared for by the county

(3021) § 14. On application to the commissioners, on behalf of persons alleged to be insane, and whose admission to the hospital is not sought, made substantially in the manner above prescribed and asking that provisions be made for their care as insane, either public or private within the county, and on proof of their insanity and need of care as above pointed out, the commissioners may provide for their care, protection and restraint as in the case of other applications.

Commissioners shall provide for insane person suffering for proper care.

(3022) § 15. On information laid before the commissioners of any county that a certain insane person in the county is suffering for want of proper care, they shall forthwith inquire into the matter, and if they find the information well founded they shall make all needful provision for the care of such person as provided in other cases.

Insane not to be restrained of liberty except by proper authority.

(3023) § 16. No person supposed to be insane shall be restrained of his or her liberty by any other person otherwise than in pursuance of authority obtained as herein required, excepting to such extent and such brief period as may be necessary for the safety of persons and property until such authority can be obtained.

Penalty for cruelty to the insane.

(3024) § 17. Any person having care of an insane person, and restraining such person, either with or without authority, who shall treat such person with wanton severity, harshness or cruelty or shall in any way abuse such person, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, besides being liable to an action for damages.

Insane who have been under county care may be transferred.

(3025) § 18. Insane persons who shall have been under care, either as public or private patients, outside of the hospital, by authority of the commissioners of any county, may on application to that effect be transferred to the hospital whenever they can be admitted thereto, on the warrant of such commissioners. Such admission may be had without another inquest at any time within six months after the inquest already had, unless the commissioners shall deem further inquest advisable.

Questions to be answered on application for admission to hospital.

(3026) § 19. In each case of application for admission to the hospital, correct answers to the following interrogations, so far as they can be obtained, shall accompany the physician's certificate; and if on further examination, after the answers are stated, any of them are found to be erroneous, the commissioners shall cause them to be corrected:

First. What is the patient's name? Married or single? If any children, how many? Age of youngest child, and age of patient?

Second. Where was the patient born?

Third. Where is his or her place of residence?

Fourth. What has been the patient's occupation?

Fifth. Is this the first attack? If not, when did others occur and what was their duration?

Sixth. When were the first symptoms of this attack manifested, and in what way?

Seventh. Does the disease appear to be increasing, decreasing or stationary?

Eighth. Is the disease variable, and are there rational intervals? If so, do they occur at regular periods?

Ninth. On what subject or in what way is derangement now manifested? State fully.

Tenth. Has the patient shown any disposition to injure others?

Eleventh. Has suicide ever been attempted? If so, in what way? Is the propensity now active?

Twelfth. Is there a disposition to filthy habits, destruction of clothing. breaking glass, etc.?

Thirteenth. What relatives, including grandparents and cousins, have been insane?

Fourteenth. Did the patient manifest any peculiarities of temper, habits, disposition or pursuits before the accession of the disease? Any predominant passion, religious impressions, etc,?

Fifteenth. Has the patient been subject to any bodily disease, epilepsy, suppressed eruptions, discharges of sores, or ever had an injury of the head?

Sixteenth. Was the patient ever addicted to intemperance in any form.

Seventeenth. Has restraint or confinement been employed? If so, what kind and how long?

Eighteenth. What is supposed to be the cause of the disease?

Nineteenth. What treatment has been pursued for the relief of the patient? Mention particulars and the effect.

Twentieth. State any other matter supposed to have any bearing on the case.

Proceedings for the release of patients alleged not to be insane.

(3027) § 20. On a statement in writing, verified by affidavit, addressed to the judge of probate of the county in which the hospital is situated, or of the county in which any certain persons confined in the hospital has his or her legal settlement, alleging that such person is not insane and is unjustly deprived of his or her liberty, such judge shall appoint a commission of not more than three persons, in his discretion, to inquire into the merits of the case, one of whom shall be a physician; and if two or more are appointed, another shall be an attorney. Without first summoning the party to meet them, they shall proceed to the hospital and have a personal interview with such person, so managed so as to prevent him or her, if possible from suspecting its object; and they shall make any inquiries and examinations they may deem necessary and proper of the officers and records of the hospital, touching the merits of the case. If they shall deem it prudent and advisable they may disclose to the party the object of their visit, and in the presence of such party make further investigation of the matter. They shall forthwith report to the judge of probate making the appointment, the result of their examinations and inquiries. Such report shall be accompaniedby a statement of the case and signed by the superintendent. If on such report and statement and the hearing of the testimony, if any is offered, the judge of probate shall find the person not insane, he shall order his or her discharge. If on the contrary, he shall so state, and authorize his or her continued detention. The finding and order of the judge of probate, with the report and other papers, shall be filed in his office and entered on his records, and he shall forthwith notify the superintendent of his finding and order, and the superintendent shall carry out the order. The commissioners appointed as provided in this section shall be entitled to their necessary expenses, and a reasonable compensation to be allowed by said judge of probate, and paid by the Territory out of any funds not otherwise appropriated: Provided, That the applicant shall pay the same if the judge shall find that the application was made without probable grounds, and shall so order.

Same; not to be repeated oftener than once in six months.

(3028) § 21. The commission so provided for shall not be repeated oftener than once in six months in regard to the same party, nor shall such commission be appointed in case of any patient within six months of the time of his or her admission.

Insane person entitled to habeas corpus

(3029) § 22. All persons confined as insane shall be entitled to the benefit of the writ of habeas corpus, and the question of insanity shall be decided at the hearing, and if the judge or court shall decide that the person is insane, such decision shall be no bar to the issuing of the writ the second time whenever it shall be alleged that such person has been restored to reason.

Salaries and fees, how and by whom paid,

(3030) § 23. The commissioners of insanity shall be allowed at the rate of two dollars per day each for all the time actually employed in the duties of their office. The judge of probate in addition to what he is entitled to as commissioner of insanity, shall be allowed one- half as much more for making the required record entries in all cases of inquest, and of meetings of the board for any purpose, and for the filing of any papers required to be filed. He shall also be allowed twenty-five cents for such notice or process given or issued under seal, as herein required. The examining physician shall be entitled to five dollars for each case examined, and mileage at the rate of ten cents per mile each way. The sheriff shall be allowed for other service than conveying a patient to the hospital and returning therefrom the same fees as for like services in other cases. Witnesses shall be entitled to the same fees as witnesses in the district court. The compensation and expenses provided for above shall be allowed and paid out of the county treasury in the usual manner, except those of sheriff, which shall be paid out of the Territorial treasury in the usual manner.

Penalty when officer or other person neglects duty.

(3031) § 24. Any officer required as herein [provided] to perform an act,and any person accepting an appointment under the provisions of this act, and wilfully refusing or neglecting to perform his duty as herein prescribed, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, besides being liable to an action for damages. Chap. 43.

(3032) § 25. The term "insane" as used in this act includes any species of insanity or mental derangement. The term "idiot" is restricted to persons supposed to be naturally without mind. No idiot shall be admitted into the hospital for insane. Terms insane and idiot defined

This act shall be in force from and after its passage and approval.

SECTION
1. Indemnity defined.
2. Agreement to indemnity against unlawful act.
3 Valid if act has been already done.
4 Includes acts of agent.
5. Several persons means each.
6. Joint and separate liability.
7. Rules for interpretation of contract.
8. Surety entitled to re-imbursement.
9. Bail.
10. Law of bail.

(3033) § 1. Indemnity is a contract by which one engages to save another from a legal consequence of the conduct of one of the parties, or of some other person. Indemnity defined,

(3034) § 2. An agreement to indemnify a person against an act thereafter to be done, is void if the act be known by such person at the time of doing it to be unlawful. Agreement to indemnify against unlawful act void

(3035) § 3. An agreement to indemnify a person against an act already done, is valid, even though the act was known to be wrongful unless it was a felony. Valid if act has already been done.

(3036) § 4. An agreement to indemnify against the acts of a certain person, applies not only to his acts and their consequences, but also to those of his agents. Includes acts of agents.

(3037) § 5. An agreement to indemnify several persons applies to each, unless a contrary intention appears. Several persons means each.

(3038) § 6. One who indemnifies another against an act to be done by the latter, is liable jointly with the person indemnified, and separately to every person injured by such act. Joint and separate liability.

(3039) § 7. In the interpretation of a contract of indemnity, the following rules are to be applied, unless a contrary intention appears: Rules for interpretation of contract of indemnity.

First. Upon an indemnity against liability, expressly, or in other equivalent terms, the person indemnified is entitled to recover upon becoming liable.

Second. Upon an indemnity against claims or demands, or damages or costs, expressly, or in other equivalent terms, the person indemnified is not entitled to recover without payment thereof.

Third. An indemnity against claims or demands, or liability, expressly or in other equivalent terms, embraces the costs of defense against such claims, demands or liability incurred in good faith, and in the exercise of reasonable discretion.

Fourth. The person indemnifying is bound, on request of the person indemnified, to defend actions or proceedings brought against the latter in respect to the matters embraced by the indemnity; but the person indemnified has the right to conduct such defense, if he chooses to do so.

Fifth. If, after request, the person indemnifying neglects to defend the person indemnified, a recovery against the latter, suffered by him in good faith, is conclusive in his favor against the former.

Sixth. If the person indemnifying, whether he is a principal or a surety in the agreement, has not reasonable notice of the action or proceedings against the person indemnified, or is not allowed to control its defense, judgment against the latter is only presumptive evidence against the former.

Seventh. A stipulation that a judgment against the person indemnified shall be conclusive upon the person indemnifying, is applicable if he had a good defense upon the merits, which, by want of ordinary care, he failed to establish in the action.

Surety entitled to reimbursement.

(3040) § 8. Where one, at the request of another, engages to answer in damages, whether liquidated or unliquidated, for any violation of duty on the part of the latter, he is entitled to be reimbursed in the same manner as a surety for whatever he may pay.

Bail, sureties are.

(3041) § 9. Upon those contracts of indemnity which are taken in legal proceedings, as security for the performance of an obligation imposed or declared by the tribunals, and known as undertakings or recognizances, the sureties are called bail.

Governed by law of bail.

(3042) § 10. The obligations of bail are governed by the statutes specially applicable thereto.

Insurance defined.

(3043) § 1. Insurance is a contract whereby one undertakes to indemnify another against loss, damage or liability arising from an unknown or contingent event.

Insurance interest.

(3044) § 2. Any contingent or unknown event, whether past or future, which may indemnify a person having an insurable interest, or create a liability against him, may be insured against, subject to the provisions of this chapter, with the exception of an insurance for or against the drawing of any lottery, or for or against any chance or ticket in a lottery drawing a prize.

Insurance classified.

(3045) § 3. The most usual kinds of insurance are:

First. Marine insurance.

Second. Fire insurance.

Third. Life insurance.

Fourth. Health insurance; and,

Fifth. Accident insurance.

This law general.

(3046) § 4. All kinds of insurance are subject to the provisions of this chapter.

Insurer and insured.

(3047) § 5. The person who undertakes to indemnify another by a contract of insurance, is called the insurer, and the person indemnified is called the insured.

Who may insure.

(3048) § 6. Any one who is capable of making a contract may be an insurer, subject to the restrictions imposed by special statutes upon foreign corporations, non-residents and others.

Who may be insured.

(3049) § 7. Any one except a public enemy may be insured.

(3050) § 8. Where a mortgagor of property effects insurance in his own name, providing that the loss shall be payable to the mortgagee, or assigns a policy of insurance to the mortgagee, the insurance is deemed to be upon the interest of the mortgagor, who does not cease to be a party to the original contract, and any act of his which would otherwise void the insurance will have the same effect although the property is in the hands of the mortgagee. Insurance of mortgaged property.

(3051) § 9. If an insurer assents to the transfer of an insurance from a mortgagor to a mortgagee, and, at the time of his assent, imposes further obligations on the assignee, making a new contract with him, the acts of the mortgagor cannot affect his rights. Same, new contract.

(3052) § 10. Every interest in property, or any relation thereto, or liability in respect thereof, of such a nature that a contemplated peril might directly damnify the insured, is an insurable interest. Insurable interest defined.

(3053) § 11. An insurable interest in property may consist in: Insurable interest classified.

First. An existing interest.

Second. An inchoate interest founded on an existing interest; or,

Third. An expectancy coupled with an existing interest in that out of which the expectancy arises.

(3054) § 12. A carrier or depositary of any kind has an insurable interest in a thing held by him as such, to the extent of its value. Carrier has insurable interest.

(3055) § 13. A mere contingent or expectant interest in anything, uot founded on an actual right to the thing, nor upon any valid contract for it, is not insurable. Contingent interest not insurable.

(3056) § 14. The measure of an insurable interest in property is the extent to which the insured might be damnified by loss or injury thereof. Measure of interest.

(3057) § 15. The sole object of insurance is the indemnity of the insured, and if he has no insurable interest the contract is void. Without interest, contract void.

(3058) § 16. An interest insured must exist when the insurance takes effect, and when the loss occurs, but need not exist in the meantime. Interest must exist

(3059) § 17. Except in cases specified in the next four sections, and in the cases of life, accident and health insurance, a change of interest in any part of a thing insured, unaccompanied by a corresponding change of interest in the insurance, suspends the insurance to an equivalent extent, until the interest in the thing and the interest in the insurance are invested in the same person. Effect of transfer.

(3060) § 18. A change of interest in a thing insured, after the occuranee of an injury which results in a loss, does not affect the right of the insured to indemnity for the loss. Transfer after loss

(3061) § 19. A change of interest in one or more of several distinct things, separately insured by one policy, does not avoid the insurance as to the others. Same, exception.

(3062) § 20. A change of interest by will or succession on the Change of interest by death.

death of the iusured, does not avoid an insurance, and his interest in the insurance passes to the person taking his interest in the thing insured.

Transfer by joint owners

(3063) § 21. A transfer of interest by one of several partners, joint owners or owners in common, who are jointly insured, to the others, does not avoid an insurance, even though it has been agreed that the insurance shall cease upon an alienation of the thing insured.

Policy void, when.

(3064) § 22. Every stipulation in a pollcy of insurance for the payment of loss whether the person insured has or has not any interest in the property insured, or that the policy shall be received as proof of such interest, and every policy executed by way of gaming or wagering, is void.

Concealment defined.

(3065) § 23. A neglect to communicate that which a party knows, and ought to communicate, is called a concealment.

Effect of concealment

(3066) § 24. A concealment, whether intentional or unintentional, entitles the injured party to rescind a contract of insurance.

Mutual disclosures.

(3067) § 25. Each party to a contract of insurance must communicate to the other in good faith, all facts within his knowledge, which are, or which he believes to be material to the contract, and which the other has not the means of ascertaining, and as to which he makes no warranty.

Not bound to disclose.

(3068) § 26. Neither party to a contract of insurance is bound to communicate information of the matters following, except in answer to the inquiries of the other:

First. Those which the other knows.

Second. Those which in the exercise of ordinary care, the other ought to know, and of which the former has no reason to suppose him ignorant.

Third. Those of which the other waives communication.

Fourth. Those which prove or tend to prove the existence of a risk excluded by a warranty, and which are not otherwise material; and,

Fifth. Those which relate to a risk excepted from the policy, and which are not otherwise material.

Legal construction.

(3069) § 27. Materiality is to be determined not by the event, but solely by the probable and reasonable influence of the facts upon the party to whom the commnication is due, in forming his estimate of the disadvantages of the proposed contract, or in making his inquiries.

Presumed to know general causes

(3070) § 28. Each party to a contract of insurance is bound to know all the general causes which are open to his inquiry, equally with that of the other and which may affect either the political or material perils contemplated, and all general usagse of trade.

Right to information waived.

(3071) § 29. The right to information of material facts may be waived, either by the terms of insurance, or by neglect to make inquiries as to such facts, where they are distinctly implied in other facts of which information is communicated.

Information as to interest.

(3072) § 30. Information of the nature or amount of the interest of one insured need not be communicated unless in answer to inquiry, except as prescribed by section 3088.

Fraud by the insured.

(3073) § 31. An intentional and fraudulent omission, on the part of one insured, to communicate information of matters proving or tending to prove the falsity of a warranty, entitles the insurer to rescind.

Matters of opinion

(3074) § 32. Neither party to a contract of insurance is bound to communicate, even upon inquiry, information of his own judgment upon the matters in question.

Form of representation.

(3075) § 33. A representation may be oral or written.

When made.

(3076) § 34. A representation may be made at the same time with issuing the policy, or before it.

Interpretation.

(3077) § 35. The language of a representation is to be interpreted by the same rules as the language of contracts in general.

Representation as to future.

(3078) § 36. A representation as to the future is to be deemed a promise, unless it appears that it was merely a statement of belief or expectation.

May qualify an implied warranty.

(3079) § 37. A representation cannot be allowed to qualify an express provision in a contract of insurance; but it may qualify an implied warranty.

Representation withdrawn.

(3080) § 38. A representation may be altered or withdrawn before the insurance is effected, but not afterwards.

Time to which representation refers.

(3081) § 39. The completion of the contract of insurance is the time to which a representation must be presumed to refer.

Information and belief.

(3082) § 40. When a person insured has no personal knowledge of a fact, he may nevertheless repeat information which he has upon the subject, and which he believes to be true, with the explanation that he does so on the information of others, or he may submit the information, in its whole extent, to the insurer; and in neither case is he responsible for its truth, unless it proceeds from an agent of the insured whose duty it is to give the intelligence.

Representation is false, when.

(3083) § 41. A representation is to be deemed false when the facts fail to correspond with its assertions or stipulations.

Effect of falsity.

(3084) § 42. If a representation is false in a material point, whether affirmative or promissory, the injured party is entitled to rescind the contract, from the time when the representation becomes false.

Materiality of representation.

(3085) § 43. The materiality of a representation is determined by the same rule as the materiality of a concealment.

Modification, rescission.

(3086) § 44. The provisions of this chapter apply as well to a modification of a contract of insurance as to its original formation. Whenever a right to rescind a contract of insurance is given to the insurer by any provision of this chapter, such right may be exercised at any time previous to the commencement of an action on the contract.

Policy defined.

(3087) § 45. The written instrument, in which a contract of insurance is set forth, is called a policy of insurance.

Specification of policy.

(3088) § 46. A policy of insurance must specify:

First. The parties between whom the contract is made.

Second. The rate of premium.

Third. The property or life insured.

Fourth. The interest of the insured in property insured, if he is not the absolute owner thereof.

Fifth. The risks insured against; and,

Sixth. The period during which the insurance is to continue.

Name of person insured.

(3089) § 47. When the name of the person intended to be insured is specified in a policy, it can be applied only to his own proper interest.

Insurance by trustee or agent.

(3090) § 48. When an insurance is made by an agent or trustee, the fact that his principal or beneficiary is the person really insured, may be indicated by describing him as an agent or trustee, or by other general words in the policy.

Terms applicable to joint and common interest.

(3091) § 49. To render an insurance, effected by one partner or part owner, applicable to the interest of his copartners, or of other part owners, it is necessary that the terms of the policy should be such as are applicable to the joint or common interest.

Specific person.

(3092) § 50. When the description of the insured in a policy is so general that it may comprehend any person, or any class of persons, he only can claim the benefit of the policy who can show that it was intended to include him.

Policy may run to whomsoever.

(3093) § 51. A policy may be so framed that it will inure to the benefit of whomsoever, during the continuance of the risk, may become the owner of the interest insured.

Transfer of thing insured.

(3094) § 52. The mere transfer of a thing insured does not transfer the policy, but suspends it until the same person becomes owner of both policy and the thing insured.

Classes of policies.

(3095) § 53. A policy is either open or valued.

Open policy defined

(3096) § 54. An open policy is one in which the value of the thing insured is not agreed upon, but is left to be ascertained in case of loss.

Valued policy defined

(3097) § 55. A valued policy is one which expresses on its face an agreement that the thing insured shall be valued at a specified sum.

Successive insurance.

(3098) § 56. A running policy is one which contemplates successive insurances, and which provides that the object of the policy may be from time to time defined, especially as to the subjects of insurance, by additional statements or indorsements,

Receipt in policy.

(3099) § 57. An acknowledgment in a policy of the receipt of premium is conclusive evidence of its payment, so far as to make the policy binding, notwithstanding any stipulation therein that it shall not be binding until the premium is actually paid.

Agreement not to transfer void

(3100) § 58. An agreement made before a loss, not to transfer the claim of a person insured against the insurer, after the loss has happened is void.

Warranty classed.

(3101) § 59. A warrant is either express or implied.

No form necessary.

(3102) § 60. No particular form of words is necessary to create a warranty.

Express warranty must be written.

(3103) § 61. Every express warranty, made at or before the execution of a policy, must be contained in the policy itself, or in another instrument signed by the insured and referred to in the policy, as making a part of it.

Time of warranty.

(3104) § 62. A warranty may relate to the past, present, the future, or to any or all of these.

Construction of statement in policy.

(3105) § 63. A statement in a policy, of a matter relating to the person or thing insured, or to the risk, as a fact, is an express warranty thereof.

Intention to do or not to do.

(3106) § 64. A statement in a policy, which imports that it is intended to do or not to do a thing which materially affects the risk, is a warranty that such act or omission shall take place.

Omission does not void the policy.

(3107) § 65. When, before the time arrives for the performance of a warranty relating to the future, a loss insured against happens or performance becomes unlawful at the place of the contract, or impossible, the omission to fulfill the warranty does not avoid the policy.

Violation of terms entitles to rescission.

(3108) § 66. The violation of a material warranty, or other material provisions of a policy, on the part of either party thereto entitles the other to rescind.

What avoids a policy.

(3109) § 67. A policy may declare that a violation of specified provisions thereof shall avoid it; otherwise a breach of an immaterial provision does not avoid the policy.

Breach of warranty without fraud

(3110) § 68. A breach of warranty, without fraud, merely exonerates an insurer from the time that it occurs, or where it is broken in its inception, prevents the policy from attaching to the risk.

Premium payable, when.

(3111) § 69. An insurer is entitled to payment of the premium as soon as the thing insured is exposed to the peril insured against.

Insured entitled to return of premium, when.

(3112) § 70. A person insured is entitled to a return of premium as follows:

First. To the whole premium is no part of his interest in the thing insured be exposed to any of the perils insured against.

Second. Where the insurance is made for a definite period of time, and the insured surrenders his policy to such proportion of the premium as corresponds with the unexpired time, after deducting from the whole premium any claim or loss or damage under the policy which has previously accrued.

to entitles the other to rescind.

Same.

(3113) § 71. A person insured is entitled to a return of the premium when the contract is voidable, on account of the fraud or misrepresentation of the insurer, or on account of facts of the existence of which the insured was ignorant without his fault; or when by any default of the insured other than actual fraud, the insurer never incurred any liability under the policy.

When not entitled.

(3114) § 72. If a peril insured against has existed, and the insurer has been liable for any period, however short, the insured is not entitled to return of premiums, so far as that particular risk is concerned.

Return in ratio.

(3115) § 73. In case of an over insurance by several insurers, the insurer is entitled to a ratable return of the premium, proportioned to the amount by which the aggregate sum insured in all the policies exceeds the insurable value of the thing at risk.

Contributions on over insurance.

(3116) § 74. When an over insurance is effected by simultaneous policies, the insurers contribute to the premium to be returned, in proportion to the amount insured by their respective policies.

Same.

(3117) § 75. When an over insurance is effected by successive policies, those only contribute to a return of the premium, who are exonerated by prior insurances from the liability assumed by them, and in proportion as the sum for which the premium was paid exceeds the amount for which, on account of prior insurance, they could be made liable.

Insurer liable, when.

(3118) § 76. An insurer is liable for a loss of which a peril insured against was the proximate cause; although a peril not contemplated by the contract may have been a remote cause of the loss; but he is not liable for a loss of which the peril insured against was only a remote cause.

Same

(3119) § 77. An insurer is liable where the thing insured is rescued from a peril insured against, that would otherwise have caused a loss, if in the course of such rescue the thing is exposed to peril, not insured against, which permanently deprives the insured of its possession, in whole or in part; or where a loss is caused by efforts to rescue the thing insured from a peril insured against.

An exception includes consequences

(3120) § 78. Where a peril is specially expected in a contract of insurance, a loss which would not have occurred but for such peril, is thereby excepted, although immediate cause of the loss was a peril which was not excepted.

Acts of the insured.

(3121) § 79. An insurer is not liable for a loss caused by the wilful act of the insured; but he is not exonerated by the negligence of the insured, or of his agents or others.

Notice of loss given without unnecessary delay

(3122) § 80. In case of loss upon an insurance against fire, an insurer is exonerated, if notice thereof be not given to him by some person insured, or entitled to the benefit of the insurance, without necessary delay.

Proof of loss, best in power of the insured.

(3123) § 81. Where preliminary proof of loss is required by a policy, the insured is not bound to give such proof as would be necessary in a court of justice; but it is sufficient for him to give the best evidence which he has in his power at the time.

Be it enacted by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oklahoma:

(3124) § 1. Any number of persons, not less than thirteen, may associate and form an incorporated company in this Territory for the following purposes, to-wit: To make insurance on dwelling houses, stores and all kinds of buildings and upon household furniture and other property, against loss or damage by fire, and the risks of transportation. Any and all insurance companies hereafter incorporated under the provisions of this act, which shall in the declaration and charter provided to be filed, have expressed an intention to make insurance or which shall have power to make insurance against loss or damage by the risks of transportation, shall have power to make insurance upon cargos, merchandise, freights and other property against loss and damage by all and any of the risks of transportation. Who may incorporate; purposes.

(3125) § 2. Any companies organized under this act, shall have power to effect re-insurance of any risks taken by them respectively. May reinsure.

(3126) § 3. Such persons shall file in the office of the commissioner of insurance a declaration signed by all the corporators, expressing their intention to form a company for the purpose of transacting the business of insurance as expressed in the first section of this act, which declaration shall also comprise a copy of Declaration; copy of charter.

Chap. 44.

the charter proposed to be adopted by them and shall publish a notice of such their intention, once in each week, for at least four weeks, in a public newspaper in the county in which such insurance company is proposed to be located.

Form of charter.

(3127) § 4. The charter comprised in such declaration shall set forth the name of the company, the place where the principal office for the transacting of its business shall be located, the mode and manner in which the corporate powers granted by this act are to be exercised, the mode and manner of electing its trustees or directors, a majority of whom shall be citizens of this Territory, and of filling vacancies, (but each director of a stock company shall be the owner in his own right, of at least five hundred dollars worth of the stock of such company, at its par value), the period for the commencement and termination of its fiscal year, and the amount of capital to be employed in the transaction of its business, and the Commissioner of Insurance shall have the right to reject any name or title of any company applied for when he shall deem the name too similar to one already appropriated, or likely to mislead the public in any respect.

Restrictions.

(3128) § 5. No company formed under this act shall directly or indirectly, deal or trade in buying or selling any goods, wares, merchandize, or other commodities whatever, excepting such articles as may have heen insured by such company, and are deemed to be damaged by fire or water.

Capital of joint stock or mutual companies.

(3129) § 6. No joint stock fire insurance company, organized under this act, or transacting business in this Territory, shall expose itself to any loss on any fire or inland transportation risk or hazard to an amount exceeding ten per cent of its paid up capital. No company formed under this act, for the purpose of doing the business of fire or inland navigation insurance on the plan of mutual insurance shall commence business until agreements have been entered into for insurance with at least two hundred applicants the premiums on which shall amount to not less than one hundred thousand dollars, of which twenty thousand dollars at least shall have been paid in cash, and notes of solvent parties founded on actual and bona fide applications for insurance, shall have been received for the remainder. No one of the notes received as aforesaid shall amount to more than five hundred dollars, and no two shall be given for the same risk, or be made by the same person or firm, except where the whole amount of such note shall not exceed five hundred dollars. Nor shall any such note be represented as capital stock unless a policy is issued upon the same within thirty days after the organization of the company. Upon a risk which shall not be for a shorter period than twelve months, each of said notes shall be payable in part or in whole at any time when the directors shall deem the same requisite for the payment of losses by fire or inland navigation, and such incidental expenses as may be necessary for transacting the business of said company. And no note shall be accepted as part of such capital stock unless the same shall be accompanied by a certificate of a justice of the peace of the town or city where the person making such note shall reside, that the person making the same is in his opinion pecuniarily good and responsible for the same; and no such note shall be surrendered during the life of the policy for which it was given.

Opening books of joint and mutual companies.

(3130) § 7. It shall and may be lawful for the individuals associated for the purpose of organizing any company under this act after having published the notice and filed the declaration and charter as required by the third section of this act, and also on filing in the office of the commissioner of insurance, proof of such publication by the affidavit of the publisher of such newspaper, his foreman or clerk, to open books for subscription to the capital stock of the company so intended to be organized, and to keep the same open until the full amount specified in the charter is subscribed; or in case the business of such company is proposed to be conducted on the plan of mutual insurance, then to open books to receive propositions, and to enter into agreements in the manner and to the extent specified in the sixth section of this act.

Investment of capital.

(3131) § 8. It shall be lawful for any insurance company organized under this act, or any such company under any law of this Territory, to invest its capital and the fund accumulated in the course of its business, or any part thereof, in bonds and mortgages on any improved unincumbered real estate within the Territory of Oklahoma, worth fifty per cent more than the sum loaned thereon (exclusive of buildings, unless such buildings are insured and the policy transferred to said company,) and also in the bonds of this Territory or bonds or Treasury notes of the United States; and, in the bank stock of national banks; and, also in the stock and bonds of any county or incorporated city in this Territory authorized to be issued by the Legislature; and to lend the same, or any part thereof, of such stock or bonds or Treasury notes, or upon bonds or mortgages as aforesaid, and to change and to reinvest the same as occasion may from time to time require, but any surplus money over and above the capital stock of such fire or other insurance companies, or any such insurance companies incorporated under any law of this Territory, may be invested in or loaned upon the pledge of the public stock or bonds of the United States or any one of the states of the stock bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of any solvent, dividend paying institution incorporated under the laws of this Territory or of the United States except their own stock; Provided, always, That the current market value of such stocks, bonds and other evidences of indebtedness shall be at all times during the continuance of such loans at least ten per cent more than the sum loaned thereon.

What real estate company may hold; sale.

(3132) § 9. No company organized by or under this act shall purchase, hold or convey real estate, excepting for the purposes and in the manner herein set forth, to-wit: First, Such as shall be requsite for its convenient accommodation in the transaction of business or second. Second, Such as shall have been mortgaged to it in good faith by way of security for loans previously contracted or for money due. Third, Such as shall have been conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts previously contracted in their legitimate business or for money due; or, Fourth, Such as shall have been purchased at sales upon judgments, decrees or mortgages obtained or made for such debts; and it shall not be lawful for any such company to purchase, hold or convey real estate in any other case or for any other purpose; and all such real estate as may be acquired as aforesaid, and which shall not be necessary for the accomodation of such company in the transaction of its business, shall be sold and disposed of within five years after such company shall have acquired title thereto, unless the company shall procure a certificate from the Commissioner of Insurance that the interest of the company will suffer materially by a forced sale thereof; in which event the sale may be postponed for such period as the said Commissioner shall direct in said certificate; and the said Commissioner may also give such certificate and extend the time for holding real estate in like circumstances, on the application of any insurance company heretofore incorporated.

Chap. 44.

Charter etc. examined by attorney general; capital by commissioner of insurance, certificate filed, commence business; evidence, (3133) § 10. The charter and proof of publication herein required to be filed by every such company, shall be examined by the Attorney-General. and if found conformable to this act, and not inconsistent with the Oaganic Act or laws of this Territory, shall be certified by him to the Commissioner of Insurance, who shall thereupon cause an examination to be made, either by himself or by three disinterested persons specially appointed by him for that purpose, who shall certify under oath, that the capital therein required of the company named in the charter, according to the nature of the business proposed to be transacted by such company has been paid in and is possessed by it in money or in such stocks and bonds and mortgages as are required by the eighth section of this act; or if a mutual company, that has received and is in actual possession of the capital, premium or bona fide engagements of insurance or other securities, as the case may be, to the full extent and of the value required by the sixth section of this act, and the name and the residence of the maker of each premium note forming part of the capital, and the amount of such note, shall be returned to said commissioner, and the corporators and officers of such company shall be required to certify under oath that the capital exhibited to these persons is bona fide property of the company. Such certificate shall be filed in the office of said commissioner who shall thereupon deliver to such company a certified copy of the charter and of said certificates, which on being filed in the office of the clerk of the county where the company is to be located shall be their authority to commence business and issue policies; and such certified copy of the charter and of said certificates may be used in evidence for or against said company with the same effect with the originals, and shall be conclusive evidence of the fact of the organization of such company.

By-laws, seal

(3134) § 11. The corporators or the trustees or the directors, as the case may be, of any company organized under this act, shall have power to make such by-laws not inconsistant with the Organic Act or the laws of this Territory, as may be deemed necessary for the government of its officers and the conduct of its affairs, and the same when necessary to alter and amend; and they and their successors may have a common seal and may change and alter the same at their pleasure.

Dividends; year defined.

(3135) § 12. It shall not be lawful for the directors, trustees or managers of any such insurance company to make any dividend except from the surplus profits arising from their business; and in estimating such profits there shall be reserved therefrom a sum equal to the whole amount of unearned premiums on unexpired risks and policies and there shall be reserved all sums due the corporation on bonds and mortgages, stocks and book accounts of which no part of the principal or interest thereon has been paid during the last year, and for which foreclosure or suit has not been commenced for collection, or which after judgment obtained thereon, shall have remained more than two years unsatisfied and on which interest shall not have been paid, and also there shall be which interest shall not have been paid, and also there shall be reserved all interest due or accrued and remaining unpaid: Provided, always, That any company may declare dividends not exceeding ten per cent on its capital stock in any one year, that shall have accumulated and be in possession of a fund in addition to the amount of its capital stock and of such dividend, and all actual outstanding liabilities equal to one half of the amount of all premiums on risks not terminated at the time of making such dividends. Any dividend made contrary to these provisions shall subject the company making the same to a forfeiture of its charter, and each stockholder receiving it to a liability to the creditors of such company to the extent of the dividend received, in addition to the other penalties and punishments in such case made and provided. This section shall not apply to the declaration of scrip dividends by participating companies, but no such scrip dividends shall be paid except from surplus profits after reserving all sums as above provided, including the whole amount of premiums on unexpired risks. The word "year" whenever used in this section shall be construed to mean the calendar year.

Mutual companies, notes, members; assessments; liability.

(3136) § 13. All notes deposited with any mutual insurance company at the time of its organization, as provided in section 6 shall remain as security for all losses and claims until the accumulation of the profits invested as required by the eight section of this act, shall equal the amount of cash capital required to be possessed by stock companies organized under this act, the liability of each note decreasing proportionately as the profits are accumulated; but any note which may have been deposited with any such mutual insurance company subsequent to its organization in addition to the cash premium, or any insurance effected with such company may, at the expiration of the time of such insurance, be relinquished and given up to the maker thereof or his representative, upon his paying his proportion of all losses and expenses which may have accrued thereon, during such term. The directors or trustees of any such company shall have the right to determine the amount of the note to be given in addition to the cash premium by any person insured in such company, but in no case shall the note be more than five times the whole amount of the cash premium, and every person effecting insurance in any mutual company organized under this act, and also their heirs, executors, administrators and assigns continuing to be insured shall thereby become members of said corporation during the period of insurance, and shall be bound to pay for losses and such necessary expenses as aforesaid accruing in and to said company in proportion to said amount of his deposit note or notes. The directors shall as often as they deem necessary after receiving notice of any loss or damage by fire sustained by any member and ascertaining the same, or after the rendition of any judgment against said company for loss or damage, settle and determine the same to be paid by the several members thereof, as their respective portion of such loss, and publish the same in such manner as they shall sell see fit, or as the by-laws shall haye prescribed, and the sum to be paid by each member shall always be in proportion to the original amount of his deposit note or notes, and shall be paid to the officers of the company within thirty days after the publication of said notice, and if any member shall for the space of thirty days after the publication of said notice, and service of such notice upon such member by mail, directed to him at his post-office address as written in or upon his application for insurance, neglect or refuse to pay the sum assessed upon him as his proportion of said loss as aforesaid in such case, the directors may sue for and recover the whole amount of his deposit note or notes, with cost of suit, but execution shall only issue for assessments and costs as they accrue. If the whole amount of the deposit notes shall be insufficient to pay the loss occasioned by any fire or fires in such case the sufferers insured by the said company shall receive, towards making good their respective losses, a proportional share of the whole amount of said notes, according to the sums by them respectively insured, but no member shall ever be required to pay for any loss occasioned by fire or inland navigation more than the whole amount of his deposited note.

Chap. 44.

"Mutual" or "joint stock" indicated on policy etc.

(3137 § 14. Every fire or other insurance company hereafter organized, if it be a mutual company, shall embody the word "mutual" in its title, which shall appear on the first page of every policy and renewal receipt; and every company doing business as a joint stock company shall upon the face of its policy, in some suitable manner, express that such policy is a stock policy.

Suits.

(3138) § 15. Suits at law may be maintained by any corporation formed under this act against any of its members or stockholders for any cause relating to the business of such corporations, also suits at law may be prosecuted and maintained by any member or stock-holder against such corporation for any losses which may have accrued if payment is withheld after such losses may have become due.

Liablity of corporations, etc, notes

(3139) § 16. The trustees and corporators of any company organized under this act, shall be severally liable for all debts or responsibilities of such company, to the amount by him or them subscribed, until the whole amount of the capital of such company shall have been paid in, and a certificate thereof recorded as hereinbefore provided. Notes taken in advance of premiums under this act, are not to be considered debts of the company, in determining whether a company is insolvent, but are to be regarded as assets of the company.

Joint stock company may extend charter; mutual may become joint stock company.

(3140) § 17. Any existing joint stock fire insurance company heretofore incorporated under the laws of this Territory, and any company organized under this act, having a capital of at least one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), may without increasing its capital at any time, within two years previous to the termination of its charter, after giving notice at least once a week for four weeks successively, in a newspaper published in the county where such company is located, of such intention, and with a declaration under its corporation seal, signed by the president and two-thirds of its directors, of their desire for the extension, extend the term of its original charter to the time specified in the twenty-sixth section of this act, by altering and amending the same so as to accord with the provisions of this act, and filing a copy of such amended charter with the declaration aforesaid, in the office of the Commissioner of Insurance, whereupon the same proceedings shall be had as are required in the tenth section of this act. And any mutual insurance company heretofore incorporated or organized under any of the laws of this Territory, having surplus assets aside from premiums and stock notes, sufficient to reinsure all its outstanding risks, after having given notice once a week, for four weeks of their intention and of the meeting hereinafter provided for, in a newspaper published in the county where such company is located, may with the consent of two-thirds of its incorporators or members, present at any regular annual meeting, or at any special meeting duly called for the purpose or with the consent, in writing, of two thirds of the corporators or members of such company, and the consent also of three-fourths of the trustees or directors, unless otherwise provided in the charter, become a joint company by comforming its charter to and otherwise proceeding in accordance with this act; and every member of such company on the day of such annual or special meeting or the date of said written consent, shall be entitled to priority to such capital stock of said company for one month after the opening of the books of subscription to such capital stock in proportion to the amount of cash premiums paid by such members on unexpired risks in force on the day of said annual or special meeting, or the date of such written consent; and every company so extended or charged shall come under the provisions of this act, in the same manner as if it had been incorporated originally under this act.

Increase of capital stock.

(3141) § 18. Any existing fire insurance company and any company formed under this law may at any time increase the amount of its capital stock after notice given once a week for four weeks in any newspaper published in the county where such company is located, of such intention with the written consent of three-fourths in amount of its stockholders, unless otherwise provided in its charter, or if a mutual company, with the unanimous consent of its trustees unless otherwise provided in its charter by altering or amending their charter in this respect, and filing a copy of their charter so amended together with a declaration under its corporate seal, signed by its president and directors, of their desire to do so, with such written consent of three-fourths in amount of its stockholders, or the unanimous consent of its trustees as aforesaid, to such increase, in the office of the Commissioner of Insurance and upon the same proceedings had as are required by the tenth section of this act.

Companies heretofore formed subject to thie act.

(3142) § 19. All insurance companies heretofore organized in the Territory of Oklahoma and now doing business in this Territory, are hereby brought under all the provisions of this act, except that their capital may continue of the amounts and character named in and authorized by their respective charters during the existing terms of such charters, and the investment of the capital and assets of such companies may remain the same as prescribed by their charters, anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding, and such companies shall also be entitled to the privileges and powers granted by said charters.

Bodies corporate and politic.

(3143) § 20. All companies incorporated or extended under this act shall be deemed and taken to be bodies corporate and politic, in fact and in name, and shall be subject to all the provisions of law in relation to corporations so far as the same are applicable.

Annual report to commissioner of insurance.

(3144) § 21. It shall be the duty of the president or vice-president and the secretary of each company organized under this act, or incorporated under any law of this Territory annually on the first day of January, or within one month thereafter, to prepare under their own oath or deposition in the office of the Commissioner of Insurance of the Territory, a statement of the condition of such company on the thirty-first day of December then next preceeding, exhibiting the following facts and items in the following form, namely.

First. The amount of the capital stock of the company actually paid in.

Second. The property or assets held by the company, specifying:

(a) The value as nearly as may be of the real estate held by such company:

(b) The amount of cash on hand and deposited in banks to the credit of the company, specifying in what banks the same are deposited.

(c) The amount of cash in the hands of agents and in course of transmission.

(d) The amount of loans secured by mortgages and bonds, constituting the first lien on real estate, on which there shall be less than one year's interest due or owing.

(e) The amount of loans on which interest shall not have been paid within one year previous to such statement.

(f) The amount due the company on which judgments have been obtained.

(g) The amount of stocks of this Territory, of the United States or any state, or any incorporated city in this Territory and any other stocks owned by the company, specifying the amount, number of shares and "par" and "market" value of each kind of stock.

(h) The amount of stocks held thereby as collateral securities for loans with the amount loaned on each kind of stock, its par value and the market value.

(i) The amount of assessment on stock or premium notes paid and unpaid, specifying each.

(j) The amount of interest actually due and unpaid.

(k) The amount of premium notes on hand on which policies are issued.

(l) The amount of installment notes on hand on which policies are issued.

Third. The liabilities of such company specifying:

(a) The amount of losses due and yet unpaid.

(b) The amount of claims resisted by the company and the reason why such claims are resisted.

(c) The amount of losses incurred during the year including those claimed and not yet due, and including the probable amount of those reported to the company, upon which no action has been taken.

(d) The amounts of dividends declared and due and remaining unpaid.

(e) The amount of dividends, if any, declared but not yet due.

(f) The amount of money borrowed and security, if any, given for the payment thereof.

(g) All other existing claims against the company and also the gross amount of outstanding risks, and the gross amounts of premiums thereon nuearned.

Fourth. The income of the company during the preceding year, specifying:

(a) The amount of cash premiums received.

(b) The amount of notes received.

(c) The amount of interest money received.

(d) The amount of income received from other sources, or:

Fifth. The expenditures during the preceding year, specifying:

ditions, or any other matter connected with its transactions and it shall be the duty of any company so addressed to promptly reply in in writing to any such inquiries. The statement of any company, the capital of which is composed, in whole or in part, of notes, shall in addition to the foregoing, exhibit the amount of notes, originally forming the capital and also what proportion of said notes are still held by such company and considered capital. Every insurance company, organized under any law of this Territory, failing to make out and deposit such statement, or to reply to any inquiry of said commissioners shall be subject to the penalty of five hundred dollars ($500), and an additional five hundred dollars ($500) for every month that such company shall continue thereafter to transact any business of insurance without complying with this section. It shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Insurance to cause the information contained in the statement required by this section to be arranged in the tabular form and printed in his biennial report.

Foreign companies; agents, service of process.

(3145) § 22. It shall not be lawful for any insurance company, association or partnership incorporated by or organized under the laws of any other territory or state of the United States, or any foreign government for the purposes specified in this act, directly or indirectly to take risks or transact any business of insurance in this Territory unless possessed of the amount of actual capital required by similar companies formed under the provisions of this act; and any such company desiring to transact any such business as aforesaid, by any agent or agents in this Territory, shall first appoint any attorney in each county in this Territory on whom process of law can be served and filed in the office of the Commissioner of Insurance of the Territory a written instrument duly signed and sealed certifying such appointment, which shall continue until another attorney be substituted; and any process issued by any court in this Territory, and served upon such attorney by the proper officer of the county in which such attorney may reside or may be found shall be deemed a sufficient service of process upon such company [service] may also be made in any other manner provided in this act. In case any insurance company, not incorporated in this Territory, shall cease to transact business in this Territory, according to the laws thereof, the agents last designated or acting as such for such corporation, shall be deemed to continue agents for such corporation for the purpose of servrng process for commencing action upon any policy or liability issued or contracted while such corporation transacted business in this Territory; and service of such process for the cause aforesaid, upon any such agent, shall be deemed a valid personal service upon such corporation. And every such company, association or partnership shall also file with the Commissioner of Insurance a certified copy of their charter together with a statement, under the oath of the president or vice-president or other chief officer, and secretary of the company for which he or they may act stating the name of the company and place where located, the amount of its capital, with a detailed statement of its assets showing the amount or cash on hand, in the banks or in the hands of agents, the amount of real estate and how much the same is encumbered by mortages, the number of shares of stocks of every kind owned by the company, the par and market value of the same, amount loaned on bond and mortgage, the amount loaned on the security stating the kind and amount loaned on each, and the estimated value of the whole amount of such securities, and other assets or property of the company, also stating the indebtedness of the company, the amount of losses adjusted and unpaid, the amount incurred and in process of adjustment, the amount resisted by the company as illegal and fraudulent, and all other claims existing against the company; also a copy of the last annual report, if any, made under any law of the Territory, or state by which said company was incorporated; and no agent shall be allowed to transact business for any such company whose capital is impaired to the extent of twenty per cent thereof while such deficiency shall continue. The stocks and securities so deposited may be exchanged from time to time, for other securities receivable as aforesaid. And so long as the company so depositing shall continue solvent and comply with the laws of this Territory, such company or association may be permitted by the said commissioners to collect the interest or dividend on said deposits, and where a deposit is made of bonds and mortgages accompanied by full abstracts of titles and searchers, the fees for an examination of title the counsel to be paid by the party making the deposits, shall not exceed twenty dollars ($20) for each mortgage and the fee for the appraisal of property shall be five dollars ($5) to each appraiser, not exceeding two, besides expenses for each mortgage. Nor shall it be lawful for any agent or agents to act for any company or companies referred to in this section directly or indirectly in taking risks or transacting the business of fire or other insurance in this Territory without procuring from the Commissioner of Insurance of this Territory a certificate of authority stating that such company has complied with all the requsitions of this act which apply to such companies, and the names of the attorneys appointed to act for the company. The statements and evidences of investments required by this section shall be served from year to year in such manner and form as may be required by said Commissioner with an additional statement of any amount of premiums received and losses incurred in this Territory during the preceding year, so long as such agency continues; and the said Commissioner on being satisfied that the capital, securities and investments remain secure as hereinbefore provided, shall furnish a renewal of the certificate as aforesaid. Any violation of any of the provisions of this act, shall subject the party violating the same to a penalty of five hundred dollars($500) for each violation and of the additional sum of one hundred [dollars] ($100) for each month during which any such agent shall neglect to file such affidavits and statements as are herein required. Every agent of any insurance company shall in all advertisements of such agency, publish the location of the company, giving the name of the city or village in which the company is located and the state or government under the laws of which it is organized. The term "agent or agents" used in this section, shall include an acknowledged agent, surveyor, broker or any other person or persons who shall, in any manner aid in transacting the insurance business of any insurance company not incorporated by the laws of this Territory. In the case of neglect or refusal to make such annual statement as aforesaid, all persons acting in this Territory as agents or otherwise, in transacting the business of insurance for said companies, corporations, associations, partnerships or individuals, shall be subject to the same penalties provided by law in case of the failure of any insurance company organized under the laws of this Territory to make an annual statement as provided in this act. Foreign insurance companies shall be required to make and file their annual statements and evidences on the first day of January in each year, or within thirty days thereafter, made out for the year ending on the preceding thirtieth of September. The suplementary annual statements of their business and affairs in the United States, duly verified by the resident manager of such company shall be filed in the month of January in each year, made out for the year ending the thirty-first day of December immediately preceding.

Chap. 44.

Examination by commissioner or his appointee.

(3146) § 23. It shall be the duty of the Commissioner of Insurance of the Territory, whenever he may deem it expedient so to do, in person or by one or more persons, to be appointed by him for that purpose not officers or agents of, or in any manner interested in any insurance company doing business in this Territory except as policy holders to examine into the affairs of any insurance company incorporated in this Territory, or doing business by its agents in this Territory; and it shall be the duty of the officers or agents of any such company doing business in this Territory, to cause their books to be opened for the inspection of the Commissioner or the person or persons so appointed, and otherwise to facilitate such examination so far as it may be in their power to do, and to pay all reasonable expenses incurred therein; and for that purpose the said Commissioner or person or persons so appointed by him, shall have the power to examine under oath the officers and agents of any company or any other person or persons relative to the business of said company, and whenever the said Commissioner shall deem it for the best interests of the public so to do, he shall publish the result of said investigation in one or more newspapers in this Territory. And whenever it shall appear to the said Commissioner from such examination that the assets of any company incorporated in this Territory are insufficient to justify the continuance in business of any such company, he may direct the officers thereof to require the stock-holders to pay in the amount of such deficiency within such period as he may designate in such requisition, or he shall communicate the fact to the Attorney General, whose duty it shall then become to apply to the district court of the county in which the principal officers of said company shall be located, for an order requiring them to show cause why the business of such company should not be closed, shall thereupon proceed to hear the allegations and proofs of the respective parties; and in case it shall appear to the satisfaction of said court that the assets and funds of said company are not sufficient as aforesaid, or that the interests of the public so require, the said court shall decree a dissolution of said company and a distribution of its effects. Any company receiving the aforesaid requisition from the said commissioner shall forthwith call upon its stockholders for such amounts as will make its capital equal to the amount fixed by the charter of said company and in case any stockholder of such company shall refuse or neglect to pay the amount so called for after the notice personally given or by advertisement, in such time and manner as the said Commissioner shall approve, it shall be lawful for the said company to require the return of the original certificate of stock held by such stock-holder and in lieu thereof to issue new certificates for such number of shares as the said stock-holder may be entitled to in proportion that the ascertained value of the funds of the said company may be found to bear to the original capital of the said company the value of such shares for which new certificates shall be issued to be ascertained under the direction of the said Commissioner, and the company paying for the fractional parts of shares and it shall be lawful for the directors of such company to create new stock and dispose of the same, and to issue new certificates therefor to the amount sufficient to make up the original capital of the company. And it is hereby declared that in the event of any additional losses accruing upon new risks taken after the expiration of the period limited by said Commissioner, in the aforesaid requisition for the filling up of the deficiency in the capital of such company, and before such deficiency shall have been made up, the directors shall be individually liable to the extent thereof. And if upon such examination, it shall appear to the said Commissioner that the assets of any company chartered on the plan of mutual insurance, under this act, are insufficient to justify the continuance of such company in business, it shall be his duty to proceed in relation to such company in the same manner as is herein required in regard to joint stock companies; and the trustees or directors of such company are hereby made personally liable for any losses which may be sustained upon risks taken after the expiration of the period limited by said Commissioner for filling up the deficiency in the capital and before such deficiency shall have been brought up. Any transfer of the stock of any company organized under this act, made during the pending of any such investigation, shall not release the party making the transfer from his liability for losses which may have accrued previous to the transfer. And whenever it shall appear to the said Commissioner from the report of the person or persons appointed by him that the affairs of any company not incorporated by the laws of this Territory, are in an unsound condition, he shall revoke the certificates granted in behalf of such company, and shall cause a notification thereof to be published in a newspaper of general circulation published in the Territory, and mail a copy thereof to each agent of the company, and the agent or agents of such company, after such notice shall be required to discontinue the issuing of any new policy and the renewal of any previously issued.

Chap. 44.

Suits for penalties.

(3146) § 24. Every penalty provided for by this act, shall be sued for and recovered in the name of the Territory of Oklahoma, by the county attorney of the county in which the company or agent or agents so violating shall be situated, and one-half of said penalty when recovered, shall be paid into the treasury of said county and the other half to the informer of such violation; and in the case of non-payment of such penalty, the party so offending shall be liable to imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months, in the discretion of any court having cognizance thereof. Such penalties may also be sued for and recovered in the name of the Territory of Oklahoma, by the Attorney-General, and when sued for and collected by him, shall be paid into the Territorial treasury.

Duration of company; legislative control, etc.

(3147) § 25. All companies incorporated or extended under this act may provide in their charters for not more than thirty years, but the Legislature may at any time alter or amend this act, and provide for the closing up of the business and affairs of any company formed under it. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent subsequent extension of the charters of companies organized or extended under this act.

Lien on stock; stock impaired; reduction; receiver's statement; publication.

(3148) § 26. Any fire or other insurance company chartered by this Territory, may have a lien by passing a by-law to that effect, upon the stock or certificate of profits owned by any member for any debt hereafter to become due to said company for premiums, by stating that said stock is subject to any such lien upon the certificates of stock or profits, and such lien may be waived by the consent of the president of said company upon the transfer of any such stock. Whenever it shall appear to the Commissioner of Insurance of the Territory from an examination made by him in the manner prescribed by law, that the capital stock of any joint stock company organized pursuant to law, is impaired to an amount exceeding twenty-five per cent of such capital, and he shall be of the opinion that the interests of the public will not be prejudiced by permitting such company to continue business with a reduced capital, it shall be lawful for such company with the permission of the said Commissioner to reduce its capital stock and the par value of the shares thereof, to such amount as the said Commissioner may, under his hand and official seal certify to be proper, and as shall in his opinion, be justified by the assets and property of such company: Provided, That no part of such assets and property shall be distributed to the stockholders. And provided further, That the capital stock of any such company shall not be reduced to an amount less than the sum now required by law for the organization of a new company under the general insurance laws for the transaction of business at the place where such company is located and of the kind which such company shall be made to accept upon a resolution of its board of directors approved by at least two-thirds of the directors and certified under the corporate seal signed by the president and at least two-thirds of its directors, and proved or acknowledged in the manner required by law for the proof or acknowledgement of conveyances; which certificate shall be filed in the office of said Commissioner before any
